Finding Middle Path Is Democracy's Job

Secretary of State Cordell Hull told the American Legion convention the other day that our government is trying to follow a middle path between isolation and entanglement in the affairs of other nations.

For the very essence of democracy, after all, is this attempt to find and follow a practical middle path—in foreign policy, and in domestic affairs as well.

A good part of the world has fallen into the hands of extremists of late. In one country after another the people have been won over to the idea that there is one plan, and one plan only, which can help them; and it is getting so that you can hardly pick-up your newspaper without reading of some spot where people have been executed, imprisoned or bombed from the sky for daring to disagree.

When we say that as Americans and lovers of liberty we disagree with such measures, we tell only half of the story. The alternative to rule by one or another set of extremists is the charting of a course half-way between the rival camps.

Democracy can survive only by proving that it is possible to find such a course; by proving that men still have enough good sense and good will to compare ideas, to take the best that the rival extremists have to offer, to compromise and harmonize and blend them so that people do not have to be bombed and bludgeoned into obedience.

It isn't easy to do this. It calls for hard, sustained thinking, for critical examination of all slogans and panaceas, for recognition of the often-forgotten fact that there are few passable short-cuts to the millennium. It compels us to realize that they cannot gain respect for their own rights without respecting the rights of others, and that human nature is so constituted that an enduring social, economic or political system can be erected only on a basis of mutual consent.

All of this, to be sure, is perfectly familiar to us, as citizens of the world's oldest democracy. Yet we must remind ourselves constantly that democracy will continue to work only if we take the trouble to make it work.

Finding this middle course is unspacious and uninspiring work. It would be a lot easier to resign everything to the hands of some leader and contribute cheers to the goose-stepping storm troopers. But in the end, if our vision of America is to survive, we must make a success of this unspacious and uninspiring job—or see the brightest values of our national tradition dissolve.

TWO BEAUTIES AND THE BEAST!

Circus days are on the way to Ranger, Saturday, October 16th, with the announced engagement of the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus. With a personnel of 1,000 performers, 800 furred and feathered creatures, 400 horses and 25 elephants everything is bigger and better than ever.

Dazzling Star Is Brighter than Sun

LICK OBSERVATORY, MOUNT HAMILTON, Cal.—Astronomers have discovered a super-nova, or "exploding star," which may mean the creation of a new planetary system.

The super-nova has received the designation "N.G.C. 4182," which places it outside the stellar system in which the earth has its place.

The super-nova at its maximum apparent brightness was only about one-sixth of that of the faintest star visible to the eye. It had an estimated brilliance of 250,000,000 times that of the sun, but its radiance was decreased because of its great distance from the earth, estimated at 3,000,000 light years.

It is difficult to conceive of the brightness of this new star. A super-nova was found in the center of the Andromeda Nebula in 1885. That particular super-nova was estimated to be 20,000 times brighter than the sun. Placed in our own stellar system, the 1885 star from a distance of nine light years, would appear 100 times brighter than a full moon.

If it could be put in the place of the sun, it would give 100,000,000 times the light of that sphere and in a space of one month at maximum brightness, it would radiate as much light as our sun does in 10,000,000 years.

The super-nova now under observation has an estimated intrinsic brightness of 250,000,000 times that of the sun. The spectrum of the new super-nova can be photographed with a spectrograph. This is the first time that such a phenomena has been photographed.

The cause of the outburst of a nova is not known definitely, but one noted astronomer, Stromberg, suggests the possibility that it is the making of a new planetary system. No known super-nova has appeared in the earth's stellar system.

Indian Culture 2,000 Years Old

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Archeologists of the Rochester Museum have unearthed two huge Indian village sites on Oneida Lake which date back more than 2,000 years.

From a study of their findings, archeologists have concluded that at one time vast areas on each side of the lake were inhabited by Algonkian Indians.

Several different "levels" were uncovered, indicating that the sites were inhabited by Indians for many generations. The Indians probably lived in their huts for a generation or two until camp debris became thick, it was explained, and then moved on. Others moved on the same site, causing a new "level."

Already uncovered are thousands of arrowheads, spearheads and drills, bone implements such as fishhooks, needles and harpoons, stone gouges used in hollowing out dugout canoes, stone axes, and banner stones, possibly used in ceremonial rites.

Discovery of hammered copper implements, estimated to be 1,500 years old, gave indication that a more advanced state of civilization existed in this region than had been suspected.

The scientists doing the excavation work believe that the discovery will be of tremendous importance to archeologic history. The findings will be displayed at the Rochester Museum.

Acreage Cost Is Increased by Test

Acreage near the Phillips Petroleum Company's No. 1 Cessart, 4,000 foot test in the Seranton area, Callahan county, has reportedly increased to $25 an acre.

The Cessart, it is stated, is now drilling around 400 feet. The Seranton school board understood to have leased the 11-acre school campus for that amount. The school is more than a mile from the well.

8,000 Yearling Bass Put In White Rock Lake Near Dallas

DALLAS, Tex.—Eight thousand "yearling" bass have slithered down the bank into the waters of White Rock Lake, east of Dallas as part of the program to keep the lake in good condition for fishermen.

Marcus Evans, lake superintendent, said the fish were from 6 to 11 inches in length and by next May, when the 1938 fishing season opens, should all be the legal size—11 inches in length. Approximately 250,000 fish are being taken from the city hatchery and dumped into White Rock and 100,000 into Bachman's Lake, including bass, crappie and catfish.

87 SPEED RECORDS BROKEN TO MAKE TIRES SAFER FOR YOU

Never Before Have Tires Been Put to Such Gruelling Torture

AT SPEEDS as high as 180 miles an hour—with the hot, coarse, abrasive salt grinding, tearing, scorching his tires—Ab Jenkins' special racer, weighing nearly three tons, pounded over the Bonneville Salt Beds last week at such terrific speed that it caused the surface to break up. Before the end of the run the track was so pitted and rough that it was almost impossible to hold the car on its course. Yet Jenkins set 87 new World, International and American speed records on Firestone Tires.

Building tires capable of establishing such records is made possible only because of patented Firestone manufacturing processes. These exclusive features enable Firestone to provide car owners with tires that are extra safe.

For the greatest protection of yourself and your family equip your car with Firestone TRIPLE-SAFE Tires. By TRIPLE-SAFE we mean—

- 1 PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING — The scientific tread design gives longer non-skid mileage and stops your car up to 25% quicker.
2 PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS — Firestone Tires run up to 28 degrees cooler because every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.
3 PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES — Two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread add strength to the tire and give extra protection against punctures.

Now is the time to make your car tire-safe for fall and winter driving. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new FIRESTONE TRIPLE-SAFE Tires—the safest tires that money can buy!

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO DRIVE WITHOUT FIRESTONE TRIPLE-SAFE TIRES

Last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 38,000 men, women and children and a million more were injured! More than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires!

JIM KERRIGAN—Cilly's fiance.
HARRY HUTCHINS—Amy's attorney.
SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday Cilly looks down from the roof and is startled to see that Mr. Hunter, paralyzed for years, walks about with ease in his own bedroom.

CHAPTER XIX

RETURNING to her apartment after breakfast Wednesday morning, Cilly met Detective Martin in the hall.

"Good morning, Miss Pierce," he greeted. "I've just been through the house. Dolan wants everyone down at police headquarters this morning at 10:30."

"Very well. I'll be there," Cilly assured him. She decided that she would be there at 10 o'clock to inform the sergeant of her latest discovery. He had ruled Mr. Hunter out as a possibility because of the man's physical incapacity. This morning, however, Hunter loomed in Cilly's mind as a very important possibility. Why would a man deliberately tie himself to a wheel-chair when he was well able to walk?

Later, however, when a burly policeman had ushered her into a private room at police headquarters, she discovered she would have no opportunity to see the sergeant alone. Several of the Bayview tenants had arrived before her. They sat in a semicircle around a plain flat top desk, nervously expectant. She recognized the Downeys; so obviously mother and daughter. Mr. Hunter, looking feeble and frail in his wheelchair, was there with his wife.

Promptly at 10:30, Sergeant Dolan entered the room, followed by Martin. Dolan seated himself at the desk, his back to the double windows. Martin stood behind him, leaning against a window-sill. The tenants sat facing the windows, where the light shone on their faces clearly and relentlessly. If they lied, Cilly thought, Dolan would be able to read it in their features.

"Everybody here, Martin?" Dolan asked.

Martin checked with a list in his hand. "Didn't get in touch with the Wheeler woman yet," he reported. "The three other tenants are still out of town—but I don't see the Corbets."

The Corbets, Cilly looked up in surprise. But, of course, they would be summoned. Mrs. Corbett's mother was the only person who actually saw the murder committed. Her testimony would be very important.

Even as Martin spoke, the door opened and they entered. Mr. Corbett, Cilly noticed, had survived his drinking very well. He was immaculate in a light gray tropical worsted, and he carried himself with an air of assurance.

Mrs. Corbett, the same meek and humble woman Cilly had first met, followed her husband hesitantly into the room. She wore a nondescript blue voile dress, and it hung limply on her thin frame. Her face was pale and drawn. Her mother, in spite of asthma, held her head high and entered the room with a firm step.

AS soon as they were seated, Sergeant Dolan addressed the group:

"You all know," he began, in a calm, rather friendly voice, "a young woman was killed in a fall from the roof of the Bayview Apartments last Sunday night—or, to be more exact, at 12:20 early Monday morning. We have a witness present who can testify that the girl did not fall, but was deliberately thrown from the roof. This is a cold-blooded murder, ladies and gentlemen, which we are investigating, and I need not impress upon you the importance of absolute truth and accuracy in answering my questions. Mrs. Shaw, will you please tell us again, in your own words, just exactly what you saw occur on the roof of the Bayview?"

Mrs. Corbett's mother got to her feet. All eyes were turned upon her. Dramatically, she squared her shoulders and took a deep breath before she spoke.

"As I told you before, sergeant," she said in clear, crisp tones, "I was seated at the window of my bedroom in the St. Ann Apartments. I had not been feeling well, and I wanted to get the air. It was very dark out—there were neither stars nor a moon—and ordinarily I could not see the roof opposite except when an occasional beam from one of the ships in the bay would pass over it. Suddenly I heard this frightful scream, and at that very instant a beam passed slowly over the roof opposite. I saw a man pick this girl up in his arms and deliberately fling her over the side of the house. That is all. I must have fainted. My daughter prepared an oplate for me, and I did not awaken until morning."

"Thank you, Mrs. Shaw. May I ask if the light was sufficiently strong for you to recognize this man in any way?"

"It was not," Mrs. Shaw resumed her seat.

Sergeant Dolan scanned the faces before him. "Now I am going to ask each of you to remember very carefully what happened Sunday night. We'll start with you, Mr. Hunter. You live on the top floor, directly under the roof where the murder was committed. Did you hear any voices on the roof, any sign of quarreling?"

"No, sergeant," Hunter replied. He spoke in a frail voice, as if to match the infirmity of his limbs. "I must have been asleep. It was the scream which woke me up. My wife ran to the window. . . ."

"Did you get up?"

"The man shook his head sorrowfully. "I couldn't do that, you see." He made a futile gesture toward his legs. "I haven't walked in 20 years."

CILLY stood up, her eyes afixe. "Sergeant Dolan," she cried, "will you ask Mr. Hunter how it happens, therefore, that last night from across the street I saw him walking about his bedroom in his pajamas?"

The man gasped; he turned to stare at Cilly, and in his eyes there blazed the malevolent fear of a trapped animal.

"Is that true, Hunter?" Dolan snapped.

"The girl's crazy," he choked through dry lips. "She's crazy or—drunk. I can't walk. . . . I have doctors' statements to prove it."

"What time was this, Miss Pierce?" Dolan inquired.

"Eleven o'clock, sergeant. There is no mistake about it, I saw him. . . . Wait a minute!"

Cilly spun around to face the man who suddenly interrupted her. It was Mr. Corbett. There was a malicious glint in his eyes.

"In another minute, sergeant, the young lady will be telling you about pink elephants," he offered with tolerant amusement. "At 11 o'clock last night she was in my apartment, drinking rye highballs. And, believe me, she was in condition to see a great many things walking."

"That's an outrageous lie, Mr. Corbett, and you know it!"

Cilly turned to the sergeant, shaking with fury. But in his eyes, she saw doubt and disappointment. It was part of his job to believe the worst—and he believed Corbett's story. She could see it. From now on, the fight would be doubly hard.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS—TEXANS

WILL H. MAXWELL
AUSTIN, TEXAS

In this column answers will be given in response to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Maxwell, Austin, Texas.

Q. What became of the last of the camels brought to Camp Verde before the Civil War?
 A. During the Civil War they were pressed into the service of the Confederacy for use in carrying cotton to Mexico. After the war the United States Government again obtained possession of them and sold them in lots of three or more. A herd was acquired by Dr. M. A. Taylor of Austin, who took them for a loan he had made to Capt. Bethel Couwood for experimenting with a "camel farm" on the Texas prairie. After a few years, Dr. Taylor sold them to a circus.

Q. What name was the Rio Grande given on Pineda's map of 1519?
 A. Rio de los Pescadores.

Q. Where were the Gulf coast towns of Clarksville and Bagdad and what became of them?
 A. They were both at the mouth of the Rio Grande—Clarksville on the north bank, Bagdad on the south side. They were completely destroyed by the tropical storm of 1867, which also severely damaged the nearby towns of Brownsville and Matamoros.

Q. What started the citrus industry of the Lower Rio Grande Valley?
 A. There is a tradition that about 50 years ago a traveling missionary gave some orange seed to a Mexican girl near the present city of Edinburg, that she planted them and the trees produced so abundantly that the great possibilities of the citrus industry were foreseen.

float committee for the 20th anniversary homecoming to be held in Ranger on Thursday, Oct. 21, met this morning in the office of the chamber of commerce, with A. N. Larson, chairman, presiding, and outlined plans for contacting merchants, civic organizations and others to secure floats for the parade.

A committee composed of Edwin George, Jr., and Felton Brasher was appointed to solicit entries from merchants on the north side of Main street and a committee composed of Floyd King, Kingsworth and J. L. Ambler will solicit entries from merchants on the south side of the street. Larson will work to secure floats from those east of the Texas & Pacific Railway tracks.

In addition to the committees named today, Larson will appear before the Lions club at their meeting Thursday to have a committee appointed from the club to contact clubs in Eastland, Cisco and Breckenridge to secure floats and Brasher will contact the Rotary club today to have a similar committee appointed.

Larson today appealed to every club in Ranger to have an entry in the parade, and urged those who planned floats to notify the chamber of commerce in order that provisions could be made for the entry being listed.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—As Justice Hugo L. Black sailed toward the Atlantic coast and Roosevelt headed in the general direction of the Pacific, it appeared that the President had boiled down the Black-Klan issue in his own mind to what he considered by all odds the most important question: Has Black in recent years had any connection with the Ku Klux Klan?

No answer to that question has been available, since Black has given no explanation, secret or otherwise.

MANY administration critics, including some of Roosevelt's own liberal followers who have been seriously perturbed, take the position that no man who was ever a Klan member should be on the Supreme Court.

Roosevelt himself eventually may be forced into that position. But at present he is anxious to keep Black on the court and may be expected to do what he can unofficially to make it easier for Black to stay. Off the record, it seems, the Roosevelt position is that regardless of how regrettable Black's monkey-shines with the Klan a dozen years ago may have been, the man's liberal record in the Senate for many years makes him the type of man Roosevelt wants on the court.

That doesn't mean that the President is even slightly happy about the Black incident. Like everyone else, he thinks it has made one grand mess for him and he is looking for the most graceful, least costly way out of it. He expects a statement from Black. He will expect the statement to make it clear what contact, if any, Black has had with the Klan since its election in 1926. And it is more than likely that he will give consideration to whatever other evidence there may be on the subject. Certain federal agents have been extremely busy, looking into the situation from all angles.

FINDING themselves very definitely in a hole, New Dealers have built up the theory that their opponents purposely failed to reveal evidence as to Black's Klan affiliations prior to his confirmation by the Senate in order to get Black on the bench so as to put Roosevelt in that very hole. Although it sounds a bit fantastic, this supposed plot—if there was one—would seem to have worked out with conspicuous success.

Complications are added by the fact that the President, distinctly on the defensive, is not—in any position to take official action. If he were to ask boldly for Black's resignation he would be subject to attack for an attempt to exert executive dictatorship over the court and it would be said that any president might subsequently ask for the resignation of any other justice of whose past he didn't approve. On the other hand he can't possibly ignore the issues raised.

Roosevelt may make no further statement. But that "will depend on what Black says. If Black says nothing you are fairly sure to hear something more from the White House. Although Roosevelt presently plans to stand on Black's Senate record as sufficient reason for the appointment—assuming Black is not demonstrated to have had any Klan contact in the last eight or ten years, enough heat may develop to change his position." ## Man Charged With Offense Makes Bond Sheriff Loss Woods announced Wednesday that O. V. Beavers, charged with disposal of mortgaged property by an indictment has posted $750 bond.

Beavers was taken in custody at San Angelo.

The G-man code calls for him to shoot at his foe's stomach, which, most everyone knows, is the quickest way to a man's heart.

TO CONDUCT AUDITIONS

Frank O. Starz, special representative who will conduct the stage auditions in the RANGER TIMES-Metro Search For Talent at the Arcadia theatre tonight and Thursday night. Starz was selected for the Metro search because of his knowledge of Texas talent conditions. Starz was connected with talent conquests that sent several youngsters to Hollywood and stage fame.

Starz was active in the contest that produced Joan Blondell for Hollywood selecting her after several lathing revues and stage presentation.

A Charleston contest, when that dance was at its height, engineered by Starz and sponsored by the Interstate Circuit started Ginger Rogers dancing on her way to fame on the stage to be assigned to film fame later.

A more recent contest sent Clara Lou Sheridan, a Denton girl to Hollywood for a test. After several minor roles she was tested for parts and recently was featured in "Footloose Heiress," a Warner Brothers picture that will play Ranger soon.

FIRST AUDITION FOR SEARCH FOR TALENT TO BE HELD TONIGHT

About half dozen Ranger girls will step out on the stage of the Arcadia theatre tonight at 9:00 o'clock in the first auditions of the Ranger Times-Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "Search for Talent."

The youngsters appearing are the survivors of a group who were interviewed during the past few days by Frank O. Starz, special talent scout for Metro. In addition to the group appearing tonight on the stage here another group will make their bid for fame on the Arcadia stage Thursday night.

From those appearing tonight and Thursday night Starz will select one to go to Fort Worth and further competition with 16 others selected in Abilene, Wichita Falls, Vernon, Eastland, Breckenridge, Denton and Fort Worth. Out of the Fort Worth-auditions the Metro test crew will select two to go to Dallas for further tests. In Dallas the Fort Worth entrants will be pitted against two winners each from Houston, San Antonio and Dallas. It is from these eight that the Metro group will select four to go to Hollywood for the final test and possible entry into the movies.

In explaining today the purpose of the search for talent Starz pointed out that absolutely no promises of a movie career are being made. The search will, however, give hundreds of aspirants a chance to learn whether or not they have screen possibilities. Seventy-five Texans will get actual screen tests with Metro's celebrated test crew headed by Eddie Carrer, noted director, whose judgment has sent many aspirants to fame and others to disappointment. Out of the 75 tested the first time around eight will be chosen for a second test under different conditions and then four will journey to Hollywood where the entire resources of the Metro studios will be at the disposal of those making the final test. If any of the winners in Texas show any possibilities at all they will be held over for a most rigid test.

Each applicant's record was classified according to the individual's "possibility" rating. From the completed file selections were made for stage auditions to be conducted at the Arcadia.

It is obvious that all who are interviewed cannot be given stage auditions. Since Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is in search of that intangible something possessed by many stars of the screen who do not possess the beauty of many lesser lights, those who may not be called for auditions need not feel slighted. The studio and Hollywood are ever on watch for beautiful "Talent and "screen appeal" are the desired qualities. Of course, if these qualifications come in a beautiful package, so much the better.

While audiences will be permitted, in fact asked, to signify their preference for various aspirants during the auditions, the final test selections will be made by Starz and several judges selected by the various concerns interested with the Metro representative making the final choice if judges votes are tied.

In discussing the auditions with the various Ranger youngsters interviewed, each was impressed that the auditions are not a beauty contest but a genuine search for talent. The selections throughout from the initial interviews down to the final test at Hollywood are made by studio standards and not the opinions or beliefs of individuals not familiar with studio needs or desires.

The camera is an exacting and peculiar instrument and because the camera must be pleased and because the Metro representative is better aware of camera and studio requirements Starz will have the final word in making the choice.

Starz was assigned to tests in the Texas region because of his previous successful experiences in sending youngsters to stage and screen fame.

The auditions tonight begin at 9 o'clock and will show the local aspirants reading parts from forthcoming Metro pictures.

Rock Island Will Improve Its Lines

By United Press

DALHART, Tex.—H. E. McMullen, division superintendent of the Rock Island Railroad, has announced a program of bridge and track improvements near Dalhart and in the Moore County oil field, to cost more than $90,000.

Included will be repairs to the bridge over Arroyo Rita Blanca, damaged last June when Rita Blanca tumbled a 20-foot wall of water against the bridge in the worst flood in the history of the Dalhart area.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.
Laxatives are only make-shifts. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmon, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

THE OLIVER ROW-CROP "70"

Finger-Tip Control—For An Easier—Quicker Job

Sit in the comfortable new spring-and-hammock seat of the new Row Crop "70"—and every control is right at your finger tips. You have automotive type steering and gear shifting! "Steering-braking" assures short turns. The brakes also operate from the heel, for quick action and powerful leverage. Fully enclosed and streamlined, the "70" is as easy to handle as an automobile.

You'll want to come in and see this new 6-cylinder tractor at once. There are two "70's"—one designed to get greater economy out of regular gasoline—and the other especially built for kerosene or distillate. Both have great power with light weight. Both are smooth and easy-running—with greater speed. You'll get the work done quicker—with more spare time for other things. See the "70's"—with a complete line of mounted listing, busting, planting and cultivating equipment.
