NIMROD GAME ASSOCIATION NAMES CHIEFS

Officers of the Nimrod Game Management Association were elected this week and rules for the coming season drafted.

The officers chosen were: J. E. Stansell, president; B. P. Notgrass vice president, and A. N. McBeth, secretary-treasurer.

After a report on an inventory of quail had been given which disclosed there are less this year in the community than last year, it was decided that only members of the association may kill quail the coming year.

It was stated that the kill of members of the association will be limited to not over 40 per cent of the birds on the land.

Given as reasons for the decrease in quail on the land were that June rains drowned many eggs and wild house cats had killed more than hunters.

A change was made in the by-laws which permits the annual meeting to be held in November instead of the last half of January as heretofore.

There are 19 members in the association who have adopted conservation rules on a total of 6,007 acres of land.

Kokomo Club Is Told of Poultry Feeding Methods

"Place a dry mash hopper at a convenient location in the poultry house," said Mrs. L. R. Higginbottom at a meeting with the Kokomo Girls 4-H Club Nov. 22, at the clubhouse.

This will not only save time in feeding the flock, but will also help to insure maximum production. Drinking water should be accessible to the hens at all times, as eggs contain a large proportion of water, and if they do not have water when they want it and need it, the egg production will be cut down. Also keep plenty of clean straw or other litter on the floor of your hen house. If one will follow these suggestions you will find it an increase to your egg production and help you to have a better flock.

For the opening exercise the group sang, "South of the Border." We decided at this meeting to have a Christmas party.

Those present at this meeting were: Phyllis Donaldson, Ernestine Jumper, Wanda Donaldson, Louise Eaves, Perlene Holliday, Barbara Eaves, Lurline Jordan, Billie Jo Crawley, Virda Mae Eaves and Mrs. L. R. Higginbottom.

Closing of quail hunting effects the general public and members of the game management association.

There are 40 members of the association in which game conservation practices have been adopted on 6,510 acres of land.

Simpler Homes and Lower Building Costs

Low-income families who are getting a little tired of folding beds and cupboard kitchens can take heart from the fact that the average home built during the first six months of 1939 cost less than did the average home built during the preceding three years.

According to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the average cost between January and July of this year was $3611; in 1936 the average was $4044.

This figure is still too high. The Home Loan Bank Board says it's too high, and I. N. Tate, vice president of the Weyerhaeuser Sales Company, St. Paul, Minn., agrees with the board.

The U. S. attorney general's office is currently investigating high building costs. It is possible that this campaign will result in price moderations.

The rest of the problems will have to be solved by the people who build houses and the people who live in them. The basic prices of materials will not be reduced very much; the price of labor can scarcely be expected to decline.

The four Hoess brothers in Hammond, Ind., tried out that idea, and it worked. The brothers had a lot of idle land on their hands, so they cut it up into acre lots and built identical houses.

This is the answer that the construction conferees in Washington suggested. Some builders were optimistic enough to predict that the cost of homes will be reduced by 50 per cent if buyers aren't too fussy about having something "different" and if they don't ask for too many frills in the design.

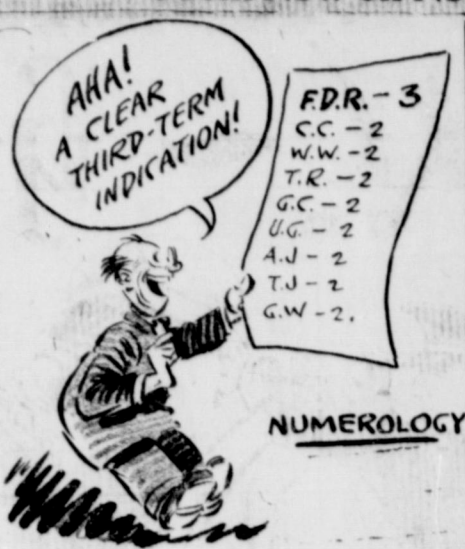

It's pretty well established that mass production cuts down costs. Each house will cost less and can be more quickly erected if the builder can use the same pattern throughout his project.

Perhaps if potential home owners get together with builders they will be able to afford to buy homes—and still have enough money left over to eat regularly.

A cyclone recently damaged every house in an eastern community except the one that was insured. One would almost suspect the insurance company had a hand in the storm.

A civic-minded individual recently donated to his local zoo a monkey which, during his first 10 minutes on Monkey Island, slapped down seven other monkeys, beat up two racoons and grabbed three fish.

From Now on Nothing Will Be Overlooked

I Give You Texas

By BOYCE HOUSE

The "old joke" contest seems to have nearly got lost in the shuffle, so we'll trot out several entries this week to fatten the battling average.

A schoolboy was asked, "How much is eight times eight?" He answered, "Sixty-four," and the teacher said, "Good." The boy retorted, "Good! It's perfect."

On cross-examination, a witness was asked if his story wasn't different from the way he told it right after the matter occurred. "Yes," he replied. "How do you explain that?" the lawyer inquired. To which the witness responded, "I was talkin' then; I'm swearin' now."

And, of course, you remember the one about the two churches, close together—one congregation singing "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" and the other congregation singing "No, not one." Two darkies were arguing about which was the better dancer. One said, "Why, boy, I was born dancin' in' ", to which the other rejoined, "Yes, and youse gwine to die dancin'—at de end ob a rope."

That boy who comes whistling along leaving a newspaper on the doorstep may be destined for brilliant achievement—for his is a calling that requires energy, intelligence, courtesy, good humor; in short, he is a young business man.

When this columnist was editor in Eastland, one of the carriers was a smiling little fellow named Milburn McCarty, Jr. He has since graduated from Dartmouth with high honors, worked on the New York Herald-Tribune, served on the staff of that very clever publication, the New Yorker, and is now a member of the organization headed by Steve Hannagan, press agent, who tells the world about China, Sun Valley, St. Petersburg, cabbages and kings.

Another who carried papers in Eastland was a long-legged youth named Joe Thomas Cook. Seeing him one day rushing down the corridor of an office building with giant strides as he left papers behind as fast as a magnolia tree can shed leaves, I felt impelled to write a paragraph about him. The paragraph was written and I soon forgot about it but Joe T. Cook (who became editor of the Daily Texas at the State University and is now editor and publisher of the paper in beautiful Mission), has never forgotten—he reminded me of the writup the last time I was in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and marveled at the numerous loving cups and silver shields his paper had won in state contests.

See where Judge Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge has been appointed to the Board of Public Welfare by Governor O'Daniel. Judge Roberts is a personal friend of this commentator and is a splendid gentleman. He was district judge when the United States entered the World War and he resigned from the bench to join the Army. Afterward, he went through the great Breckenridge oil boom and he tells many interesting stories of those stirring days.

Harley Sedler, West Texas showman, says he isn't figuring on making the race for Congress. His tent theater troupe is in Waco for a two weeks' run, ending Dec. 2.

and he reports the season has been good. Speaking of showmen, Brann Garner, the Ranger theater manager, tells me he has a cat that eats pancakes. Every morning, for a good while the cat appeared at a cafe at 9 a. m. but the other day when the hot cakes were placed in front of him, the cat sniffed, turned up his nose and stalked out. The cafe had changed cooks!

Who says animals don't think? (Or is it merely that Mr. Garner has a luxuriant imagination?) Ever stop to think how powerful words sometimes are? There are occasions when speech is only the tinkling of a cymbal and silence is the truest eloquence.

Two men were friends, of the type of Damon and Pythias. Both were of splendid character—in fact, one of them was as noble a man as I have ever known but he had a brother who was a black sheep. This brother embezzled a large amount of money and fled. The story was emblazoned in newspaper headlines.

As soon as the other man read it, he felt that he must go to his friend to comfort him. On the way to the office, he decided what his first words would be and what else he would say.

But when they were face to face, the words were forgotten; the man whom he had come to see stood there searching his countenance to see whether his old friend was still his friend in view of the cloud over the family name and the public clamor. There was a moment that they stood motionless; then the visitor, without a word, held out his hand and in that silent, firm handclasp from the heart, there was expressed all that needed to be said.

Selling Of Tickets From Door To Door Bad Psychology

EL PASO, Texas—Ticket selling from door to door by "your's and the neighbor's kids" Creates a bad psychological effect in the minds of children during the formative periods of their lives, believes Dr. I. M. Epstein, psychiatrist and child guidance director of El Paso schools.

"The door to door business is like PWA—except that the neighbor does the supporting instead of the federal government," Dr. Epstein said.

The child too often gets the wrong psychological effect by selling on the basis of making the purchaser feel sorry for him and helping him win a prize or get rid of the tickets, he said. This leads to the "panhandling slant."

"I think the ticket selling habit is bad for children. If the child is selling something for which the buyer gets his money's worth, it's not so bad in the psychological effect, especially if the child is selling to persons interested," Dr. Epstein said.

Applications of electric power to lighten farm labor and relieve household drudgery will be featured in demonstrations of the REA two-day farm equipment show on the T. J. Williams farm, near Comanche on Highway No. 81, December 7 and 8.

Truck loads of equipment, feed grinders, shellers, elevators, will be set up in a demonstration line near the tent. A double-line midway of electric-powered farm equipment, set up in the open, in individual tents and in house trailers, will lead from the demonstration line to the lunch tent and the big tent itself. Local farm women, members of the Women's RAE Club, will serve hot lunches so that everyone who attends may be certain of getting something to eat and may plan on staying for the entire show.

The first meeting, Thursday night at 7:30 P. M., will be in the big tent and of interest to men and women. The demonstrations will start up again next morning at 10:30 and run through the evening, with intermissions for lunch and supper. ### Pastor of Ranger Church Dies After A Sudden Attack

Dr. L. B. Gray, for several years pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ranger, died suddenly in a Ranger hospital Wednesday night, within an hour after being received as a patient.

Dr. Gray had been in ill health for several years, though his condition was not serious and he recently obtained a leave of absence from his church to recuperate. At noon Wednesday, just a few hours before he died, the pastor had charge of the Ranger Rotary Christmas program, and delivered an address on Thanksgiving.

For several years before moving to Ranger Dr. Gray had been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Strawn, and filled the pulpits of the churches both in Ranger and Strawn.

Since moving to Ranger he had become one of the most active workers for charities of all kinds and took an active part in all civic movements in the city, and was beloved by all who knew him.

No funeral arrangements had been made Wednesday night.

Dates for the dedication will be Saturday and Sunday, December 9 and 10.

Committee selections for the dedication and clubhouse affairs for the present were as follows: Entertainment—Henry Pullman, chairman; A. E. Herring, Earl Francis.

Commissary—Ernest Jones, chairman; H. M. (Johnny) Hart, Jess Richardson.

Finance—Roy Allen, chairman; Roy Birmingham, Percy Harris.

The appointments were made by a nominating committee selected by Pullman, commander of the post, who presided. The nominating committee was composed of J. H. Mitchell, Donald Kinnaird, P. L. Crossley, Harris and V. O. Hatcher.

The meeting was the first for the organization since it leased the clubhouse, located at the City Park in Eastland. It was described by members of the post and visitors as a handsome structure, one of the best legion clubhouses in this section.

Under plans being formulated by committee members, the dedication program will provide an outstanding number of events to highmark the occasion. Included among features will be a dance on the first night of the dedication days.

Commander Pullman reported at the meeting the present membership of the post is 180 and that 20 more members are ought to place the organization in position to receive a 400 per cent citation from the national legion.

Visitors were present from Dublin, Ranger, De Leon, Gorman, and Carbon.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Eastland Company Gets Coleman Well

COLEMAN, Nov. 28.—States Oil Corporation of Eastland, et al No. 1 J. P. Morris, extending the Novice pool's Strawn sand production a mile and one location, Monday flowed 75 barrels of oil an hour for two hours of the first gauge it has been given.

The outpost, twice before had thrown oil high above the derrick. It was opened up Monday after a 16-hour shut-in for cleaning out to take a railroad commission potential gauge.

The police department and the magistrate's court in a middle western city are without quarters because the council leased a room in the city hall to a pool hall operator. Why not just leave the judge and the cops somewhere behind the eight ball.

Shot with 40 quarts at 3,574 to 3,598 feet, the well bridged over at 3,570. Total depth is 3,601 feet, with 27 feet of Gardner sand saturation.

Location is 2,240 feet from south and 330 feet from lines of the J. P. Stone survey, 6, rear Novice in northern Coleman county.

... among which are life, peace, friends and the onward, energetic, progressive spirit of the individual American. We are thankful that we live in Eastland, which is a clean town, with noble history. We are thankful for the men who guide the affairs of our city and who look forward rather than backward. Then we are thankful for that great host of folks who work for you and me whose names seldom appear in print but whose sum-total efforts make all things possible or impossible.

Then, lastly, we are thankful that we didn't sell all of our homes this year, for that would be a disappointment to many who will want to buy from us next year. Let us all be thankful that we have a work to do and a service to perform.

Midland Airport Is A Huge Project

MIDLAND, Tex.—Planes land and take off on two mile-long paved runways now that a $125,000 purchase and expansion project at the Midland municipal airport has been completed.

The expansion and improvement project included the paving of two runways, each 5,550 feet long and 150 feet wide, erection of an observation room atop the administration building, construction of additional living quarters and installation of additional lighting facilities.

Male's Skill In Kitchen Proved at Eastland Banquet

Men, who sometimes boast of their culinary skill, had a chance to prove it at the fourth annual Hi-Way Bi-Way Bible Class banquet held in the basement of the First Baptist Church at Eastland. And they succeeded, those who attended declared.

Members of the class, a male organization, prepared, served and made all arrangements for the banquet at which wives of members were guests. To top it all, the men actually cleaned up—washed and dried dishes—after the banquet. One hundred were present.

Chief feature of the meal was venison, contributed by Dr. W. S. Poe and Donald Kinnaird. The deer was shot on a recent hunt. Rev. Dick O'Brien of Stamford was principal speaker.

Members of committees arranging the banquet were: Entertainment—C. J. Langlitz, Victor Cornelius, L. E. Haynes. Guest speaker—Rev. J. W. Weathers.

Cranberry—G. B. Lanier, Gene Haynes. Meat preparation—Syd Arthur, H. P. Pentecost, A. D. Carroll. Vegetables—John White, Victor Ginn.

Salad—W. D. R. Owen, Garland Branton, Van Hoy, Parks Poe. Coffee, sugar, bread and milk—W. G. Womack, Jim Drake, Arthur Wright.

Decorations—Paul McFarland, Don Parker.

Table—Desmond Daniel, John Hart, C. M. Murphy, C. W. Mainor, Raymond McCord, J. F. Trott. Dessert—L. M. Cawley, E. H. Marsh. Tickets—Bruce Butler.

Poles Erected For Christmas Lights

Poles which will be used to maintain Christmas lights around the courthouse square were being erected Monday at Eastland.

Under plans adopted by Eastland merchants, lights will be strung from each corner of the courthouse to the poles and a garland of lights placed around the courthouse square.

It will be some time, however, before the lights are turned on for the Christmas season.

Gold has been discovered in Georgia. All that glitters are not peaches.

Thanksgiving and our Friends . .

When our Pilgrim fathers landed some 319 years ago they paused to give thanks to the great God of the universe for their safe voyage across the Atlantic and for the privilege to worship as they saw fit.

They laid the foundation for this, the greatest of all nations. We too, dedicate this another Thanksgiving, and say to our friends and customers—for the many kindnesses shown us during the year just about to end.

Thanks a Lot

Let us again remind you that Sanitone cleaning and pressing is the best and we guarantee every job that leaves our place.

Man Gives Views Upon NYA Program

Capers of Gorman, who is one of a number of enter-prises there, and come in contact, on sev-eral occasions, with the NYA boys and girls. He has turned to this paper, com-menting on the way the boys and girls are conducted themselves.

while on outings in Gorman. The statement below was entirely volun-tary on the part of Capers: "Have you ever thought what it means to Eastland county and the entire United States in general to have the National Youth Ad-ministration in operation? Have you had an opportunity to come in contact with the boys and girls of the N.Y.A.? In case you have not you should in the near future.

"In the past three months I have had the opportunity to come in contact with these boys and girls and to my mind, the way they are being trained, in every kind of work, it is one of the best things the Government has ever done. I have never met a nicer group of boys and girls. It be-hooves each and everyone of us to get behind our Senators and Congressmen and have them make this a larger and better thing. "If we will go to work to help the boys and girls of these United States to learn a trade, the thing they want to do in life we will be getting somewhere. The Youth of today or any other time can not learn to work walking the streets so it is up to us to teach them a trade so that they may be in a position to take a job in case they are offered one.

"Without the aid of young car-penters how do we expect to build new houses in the future, the boys of today must take the place of the carpenters in the near future as the average carpenter of today is 55 years of age? Can we blame the youth of today for not working if we have not first taught him to do something constructive? These United States stand for Education and should provide op-portunities to try various kinds of work so that the young person may find his or her own vocation and abilities may be given some guidance in preparing for private or industrial employment. "I think if you will take care of the youth they will soon be able to take care of the old people. Give it a serious thought. Hats off to C. R. Squires, S. C. Hughes, Mrs. Helen Shaw, supervisors N. Y. A. Boys and Girls of Ranger. I have had dealings with a good many young people in my business af-fairs and they are the most cour-teous group of young people I have ever dealt with. They are being taught courtesy as well as a trade. "H. L. CAPERS, "Gorman"

Decrease Shown In Area's Oil Output

Daily average crude oil produc-tion in West Central Texas for the week ended Nov. 18 was 28,350 barrels, a decrease of 6,050 from the previous week, the American Petroleum Institute reported Sat-urday.

Examination Given For Rural Carrier In Gordon Section

A civil service examination was given in Ranger Saturday morning to 33 applicants for a position of rural mail carrier at Gordon, to be filled upon retirement of the present carrier on Feb. 1. Of the 33 applicants at least three were ex-service men and the remainder were from various occupations and professions. The Ranger Civil Service Ex-amination Board gave the examina-tion and forwarded the papers to the Civil Service Commission at Washington to be graded. This Board consists of Max Ohr, R. C. Ashcraft and J. F. Jeffries, who replaced A. E. Crawley when the latter was appointed postmaster.
