A New World Waits to Be Conquered

Every once in a while you hear a ridiculous, croaking old voice saying, "Everything has been done. There are no more frontiers. We are doomed to stagnation and death."

It is bitterly untrue. Even if it were true in the physical sense of no more lands to conquer, no more worlds to discover, no more prairies to break to the plow, it could never be true in the realm of economics, or in the world of the spirit.

But even on the physical side, it is not quite true. There is a land with "snow peaks of unsurpassed grandeur, towering from 1,000 to 20,000 feet high; a chain of great lakes, some of them still unnamed; a new grand canyon, and untold wealth of gold and other minerals."

Does it sound like some dream-like Eldorado? It is not. It is a description of the country surveyed recently by American members of the International Highway Board in planning for the proposed Alaska-Yukon highway.

Representative Warren G. Magnuson, one of the American members of the highway board, summed up the advantages of the road: It would form a land life-line between the United States and Alaska, draw auto tourists, open up vast mineral resources now unexploited, prove of military value, and open up a virtually new world.

Negotiations are now going on with Canada to find a formula for engineering and constructing the road which will be satisfactory to both countries. Here is a project which will mutually benefit both, and which can be planned and carried out in the closest co-operation, in welcome contrast to a world which is all glower and grab.

Further, this road will connect with the Pan-American highway, and form an integral part of it, bringing nearer the day when an automobile can travel in peace and safety from Fairbanks to Buenos Aires.

It would be costly. But even the top figure of $22,000,000 is far less than the cost of a single cruiser. It seems cheap as the price of opening up a splendid, beautiful new world.

Germany Forces Jews To Join And Finance Their Own Self-Help Union While Riech Carries None of Burden

By DANA A. SCHMIDT United Press Staff Correspondent BERLIN.—For some of the prohibitions to which Jews in Germany are subject there are substitutes within the scope of the Reich Union of Jews in Germany, which is responsible for every aspect of Jewish life in the old Reich from welfare, theaters, education, hospitals and religion to all-dominating emigration.

By a decree in July all automatically belong to the union, which is directed by a board of eight headed by Rabbi Israel Baeck and responsible to the ministry of the interior. It must be self-supporting, although its only sources of income are a tax from 1 to 10 per cent on the total fortunes of emigrants and a tax equal to about a quarter of the income tax. Since few Jews still have incomes, the latter tax is not very productive.

Anomalous, the Reich actually contributed to support some 60,000 Jews and a number of Jewish schools and asylums in southern Germany and the Rhineland up to the time of the July decree.

Now, however, the union must take over all welfare work and schools, in addition to its regular activities and expenditure of about $400,000 a month on assisted emigration. Many children from isolated Jewish families in the provinces are being brought to Berlin; new asylums and old people's homes are being set up for those leaving "aryan" institutions.

Jewish cultural life continues in the "Kulturbund," which operates theaters, occasional opera performances, movies and lectures to which Jews only are admitted, by identification card. Tickets are cheap and shows play to full houses.

For Berlin's 120,000 Jews there is one theater and one movie. The theater presents plays of all kinds, although it has not yet ventured upon German "greats" like Goethe, and occasionally it puts on an opera. The artists are good semi-professionals; most of the famous ones have emigrated. The movie more or less parallels what is being shown generally in Berlin.

Smaller Towns Barren Other large towns like Hamburg, Frankfurt, Cologne have movies and periodic amateur plays. Smaller towns have nothing. Education, by law, must serve the requirements of emigration exclusively. No Jewish boy can study to be a doctor, lawyer or for like professions. But he has opportunities to learn languages, commercial subjects, agriculture, or a trade. The schools are crowded.

Many older Jews, former teachers, merchants, lawyers are re-training themselves as farm laborers, locksmiths, electricians, dressmakers, nurses, domestic servants, because these are the only occupational categories many countries will admit. About 17,000 have thus re-trained themselves and some 4,000 are taking courses.

When a Jew becomes ill he must, except in emergencies, call one of the 280 "sick attendants" who are the only Jewish physicians allowed to continue practice. Their blue plaques with the yellow Star of David in the corner and the inscription "authorized for the treatment of Jews only" can occasionally be seen in Berlin. They may not call themselves physicians.

Alameda Club In A Busy Meeting

The Alameda Home Demonstration Club met Friday at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. John Love.

Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, was present and made a demonstration on frame garden. She said that the size of your frame would depend on the size of your family.

This one was 20 feet long and five feet wide, and was out in the garden, therefore it can be cultivated from both sides, but if you put it against a building it should be of such width that it can be cultivated from one side.

Quart oil cans were used for the irrigation system. Both ends were cut out and the oil burned out, so as not to hinder the growth of the plants.

Then a trench was dug deep enough to where this line would not interfere with the cultivation. Then the cans were punctured on the under side, two small holes, and placed end to end and a piece of heavy paper placed over the connection to keep the dirt out, and then put the soil over all. The rows should be made the short way across to make cultivation more convenient. A thin cloth, such as cheese cloth should be drawn over all, to keep the hot sun's rays from burning the young tender plants. Miss Ramey also said to soak the garden seed overnight to insure a better germination.

Little Goldilocks Riding Hood

There were several men who took part in the demonstration as well as the ladies.

Mrs. Love passed cookies and iced punch to visitors, Mesdames Ann Love, Bessie Perrin, Rosa Miller, Myrtle Wilson and Miss Ruth Ramey, Margaret Blount, Cara Lee Griffith, Maxine Perrin, Bettie Tucker, Ellen Tucker and club members. Mesdames L. C. Cooksey, Mattie Walton, R. A. Tucker, J. B. Love, W. O. Weekes, D. W. Wisdom, E. M. Campbell, E. E. Blackwell, Melva Love, E. O. Taylor, G. H. King, W. E. Calvert, Bill Tucker, R. H. Myrick, J. B. Griffith and A. H. Dean.

New Fall Styles Being Displayed At Fashion Shop

All ready and set for the greatest showing of fall styles in our history, is the word from Mrs. Dave Wolf of the Fashion Shop. "Beautiful dresses, luxurious coats grand accessories, hats that typify the American woman to the height of fashion, shoes, that are brilliant from heel to toe." These enthusiastic words of description come from this popular firm that has served the women of this community for the past seven years with exclusive nationally advertised brands of merchandise and a look around the store and in the show windows certainly reflects the truth of their advertising and word of friendly suggestions to all those who are interested.

Mrs. Wolf and other members of the store spent several weeks at the major buying markets and in addition Mrs. Wolf has just recently returned from Los Angeles and Hollywood where she got first hand information on what the fashions of this season will be like.

Funeral Services At Colorado City For Mrs. Q. D. Hall

Mrs. Q. D. Hall, 79, sister of County Judge W. S. Adamson, whose last days were made happier by the miracle of sight after 25 years of blindness, died Monday night at her home in Colorado City.

Mrs. Hall had awakened one morning last May to discover she could see again. She had been in comparatively good health until about a week ago. Her condition had been critical for a short time.

Mrs. Hall was born Laura Adamson, January 19, 1860, in Collier County, Texas. With her family she moved to Jacksboro at the age of 8 years, and married Mr. Hall there in 1878. They spent their honeymoon driving a herd of cattle from Jack County to West Texas, in Crosby County.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall moved to Mitchell County in 1883, and helped his father operate the first hotel in Colorado City, the Pacific House. It is now the Alamo Hotel. After living at Colorado City for a few years they moved first to the South Plains and then to Scurry County to engage in ranching. They returned to Colorado City in the early 1890's.

Mrs. Hall had been the oldest living member of the Colorado City Methodist Church from point of membership, having joined in 1885.

Until May of this year Mrs. Hall had been totally blind in one eye and virtually blind in the other for almost 25 years. She was able to discern only light and darkness, but could not distinguish features of individuals or objects. One Sunday morning she awoke to find that sight had been restored to one eye. It had been regarded as a miracle.

Mr. Hall died last year, but not until after he and Mrs. Hall had observed their 60th wedding anniversary. An only daughter, Mrs. J. W. Shepperd, also died last October.

Besides the Eastland brother, survivors include an only son, Harry Hall of Carlsbad, N. M., like.

and three grandchildren, Q. D. Shepperd of Colorado City, J. W. Shepperd, Jr., of Alpine, and Riggs Shepperd of Stanton.

Carbon, Romney Men Are Charged In Gin Burglary

A Romney farmer and an unemployed Carbon resident Tuesday stood charged with burglary of Walter Gilbert's cotton gin at Carbon Saturday night.

Sheriff Loss Woods said that the men were Ben Cochran of Romney and Leroy Milligan of Carbon.

The sheriff was called to Carbon Sunday morning at 1 o'clock and notified that Gilbert's gin had been entered. At 2:30 the same morning he was at Cochran's home at Romney where both the men were arrested. Charges were filed at justice of peace court in Eastland.

Sheriff Woods traced the men with the aid of a Carbon night-watcher. The nightwatchman had seen a car being driven through Carbon which he believed belonged to one of the men. The car was seen shortly after the alleged burglary at the gin.

Alleged taken from the gin were an oil pump, 50 gallons of oil and one empty barrel.

Officers alleged entrance had been gained by removing belting from where a feeder lead out from the gin.

HEADS L-MEN
Ray Hurdwick of Eastland has assumed duties of the district supervisor of the Texas Liquor Control Board at Abilene during the absence of V. L. DeLaney. Hurdwick is regularly stationed in the Abilene area. He is a former county deputy sheriff.

Renter's Urge to Buy Homes Is Strongest in Nation's History

All records have been broken this summer. Never before in the history of this country has the urge for home ownership been so strongly prevalent.

Nobody likes to move, and we dislike to disturb a faithful, prompt-paying tenant, but our companies have passed the word to us to sell their properties at more attractive prices, easier monthly payments, and at lower rates of interest than ever before.

And we are all set to go! We have one group of houses, 35 in number, that can be bought for 10% down, at 4% simple interest, and in most cases, the monthly loan payment is no more than the monthly rental on these houses at present—and rentals are inclining upward rather than downward.

So, while they last, grab you a home, and thank us later!

NEW PACKARD MODELS GO ON ISPLAY AT FRANK LOVETT'S SHOW ROOMS IN EASTLAND

Here are pictures of two of the 1940 model Packard automobiles now on display at the Frank Lovett, Eastland distributor, located at 307 West Commerce street. Top is picture of the 110 Six, and bottom a 120 Eight Model.

Eastland automobile minded folks can now get first hand information of the first showing of new 1940 models.

Frank Lovett, local distributor of Packard Automobiles announced today that two new 1940 model Packards are on display at his showrooms at 307 West Commerce street.

The following gives an insight of what constitutes the qualities of this famous brand of automobiles.

Changes in hood and radiator lines and general styling which give longer, sleeker, smarter modern appearance; two completely new cars; big gains in power to weight ratio; greatly improving performance and economy; added riding comfort and longer more trouble free life feature new model Packard cars for 1940, announced today.

Four different lines of cars are offered. They are known as the One-Ten, the One-Twenty, the One-Sixty, and One-Eighty. The One-Ten and One-Twenty, as before are the two lower priced lines, the first with a big 100 horse power six cylinder engine and the One-Twenty with an eight cylinder motor of One-Twenty horse power. Both are declared to be big, roomy, luxuriously appointed cars with a long list of refinements and improvements over their predecessors, the well-known Six and Eight.

Mechanical features of all lines which have been proved important from the standpoint of driving ease, comfort in riding and freedom from trouble in service are continued with marked improvements, effected through intensive development work and long testing.

Gear shift levers are conveniently mounted on the steering column, just below the steering wheel. Powerful hydraulic brakes, having an easy pedal action are provided to match the improved performance of the car.

MOVEMENT OF LEGION POST IS GROWING

A movement launched this month by the American Legion post at Eastland proposing installation of a tumor and cancer service in the new veteran's hospital being built at Dallas has already gained state and national recognition.

This was revealed Saturday by letters received by Henry Pullman, commander, from officials and organizations indorsing the proposal after a resolution of the post was studied.

The Eastland post's attention to the need of a tumor and cancer service at Dallas was brought about after a report of a member, V. O. Hatcher, that the nearest veteran facilities for tumor and cancer treatment is in the Hines hospital, Hines, Ill. which is assertedly overtaxed with cases of that type.

Delays had been necessary and the proposal for the establishment of such a service at Dallas was believed particularly necessary in the new Dallas hospital because majority of the tumor and cancer cases treated at Hines were from the Dallas area.

Frank T. Hines, administrator of the Veteran's Administration, wrote and said that the proposal was being given study. However, he said that the Hines tumor clinic has recently been enlarged and that centralization of tumor and cancer treatment at Hines is beneficial since veterans are able to secure the aid of specialists in those lines. He pointed out in his letter to the Eastland post that there is a possibility for addition of the service in the new hospital at Dallas, however.

U. S. Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally of Texas write in acknowledging the need of the service and said veteran officials were being contacted. Likewise did Congressman Clyde L. Garrett.

Stephen F. Chadwick, national commander, wrote the Eastland post and said he was turning his proposal over to Watson B. Miller, director of the legion national rehabilitation service at Washington, for study.

Vincent Chiodo, Houston, state commander, referred the matter to the chairman of the resolutions committee for introduction at the Waco state meeting next week.

1939-40 Hunting Rules Formations Likely At Meets

Officials of game associations of Eastland county have received letters from County Agent Elmo V. Cook asking if they plan meetings to prepare rules for the 1939-40 hunting seasons.

Cook said in the letters, in part: "Hunting season starts soon and as your game management association has not held an annual meeting I would like to hear from you regarding whether you think your members should meet to make rules for the 1939-40 seasons."

The letters went to associations at Shady Grove, Sabanno, Staff, Nimrod, New Hope, Kokomo, Cisco, Cheaney, Carbon, Grandview, Pioneer and Tudor. Carbon and Staff association organizations are not fully perfected.

The associations have a membership totaling 400. Pledged are 15,000 acres of land on which game conservation rules are practiced. The 15,000 acres is one-third of the land in the county.

The associations were organized last year.

Cecil Lotief In Move From Eastland

Cecil Lotief, Eastland merchant for several years, Monday with his family moved to Kofan where he will continue in the dry goods business.

He was a former flitorial representative and moved to Eastland from Cross Plains.

He was in demand as a public speaker during his Eastland residence and was active in civic interests.

The building in which his store was located on the east side of the square is thus far unoccupied.

WE KNOW A DEAR OLD LADY WHO TRIED TO ECONOMIZE BY BURNING AN OIL LAMP ALL NIGHT

Yes, she remembers when electric light was the place of the kerosene lamps and always had a feeling that electric light is expensive. So, when she had a dim light burning all night long she thought it would be economy to get an oil lamp rather than to use an electric light.

Here is what she didn't know. The lamp cost her 50 cents and she used one gallon of kerosene a month, which cost her 50 cents. In addition, she had the trouble of cleaning the chimney every few days and of filling up the lamp. To top off the economy attempt, she had an ever-present fire and explosion hazard.

Here is what she knows now. A 10-cent low-wattage night-light burned 8 hours every night for a MONTH for approximately 75 cents, about HALF what it cost her to have the uncertain light from an oil lamp. Now she realizes how very cheap is electric light.

Four Heirs Share Equally As Judge Allots Five Jewels

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Superior Judge Arthur L. Mundo scratched his head and once more studied the problem before him.

The problem was a five-diamond necklace worth $2,025, part of the estate of Hattie Fletcher whose will provided that it was to be divided equally to four beneficiaries. However, each gem had a different value.

The most satisfactory solution would have been to deal four hands of poker to determine the distribution of the five diamonds. This was ruled out when one of the beneficiaries admitted "more than a rudimentary knowledge" of the game.

Judge Mundo finally ruled that the most valuable diamond would go to the first named heir, and so on down the line, with the last named getting the two least costly stones.

All departed satisfied.

WILD LIFE

Raising quail by providing natural cover and a sufficient food supply has reached the point where there are now projects under way in 16 counties of the State, it is announced by Phil Goodrum, director of Research and Education for the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. By providing sufficient food and cover for birds, it has been found they will increase appreciably without the State resorting to restocking.

The general plan of fencing areas ranging in sizes from one-quarter to five acres to prevent stock over-grazing the section is being followed in the majority of the counties in which the quail restoration projects are being carried on.

In the past the majority of the areas in the experimental project have proved highly successful in quail raising and it is believed certain that most of the projects now under way will do a great deal towards restocking the birds in the various localities. The counties in which the projects are being carried on are Guadalupe, Clay, Brazoria, Jasper, Orange, Polk, Tyler, Wharton, Liberty, Bell, Falls, Colorado, Milam, Lubbock Taylor and Harris.

The woods and plains of Texas abound with unusual stories, but the most unique occurrence observed recently was in Hudspeth county, where a herd of 25 antelope was seen chasing two coyotes for several miles.

State Game Warden W. D. Stubblefield was riding with Boggs of El Paso along a draw in the old Mitchell ranch when suddenly a coyote came up over the ridge with approximately 25 antelope in close pursuit. Stubblefield stopped his car. The antelope chased the coyotes over the other side of the ridge without noticing the men, who then drove to the top of the ridge and saw that the antelope were still pursuing the coyote. First one and then the other closed in on El Coyote. Suddenly another coyote jumped up with the first coyote and Stubblefield and Ingram continued to watch the unusual pursuit for approximately a mile. Then the coyotes and the antelope made a turn towards the car. When the antelope spied it they stopped, for a few seconds, then took out across the hills. The coyotes also disappeared rapidly in another direction.
