

GARRETT TELLS HOW P. O. JOB GIVING DONE

Clyde L. Garrett of Eastland, representative in congress, has sent to newspapers in this district the following outline of methods to establish an eligible register for appointment of postmasters and laws regulating the appointments:

"1. All postmasters are now being appointed under Civil Service and regardless of what the regulations have been in the past, the law is now different and the procedure is bound up strictly in Civil Service Regulations.

"2. All veterans have a five point preference on any and all examinations and those with a service connected disability have ten points preference.

"3. There are three ways in which Postmasters can be chosen, either of which is as legal as the other, but neither of which is mandatory to the exclusion of the other. (a) The present incumbent, to the exclusion of all others, can be named and given a non-competitive examination; (b) An employee in that office who is under Civil Service may be promoted to the position and given a non-competitive examination to the exclusion of all others; (c) An open competitive examination may be held to which all persons may be admitted who qualify as to age and residence.

"4. Each applicant for an examination is asked to give five references. When the Civil Service Commission contacts references they are asked for a report on ALL applicants as to their suitability for the work, their business or professional attainments and their general ability. In FIRST and SECOND CLASS offices, a minimum of two references given by each applicant are interviewed by an investigator. In addition to references given, representative citizens of the town, whom no applicant gave as references, are also contacted concerning each applicant. These reports are given by FRIENDS and NEIGHBORS of the applicants. For a FIRST CLASS office these reports count 80 per cent of the final grade and for SECOND and THIRD CLASS offices, 50 per cent. In First and Second class offices Civil Service interviewers are sent to the town to hold interviews while in a THIRD CLASS office references give their reports in writing to the Commission. In the event the office is a FIRST CLASS OFFICE, the examination is not assembled or written, but the candidates are graded on the information contained in their applications and can be rated as high as 20 per cent of final grade. In SECOND and THIRD CLASS offices, the grades are based on written examinations and count not over 50 per cent of the final grade.

"5. From the grades thus established by the Civil Service Commission, and by it alone, the Commission makes up a register of the three making the highest grades. The Civil Service Commission is a bi-partisan Board, composed of both Democrats and Republicans. No one sees the examination papers or the reports of the references except members of the Commission or its employees. Therefore, the Civil Service Commission eliminates, from any consideration whatever, all applicants but the three making the highest grades.

"6. From the register, composed of the three making the highest grades, and which is certified to the Post Office Department, the appointment is made. A Congressman has nothing to do whatever with the establishment of the list of eligibles. Regardless of the impression some may have that a Member of Congress can get anyone on or keep anyone off the register, this is far from correct. In fact, such an effort would not only be highly improper but would be resented by the Commission.

"7. When the eligible register is finally established, a Congressman can then make his recommendation to the Department but the law does not make it mandatory that the Department follow his recommendation. With thousands of examinations being given, from 30 to 60 days, or even more, are required in which to grade the papers and establish the register after reports are received in Washington.

"In the event anyone should desire to have the correctness of the above, or any part thereof, verified, I would appreciate their writing or contacting either of our Senators or any one or more of our Representatives in Congress— from Texas or elsewhere."

Highway 80 Job To Begin During August Says WPA

The area WPA office at Eastland announced Saturday that work of widening Highway 80 three and one-half feet on both sides from east of Cisco to the Ranger city limits will begin during August.

Officials stated that the widening is under auspices of a project sponsored by the State Highway Department. The widening will begin at the intersection of the old and new highway east of Cisco and continue to the Ranger city limits. It is estimated that an average of 150 men will be employed for four months.

Crude Production Shows Small Drop

Daily average of crude oil production in West Central Texas for the week ended July 15 was 32,250 barrels, a decrease of 350 barrels from the previous week, according to the American Petroleum Institute.

For the four weeks ended July 15 daily average amounted to 32,400 barrels as compared to an average of 29,000 barrels for the week ended July 16 last year.

GET STARTED TODAY, IF YOU ARE GOING SOMEWHERE

There can be no trip until the engine is started, and likewise there can be no forward movement for good in the community or in the life of an individual until some one takes the lead, turns on the power, and gets going.

Buying a home is like that, too. Some good folks who would really like to buy a home are afraid—afraid they can't pay for it, afraid of their jobs, afraid of a panic, afraid of anything and everything that is cheating them out of opportunities of inestimable value.

Those Eastland folks who are getting along today are up and doing—they are buying homes—they are planning for the future—they are learning to do something for themselves and they are not afraid to start something that has in it the element of risk.

Start now, if you are going, for there are plenty of worlds to conquer, and more places to go than ever before.

Southern Select
THE SOUTH'S Only DISTILLED WATER BREW

SOUTHERN SELECT drinkers are our best advertisements. They want to share the goodness of this fine-flavored brew and they are never satisfied until their friends have tried it too. One of the reasons SOUTHERN SELECT is so good is that it is the South's only distilled water brew; that means a heap more goodness than is possible with ordinary water. Next time the crowd stops for drinks order all SOUTHERN SELECTS—then nobody'll be disappointed.

The Arnold Trust-Busting Theory Gets Its Test

About a year ago, Thurman Arnold was appointed head of the "trust-busting division" of the Department of Justice.

Arnold in two books, "The Folklore of Capitalism" and "Symbols of Government," had put forth some very inconclusive ideas. He maintained that all moralistic approaches toward the problem of combinations in restraint of trade were wrong. There never was any use, Arnold contended, in getting morally feverish about the "evils of the bad trusts," or the "bogies of bigness." Modern business must be big, and so long as that bigness was brought about by the need for more effective functioning, it was all right. Bigness was only deplorable when it actually and in fact dammed up the channels of trade by placing unnatural and illegal restrictions in it.

The proper approach was to disregard the moral side; to consider only the practical results on the ultimate consumer. If a big company actually could deliver the goods cheaper and better to the consumer, never mind the size. And if a little one was conspiring to obstruct trade and hold prices up, size had nothing to do with it.

Arnold was caustic in his books about former anti-trust crusades, maintaining that when the moral temperance had gotten back to normal everything went on as before, and that while the consumer might have gotten a moral thrill out of the belaboring of the "big boys," he wound up right where he was before—behind the economic eight-ball.

A year has passed, and Arnold has not as yet given any very convincing demonstration of his theories in practice. Now, however, he is preparing to go to the mat with the most inflated of them all—the building industry.

He has 140 lawyers in his division; will soon have 200. Six years ago there were 18. With this legal armament, he has announced an offensive on all fronts against building costs.

Where Arnold's attack differs from those of the past, is that he plans to assail every angle of the situation at once. He will go after the producers of materials, distributors, financiers, contractors, labor, and legal restraints using simultaneously a half dozen means of procedure. This he will do so that all elements may alike feel the sweating-out which he proposes to apply to the whole industry.

This is a gigantic undertaking. Everybody knows it costs too much to build a house. Everybody concerned with building points to the other fellow and says, "Honest, mister, it ain't me. It's him."

Now Arnold proposes to put the whole crowd in the sweatbox together and see what can be done with a sort of universal reducing program. If this can be done in so uniform a way as not to handicap or harm one group beyond another, results might be obtained which would reduce building costs, which remain like a granite barrier against the building boom which the country so urgently needs.

Arnold has propounded a fine theory. He has been given facilities to try it out. The country awaits the results.

I Give You Texas

By BOYCK HOUSE

Somebody has sagely said that an expert is just an ordinary fellow a long ways from home.

And there is a man in Granbury according to A. B. Crawford of the Hood County Tablet who always orders two eggs for breakfast—one for himself and one for his vest.

From the "memory book" of a reporter: One Saturday night, Fort Worth and Dallas officers "shook down" beer taverns and dance halls in the "City of the Hour" looking for a bandit who had held up the Grapevine bank that day. This chronicler tagged along on the hunt.

Exactly a week later, authorities had a tip their man would be at a certain spot in Dallas. Officers, including the Fort Worth deputy sheriff who had driven our car the other time, lay in wait. I was not along this time. A visitor showed up but sensed the trap and ran back to his car, firing. The Fort Worth deputy was killed. The man who had been "flushed" wasn't the bank bandit; it was Clyde Barrow. We might easily have jumped him the week before.

Around the State: Picturesque are the tattered Mexican urchins in Austin who open hotel doors for you and obligingly drop mail in the sidewalk box in front of the postoffice for motorists. Once in a while someone rewards them with a penny.

It seems I never drive through Belton except at meal-time and that darkey is standing in front of a cafe with a banner, "Best meal in Texas, 35 cents."

A spray that surpasses the fountains of Versailles is to be found in Fort Worth. The water forms a filmy wall of dull silver edged in white. It is a beautiful by-product of utilitarianism for it is at an oil refinery.

Then there was the Austin man, who held a high appointive position, and explained his sudden affluence as being an inheritance. A newly-opened filling station in the Capital City has shower baths for tourists and a Fort Worth undertaking company has an air-conditioned ambulance.

If a federal tender board is a good thing for Texas in handling oil that is in interstate commerce, then why wouldn't such a system be a good thing for Louisiana, too? Jerry Sadler, State Railroad Commissioner, thinks sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander and he visited Washington recently to suggest that Louisiana be placed on the same footing as Texas, so as to change the situation which now produces discrimination against our State and injury to our oil industry.

land, July 28, to August 7, confines a spectacular popular exposition and specialized world's fair with an unspectacular international scientific assembly. More than 200 scientists from more than a score of countries expect to attend the poultry science meeting that provides the occasion and the nucleus for the exposition. Many of the scientific delegations have provided popular displays. Twenty-seven scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture poultry research staff are on the program.

INSECT EXTINGUISHER.—Methyl bromide, sometimes used as a fire extinguisher, is proving even more useful as an insect "extinguisher" or fumigant, as it will in many cases kill insects without injuring the plants upon which the ment of Agriculture are working with this fumigant to determine the time and temperature most effective for treatment to kill insects without injury to plants.

Car Serviced Is Means Toward Peace Of Mind For Many

Laying away a little money at intervals all during the year with which to finance a vacation for the family has long been an American custom, however, despite the fact, many of the householders on tour whose plans have been interrupted and thwarted by unusual and unexpected expenditures on the trip, such as motor or mechanical failures or worn out tires.

"There is one way to avoid that," indicated C. T. Lucas, local Goodyear dealer, in discussing the vacationist's problem, "and that is to have a complete checkup and tuneup of the car made before starting, going into the matter of tires and tubes especially carefully, since failure here may not only cause delay and an expensive away-from-home purchase, but in many cases an accident. Tires and tubes may be bought on an easy pay plan before the car owner goes on his trip, and thus he can have peace of mind and thoroughly enjoy his holiday knowing that he is not likely to have his trip marred by badly worn tires, and that, having good tires, he can pay for them as he rides."

Every year during Summer there are more motor accidents due to blowouts of thin tires on hot highways, than at other times. Tires are expected to go through the Summer months until Fall when slippery streets will call attention to the need for tire replacements since tread designs are worn down so far they do not provide the necessary traction required in stopping or starting.

"Police departments in many cities have started a campaign against the smooth or bald tire, realizing that, when a tire has worn smooth and thin, it is in the hazard class. Many cities are trying to cut their traffic accident tolls and look to safe tires as well as to safe drivers to help cut the total," declared Mr. Lucas.

"Service men around my station are charged with the duty of mentioning to motorists those tires which need replacing, frankly with the possibility of selling safe tires, and also with the idea of cutting down the expense and danger involved for the motorist who continues to drive on such casings."

Grand Jury Will Meet Next Monday

IRVING BERLIN'S 'SECOND FIDDLE' BOASTS DAZZLING TALENT PARADE, NEW SONG HITS

Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power Head Cast of Romance and Fun-Filled Film.

Irving Berlin's new songs, Sonja Henie's sunny brilliance, Tyrone Power's gay romancing, Rudy Vallee's singing and Edna May Oliver's fun—some of the greatest combinations of talent ever gathered for one show is making Irving Berlin's "Second Fiddle" the sensation of the preview critics who have lavished on the 20th Century-Fox film a chorus of praise.

"Back to Back," "Second Fiddle" introduces, also, new-star Mary Healy, lovely young actress whose first screen appearance finds her in a romantic role opposite Rudy Vallee. The producers expect great work from this newcomer and her performance is hailed as fulfilling every expectation. Included with her in the cast are Lyle Talbot and Alan Dinehart. For the first time on the screen Sonja Henie has a skating partner on the ice, young Stewart Reburn. The handsome Canadian athlete appeared with the ice star during her triumphant personal-appearance tour of the country last winter.

Other tune hits are: "I'm Sorry for Myself," "An Old Fashioned Tune Always Is New," "Song of the Metronome," "When Winter Comes" and "I Poured My Heart Into a Song," all by Irving Berlin.

Based on a story by George Bradshaw, "Second Fiddle" was directed by Sidney Lanfield, with Gene Markey as associate producer.

Tyrone Power and Sonja Henie, feature stars in the Irving Berlin's "Second Fiddle" at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

Randolph Scott with Great Cast at Lyric Sunday and Monday

For the first time in many months the screen brings to this community a motion picture that has its basic foundation around the great Speedway Classic at Indianapolis. The story is filled with thrills that only such an event can produce and is mingled with love and pathos. Pat O'Brien, Ann Sheridan and John Wayne, supported by an outstanding cast portray the human elements of interest in this great melodrama.

Thundering days of the frontier pioneers are brought to life in vivid characters headed by Randolph Scott, and ably supported by Nancy Kelly, Binnie Barnes, Cesar Romero, John Carradine and others at the Lyric starting Sunday. This is a motion picture that will bring back living memories of the great efforts put forth in the pioneer days to establish law and order. It is a picture for all the family.

BIG MOVEMENT LAUNCHED BY EASTLAND POST

A movement which if successful will be of aid to veterans of the Dallas area—Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma—was launched Friday night by the Eastland American Legion post meeting in the Knights of Pythias hall.

The legion ordered work begun on a proposal for the installation of a "tumor service" in the new veteran's hospital being built at Dallas.

The Hines hospital at Hines, Ill., near Chicago, is the closest place at this time for veterans of the Dallas area to receive the tumor service.

Members of the post acted after a talk by V. O. Hatcher of Eastland, who has returned from the Hines hospital after two operations.

Herbert Reed, Hacher and P. L. Crossley were named members of a committee to frame a resolution urging installation of the service in the hospital. It is estimated the cost would probably be around $150,000.

The resolution will be called to the attention of the state and national legion organizations, as well as district organizations. Washington officials, too, will receive notice of the action. It is planned for the resolution urging the action to be introduced at the national convention this year in Chicago.

Hatcher stated that work of the Hines hospital is efficient and modern but that work is retarded by an overcrowded condition. There are always between 1,700 and 2,000 patients at the hospital and several hundred on the waiting list.

While a general hospital, the Hines institution treats many tumor and cancer cases. It is estimated that 50 to 90 per cent of tumor and cancer cases sent there for treatment are from the Dallas area.

Because of an overcrowded condition it makes it necessary for X-ray machines to be used day and night, including Sunday. Also, it was stated, cases are held there from two to six weeks before treatment is started because of the overcrowded condition.

Estimate was fixed that costs are from $75 to $100 to send the average case to the hospital, beside the cost for upkeep while there. Bed patients who require attendance double the cost.

It was pointed out that installation of the service in the center of the Dallas area, where the cases originate would not only be convenient to those who avail themselves of the service but soon would save the administration enough to pay for the installation.

Early treatment of tumor and cancer is emphasized. The movement is expected to arouse no opposition. Figures show that cancer among soldiers is expected to reach its peak around 1965.

Funeral Services Held Saturday For Jack Burkhead, 72

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at the Hamner Funeral Chapel in Eastland for Jack S. Burkhead, 72, brickmason and resident of Eastland since 1917, who died Friday night.

Rev. P. W. Walker, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Eastland, officiated. Burial was in Eastland cemetery.

Mr. Burkhead's death followed an illness of three weeks. He had been active as brickmasonry work, the trade which he had followed his adult life, until his recent illness.

He was born October 9, 1867, in Sioux City, Iowa. He first lived in Merkel after moving to Texas, and in 1917 came to Eastland.

Mr. Burkhead was a member of the Methodist Church and was a Mason. His membership in the Masonic lodge was at Merkel. Also he was formerly a member of the Knights of Pythias.

The Masonic lodge had charge of services at the cemetery. Survivors include four children, Mrs. William Joseph of Eastland, Mrs. Austin Williamson of Eastland, J. S. Burkhead, Jr., of Eastland and Finis Burkhead of Fort Warren, Wyoming. Three grandchildren also survive.

The Hamner Undertaking Company had charge of arrangements.

NOMINATION FOR HEADS OF POST IS MADE

A slate of officers, to be elected Friday, Aug. 4, was nominated at a meeting of the American Legion Post of Eastland, in the Knights of Pythias hall Friday night. Forty-five persons attended.

The officers nominated are virtually elected since there was only one officer nominated for each position.

The nomination was preceded by hearty approval of the services of Henry Pullman, commander of the post, who was nominated commander to serve another year.

Mayor C. W. Hoffmann, a member of the post, praised the commander by saying, "No doubt this is the most active post in Eastland County and probably the most active in the territory around Eastland County. The reason is because of your commander and his assistants."

In addition to Pullman, others nominated were: Jess Richardson, first vice commander; K. K. White, second vice commander; Herbert Reed, adjutant; J. H. Mitchell, service officer; J. Syd Lowry, sergeant-at-arms; Roy Allen, historian; Dr. J. H. Caton, chaplain.

P. L. Crossley, Reed and V. O. Hatcher were named members of a committee to frame a resolution urging that X-Ray equipment be added to the new veteran's hospital being built at Dallas in order that veterans of the Dallas area may receive tumor and cancer treatment which they must now receive at Hines Hospital near Chicago.

Pullman reported receiving a check for $39.50 from the government for the yearly payment on the lease of the American Legion emergency landing field north of Eastland.

City Manager M. H. Kelly reported that the legion's share of carnival receipts for help in checking attendance at the July 4 celebration approximates $27.

Hatcher reported on a stay at the Hines hospital. The state convention of the American Legion at which Eastland is expected to have representatives was announced for August 27-29 at Waco.

Invocation was pronounced by Dr. J. H. Caton.

Blaze at Eastland Store Is Puzzler

What caused the issuance of smoke from beneath the floor of the Men's Shop, resulting in the call of the Eastland Fire Department, remained a puzzle Saturday.

The fire department was summoned when smoke began to issue from beneath the flooring behind the front left show window.

Whatever caused the fire was extinguished anyway when firemen tore away a portion of the flooring and water was sprayed. No damage was reported.
