Maps—Detailed county maps of highways and other information are being prepared for all counties in the state. For most of the maps, up-to-date, detailed maps are available. These are one of the products of the highway planning survey which will have a wide public use in addition to highway planning. The survey is being conducted by the State of Public Roads in a series of 46 state highway districts. The maps are being prepared by the respective state highway survey offices.

WPA STRIKERS TO LOSE JOBS IS WARNING

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Works Projects Administration Commissioner F. C. Herington today notified all state WPA administrators to inform thousands of skilled workers, who suspended work on relief projects all over the nation, that they will lose their jobs unless they return to work within five days.

FORT WORTH, July 6.—Approximately 60 skilled laborers were idle from WPA bridge and school projects today after the new Works Projects Administration law eliminated prevailing wage scales for their class, and required them to labor 130 hours monthly for the same $72 they had been receiving for 64 hours work.

Approximately 25 union carpenters, all non-relief workers, quit their jobs with the WPA. Union iron workers and cement finishers also were affected.

No relief clients were involved in the walkouts, it was reported.

ONE YEAR TO GO PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

BY BRUCE CATTON

Solid Senator Robert Taft—son of a president.

ROBERT TAFT

If one Roosevelt could succeed another after a lapse of a quarter of a century, a Taft might do the same thing. The Taft who has an excellent chance to do so is Ohio's Senator Robert Taft.

As befits the son of William Howard Taft, Senator Taft has a sound and orthodox Republican background. Now 50, he is a successful lawyer, has served six years in the Ohio House of Representatives (winding up as speaker) and two in the Ohio Senate, and has been active in Cincinnati and Ohio politics for years.

Taft is a solid conservative and makes no bones about it. He campaigned as such last fall in Ohio and was elected, beating New Dealer Robert Bulkley. His record in Washington since then has been consistent.

He is intelligent, lacks conventional politician's tricks, in ordinary conversation gives the impression of being anxious to decide each question on its merits after careful study. Off the Senate floor he is informal and friendly.

In Washington, Taft has made useful contacts among eastern party leaders, who were anxious to see the man who broke the New Deal string of victories in politically important Ohio.

No appraisal of Candidate Taft is complete without a mention of Mrs. Taft. Gracious and charming, she is also politically astute, and is credited with being the senator's most valuable counselor and strategist.

HIS ASSETS: Solid, straightforward conservatism; a first-rate political name; thorough knowledge of the political ropes; substantial ability as a vote-getter, proven in last fall's Ohio election; an unblemished personal reputation.

HIS LIABILITIES: An unimpressive oratorical style and platform manner; some unpopularity among his colleagues in the Senate; a slightly disappointing record since his arrival in Washington.

HIS CHANCES: Excellent, if the country's "swing to the right" continues.

Reeves county has the highest debt per $100 valuation, which is $47.98. Eastland county is second with $39.79 per $100 valuation, and Brown county third with $32.91. Taylor county is fourth with $30.40 per $100 valuation.

Lowest is Winkler county, with indebtedness of $125,122.55, or 48 cents per $100 valuation.

Orphan Property Is Exempted From Tax

The tax cancellation was for the years 1933 through 1939.

BRITAIN WILL GIVE AID FOR SMALL NATIONS

LONDON, July 6.—Great Britain acted to strengthen Europe's security front today by preparing for test mobilization of her swiftly-growing aerial forces, financial aid to help arm small nations, and threw a direct warning to Germany against one-sided change in the status of the Free City of Danzig.

As the first concrete move in this drastic program, Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, introduced in the house of commons an overseas trade guarantees bill, designed to enable the government to extend credits up to about $500,000,000 to finance export of war materials to friendly nations.

These nations presumably would be Poland, Rumania and other small countries which have received or may receive from Great Britain, guarantees of their independence.

As further means of strengthening and clarifying the attitude of the security front toward German expansion, the air ministry disclosed that Britain intends to call a number of air force reservists to the colors within the next few months and to send British planes to France and possibly to other nations as a demonstration of her re-born aerial strength.

Ranger Project Is Approved for Year Supervisor States

Papers were received today by Ranger NYA officials, continuing the NYA work in the city for another year, or until June 30, 1940, it was announced by C. R. Squires, project supervisor.

The project, as approved, will include both the boys and girls residence projects in the city, with plans for building barracks for the boys.

Squires stated that the site for the barracks would be selected soon, and the work started as soon as the Boy Scout cabin was completed. About two weeks work remains to be done on the scout cabin.

When the barracks are completed, Squires said today, room will be provided for 100 boys, instead of 60, as at present. Lumber for the barracks has been secured from an abandoned CCC camp at Fort Worth, and practically all of it has been hauled and stored in Ranger.

He estimated that the barracks would be completed sometime this fall or early winter, and the boys would move into them as soon as they are completed.

Both the boys and girls projects have been reopened after being shut down temporarily through the Fourth of July Holiday.

A Bounce for Two Common Fallacies

Now that every man is his own economist, and even the dumbest of us never hesitates a minute to work out his own particular remedy for our economic ills, it might be just as well to note two very common fallacies which were badly bounced around recently.

One: that wage-earners are gradually getting a smaller and smaller share of the national income as great fortunes pile up.

Two: That advertising so greatly increases the cost of goods that things would be cheaper if they were not advertised.

A great many people assume the truth of one or the other of these hypotheses without worrying much about whether they are true or not. But both questions have been carefully studied recently, and the results of the studies are interesting.

First, Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins had a thorough study made of where the national income went in 1938. And this was the conclusion: that the wage-earners' share was the greatest of any year since any calculation began to be made of the national income.

Dividends, that is, the reward of invested capital, fell off one-third from 1937. Wages paid to employes in 1938 fell off 7 per cent from 1937, due more to reduced employment than to reductions in pay. But the share of the wage-earner reached a new all time high of 67.3 per cent. In short, the entire national income was down 18 billions from the 1929 peak, though it has been raised 60 per cent from the depression low. But of that reduced income, the wage-earner got a bigger share than ever before.

Second, the Twentieth Century Fund, which has been studying distribution problems, found that the cost of advertising is far less than many have supposed. The cost actually is from a small fraction of 1 per cent to a maximum of about 18 per cent. On many widely-advertised products it was infinitesimal, and the average for all goods was set at less than 3 per cent of the cost of the final purchaser. The cost, for instance, in cigarets selling at 14 cents was just over a half cent a package. A widely advertised soft drink put less than 16-100th of a cent's worth of advertising into each five-cent glass. A standard breakfast food paid 3-10ths of a cent for a 15-cent package.

Obviously, when the wider distribution, with consequent lower production costs is balanced against such small percentage expenditures as these, a good argument could be made that advertising had actually reduced the cost to the final consumer.

That's one handicap of us amateur economists. We so often start off from the wrong information that it's no wonder if we sometimes wind up behind some eight-ball on the pool table of economic theory.

A Georgia heat wave set off a department store fire sprinkling device just as customers were complaining about the heat. Well, they can't complain about the service.

BRUCE CATTON - IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—One of the most important angles to the great third term problem has been almost entirely overlooked, so far. It is, simply, that President Roosevelt needs a new major issue.

The third term handicap in itself, it is understood, doesn't particularly worry him. He is said to feel that he could be re-elected in spite of it—IF he had some strong, compelling, and dramatic issue to take before the electorate.

So far no such issue has developed. A new spending campaign, a new lending campaign, an aggressive foreign policy—all have been tested out cautiously this spring and none has rung the bell. And the one apparently safe bet is that if the President does defy the no-third-term tradition he will do it with something a lot more exciting than a mere "I am running on my record."

There are indications that the New Deal is slowly feeling its way toward a more direct and elaborate attack than has yet been made on the whole depression-unemployment problem—toward something which could be presented as a permanent recovery program, and which would be considerably broader than anything which the New Deal has tried to date.

Something of this kind is said to have been looked for from the Temporary National Economic Committee investigation. It hasn't appeared; Senator O'Mahoney is proceeding slowly and with pains-taking thoroughness, and although he is unearthing a lot of useful information, he emphatically has not handed the President a made-to-order issue for 1940.

Meanwhile, there are certain straws in the wind. The most significant was the recent Cleveland speech of Attorney General Frank Murphy, who caused for "blueprints" for a "re-constructed economic system," declaring that the nation's problems could be solved if business men, engineers, industrialists, economists, and the representatives of the people would sit down together to work out such blueprints.

"We do not want government to run business," he said. "We only want business to run itself—with any help from government that may be necessary—in a way that will provide for the good of all."

Now the interesting thing about this is that in that speech Mr. Murphy (consciously or otherwise) was edging right over into the territory occupied by an interesting group known as the American Association for Economic Freedom. The association, made up of churchmen, educators, and publicists, is polishing up a most elaborate and far-reaching industrial reconstruction bill for presentation to Congress.

This bill would do lots of things. It would have the government take over the investment banking field. It would set up a national planning board to develop an industrial program which would set all major industries working at capacity under a far-reaching government subsidy program. It would provide for federal licenses of all corporations. It would, in short, offer the most sweeping and spectacular program yet brought forward.

A good many New Dealers, in and out of Congress, have had a look at this bill. In his Cleveland speech Mr. Murphy talked along the same line that the association follows.

And there is some reason to believe that the New Dealers would like to see the association's plan sent up as a trial balloon. It represents the sort of thing the New Deal is groping toward. It would not be exactly amazing to see it given a New Deal boost sometime soon.

Railway Believes Is Has Answer To Coaches' Lighting

The Wabash Railway believes it has found the answer to "the coach passenger's prayer" for better lighting.

New individually controlled twin lens seat lights have been installed on all of the new Wabash reclining chair cars recently placed in service covering the St. Louis-Chicago trains. This is reported to be the first installation of its kind by any railroad in the United States.

The new lights, with dual switches, are so placed that when one switch is turned on, the lamp spotlights one of the two double seats, while the other seat remains in almost complete darkness. Reversing the switches spotlights the other seat, or when both switches are on, the two seats are both spotlighted.

By means of this arrangement it is possible for one of the two passengers in the double seats to read while the other sleeps, or for both to read, or for both to sleep without any light to disturb them.

THE ENTIRE COST OF THE CCC COULD BE PAID FOR THE TAXES OF THE BREWING INDUSTRY. The Treasury Department shows expenditures of 326 million dollars for the Civilian Conservation Corps for the fiscal year of 1936. The brewing industry pays over a million dollars a day in taxes.

What Beer contributes to the re-build of America would fill a great volume

Over 400 million dollars in taxes every year. Over 1,000,000 jobs. A market for 3,000,000 farm acres of produce. The brewing industry would like to preserve for itself and the people the many economic benefits it has created in the past five years. Brewers everywhere realize that this is a question bound up with the proper distribution of their mild and wholesome beverage through retail outlets whose owner will be a credit to the community. Obviously, the brewers can enforce no law. But they can—and will—cooperate with the local law-enforcement authorities. They will cooperate with every group—friendly or hostile—to the end that retail beer will give no offense to anyone.

FLOUR CREATES AUTO "GHOST" SALINAS, Cal.—There was some justification for numerous citizens telephoning the sheriff's office that a white "ghost" in an automobile was running amok on the highway and had already snapped six telephone poles in quick succession. The sheriff failed to capture the "ghost," but was able to ascertain that the flour had been for an automobile. Mrs. Bessie Lyman was killed on an operation at County Hospital last week after being reported to be resting well after an operation at City-County Hospital. Mrs. Dorothy Hahn was well after an operation at City-County Hospital. The advertisements such as "may ultimately become as popular as the horse and surrey" and "likely some day to take its place as a pleasure vehicle" are deleted in the interests of honesty. Ford quits Wall street, finally gets $2,800 from a group of friends—Heaven knows how—and starts a small shop. Labor delegates warn him that for every man he hires to make an auto he must hire at least one lively stable worker. There are a series of strikes. They are referred to the NLRB. The NLRB investigates for a year and a half and files a report charging that a horseless carriage industry is unfair to whip makers. Mr. Ford appeals to Washington and explains, rather pathetically, "All I am trying to do is to make some horseless carriages." There are frenzied speeches in the Senate and House in denunciation of the new invention by orators who speak as "a friend of that noble animal, the horse." The President names a commission "To Inquire Into the Aspects of the Horseless Carriage With a View to Possible Effects on the Economic and Social System." The committee announces it will have a report ready in three years.

Appetite Big Enemy Of Man Says Doctor

By United Press
CLEVELAND, O.—An American's appetite is his worst enemy, believes Dr. Victor Heiser, who attended the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons meeting here.

"The average American is more concerned with filling his stomach than with what he puts in it," said Dr. Heiser, author of "A Doctor's Odyssey." "But the day will come when they will realize that they are what they eat and that their health depends on their food intake." Dr. Heiser said that hunger pangs are "simply the call of nature for something needed by the system."

"But instead of eating well-balanced rations to provide that need, a man goes out and fills up on meat and potatoes. That satisfies the hunger, but it doesn't fill the need."

Mrs. Ada Gordon of the Paramount Hotel left today for a business trip to Midland and El Paso. She was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Uva Williams.

Ran into Webb Ruff recently in Austin. The aviator and former theater manager—breezy, red-headed and likeable—regaled a group of us with reminiscences of a tour he made with Will Wood and Old Rip, soon after the horned frog awoke from his 31-year nap in Eastland. (Wood's father told, before the old courthouse was torn down, of having placed a frog in the cornerstone.)

In Dallas, as the sheriff was leaving with Old Rip after having served a writ of attachment in a lawsuit, Ruff called out:

"That frog is a good one. If anything happens to you, you can count on him to suit yourself."
The sheriff halted and inquired anxiously: "What do you mean?"
Ruff grinned and said: "Won't you come to help me take care of the flier please?"
Again Ruff's reply was of the head. So the sheriff quickly approved, handed the frog back to his brow in relief.

You'll Appreciate Your Electric Refrigerator MORE During HOT WEATHER

Hot, summer weather is the real test of any refrigerator. Unless your refrigerator delivers constant, food-saving cold, even on 100-degree days, you have only part-time refrigeration which means food wastage, inconvenience and other troubles.

With Electric Refrigeration, full realization of its value comes when the hottest part of the summer arrives. Regardless of how high the temperature gets outside, the temperature inside your electric refrigerator is low enough to keep foods fresh, to freeze desserts and to make a plentiful supply of ice cubes on short notice.

A few pennies pay for electricity to run your refrigerator a whole day. That is why we say that "Electricity is Cheap."

...attered to bet $10,000 that Old Rip was on the level. Ruff and Wood consulted a lawyer with the idea of bringing a libel suit against the scoffer. The attorney told them he doubted that the law covered the reputation of a frog but the threat of litigation silenced the detractor, anyway.

Ruff told also about their visit to the White House. President Coolidge and the frog stared unblinkingly at each other for a full minute. "Silent Cal" had met his match and he murmured admiringly, "Most remarkable."

More entries in the "oldest joke" contest: George Jean Nathan, the famous New York dramatic critic, once remarked that the most ancient stage jest was the one about the man who invented a dill pickle compass—to show which way the pickle would squirt.

And there was the visitor who asked, "Little girl, what might your name be?" And the child wonder replied, "It might be Mary Pickford but it ain't."

If you can stand one more, there's the story about the two men who were lost in the woods and had been without food for hours. One of them, a real optimist, spoke up, "If we had some ham, we'd have some ham and eggs, if we had some eggs."

If you've been around Zilker Park in the late afternoon recently, you may have observed a stocky fellow in a West Texas bear grass rancher-style hat, blue denim rodeo pants, cowboy boots with shiny spurs, riding a prancing Palomino stallion. The horseman was none other than Jerry Sadler, State Railroad Commissioner, and his mount was Don Topaz, a registered Palomino which he acquired recently in West Texas.

Vagrant memories from south of the Rio Grande: Into a single day were packed a visit to Guadalupe, most sacred shrine in Mexico, the interior of its cathedral awe-inspiring; the first view of the two volcanoes, the beautiful "Sleeping Lady" and magnificent Popo, a wisp of smoke rising from

Man Hunters Rest Rifles on Body of Prey

During two-week manhunt, one of greatest in Wisconsin history, possemen relax, lean their guns against body of prey—Ray Olson, fugitive desperado. Cornering outlaw in woods near Cable, Wis., posse drilled Olson with four bullets as he attempted to launch boat, flee across Lake Namakagon. As he lay dying, Olson confessed killing two deputies attempting to arrest him near Hayward, Wis.

the latter; the Acollman monastery with its ancient books and decaying colonnades; then the Pyramids of the Sun and the Moon, the former having a larger base than the biggest Egyptian pyramid; and then a visit to the temple with its images hinting at the mysterious story of a "white god" who visited Mexico many centuries ago.

As one stood where thousands of Aztecs once watched weird dances and fantastic rites that were climaxed with human sacrifice, one had only to close his eyes and he could imagine the beat of drums, the plumaged dancers, the gorgeously-robed priests, the prostrate body of the victim, the uplifted knife of obsidian, the plunge of the blade, and then the heart—still beating—lifted up in tribute to the sun.

Intriguing was the story narrated by Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth, head of our party and past Lions International president. Several years before, he witnessed a pageant in which the ancient rites were re-enacted. It was an overcast day but at the instant at which the Aztec priests enacted the sacrifice (of course the man's life was not taken), the sun broke through a rift in the clouds and the body of the "victim" was bathed in a shaft of sunlight, with all else still in shadow.

Tax Paying Plan For Discount Is Given Explanation

C. H. O'Brien, assessor-collector, today explained a new plan for paying of state and county taxes which is provided for in a bill passed by the legislature this year. The bill was known as senate bill 402.

O'Brien stated that all full payments on current taxes paid during October are subject to a three per cent discount. If full payment on current taxes is made in November then a two per cent discount is given. He added that if current taxes are paid in full during December then one per cent discount is extended.

He added that a taxpayer may pay one-half of his taxes the same as before and the other half by June without getting a discount. Or the taxpayer may pay the last half of the amount between December to April 1 and receive a three per cent discount on the last half payment.

During April the final half payment may be made and a two per cent discount is given on the last half payment.

If the last half payment is made during May then one per cent discount on the last half is granted.

More Rains Fall In Flooded Area Of Kentucky Today

MOREHEAD, Ky., July 6. — Additional heavy rains today complicated relief work in the flood-stricken Eastern Kentucky area between Rowan and Breathitt Counties, where possibly more than 100 persons drowned in yesterday's cloudburst and flash flood.

Streams, which receded quickly yesterday's deluge, rose again today and kept relief workers and supplies out of some of the devastated communities.

Mayor W. M. Dailey of Jackson reported that seven bodies had been recovered and that 69 were missing. He said that conditions created by the storm and flood made it impossible to make an accurate check today.
