Government Has Huge Dividend On Investment Savings

WASHINGTON.—The United States Government has been paid a cumulative total of more than $8,827,000 in dividends on its investments in savings, building and loan associations, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board announced today after receipt of a preliminary report of dividends from these associations for the first half of 1937.

This sum includes $4,995,472 received by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation from investments in Federal Savings and Loan associations and other qualified thrift institutions that are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank system, as authorized by Congress in 1935, and $3,876,268 received by the United States Treasury from investments in Federal Savings and Loan associations, authorized in 1935.

Additional dividends from associations that have not yet reported for the first six months of this year will increase these totals, it was stated.

Federal Savings and Loan associations have paid the Government a cumulative total of $8,092,808 in dividends. For the 1937 January to June period, the Federal associations alone have forwarded $3,102,377 to the H. O. L. C., and the Treasury. Their current dividend rate is approximately 3.7 per cent.

State-chartered associations, in which lesser sums were invested, paid H. O. L. C. an aggregate of more than $423,842 for the half-year, at an earning rate in excess of 3.6 per cent.

The investments were made to enable state-chartered and Federal Savings and Loan associations more quickly to meet their local demands for long-term loans for the purchase, construction, repair and refinancing of homes, largely before the present tide of recovery had set in. The recent revival of home building in many parts of the country has coincided with the expanded activity of these associations.

At the same time, more ample funds are being received from private investors, making further investment by the Government unnecessary.

From 1933 to 1935, the Treasury invested $49,300,000 in shares in some 650 Federal associations, $1,116,300 of which has since been retired. From September, 1935, to June 30 of this year H. O. L. C. invested $150,368,400 in 940 Federal associations, some of which had previously obtained Treasury capital, and $32,664,600 in 203 state-chartered thrift associations. The aggregate of the Treasury and H. O. L. C. funds invested in savings, building and loan associations was $231,216,700 on June 30.

The law provides for the gradual retirement of these Government investments through repurchase by the associations, beginning within five years from the dates on which the subscriptions were made.

AUSTIN, Texas—Mayor Tom Miller has his own "weigh" of figuring the city's rapid population increase.

"Yes," Mayor Miller said, "the city is certainly growing. I weighed the new city directory. It weighs five pounds, one ounce. The last one, issued two years ago, weighs only three pounds, 14 ounces. That's an increase since 1935 of one pound, three ounces, or 35 per cent."

Of course, there is a list of "don'ts" to follow when applying for a position:

Don't give in to impulse to chat too socially if the prospective employer encourages it. Bring him back to the business, gently and tactfully, of course.

Don't entertain thoughts of salary, long hours, or vacation while you are talking. They are sure to color your attitude whether you know it or not.

Don't tell him why you are interested in the job—he is interested in the work to be done, not in you.

Seashells at Shore
Not Same at the Door

WALTHAM, Mass.—It's all right to sell seashells by the seashore. But you can't sell seashells from door to door—at least not in Waltham.

John Heilala of Maine claimed he made his living by selling seashells. District Judge Cuniff apparently was skeptical, as he refused to dismiss a drunkenness charge until Heilala assured the court he could obtain transportation back to Maine.

Appearance Is Important In Seeking a Job

A girl who appears prim or old-fashioned is less likely to prove her real ability in applying for a job than one who is smartly, if not expensively dressed. This is true because the employer is more influenced by appearance than he was 10 years ago. He prides himself on character analysis, and is apt to depend less on reference. Frequently he has formed a very definite impression the first five minutes of the interview.

Every girl who is applying for a position should be charming and intelligent. However, in trying to appear alert, don't appear over-anxious, and be pleasant and assured but not too serious. Clothes should not be frivolous, but in good taste and immaculate order. Nails and hair should be in perfect order, and voice soft and modulated. If it is impossible to be definite in what you say, don't say anything at all.

Maybe Football Isn't Everything After All

Out of the complaint made recently by Coach Bob Zuppke at Illinois University, that college boys are getting softer every year, there rises the faint suspicion that perhaps those college boys are just getting a different slant on things collegiate.

Coach Zuppke regrets that his husky students are not as husky as they once were, and they are not nearly so willing to go out and get the daylights pasted out of them just for the glory of the thing. The famous football mentor blames the influence of sorority divans, purring motor cars, and doting parents.

Perhaps he's right, but, perhaps there is another explanation or two. It is just barely possible that a lot of boys starting to college don't care for the grind which puts them into a football suit six days a week for three months, which drives them onto the practice field for tedious practice day in and day out, just for a brief moment of battered glory before a packed stadium on Saturday.

Maybe some of them have figured out that football, except to the exceedingly small number of brighter stars, has no future except in fireside tales and after dinner reminiscences when college days are over.

It is barely possible, too, that the young athlete has noticed that, once he has his sheepskin and gets a job, he can't jump into a football suit after the day's work and get a bit of exercise.

Some of the boys may have decided that college athletics might just as easily have a future as college classroom courses. Tennis is hardly a sisy game and a young man doesn't have to be a second Donald Budge to enjoy it. Furthermore, he can get exercise and pleasure out of the skill he has acquired in school for a couple decades later.

Golf teams appear to be more popular in college than they formerly were. Golf is a business man's game. It's a distinct advantage to be able to shoot a decent score. As a "contact" pastime golf is almost notorious.

You meet very few business men in football suits on pleasant sunny afternoons. There's no 19th hole on the gridiron, either.

Mr. Zuppke may be right. The modern college boys may be losing part of their enthusiasm for football, some of them, at least. There probably always will be enough to do and die for the Illini, producing Red Grange every generation or two to build up the gate.

And the others, it may be, have changed their notions about college football and the value thereof.

A Hopeful Outlook for the Fall Trade

So many business predictions go wrong that everyone hates to make them any more. Yet the desire to plan for the future and to try to estimate that future is so strong that it always overcomes the reluctance born of past disappointments.

The fact that almost every surveyor of the business scene today looks ahead to higher business levels in the fall tempts even the pessimistic to be hopeful. Here are some of the indications on which the observers agree pretty unanimously:

The income of farmers, despite the drop in cotton prices, is expected to approach 1929 levels, and in purchasing power it may even exceed 1929, because farmers will be able to get more for their money than they could in those days. Even a drop in cotton prices might not be an unmixed evil if U. S. prices came nearer the world level and thus enabled the United States to regain some of the world cotton trade which has been gradually slipping away from us.

Steel operations continue to hold up at high levels at a season when they usually decline. Despite lower purchases by the auto industry, other buying holds it up in good style. Automobile output itself holds up in a manner that has surprised many in the trade, the slight decline being less than is usual at this time of year. Operations in this industry, despite shut-down, are close to a record for the end of a "model year."

Sales of six leading mail order houses will come close to a billion dollars this year, not only an increase of 21 percent over last year, but far greater than those of 1929. This is another of the national enterprises which is actually breaking through 1929 highs, the objective that must be attained if anything approximating the 1929 kind of prosperity is to be reached.

The outlook for better farm purchasing power as a stimulus to increased fall business is aided by factors like this: Farm mortgage debt is far lower than during the 1929 era, and pays a far lower rate of interest. Farmers' taxes are still perhaps 30 per cent lower than they were eight years ago. This better status of the farmer has been revealing itself in a firmer status of farm values than has been seen since 1932.

Thus, in the fall season when business activity tends to slump off somewhat, there is every reason to expect this year that business will hold up splendidly or even gain somewhat. All of which augurs well for the future, and gives hope that super-1929 production levels lie ahead that will make some dent in the unemployment problem. For in making a big dent in that problem lies the solution for all the others.

The drubbing they got from their neighbors in the World War is sticking with the Russians. They are taking the Poles on one at a time now.

Eradication of Syphilis Is a Big Health Problem

AUSTIN.—"The eradication of syphilis is today's major health program and our children will hold us incompetent if we fail to control syphilis within this generation," said Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Since inauguration of the national campaign, the public has been made aware of much of the truth about syphilis. While the vast importance of syphilis in general has been stressed, further emphasis needs to be placed on hereditary or prenatal syphilis, one of the most readily preventable types of the disease. Prenatal syphilis is an innocently contracted form, transmitted by an infected expectant mother to her unborn child. The disease in the child can be prevented in almost every instance, provided the mother receives proper treatment during pregnancy. Syphilis, in a sense, is chivalrous; it deals more kindly with women than with men. The early signs of infection are usually not manifest in women; this is especially true during pregnancy. Blood tests, therefore, are all the more essential in the early recognition of syphilis in women.

It has been determined that syphilis affects approximately two to three and a half per cent of the white children attending hospital clinics. People should appreciate also the fact that many cases of syphilis are contracted innocently, in marriage and before birth. Syphilis in itself, is not a disgrace. Disgrace lies rather in the failure of people to take advantage of modern medical science and in failure to assure an equal chance in life for all of Texas' children.

To eradicate prenatal syphilis and thereby give the newborn

NYA Announcement Is Expected Soon

AUSTIN.—An announcement concerning continuation of the NYA student aid program during the 1937-38 school year is expected within a few days, J. C. Kellam, Texas Director of the National Youth Administration, said today.

Last year the school aid program provided part-time employment for more than 14,000 students in 2,135 Texas secondary schools. The college aid program provided employment for more than 8,000 students in 87 Texas colleges and universities. Mr. Kellam said that minor changes in the rules and regulations governing the program and a slight reduction in the quota of jobs allotted to each school are expected.

"We fully realize that an early announcement concerning the program is desirable," Mr. Kellam said. "Many school executives are already receiving applications of students seeking part-time employment. As soon as an official announcement is made, we shall make the plans for the program public."

Mr. Kellam said that when the announcement is made students who wish to apply for NYA student aid jobs should communicate with the principal or superintendent of the school of the president of the college which they wish to attend; under the 1936-37 regulations it was his responsibility to select the students who were employed.

child its rightful heritage of a sound mind and a sound body, health authorities urge observance of the following measures:

- (1) Blood tests for syphilis, affecting both parties who contemplate marriage.
- (2) A blood test for syphilis on every expectant mother.
- (3) Thorough treatment if necessary for the benefit of both mother and child.

Family Grieves For Intelligent Parrot

RAVENNA, O.—Polly-the-Parrot, a versatile member of the Louis Schweitzer household, could do the catwalk, dance to the tune of an electric sweeper, call the children by their first names and carry on an intelligible conversation.

The 46-year-old bird had had a colorful background. She loitered at the saloon operated by the late Schweitzer and there became a well-known figure. Polly was pert and conversational carrying on snappy conversations with the customers. She gained real fame, however, when a burglar entered the Schweitzer home and quickly was routed by Polly's shrill screams.

On another occasion Mrs. Schweitzer left a $1 bill on the kitchen table for the grocery delivery man. Polly wouldn't let him by eating it for safe keeping.

Polly's incredible speech was stumped somewhat as the result of severe shock. She had flown away from home one day on a private reconnaissance of the outer world. A small boy captured her and imprisoned the indignant bird beneath a barrel.

Her pride injured, Polly refused to have any conversation with people to whom she had been normally friendly, other than her immediate family when she would say "Cracker."

Those who knew Polly were deeply grieved when they heard she had lost her voice. Then she died.

The Cold Germ will

"bite you"

if you don't watch out

The cold germ is responsible for more than two hundred million illnesses each year. Any sudden change in temperature as you go from a warm room to a cold one makes you susceptible to "catching cold."

Too much praise cannot be given the formula of medical science that "it is better to keep well than to get well." Every effort should be made to prevent illness particularly during the treacherous months of winter.

Soon the common cold germ will wage its relentless attack to pave the way for such serious illnesses as bronchitis, sinus infections, tuberculosis and other health-wrecking diseases. Watch for that first "sniffle" . . . it's a warning that should not be overlooked.

For your health's sake, fight colds this winter with comfortable temperatures and adequate ventilation in every room of your home.

Common colds are dangerous. Don't gamble with them. If you should catch cold during the coming winter months, consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health.

Quota Established For Students Over Counties by NYA

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—A quota of part-time NYA jobs for each Texas county has been established, and the county superintendent of each county will be advised immediately the number of jobs allotted, J. C. Kellam, Texas director of the National Youth Administration, announced today.

Each county superintendent has been requested to organize a county committee to recommend an allocation of jobs within the county. As soon as this is done, the NYA state office will consider the recommendations and be in position to grant formal approval to schools for participation in the program, Mr. Kellam said.

As heretofore, students in secondary schools of the state will be enabled to earn a wage not exceeding $6 a month. They will be selected for employment by officials of their school, who will also determine the nature of the work and supervise its performance.

The Texas quota of school aid jobs has been reduced from 8,500 to 6,300 this year, and an extra allotment of $10,000 per month, which provided additional school aid jobs for drought-stricken counties of West Texas, will not be continued.

School officials desiring to obtain information regarding quotas and application forms should communicate with their county superintendents, and should supply them with information which will assist the county committee in making equitable recommendations regarding the distribution of jobs, Mr. Kellam said.

Students seeking part-time N. Y. A. school aid jobs should apply to the superintendent or principal of the school which they plan to attend, he said, since the

Big Stadium at Cisco to Be Ready For 1937 Season

CISCO, Aug. 26.—The south side of Cisco's new $13,000 stadium has just been covered with the first coat of paint, W. F. Wilson, contractor, said that the fencing would be completed by the weekend. A crew is also putting up some cable fences. These will act as temporary interior fences.

The grass that has so recently been planted on the field has begun rapid growth and is now being mowed more frequently.

The stadium is very near completion as most of the major tasks have been finished and the larger units of work are complete. Now most of the work is on the smaller parts of the stadium and it is receiving the finishing touches of seats, fences and the job of painting. Most of the stadium has already been given the first coat of paint, but the larger task of putting on the second coat has not yet been started. After the second coat has been finished the larger units of labor will have been completed.

The contractor does not know the exact date that the stadium will be completed in its entirety, but up to now the work that has been done on schedule time with loff of only a few days' work, which was due to holidays and rain. Mr. Wilson also states that no major injuries have occurred.

A campaign cigar isn't worth a nickel anymore, since most of the new generation gets onto the ropes early.

Foreign Youth Is Winning In Fight For An Education

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—School children have quit laughing at 19-year-old George Pappas, who seven years ago came to New Orleans from Greece, and started in the first grade of grammar school.

He started to school with no knowledge of English. He started with the A B C's. His little classmates made fun of him and laughed openly when he stumbled over beginner's words in his readers. George wanted to quit, but he stayed.

Last year George won a weekly news contest sponsored by a local newspaper. He also was awarded a gold belt buckle for making the highest average in the school.

This year he is feature editor of the school newspaper and manager of the high school baseball team. He attends night school three times a week to enable him to graduate in June.

IT'S AN OLD STORY . . .

. . . You have heard it before, so why relate it again?

So is home ownership. It has been the subject of family discussion since time began.

We talk to folks every day about buying homes. All of them do not buy, but they are tremendously interested.

They keep coming back, but some come back too late . . . We have sold the place they wanted while they were waiting.

Every time we sell a place, another bargain is gone. But there is no use denying it . . . we have plenty of bargains left on our hands, and we want you to see them this week.

DESDEMONA

The many friends of Jay Maltby will be interested in hearing of his marriage which took place at the Methodist parsonage in Kilgore on Saturday morning of week before last. The Kilgore paper gave an extended account of the marriage of Miss Nannie Jane Ogilvie to J. W. Maltby, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. L. Ingram, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist church there. The bride was attended by her sister and Jerry Blythe was best man to the groom. Only the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Ogilvie and other near relatives and a few friends were present at the wedding. Jay grew up in Desdemona where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Maltby have lived for a long time. There was also in the Kilgore paper an account of a party and shower given in honor of the bride by the Methodist Missionary Society. Jay is employed by the J. J. While in Denton, they were guests of Mrs. Buchan's brother, Mr. Browning and family. He is a teacher in the college.

The Methodist Missionary society met Monday for their social meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Whitworth. Instead of the usual games and contests, an hour and a half was spent in a very interesting and profitable study of the minutes of the Missionary Conference, which was held at Temple in April. One of the questions was in regard to the boundaries of the conference and the president, Mrs. Charles Lee, had a map which she had drawn, showing the most northern place in the Conference to be Olney the most eastern points, Fort Worth and Arlington, the most southern and southwestern being Coleman. During a short business session a letter was read from Mrs. Edwin Sneed of Dublin, who is District Secretary, who wrote to thank the society for the donation sent to help pay a delegate's way to the Retreat at Georgetown. At the close of the meeting, the hostess served delicious cake, fruit salad topped with whipped cream and cherries. Those present were Miss Mollie O'Rear and Mrs. Charles Lee, S. E. Snodgrass, O. D. Working Girl Best As Wife Says Prof

ITHACA, N. Y., August 29.—To assure a successful marriage marry a girl who has worked before becoming a bride, Cornell University's department of rural social organization advises potential husbands.

Girls who, before marriage were responsible housekeepers in their own homes, are also "good bets." "The poorest bet of all," according to the department, "is the girl who, after finishing school, stays at home with no responsibility either in the home, or on a job, or in a community."

Future husbands were also discussed by the department.

Husbands with a record of regular employment and a lively interest in their jobs are one and one-half times more likely to have a well-adjusted marriage.

Those who earn at least $150 a month at the time of marriage have slightly better chances of success in marriage.

Husbands who have saved between $500 and $1,000 at the time of marriage are better bets than those with no savings. More important, however, than the actual amount saved is a consistent policy of saving.

Husbands and wives with similar social and cultural backgrounds are more likely to be more successful in marriage, while those who participate in organized community life seem more likely to succeed.

Developed hobbies and interests help make a marriage successful.

An engineer who predicts 37 million cars by 1960, maps the highway of that date—with dugouts for pedestrians, maybe?

Wonder what the first snowstorm will do to peeping-toe shoes, halo hats and net gloves?

Kuykendall and to Cisco to visit Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Gallagher and on Sunday they and Mr. Heeter took her to Hamilton, where she has been visiting her parents and other relatives for a few weeks.

Mrs. Bullington and her husband and their two daughters and Mr. Bullington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bullington lived here from 1918 to 1925 when they moved to California. Both Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bullington died a few years ago. Mrs. Bullington made short visits to a number of her old friends here who were delighted to see her.

W. C. Bedford drove up to Eastland Tuesday to take the election returns. Only a tight vote was cast here, a total of 34 votes being cast. All of the six amendments voted on received good majorities.

Mrs. Alton Claborn and three children accompanied by Mrs. S. T. Stover, drove to Ranger on business Saturday.
