Co. Administrator Explains Why Bill Not Paid Promptly

Eastland county merchants having accounts to be paid through the Eastland county relief organization are asked by H. E. Driscoll, county relief administrator, to be patient if they are not paid as promptly as heretofore.

E. ## Extensive Changes In Oil, Gas Setup

CISCO, May 1.—Extensive changes in the set-up of the oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission go into effect today, it was learned here.
Locally, the re-organization ordered by R. D. Parker, chief executive officer of the division, means combining supervision of the Eastland conservation district with that of the west central Texas proration district in the hands of Omar Burkett who has been in charge of the latter work for many months. He will continue headquarters at Eastland.
Haskell, Throckmorton and Young counties will be detached from the west central Texas proration district and attached to the north Texas area, with headquarters at Wichita Falls. No counties are to be added to the west central area.
Brown, Coleman and Rannels counties, now with the Abilene conservation district, will be joined to the San Angelo district. Calhoun county, now in the Olney conservation area, will be attached to the Eastland conservation district. The remainder of the Olney conservation district will be joined to the Wichita Falls conservation administration.
Burkett, including both proration and conservation duties, will have supervision over a total of 29 counties.

New Cotton Blight Found In Arizona

WASHINGTON.—After years of rigid quarantine restrictions designed to keep the boll weevil of the southern states out of the cotton regions of Arizona, entomologists of the Department of Agriculture announce the discovery in that state of a "brother" of the planter's nemesis.
The weevil of Arizona is so closely related to the boll weevil, it is reported, that only experts can differentiate between the two.
Before the new insect's attack upon Arizona cotton and its subsequent discovery, entomologists found that it had lived upon the Thuberia plant—a woody shrub of the southwest which bears pods resembling cotton bolls.
Insect experts say this newly-discovered weevil is a double menace in that it may invade a cotton territory free from the boll weevil or possibly inter-breed with the boll weevil to produce a hybrid more injurious to cotton than either parent.

Truck Load of Loot Found at Merriman

Eastland county officers and Ranger police recovered a truck load of automobile casings and inner tubes believed to have been stolen a short time ago from a filling station at Miles, Texas. The loot was found in a pasture near Merriman.

Governors' Powers Strictly Limited

AUSTON.—A governor may be the "chief executive" in name but has surprisingly little to do with the actual running of state affairs, it was brought out in recent court arguments here.
It was during trial of the quo warranto suit over who is entitled to sit as a state relief commissioner. The President's power to remove at will was cited. Then it was pointed out that there is a wide difference in the federal and state set-up.
The President is really a "chief executive." Federal departments are directed by officials who have names as cabinet members. In Texas the governor directs little. Elected officials head most of the departments. An elected board controls railroads, oil and gas. Elected officials are not subject to the governor's direction.
In fact, except for the pardon power, right to convene the legislature, right to veto its acts, right to issue deficiency appropriations and will some vacancies, a governor has little to do.

The story of the play concerns the trials and tribulations of a young doctor and according to those who have read the play, it is replete with humorous situations.

"A wise son maketh a glad father: but a foolish son a grief to his mother," despiteth his mother."

Most of Farm Loan Money Has Gone To Indebtedness

HOUSTON.—Ninety-five and two-tenths cents out of every dollar of farm mortgage loans by the Federal Land Bank of Houston and Land Bank Commissioner to Texas farmers and ranchmen since last June have been used in refinancing indebtedness it was shown in a study made by the Farm Credit administration.
A total of $67,390,400 of loans was made in Texas from June 1, 1933, through March 31, 1934. Estimates based on the study made indicate that $64,149,705 was used for refinancing.
The classes of creditors to whom the proceeds of these loans were paid, the approximate total received by each class, and the proportion of each class to the total in terms of cents of the loan dollar, are as follows:
Commercial banks, $7,992,340 or 11.8 cents; banks in the hands of receivers and conservators, $202,172 or 0.3 cents; insurance companies, $13,249,194 or 19.7 cents; joint stock land banks, $9,625,931 or 14.3 cents; tax authorities, $1,76,331 or 2.6 cents; merchants, $67,390 or 0.1 cents, and "others," or creditors not separately classified, including mortgage companies, private mortgage lenders, retired farmers, and many others to whom farmers owed debts, $31,276,347 or 46.6 cents.
Approximately $3,240,695 or 4.8 cents of the loan dollar of loans made from June 1, 1933, through March 31, 1934, were used for other purposes than the refinancing of farmers' indebtedness. Of this, $1,049,482 or 1.6 cents of the loan dollar was used for the purchase of land and equipment, the construction or improvement of buildings, the redemption or repurchase of land foreclosed, and for general agricultural uses, including the provision of capital, while the balance, $2,191,213 or 3.2 cents, was used for various other purposes, such as for the purchase of stock in national farm loan associations, for loan fees, etc.

Demand for "Corn" Showing An Increase

FORT WORTH.—Despite the influx of bootleg bonded whisky, the demand rapidly is coming back here for the garden variety of corn whisky, according to those in the "know."
Moreover, the supply of the old-fashioned pre-repeal corn has been dwindling ever since repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Old customers now are rebelling against the "blends" and crying for the favorite "hooch" of pre-repeal days.
Many of this "old school" are willing even to pay as much for the wash-tub brand without the fancy labels as for the legitimate stocks, legitimate in other states and for medicinal purposes in Texas.
The shortage of cotton-patch corn is due to two reasons. One is that with repeal the moonlight manufacturers decided there would be no demand for their product. The other is that it is a federal offense to manufacture whisky without a license. The "boys" apparently have more respect for the federal law than for the state law.

Demand for "Corn" Showing An Increase

FORT WORTH.—Despite the influx of bootleg bonded whisky, the demand rapidly is coming back here for the garden variety of corn whisky, according to those in the "know."
Moreover, the supply of the old-fashioned pre-repeal corn has been dwindling ever since repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Old customers now are rebelling against the "blends" and crying for the favorite "hooch" of pre-repeal days.
Many of this "old school" are willing even to pay as much for the wash-tub brand without the fancy labels as for the legitimate stocks, legitimate in other states and for medicinal purposes in Texas.
The shortage of cotton-patch corn is due to two reasons. One is that with repeal the moonlight manufacturers decided there would be no demand for their product. The other is that it is a federal offense to manufacture whisky without a license. The "boys" apparently have more respect for the federal law than for the state law.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Stover and Mrs. Fred Stover, of Houston, drove down to DeLeon on business Saturday. Fred has a good position with the Humble Oil & Refining company at Houston. He came on Wednesday and left Friday just a short time before his father, Rev. Sherrill Stover, came from Fort Worth and on Saturday another brother, Carroll Stover, came from Wichita Falls and stayed until Monday. On Sunday, Carroll, preached at the Baptist church, both in the morning and night in the place of Rev. Z. Chambliss, who is holding a revival at Best, Texas. The night service was especially interesting, not only on account of the good sermon preached by this young preacher but on account of one of the congregation being Mrs. Louise Lookingbill, 91 years old, who is the grandmother of the preacher. "Grandma," as she is lovingly called by almost all who know her, has been a cripple many years and is seldom able to attend church. Mrs. Roy Ashburn and Mrs. I. N. Williams drove up to Ranger on business Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Alread and two small children visited at Gorman Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bruce drove over to Gorman Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Graham spent the week-end at Comanche with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McEntire. W. C. Kellum Sr., of Jonesboro, was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. A. C. Robert and family Sunday. His other daughter, Mrs. Joe Thompson, her husband and baby, Joe Ann, came down from Ranger and spent the day with the Robert family. Mr. Kellum lived here several years and Mrs. Thompson was one of our most popular teachers and not only relatives but their many friends are always glad to see them. The "21" Study club met Tuesday afternoon of last week at the clubhouse. On account of a threatening cloud and showers of rain the attendance was smaller than usual but some important business was transacted and the program was quite interesting. The program for Better Homes Day was led by Mrs. C. W. Maltby, who gave a description of spring cleaning at the white house during the Hoover administration. Mrs. Arnold Anderson read a splendid poem on "The Woman With the Hoe," a parody on Edwin Markham's "The Man With the Hoe." Mrs. Plummer Ashburn gave a very helpful discussion of "The Control of House Insect Pests." "In the Garden of Tomorrow" was beautifully rendered as a violin solo by Mrs. W. H. Davis with her daughter, Mrs. Aaron Henslee, accompanist. Those present were Mmes. Roy Ashburn, W. H. Davis, C. W. Maltby, Plummer Ashburn, W. C. Bedford, Mattie Henry, W. E. Barron, Arnold Anderson, Aaron Henslee, S. E. Snodgrass and A. C. Robert. The W. M. U. of the First Baptist church met Monday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Roy Rushing for a social. As the guests came they registered and wrote their favorite recipe, after which the book was presented to Mrs. Roy Rushing. After an hour of games the refreshments committee served a delicious plate lunch consisting of sandwiches, olives, cheese wafers, cake and ice tea. Those present were Mmes. G. W. Tate, W. B. Hilliard, D. B. Parks, S. T. Stover, Dewey Jones, D. D. Lewis, Louise Armstrong, H. H. Williams, R. A. Brown, S. J. Roberts, Wiley Powers, Ferrell Lewis, R. L. Black, Ellis Rouse, Rollie Acrea, Hugh Abel, and the hostess, Mrs. Roy Rushing. Rev. Z. L. Howell and wife and their daughter, Miss Lois Howell, returned Monday afternoon from a visit of several days with two daughters at Greenville, two sons at Dallas, and other relatives in East Texas. They were called to Greenville for Rev. Howell to preach the funeral of an old friend. B. H. Reynolds, R. O. Jackson, S. L. Murphy, and Buddy Knox, who have been here the past few weeks, pulling casing, spent Sunday at their homes in Breckenridge. Officers of the Eastern Star chapter went to Ranger Wednesday afternoon to practice a march which they will put on at the school of instruction to be held there on Thursday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Short and children left Thursday for their home on a ranch near Brady after a visit of several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rouse. They were called here by the serious illness of Mrs. Short's brother, M. T. Rouse, who underwent a major operation at the West Texas Clinic and Hospital at Ranger on Monday of last week. His many friends are glad to know he was able to be brought home Sunday. The Shorts formerly lived here and still own their home and a farm here. Their many friends were glad to see them again. The Methodist Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. I. N. Williams. The devotionals was led by Miss Mollie O'Rear, after which Mrs. Gifford Acrea presented a program on stewardship. The members were delighted to have Miss Nell Robert play a beautiful piano solo. Those present were Mmes. W. E. Barron, Gifford Acrea, Z. L. Howell, G. S. Bruce, S. E. Snodgrass, Tom Alread, W. C. Bedford, I. N. Williams, A. C. Robert and Miss Mollie O'Rear, and Miss Nell Robert. John Hammond of Comanche came up Monday and took charge of the Sanitary Market so the owner, G. S. Bruce, could go on a fishing trip.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out into the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter. If you have trouble with too frequent urination, rheumatic pains and dizziness, burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES kidney tubes need washing out. This dangerous condition may be the beginning of kidney trouble. It may knock you out and you up for many months. Don't wait until you are over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes. Doan's Pills are the only pills that claim to fix up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS, the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Grady Pipkin to Head Boy Scout Drive In Eastland

A committee headed by Grady Pipkin, district chairman for the Boy Scout work in Eastland and its trade territory, will give the citizens of Eastland an opportunity to support this worthy cause during the remainder of this week.

The campaign will start with a Boy Scout breakfast at the city park Thursday morning at 7 o'clock. The committee hopes to finish in one day and feel that this can be accomplished with the cooperation of the citizens.

The Eastland Rotary club has recently organized to sponsor a new troop. Dr. J. H. Caton, J. E. Johnson and Grady Pipkin being the troop committee appointed by the club. Fay Earnest has been selected as scoutmaster for the troop. As the present troop headed by H. M. Condley has a number of boys on the waiting list, anxious to become scouts caused the Rotary club to see the need of an additional troop and have gone forward with the development to furnish an opportunity for more boys to become scouts.

Men who have been asked to help with the campaign are: Jim Horton, B. M. Collie, J. O. Earnest, R. E. Sikes, Ben Hamner, J. B. Johnson, F. M. Kenny, M. L. Keasler, John Burke, Turner Collie, Virgil Seaberry, C. A. Hertig, W. O. Butler, J. C. Patterson, Frank Williams, C. J. Rhodes, Frank Dwyer, George Harper, Julius Krause and Wayne Jones.

Next War Will Be Like the World War

FORT WORTH.—Despite the general opinion, the next war will be very much like the World war, believes Major General William R. Smith, former superintendent of West Point military academy and now superintendent of the Sewanee (Tenn.) military academy.

In face of recent inventions and the increasing usage of the airplane, the next war will not be "fought in the air," General Smith said. General Smith was a commander in the World war.

"Men must meet men face to face on the battlefield before one army can defeat another," he said. "When men are confronted with too powerful a force, they dig in. The only way to route them is to send other men to dig them out."

General Smith gave his views on the next war during a visit here recently in the interest of the institution which he heads.

Famous 'Scotland Yard' Is Duplicated On The Screen

Scotland Yard, famed criminal investigating headquarters of London, for the first time in its long history, has revealed the workings of its inner mechanism.

For three months prior to the beginning of production on the motion picture, "Mystery of Mr. X," communications flew between Scotland Yard and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Photographs, secret records and histories were being forwarded, furnishing authentic data for the new film.

Now completed and released, it will open today at the Lyric Theatre. Robert Montgomery is starred and Elizabeth Allan, beautiful English actress, plays the feminine lead. Featured players include Lewis Stone, Ralph Forbes, Henry Stephenson, Forrester Harvey, Ivan Simpson, Leonard Mudie, Alec B. Francis and Charles Irwin.

Numerous scenes in the thriller are laid inside Scotland Yard. Settings have been duplicated exactly from photographs and specifications furnished.

The ranking Commissioner's office is identical with the original, even to a bronze bust of Caesar, standing like a sentinel in the corner. So also is the roof, wireless room, fingerprint department, bureau of records and the exterior of the structure.

The exact procedure of criminal investigation is followed. London's Metropolitan Police—of which Scotland Yard is a part—tries its criminals in the Bow Street Police Court. This building also has its counterpart in the Hollywood studio, conforming exactly with the original.

Automobiles, English taxicabs, policemen's uniforms, even an English railroad Pullman is an authentic duplicate of the original. Edgar Selwyn directed the new film.

New York Mayor La Guardia and the entire Texas delegation in Congress were praised by Mayor La Guardia of New York City recently in an address welcoming the 125 Texas boosters on their good will tour of the East. The speaker declared that there is no more useful member of congress than Mr. Blanton.

Frederic William Wile, writer for the Washington, D. C. Evening Star, had the following to say in his newspaper of April 23, concerning Mayor La Guardia's address: "When Mayor La Guardia of New York the other day received the delegation of 125 Texas boosters now touring the East he went out of his way to pay a handsome tribute to his old colleague in the House, Representative Thomas L. Blanton. 'A lot of people may not like Blanton,' said his honor of Manhattan, 'and he may irritate sometimes, but there is no more useful member of congress.' The mayor, continuing the distribution of bouquets, added: 'And there is no state in the union that has a better, more informed, hard-working or intelligent delegation in Washington than Texas.' The mayor also recalled glowingly his long comradeship in the House with Vice President Garner."

Revision of School Curriculum Is Task Of Many Teachers

HOUSTON.—Revision of high school curriculum to prepare children for a world in which leisure will be a major consideration is the task before educators, according to Dr. Edison Ellsworth Oberholtzer, new president of the department of superintendence of National Education association.

Dr. Oberholtzer, superintendent of Houston schools for the past 10 years, looks upon his election to the highest office of N. E. A. with great concern.

Pioneering has past, he said, and it will be the duty of high schools to prepare children for wise use of the leisure time that will become such an important part in living.

Public school training may be lengthened, Oberholtzer ventured, to meet the new economic situation. Thus educated men and women would enter the field of competitive business much later and be in it a shorter time, taking several years from social readjustment to leisure time.

"It will be more and more our high responsibility to help prepare the future men and women for this new world of labor and leisure, with the latter taking more and more time," Dr. Oberholtzer said. "We need culture more than ever."

He believes children should be trained to think more in terms of helpful work for the common social good and less in terms of material success.

Necessary as this change is, he said, those who make the new school program are "betwixt the devil and the deep blue sea." On the one hand is the need for the new curriculum to adjust children to the new world of greater leisure, and on the other hand is an economic pressure demanding curtailment of the very activities introduced to meet the social demand.

Dr. Oberholtzer has two courses for high school students here. One is for those who plan to continue their education at institutions of higher learning. The other is for those who will end their training with a high school diploma. The latter is a general course, designed to round out an education as nearly as possible during the four years.

it is difficult to induce students to take the general course offered. Parents must become aware, he declared, of their changing conditions and of the new world into which their children will be turned.

SCOUTS BUILD CABINS
KALAMAZOO, Mich.—Kalamazoo Boy Scouts have turned time backward about 100 years in the construction of eight troop cabins patterned after the pioneer type of wilderness shelter. All cabins will be erected to look as rustic as possible. To emphasize the pioneer effect, many of the buildings will be equipped with doors of the "latch-string" type. Wherever possible, old-fashioned tools will be used to hew the necessary lumber from solid timber. Work will be supervised by the boys' fathers.

GULF WINS MORE "HILL TESTS" THAN 32 GASOLINES COMBINED

Will your car have more power on any one gasoline? HERE'S YOUR ANSWER..

Gulf tested a total of 33 gasolines on famous American hills—12 hills in localities from Massachusetts to Georgia—and here is what they found...

The power of different gasolines varies widely! And of all 33 gasolines, Gulf is uniformly best. 7 out of 12 times, it propelled a car and load up mountain grades farther than any other gasoline tested!

It won more hill tests than 32 other gasolines combined! Prove it! Drive into a Gulf station, fill up, and test the power of That Good Gulf for yourself!

HOW 33 GASOLINES RANKED (IN ALL TESTS TO DATE)

All gasolines tested, except a few "third grade" brands, sold for approximately the same price as That Good Gulf. Each brand is denoted by a letter.

Garden and Yard Hints From Club Women of County

Canning Equipment
Canning equipment must be in perfect order to obtain the desired results in canning is the experience of Mrs. Lee Burkhead, farm food supply cooperater of the North Star Demonstration club. One cannot be too careful when using the pressure cooker and sealer. Both the cooker and sealer should be kept in good condition at all times. The check should be made on both often enough to know that you will have no trouble. If you do not know the way to check up on the equipment, see the merchant you purchased from, an experienced home demonstration club member or the home demonstration agent. Accidents are caused by neglecting this and carelessness on the part of the person operating the equipment, never know all about the operation, let others tell you and profit by their knowledge. I have operated the pressure cooker and tin can sealer for the last eight years and have had no trouble in any way. The women of the North Star Club have done the same. Demonstrations are given from time to time during the year by club members or the home agent and should be attended by the women using the equipment.

There is danger in any thing if the proper methods are not used. The pressure cooker is safe. Check the equipment today or get some one to do it for you so that you may know the points to watch at all times.

Cans to Use for Preserving Food
Mrs. Lula James, farm food supply cooperater of the Ranger Co-Workers club gives this information on the use of different kinds of cans for different products. Many people still feel they should use the enamel cans for all products. The sanitary enamel has not been baked on the can under high enough pressure to stand the long processing needed for the non-acid vegetables such as corn and peas and when used will flake off into the product. If you want enamel cans for these purposes use the C-Enamel, which is a lighter color and has a dull finish. The sanitary enamel is a bright and shiny finish.

The following rule should be followed: C-Enamel should be used for sulphur-bearing foods, such as corn, cabbage, chicken, hominy, peas and succotash. C-Enamel is not recommended but has been successful for lima beans, beets, carrots, corn on the cob, mixed vegetables for soup, pumpkin, squash and spinach.

C-Enamel should not be used for any product which is acid, such as fruits, including apples, berries, cherries, pickles, tomato products.

Foundation Pattern
Miss Malta Turner, wardrobe

demonstrator for the Peak home demonstration club, gave the foundation skirt pattern making demonstration to the club at the home of Mrs. P. C. Larkin. Miss Turner stated that fourteen of the women attended and all are interested in making and using the foundation pattern, not only for themselves, but plan to make one for the girls in the families. One member stated she is to make the waist pattern for her nine year old daughter. Miss Turner stressed the need for keeping the threads straight up and down and straight across when making the pattern and when cutting the garment.

Materials for Making Foundation Pattern
New unbleached or bleached domestic should be used to get the best results when making foundation patterns is the experience of Mrs. D. M. Jacobs in the demonstrations she has started with her club members of the North Star home demonstration club. If you feel you can't afford to buy the new material, then use sacks of a fairly good sheet, but starch with a thin starch and iron. When using the old materials cut in skirt and waist lengths and be sure to iron only one way with the threads in order to keep them straight and have the least trouble with getting and keeping them straight with the pattern when cutting.

Foundation Pattern School
A foundation pattern is a simple pattern which fits the individual as perfectly as possible. Nineteen home demonstration club women, clothing demonstrators of the clubs of the county, met in Eastland Monday and Tuesday, in the basement of the Methodist church and made the foundation patterns. This school was conducted by Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, Clothing Specialist, Extension Service, College Station, Texas. Mrs. Barnes made two patterns showing the women the steps in the pattern, the first day the waist and the sleeve, the second day the skirt, collars and how to make patterns from the foundation one. Then the women divided into pairs and made patterns for themselves, measuring and fitting each other. These patterns were later checked by Mrs. Barnes for corrections before they were completed by the demonstrators.

As a result of the school the nineteen women will have dresses that will fit and will be able to make the dresses in much shorter time because they will not have to take the time on the fitting they have to do when using a different pattern for every dress. These patterns can be chaged as to design, but the fit is still there. Fourteen clubs were represented at the meeting by the following women:

Romney, Mrs. H. H. Harrelson, Mrs. Gil Walker.
Carbon, Mrs. L. J. Hazlewood, Mrs. Overton Stone.
Peak, Miss Malta Turner, Mrs. Erwin.
Bullock, Mrs. Ellis Cooper, Mrs.

B. R. LaMance.
North Star, Mrs. D. M. Jacobs, Mrs. Lee Burkhead.
Reich, Mrs. Albert Ezzell, Mrs. W. E. Morris.
Word, Mrs. C. M. Britain, Mrs. C. E. Graves.
Ranger, Mrs. Louis Pitcock, Mrs. Holmes.
Oiden, Mrs. O. M. White.
Bass Lake, Mrs. Floyd McCormick, Mrs. Calvin Swan, Mrs. Henry Capers.
Flatwood, Mrs. Burl Turner.
Sabanno, Mrs. Edwin Erwin, Mrs. J. S. Erwin.
Elm, Mrs. Young Gregg, Mrs. J. R. Files.
Friendship, Mrs. E. M.ONEY.
Miss Blanche Brown, Harpersville; Miss Fontilla Johnson, home demonstration agent, Sweetwater; Miss Emma Gunter, home demonstration agent, Colorado; Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, College Station, Texas.

These demonstrators are to give foundation pattern making demonstrations in their clubs and help the club members with the making on the individual patterns.

MORE THAN 50% LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE

IN THE NEW Firestone HIGH SPEED TIRE FOR 1934

The new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1934 is the greatest tire Firestone has ever built. With its wider, flatter tread, greater thickness, deeper non-skid, more and tougher rubber, and greater non-skid contact with the road, you get more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

This new development is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, whereby the cotton fibers inside the high-stretch cords are soaked and coated with pure liquid rubber. This provides greater strength, safety and blowout protection.

Firestone engineers pioneered and developed the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and it is only natural that Firestone would lead in the further development of tire construction to meet the demands of the high-powered high-speed cars of today.

OLDEN

SENIOR BANQUET

Olden High school Junior-banquet, held in the roof of the Connellee hotel in Olden, Thursday night, April 26, was one of the prettiest and appreciated affairs of the year. The three tables including the center of each table stood on doll about 20 inches tall in black cap and gown and holding a diploma tied in gold. Around the hem were yellow roses twined, graceful spray of fern and roses extended in gentle from the center to each end tables. Place cards were baskets of yellow roses with ruffled handles, the gold top holding the name favors were black caps with dandies on gold lace doilies. The center of each table was with the silhouette of a lady in cap and gown. Hickman, the guest of Mrs. Hickman, Superintendent Collins, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Pickens and A. B. Gibson at the speaker's table. Hickman made an excellent which was greatly appreciated and enjoyed. A. C. Gibson, of the junior class and introduced the speaker on various ones for the program was as follows: S. J. Smith; "The Biography," then the event achieves a distinction almost without precedent. This picture is "Queen Christina," which will be shown Monday at the Lyric Theatre. "Queen Christina" is remarkable in that it is a role chosen by Miss Garbo herself. The character of this brilliant, independent and eccentric regent of the middle seventeenth century is one that has always attracted the enigmatic actress, as much because she was of the same race as because her intelligence and passion for freedom were wholly modern in their quality. And Sweden at that period was an aggressive military power whose martial mania Christina insisted on suppressing. Miss Garbo was interested, too, in conveying this pacific conviction of the queen. Accordingly, when the actress took one of her rare excursions home last Spring, she promptly proceeded to do some of the research and investigation which she had promised Rouben Mamoulian she would do. She consulted biographies and museum records and costume plates, and when she returned to Hollywood with much of this material in her trunk, she was more eager than ever to attempt an incarnation of the queen who preferred the cultivation of artists and sciences to the thankless and ruthless business of wielding a sceptre. Few choices for the composer of dialogue could have been so fortunate as that of the brilliant S. N. Behrman. This distinguished playwright has been responsible for some of the wittiest comedies produced in the New York theatre for the last seven or eight years. And the incisive, penetrating statements characteristic of Christina could scarcely have been penned by a more skillful hand. And Mamoulian as the director of "Queen Christina" was really the final touch. The man who had directed "Porgy," "Marco Millions," "Congal," "R. U. R." and "The Game of Love and Death" for the Theatre Guild was clearly the man with the megaphone for the splendor and glamour of a story involving the powerful Swedish court of three centuries back. His effort was of the kind he had made with all his stage productions: a reduction to essence and to general style instead of a literal reproduction of the architecture and costume of the period. Thus, all of the gowns worn and all of the backgrounds and all of the human movements are true to the era in spirit much more than they are in precise detail. A few days after the events described in our lesson, we see him in a very different procession, to the Cross, being spat upon and reviled as he walks under its burden. HOW does it come in our lesson, therefore, that we have this contrasted incident? Here, as he rides toward Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives, the people cast their garments in the way and throw palm branches in his path, crying, "Hosanna, blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." We can hardly account for the changing scenes, but the contrast is one that has been by no means lacking in other periods of history and in the lives of great leaders and teachers. History records so many cases of the man who has the plaudits of the throng today is suffering the violence of the mob tomorrow, or the man who is acclaimed as the very savior of his nation today was harried and driven by the mob but a few years earlier. In our own day we have seen a rather notable example in the rise to power in England during the war period, of David Lloyd George, although in another war, the war of England against the Boers, Lloyd George was the object of the vengeance of a mob, which threatened even to hang him. PROBABLY the chief teaching of this lesson arises out of this contrast and its emphasis upon the instability of the mob. The greatest need of the man who would discern true values, and who would always see things aright, is to get that sense of discriminating judgment that is not swayed merely by outward events or by inward passions and emotions. When we can observe some man who is subject to abuse and contumely, and can find in him some element of goodness that bigotry and prejudice have failed to see, we have put reason above the sway of passion and ignoble influence, and have come into the realm of moral values. It is not so easy to attain this as would appear on the surface. It is, in fact, the hardest way of life, and it demands life's sternest and supremest discipline. Fortunately we have the discipline and the power of Christ to help us attain to spiritual discernment. The man who is truly of the Christian spirit brings to life a sort of touchstone, in which the spirit of Christ in others is revealed. He can see in the prophet who is spurned and denounced and persecuted the true man of God, if God indeed be there. It is easy to throw our palm branches in the way, but it is more difficult in the hour of Calvary to be able to discern the living Christ in the dying victim of human cruelty.

Garbo Coming In "Queen Christina"

A new motion picture with Greta Garbo is automatically an event: she has been acclaimed by many as the leading actress of the screen, and her vehicles are so carefully spaced that it always seems an extremely long time since the last one. When a Garbo film is directed by Rouben Mamoulian, formerly of the Theatre Guild, the event seems of double importance. And when the picture is one whose dialogue has been composed by S. N. Behrman, author of last year's stage success, "Biography," then the event achieves a distinction almost without precedent. This picture is "Queen Christina," which will be shown Monday at the Lyric Theatre. "Queen Christina" is remarkable in that it is a role chosen by Miss Garbo herself. The character of this brilliant, independent and eccentric regent of the middle seventeenth century is one that has always attracted the enigmatic actress, as much because she was of the same race as because her intelligence and passion for freedom were wholly modern in their quality. "Laughing Boy" Is Stirring Film Tale Of Navajo Life

Ramon Navarro portrays a stirring role with Lupe Velez as the feminine lead in "Laughing Boy," a stirring Indian drama filmed by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios from the famous Pulitzer Prize story, by Oliver La Farge. The picture is to be shown Sunday at the Lyric Theatre. The story from which the new picture was adapted was one of America's "best-sellers" of a few years ago, and is probably the most widely read Indian story ever printed. It concerns the life of a young Navajo Indian who comes from the mountain regions of his reservation home to learn of life and love. Col. W. S. Van Dyke, famous globe trotting director, noted for such successes as "White Shadows in the South Seas," "Trader Horn," "Eskimo" and recently the fight drama "Prizefighter and the Lady," handled direction of the film. Navarro plays the title role of "Laughing Boy," the young Navajo who learns of love from an Indian girl of his tribe who has known the white man's civilization. This girl, portrayed by Lupe Velez, uses her wiles learned in white cities, to keep him from a knowledge that would crush his depth of primitive feeling. With the exception of a role played by William Davidson, as the "heavy," the entire supporting cast is composed of more than 1,000 Navajo tribesmen. They were photographed on their native reservation in northern Arizona. Among the picture's spectacular episodes are an Indian horse race in which the riders risk life and limb for a small cash prize, a caravan of the wagons of more than 800 Navajo tribesmen, and a "squad dance" in which 200 Indian women reveal a ceremony seldom witnessed by white people. The plot of "Laughing Boy" describes the romance of a young Navajo blood who falls in love with a girl who has spent a number of years in the midst of white civilization. Former President Machado of Cuba, fleeing extradition, might not have heard of the Mediterranean cruise of Samuel Insull.

Jesus Acclaimed as King

Text: Matt. 21:1-46 The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 6. BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of Advance

THE triumphal entry into Jerusalem has become celebrated in Palm Sunday. Our thoughts have been given to this recently, so that we come to the study of this lesson with the preparation of the Lenten season. The description of the entry of Jesus into Jerusalem seems to have a unique place in the Gospel story. We find Jesus on different occasions seeking refuge from the opposition and the persecuting spirit of the multitude. We find him, for the most part, avoiding the thronged public places, giving his greatest teachings to individuals and to small groups as he wanders through the fields, as he sits by the side of the well, or as he reclines in some home where he has been invited to supper. In many of his public appearances we see him confronted with opposition and denunciation. A few days after the events described in our lesson, we see him in a very different procession, to the Cross, being spat upon and reviled as he walks under its burden.

HOW does it come in our lesson, therefore, that we have this contrasted incident? Here, as he rides toward Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives, the people cast their garments in the way and throw palm branches in his path, crying, "Hosanna, blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." We can hardly account for the changing scenes, but the contrast is one that has been by no means lacking in other periods of history and in the lives of great leaders and teachers. History records so many cases of the man who has the plaudits of the throng today is suffering the violence of the mob tomorrow, or the man who is acclaimed as the very savior of his nation today was harried and driven by the mob but a few years earlier.

In our own day we have seen a rather notable example in the rise to power in England during the war period, of David Lloyd George, although in another war, the war of England against the Boers, Lloyd George was the object of the vengeance of a mob, which threatened even to hang him.

PROBABLY the chief teaching of this lesson arises out of this contrast and its emphasis upon the instability of the mob. The greatest need of the man who would discern true values, and who would always see things aright, is to get that sense of discriminating judgment that is not swayed merely by outward events or by inward passions and emotions.

When we can observe some man who is subject to abuse and contumely, and can find in him some element of goodness that bigotry and prejudice have failed to see, we have put reason above the sway of passion and ignoble influence, and have come into the realm of moral values. It is not so easy to attain this as would appear on the surface. It is, in fact, the hardest way of life, and it demands life's sternest and supremest discipline. Fortunately we have the discipline and the power of Christ to help us attain to spiritual discernment.

Scout Membership Campaign Meets Hearty Response

The annual Boy Scout campaign in Eastland was inaugurated Thursday morning at the city park in the form of an early morning breakfast attended by business men who are taking an active part in the solicitation of funds for the movement. In former years the Boy Scout movement found a more ready reception than has been evidenced in recent years. At one time there were four troops of scouts sponsored by the Elks club, the Methodist church, Presbyterian church, and another civic institution. Attention to the fact that another troop was needed in Eastland besides the one headed by Horace Condeley was further intensified when members of the Rotary club, who are sponsoring another troop, learned that many boys who are eligible to membership in the scouts were unable to join because the number limitation of the present troop was such that membership was impossible. Seventeen youths in the city are eligible for membership in the Boy Scouts and it is thought that many more who have as yet not expressed their willingness to join will express themselves since the recent campaign.

Friday night at the clubhouse at the city park, the to-be headquarters of the new troop, boys who are interested in taking part in the scout movement will meet at 7:30 o'clock. Members of the committee arousing interest among local people and soliciting funds said Thursday morning that they were meeting with success of a measurable degree.

MAY DAY FETE The May Day festival, which was to have been held on the terrace at Eastland High school on the evening of May 1, but which was rained out, will be held May 7th, it is announced.

WITH prospects for the farmer the brightest in years, prices of land will naturally go up. In fact, they've already started. How long present low prices will last, no one knows. Make up your mind now to be one of the fortunate people "who bought while prices were at rock-bottom".

PLAN TO EXPLORE CAVE MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich.—Skull Cave, located here and believed to contain skulls of mysterious origin, is to be explored by scientists under the direction of the Island State Park commission. Belief that human bones are buried in the dark recesses of the cave is based on the writings of Alexander Henry, famous fur trader, who hid there from the Indians in 1763. He wrote that "human bones and skulls covered the floor." Modern historians believe they may be remains of Chippewa Indians killed in a raid by the Hurons, a rival tribe. TRY A WANT AD
