

Reynaud Says Weygand Solved Tank Problem

NEW NAZI DRIVE IS AGAINST STRONGEST OF FRENCH DEFENSES

By J. W. T. MASON United Press War Expert Germany's start of a new offensive directed against Paris is confronted with the strongest part of the new Weygand defense line, marked by the Somme River. This natural water barrier gives an initial advantage to the Allies, entrenched along the South bank, and at some places holding bridge-heads on the North side. There is no stronger protective river shelter for a defending army in Europe. The Somme's snakelike course alone gives General Weygand exceptional opportunities for flanking movements against German attempts to cross the stream.

Former Pastor of Eastland Named On H-SU Board

Hardin-Simmons University, in Abilene, conferred 149 bachelor of arts, science and music, and master of arts degrees at its forty-eighth annual commencement Monday, graduating one of the largest senior classes in its history. Honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters was conferred on Dr. John L. Hill, Nashville, Tenn., editor, author and lecturer, and Rev. Fred C. Eastham, Wichita Falls pastor, had the degree of Doctor of Divinity conferred on him. Dr. Eastham delivered the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday. Dr. Eastham, a former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Eastland, is newly elected to the H-SU board of trustees. In conferring the degree on him, Dr. R. N. Richardson, H-SU executive vice president, praised his "outstanding community service, his distinctive service to the Baptists of this state, and his thorough knowledge of the Bible and effective evangelical preaching."

COUNTY BUYS THREE TRUCKS FOR PROJECTS

County Judge W. S. Adamson announced today the purchase of three trucks, to be used by County Commissioners Henry V. Davenport of Ranger and Fred Seikman of Rising Star. The trucks were purchased, Judge Adamson said, in order to keep up the road building program in the county, on which the county must expend 25 per cent of the project price. By furnishing from two to three trucks each commissioner is given credit on road projects by the WPA for the amount of trucking done in county-owned trucks. This makes up the difference between the actual outlay of cash needed for road projects and the amount the county is able to supply in order to keep the work going, Judge Adamson stated. Trucks purchased for H. V. Davenport included a Chevrolet truck cab and chassis from Anderson-Pruett, Inc., of Ranger, for $775, and a Ford truck chassis and cab from King-Ball Motors, Eastland, at a cost of $726.20. The truck purchased for Fred Seikman was a Chevrolet long wheelbase truck, with heavy duty radiator and hydraulic dump bed and dual wheels, purchased at a cost of $1,187.50. All purchases were made upon presentation of sealed bids, and were awarded to lowest bidders for each type of truck, Judge Adamson stated.

Raymond Kelly Arrives for An Official Visit

One of the most enthusiastic greetings ever extended a national commander of the American Legion, except at national conventions, was extended to National Commander Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit when he paid a visit to Eastland Thursday afternoon and night. A delegation of Eastland Legionnaires and officials met the national commander and state officers at Cisco, upon their arrival there from a luncheon held earlier in the day at Coleman. As the group approached the business section of Eastland, a parade had been formed with several bands, guard units, delegations of Legionnaires from surrounding towns and visitors from all over the state. From Walnut Street, where the parade formed, it proceeded to the courthouse square, as a 21-bomb salute was fired in honor of the commander's visit. After circling the square the parade came to a halt on the south side of the Eastland County courthouse, where Commander Kelly was presented to the waiting crowd by Mayor C. W. Haffmann of Eastland. After a brief talk by Kelly the parade was reformed and marched to the City Park, where visiting Legionnaires and other visitors inspected the modern clubhouse of the Dulin-Daniels Post. Thursday evening the post commander was due to speak at a banquet at City Park. Plans for the national commander's visit to Eastland were outlined, and carried out to a great extent, by Henry Pullman, post commander of the Eastland post, assisted by members of the post.

SUMMER RATES ON WATER TO GO IN EFFECT

The Eastland City Commission has again unanimously agreed to increase the minimum amount of water for each consumer in the City of Eastland from 15,000 gallons to 30,000 gallons per month, at the same price as heretofore charged for the 15,000 gallons, which is the minimum during the entire year, with the exception of the hot summer months, during which time, the City Commission has seen fit to double the allowance, with no extra cost to the consumer. It has always been the custom of the present Commission to give a water minimum of 30,000 gallons during the months of July and August. This year, however, due to the abundant waterfall in the past 60 days, which has caused the water customers' gardens and yards to be in excellent condition, the City Commission thinks it advisable to start the increased allowance for the month of June, which is a month earlier than has been their former custom. With this increased amount of water, the customers should be able to keep their gardens and lawns from suffering. The City of Eastland is considering especially fortunate in having a large reservoir for water, which is filled to capacity. Without any additional rains, Eastland would have sufficient water for more than a year's time. The citizens of Eastland also realize that this minimum of 30,000 gallons of water during the months of June, July and August, is the highest minimum allowed, for the price paid, to any city within a radius of 100 miles. The City Commission is very glad to be able to give its water customers this large amount of water for the usual price. They especially wish to call to the attention of the water customers that the meters are read each month on the 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st, therefore, your water consumption for the month of June will end on one of the above dates. It should be to the advantage of all citizens to keep their lawns and gardens in the best condition possible, with this increased amount of water, and help make Eastland a still nicer looking town in which to live.

BRITISH TANKS ARE BEING PUNCHED OUT JUST LIKE DOUGHNUTS

RANGER BOY IS KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT

James Lavon Graves, 16, member of the 1939 Ranger Bulldog football team, was fatally injured in a hunting accident Wednesday, shortly after noon, and funeral services were conducted at the Acker Cemetery Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Killingsworth in charge. This is the second member of the Bulldog squad shot in a hunting accident in two days, H. O. Woods, Jr., being injured when he was shot through both legs with a .22 calibre rifle Tuesday afternoon. Details of the hunting accident were meager, though it was stated that he was shot in the leg, almost severing the leg, and he died from loss of blood before ample medical attention could be given his wound. All bearers at the services Thursday afternoon were selected from the 1939 football squad. They included Thurman Dean, Wayne Adkins, Junior Graves, Gerry Warden, John Bourdeau, S. S. Faircloth, Jr., Willis Clarke, Jr., and D. C. Arterburn. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Graves, one brother, Marion Graves, Jr., and three sisters, Ada Graves Graves, Wanda Louise Graves, and Treva Joy Graves, all of Ranger, born July 12, 1923, and had lived all his life in and near Ranger.

HUNDREDS ARE DESTROYED ON ENTIRE FRONT

British Airmen Raid German Supply Lines and Blast Oil Supply Centers in Germany Premier Paul Reynaud told the French people tonight that Gen. Maxime Weygand had "found the answer" to German tanks and had destroyed "hundreds" of them along the 200-mile front on the Somme and Aisne Rivers. The French said the German tanks, crossing the French lines, were destroyed individually before the infantry could follow them, and that the Allied lines were holding firmly. Reynaud added that Adolf Hitler had thrown all his tanks and planes into the present drive, and that Berlin had admitted stiff French resistance, but said the German armies were "advancing everywhere." The French admitted that their lines had been penetrated six miles south of Eronne. The French communique said, "On the whole we are maintaining our positions." Aircraft was taking an important part in the battle and British planes bombed German communication lines behind the front, in addition to bombing oil depots in the Ruhr River Valley, at Ghent and at Hamburg. German planes, last night, raided a 250 mile section of the British coast, though reports indicated that little damage was done and no airports were bombed. The Italian press warned the United States against helping the Allies and said a "war between the two continents" might result if the British Government attempts to move to Canada and conduct the war from there. American intervention in Europe, said the Italian papers, will cause European intervention in the Western Hemisphere. Meanwhile President Roosevelt flatly denied that Pope Pius had been invited to move to the United States and said the Allies were appealing for faster delivery of war supplies.

Hitler would be risking grave reprisal by such a maneuver. So, it appears that he has had to start his offensive along the heavily fortified Somme. The Germans describe their movement as "aggressive action," which is more nearly accurate than to call it a blitzkrieg. It appears to be a feeling out operation of considerable force to determine the strength and disposition of the Allies south of the Somme.

Eastland Soon To Have a Red Cross Station In City

The City of Eastland will open a Red Cross Station and Eastland officials are now preparing space for the station, it was announced here today. Eastland County officials are loaning sewing machines and general assistance. Mrs. Roy E. Townsend stated. Mrs. Townsend has accepted the general chairmanship of the Red Cross Station. She is a nurse registered in both Texas and Pennsylvania and is also a lifetime Red Cross Nurse. She served two years in the World War under the British Expeditionary Force in one of the first units of nurses to sail from America. The unit was made up of Philadelphia hospital nurses. The following is an extract from a letter stressing the need of the station: "As time passes the need for garments requested from the Red Cross chapters has become increasingly great and we therefore, shall be particularly glad for the Eastland Chapter to participate in the war relief production program." The Red Cross has already shipped to Finland, Poland, England and France 239,000 sweaters, dresses, layettes and other garments, and hopes to send to the refugees 100,000 sweaters, 50,000 dresses and 20,000 layettes by Sept. 1, 1940. No chapter's share is great and if chapters will accept a small quota of garments the combined effort will provide the needed garments, it was stated. All women and girls have been requested to meet at the City Hall on June 12 at 10 a. m. to organize the station and form plans. Mrs. Phillip Pettit of Cisco is volunteer special service chairman of Eastland County and Robert C. Kinnaird of Eastland is chairman of the Eastland County Red Cross Chapter.

Ferguson and His Lawyer Complete 20-Day Sentence

Alex M. Ferguson, brother of former Gov. James E. Ferguson, and his attorney, J. M. Baird, were released from the Eastland County Jail Wednesday morning, after serving a 20 day sentence on a charge of contempt of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals. The two were placed in jail Friday afternoon, May 17, after allegedly violating an injunction of the court. The injunction grew out of litigation over the estate of the late Mrs. Katie F. Morton of Haskell. While serving the 20-day sentence, which ended this morning, Ferguson and his attorney appealed to the State Supreme Court for a habeas corpus, which was denied. The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Haskell, against which the suit was filed by Ferguson, in violation of the injunction of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals, was represented by the law firm of Turner, Seaberry and Springer of Eastland.

Odessa Slayer Is Now Back In Jail

ODESSA, June 6.—Isabelle Messmer, under three-year sentence for the slaying of Buford Armstrong, Odessa baseball player, was back in the Ector county jail today after a wild and hectic plane flight from Indianapolis, Ind. The tiger-like murderess didn't disappoint a curious crowd of 400 Odessans on her arrival at the local airport. Alighting from the plane, she went into another of her "tantrums." "I'll kill you. I'll kill every one of you. If it hadn't been for you and Geron I never would have been convicted," the 92-pound brunette screamed at Sheriff Reeder Webb and County Attorney O. E. Geron, in whose custody she was returned. "I'll get out somehow. I got out before and I'll do it again and I'll kill you. I killed one man and I will kill you," she continued. She was hustled to a waiting police car and taken to jail. She was placed in the women's block on the third floor, a different cell from the one which she escaped last April 8. When placed in the block she threw jail utensils at two negro women. She is awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary.

Buck Up, America!

The people of the United States seem to be suffering from a sort of mental shell-shock as the tragedy of Europe unrolls swiftly before their eyes.

There is greater panic in certain American circles than even in England and France, which lie directly under the guns of the Nazi invader. It is not fear—it is simply shock at seeing the anchors of civilization tossed overboard, one by one. It is horror at seeing an orderly world descend to chaos.

There are signs that this panic has already passed its climax, as it should. Up to now the whole thing has had the aspect of a too-hectic melodrama. Now it is beginning to be real, and already there are signs of that calm that comes with reality.

It is certainly true that the British and French, whose way of life is so much like our own, are fighting a desperate fight for existence. None would dispute the gravity of the situation as it affects the future of the free political and economic life we love.

But at least our own course is clarifying, and as our task becomes clearer, we begin to bend to it, and we find relief in action. Our own defenses have lagged. No nation has had to arm itself for fear of us. Now, in a world which has forsaken order and justice and peace, we must prepare to defend by force what we have failed to defend by negotiation.

Very well. Is there any reason why we cannot defend ourselves? These are no supermen who have overrun half of Europe. They are men. They have succeeded up to this point because they have converted all life into a military machine.

Hitler himself in "Mein Kampf," wrote: "The gigantic American State Colossus, with its enormous wealth of virgin soil, is more difficult to attack than the wedged-in German Reich."

It is true that that Reich is less "wedged-in" than it was when Hitler wrote. It is true that we are badly unprepared in material and training. But we have had our lesson.

With calm confidence and reliance on our own emerging strength, America goes forward unflinching and unafraid to meet whatever the world has in store!

In Salt Lake City the pedestrian always has the right of way. The motorist who tries to take it away from him is liable to fine, imprisonment, and presumably, the funeral expenses.

It's plain why there were few takers on that million-for-Hitler offer. After you figure the taxes, there's hardly enough left for carfare to Europe and back.

Pouring onto the highways this summer will be some 50,000,000 motorists. It seems only fair to warn the potential mechanized invader what he would be up against on a Sunday afternoon.

Different Worlds

I GIVE YOU TEXAS . . .

By BOYCE HOUSE

"Our watermelons have a heart" reads a roadside sign.

Writers, seeking material for biographies, usually select a captain of finance, a canal-builder or a soldier-of-fortune as a subject. Yet there are people all around us whose lives would make a wonderful book.

Recently, J. C. Wilkerson of the Comanche Chief told about a fellow townsman—O. O. Brightman, born at Old St. Mary's in Refugio County, a town no longer existing. Reared in the Coast country, where there was an abundance of fish, oysters, wild turkey and wild hogs, Mr. Brightman has had a varied and successful business career—farming, running a gin, meat market, general store, cotton, grain, oil and automobile business.

When Comanche was a great cotton area, sometimes producing 50,000 bales, he was one of the State's biggest cotton merchants, buying and selling all over Texas and making or losing a thousand dollars or more on lots of days.

There was an interlude when he engaged in mining in Central America but came a revolution and the holdings were confiscated. To show for this adventure, Mr. Brightman has a few rare eggs and monkey skins.

His father, a noted hunter who died at the age of 90, was fond of telling about having crawled into a hole unarmed and bringing out a wildcat.

Mr. Brightman couldn't pass the physical examination for service in the Spanish-American War. His ambition for military duty was realized through a son, Dwight, who in his teens saw service overseas in the World War; was one of the youngest sheriffs in the county's history and is now a G-man.

Why don't you write the book, Mr. Wilkerson?

Old joke contest: There was the one about the man who was asked, "Can you play the piano?" and he answered, "I don't know—I never tried."

It was his brother who broke a wrist and inquired of the doctor, "How long will it be before I can play the fiddle?" and the doctor said, "Oh, about a month." The man replied, "That's fine; I never could play it before."

"Dogwood," a beautiful bit of writing which E. C. Lowe found and reproduced in his Lometa Reporter.

At the time of the crucifixion, the Dogwood had the size of the oak and other forest trees. So firm and strong was the tree that it was chosen as the timber for the Cross. To be used for such a cruel purpose greatly distressed the tree, and Jesus, nailed upon it, sensed this, and in His gentle pity for all sorrow and suffering said to it:

Because of your regret and pity for suffering never again shall the Dogwood tree grow large enough to be used as a Cross; henceforth it shall be slender and bent, and twisted, and its blossoms shall be in the form of a Cross—two long and two short petals, and in the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be nail prints. Brown with rust and stained with red and in the center of the flower will be a crown as of thorns.

SERIAL STORY

AN EYE FOR A GAL BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

YESTERDAY, Dr. Tolliver arranged for Hannah to stay in school room at another place. When Rossy goes to see her, she tells him how his cousin, Steve Hogg, came down to school, snid on Rossy, then reported back that he was living with the Tollivers. She reminds Rossy of his oath to avenge his father, denounces him, slaps him sprawling.

CHAPTER IV THE terrific impact of Hannah Shriders' hand on Rossy Mc-Afee's face left a glowing, four-pronged picture on his amazed and bloodless cheek. He wallowed a moment on the floor, where he had fallen after the girl slapped the fire out of him. He gulped, started to rise. Murder ran through his arteries and muscles. "You—you—I'll knock the tar out of you!" Hannah made ready to meet him blow for blow. "Knock the tar out of me, dad-burn your low-life, time! Just come on and knock the tar out of me!"

Rossy looked up at the passionate face of the girl he had once asked to marry him. He remembered that day, in the spring, when the orchard trees were pink and white and the bland wind waved her tawny hair. Anger went out of him. He got clumsily to his feet, and stood just staring at her. The commotion of their scrap brought a heavy figure to the door, and there stood Mrs. Patterson. "It was my fault," Rossy said. "Blame it on me, not her. I reckon it'll take me a little time to act like white folks."

"I'll report you to Dr. Tolliver, sir!" Mrs. Patterson promised grimly. Rossy picked his hat from the floor and clamped it on his head. "I'll be seeing you," he said mechanically. Hannah bawled, "I don't want never to see you again, Rossy Mc-Afee!"

He turned upon her, "Them's the death-bed words of all the gals that make up the world's mess of old maids." He added with a sneer, "But I reckon you'd like to see our dear Cousin Steve Hogg again! He's got money that's never been spent!"

Hannah came right back. "Yes, and he asked me to marry him, too, and at least he wouldn't two-time me every time I turned my back a minute!"

ROSSY knew this led to a renewal of the battle. He went sadly out and stood looking up at the stars. Mrs. Patterson would report this to Dr. Tolliver first thing in the morning. The two of them would be dragged on the carpet almost before they had got settled in school. If it got out—and how could it be kept?—he and Hannah would be the laughing stock of the student body, and then he would have to kill somebody to shut the stuff up. Judy was just finishing a telephone conversation when he slipped in. She hung up and stopped him. "Come over here on the sofa." When he reluctantly complied, she examined him with that odd smile of hers. There was amusement in it, and also something else he did not understand. "I have just been talking with Mrs. Patterson."

Rossy gave a start. "She told you, I reckon?" "Yes, and I asked her not to take it to father." Rossy tried to think of something nice to say about this, but all he could think of was, "Yes'm." "There wouldn't be any point in making it a matter for the administrative council," she went on, curling her legs under her. "But you don't want to fight like that, Rossy?" "Yes'm. I mean no'm."

"You're in school now. You came to get an education. You want to be a gentleman. You want to acquire a certain amount of—well, culture. That is, you want to get the rust knocked off. Make yourself into somebody. Don't you, Rossy?" "I reckon so," he admitted grudgingly.

"Of course, you do. That's why you're here at all. And, you want to play baseball, maybe become a great pitcher and work your way up to the big leagues, and all that, but even so you want to amount to something, become a somebody. Isn't that right, Rossy?" He gulped. "Yes'm."

"Well, bawling with your sweetheart won't start you off in the direction you plan to go—" "She ain't my sweetheart any more."

THERE was a moment of silence between them, during which she continued to look at him, watch him, but gravely and no longer with amusement. Then she did what to Rossy was a startling thing—she moved over and took his hand.

"You don't want to break off with your sweetheart over so slight a thing as—well, a little spat—you want to be broadminded, at least try to learn to be broadminded—" "I hope you don't call being smacked flat a slight thing!"

"No, but bawling and fighting like that is small!" He kept sitting there, liking the touch of Judy's hand, trying to feel through his emotions to her real meaning. She gave his hand a pat and released it.

"You see, Rossy, father knew all the while you had something to you. When Coach Hurd went up in Hell'n-Damnation to look you over, saw you play ball last summer, and came back and reported to daddy about you, we all had faith enough in you to work out a way for you to come to college. You don't know it, but you were the subject of a lot of discussion in our home as far back as last July."

"Was I?" he asked, studying her in bewilderment. "I never knew that." "I'm telling you now because you have to make good to make our faith come true." He sat there turning this in his mind. Finally he turned to her. "Let me ask you something."

"Go ahead. If I can answer your question I will." "Was your pappy ever up in Hell'n-Damnation Holler?" "Yes, your pappy was ever up in Hell'n-Damnation Holler?"

"Only for an instant did any change come into her expression. It was so little as a flicker of her long lashes. "Why, I suppose so, Rossy. When he came to be president of Lincoln College he covered just about all the territory in this end of the state. He felt he should travel over his territory so as to know the people who would come to his school. I think he visited your neighborhood, too."

"Did he ever live up in there?" "My father? Why, no. I can't think of his ever living in Hell'n-Damnation Holler. If you're asking whether he is a relative of the family of Tollivers up in your country, the feuding Tollivers your family have been traditionally at outs with, no. How could we be?"

"Can't you see how absurd that would all be? My father a member of a feud clan, and his being president of one of the best colleges in the mountain country?" "My father has always been a school work," that sweet, determined voice went on. "Ever since can remember. He was principal of a big high school, then he went to the university and we lived there four years while father finished his master's and took his doctor's degree. He was a professor of education two years in a northern college."

"That was before my mother died. Then this place called him. He has always been a fine, clean man. For me he's a great man, Rossy." But for Rossy he was the man who killed his father. (To Be Continued)

Cats and Ice Men Hope It Will Be Hot This Summer

By Richard M. Morehead United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH. — The Fort Worth Cats and the Ice Men are hoping it will be a hot summer. It wasn't very warm this May, and the Fort Worth baseball team — 1939 Texas League and Dixie series champions — finished the month a flat last in the league.

The Houston heroes ax Howard Pollet, a young left-hander with control who won 11 games and lost none before June 1, and Nick Cullop, veteran outfielder who covered the team in hitting.

At the other end of the standings stood Fort Worth, a "hot weather" team that rises and falls with the performance of its aging pitching staff. The mainstays are Ed Greer, Ray Starr, Fred Marberry, Otho Nicholson, Ash Hillin and Claude Horton. A

Except for pitching and third base, the Cats this year are theoretically stronger than in 1939. Frank Medby, base-stealing third baseman, has been promoted to the big leagues and manager Linton still is shifting his infield. The infield. The addition of Hank Oena to the outfield strengthened the team.

The 1939 Fort Worth rooters aren't expecting any miracles this season, but their conversations are ending with "just wait till hot weather."

World's Largest Dinosaur Once Roamed In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. — A single foot print, long as a bath tub and 40 inches wide, has convinced Dr. E. H. Sellards, director of a paleontological survey, that the world's largest dinosaur once wandered over what is now Texas.

From the size of the track, University of Texas experts visualize an animal 80 feet long, weighing nearly 50 tons.

The foot-deep track was uncovered at the water's edge of Paluxy River, near Glen Rose. Roland T. Bird, of the American Museum of Natural History, has been sent to the spot to supervise preservation and removal of the dinosaur track. To do so, under Bird's direction will be away a one-ton block of limestone on which the four-toed marks on the foot are shown.

Dr. Sellards classified the foot print as belonging to a sauropod, the largest type of dinosaur. Other dinosaur prints considered smaller have been found in the same vicinity.

Among the ingenious suggestions is one for National Keep-It-Alive Week, providing it is red, brown or black.

THE PAY OFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK — National League pitchers are sorry Schmozzle Lombardi got up off the plate, where the Yankees left him last October. With all their power, the Red Sox are in the market for a long range left-hand hitter.

Joe Cremin intends to start Herb Hash from now on and to give Wilburn Butland a whirl. . . . Hash relieved in 12 of the Red Sox' first 27 engagements.

Leu Boudreau winds himself up in such a position at the plate that old-timers wonder how he ever gets a hit, but his better than 300 average is the Cleveland shortstop's answer to those finding fault with his stance.

CONNIE MACK believes the American League pennant will be settled in a series in Boston or Cleveland late in the summer. Joe McCarthy was toying with the idea of using Tommy Henrich at first base when Babe Dahlgren broke loose with his bat in Detroit.

The Yankee manager declares he hasn't considered bringing in Gerald Priddy from the Kansas City farm. Joe Gordon wants to remain at second base, by the way . . . says he can't play shortstop . . . can't make the long throw.

Larry MacPhail says he could—and should—have traded Dolph Camilli for Johnny Mize and Babe Phelps for Ernie Lombardi. A year ago the Cubs gave the Phillies $15,000 and Kirby Higbe, Ray Harrell and Joe Marty for Claude Passeau. . . . Now a fair deal might be Higbe for Passeau, Harrell, Marty and $15,000.

JOHNNY RIZZO is going well in left field for the Reds, while Vince DiMaggio, for whom he was swapped, rides the Pirates' bench. Johns Hopkins Hospital medics report that Lefty Gomez is in good physical shape.

Brooklyn fans are on Roy Cullenbine for taking third strikes. He was given the bum's rush for arguing about one too long in the Cub series.

The Dodgers would be even better off if their pitchers could get away from throwing home run balls. Thirty circuit clouts have been hit off them to date . . . eight of Whit Wyatt, seven of Hugh Casey and five of Luke Hamlin.

The American League has had 35 postponements, the National 24, which will add up into headaches for the pitchers later.

MODERN MENUS

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Service Staff Writer

YOU can't always be sure of the quality of country butcher shop "hamburger." It is wiser to rely on packaged quick-frozen chopped round steak. Most rural stores now carry a good brand in their special refrigerators. Allow one 1/2-lb. package for each two persons. Here are two vacation recipes that will taste equally good even if the family stays at home.

CHOPPED STEAK CUTLETS (Serves six)

One tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 packages (1 pound) quick-frozen chopped steak, thawed, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1/4 cup milk. Sauté onion in butter; add to chopped steak. Add salt, pepper, crumbs, egg and milk, and mix well. Shape into 6 cutlets. Broil in not skillet 10 minutes, turning carefully to brown both sides. Serve at once on out-let-shaped pieces of toast, if desired. Garnish with parsley.

SMOTHERED CHOPPED STEAK (Serves four)

Two packages (1 pound) quick-frozen chopped steak, salt, pepper, flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Blueberries and cream, dry cereal, wholewheat muffins, orange marmalade, coffee, milk. LUNCHEON: Tuna fish and celery salad, hot biscuits, stewed fruit, nut cookies, tea, milk. DINNER: Smothered chopped steak, mashed potatoes, green peas (quick frozen), tomato and lettuce salad, cup custard with crushed strawberries, tea, milk.

cups sliced onions, water. Season chopped steak (frozen or thawed) with 1 teaspoon salt and dash of pepper and dredge with flour. Sauté in butter in skillet, turning to brown both sides. Spread onions on top and season with salt and pepper. Add 2 tablespoons water, cover, and bake in hot oven (450° F.) 35 minutes, basting occasionally. Remove meat to hot platter.

To make gravy, add 1 tablespoon flour to 1 tablespoon drippings in skillet, stirring until smooth; add 1 cup water. Place over fire and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper. Pour around meat on platter.

Wedding Takes Place at Home

Mrs. John Ralph Griffin, Jr., the former Miss Monnie Jane Whittington, whose marriage took place Monday afternoon, June 3rd, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Butler. The couple will live in Burbank, California.

The marriage of Miss Monnie Jane Whittington of Eastland and Austin, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Butler, Eastland, and the late Dr. H. D. Whittington, to Mr. John Ralph Griffin, Jr., Oakland, California, took place at the bride's home in Eastland.

Reverend Philip W. Walker, pastor of the Methodist Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the family and college friends of the bride before an improvised altar of fern and calla lilies. Tall cathedral candles on the mantle formed a background.

Marene Johnson played throughout the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Butler. She wore a three button, navy blue file suit, with a white felt tricorne hat and matching accessories. Her only flowers was a large white orchid.

Miss Helen Butler was her sister's only attendant. Her dress was a navy blue and yellow crepe-ton suit, with matching shoes and bag. She wore a corsage of Finch rosebuds.

The bride's mother wore an aqua blue dress and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mr. R. B. Bacon, Austin, attended Mr. Griffin as best man. A reception was held after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with an antique Quaker lace, raw silk and linen cloth. A cornucopia crystal vase and reflector flanked on either side by crystal candle holders centered the table. Lilies of the valley were used on the table, which also held a three tiered wedding cake and a punch bowl. Large vases with white gladiolus decorated the reception rooms.

Mrs. Rosa Connelley Graves, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, Mrs. Eddie Horrigan, Mrs. Hamilton E. McRae and Mrs. Earle Throne presided at the table, with Mrs. O. F. Chastain at the guests book. Mrs. J. K. Richardson, Mrs. Robert Hall, Mrs. E. L. McKinney and Miss Louise Kirkland assisted in the dining room.

Test Determines Spelling Ability

AUSTIN, Tex.—How's your spelling? If you can rewrite this short story from dictation and miss fewer than eight words, Dr. L. L. Click, professor of English at the University of Texas classes you as an excellent speller.

"An irreligious peddler and an embarrassed cobbler were harassed by bulletins charging that they kidnaped a bottle of asafetida to inoculate some picnicking acquaintances against catarrh.

"Your innuendo is sacrilegious," spied the peddler, fingering a woolly queue which he used to camouflage his skull.

"I saw the thief, a traveler in the cemetery, reveling in the symmetry of the obelisks."

"His alibi seemed impregnable enough to supersede legal procedure; so the sheriff recommended that the belliff release him."

"This plaguy, desiccated and rarefied air will give him a hemorrhage anyway," he said.

If you miss more than 20 words you need a dictionary, Dr. Click said.

Buying Of Saving Bonds On Increase

AUSTIN, Tex.—Purchase of savings bonds is the latest piece of information added to the jig-saw puzzle of Texas business assembled each month by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports to the Bureau from 32 Texas cities show purchases for the first four months of 1940 totaled $3,531,525, or 43.5 per cent more than during the first third of 1939.

During April, purchases of these securities in these cities totaled $756,198, a gain of 53.7 per cent over April, 1939. Texas bought 43.5 per cent more during the first four months of 1940 than in the like period of 1939.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the great kindness and beautiful floral offerings during the illness and death of our husband and father.

Mrs. M. W. McMinn and Family.

The First Dollar Is the Hardest to Earn—

Do you remember your first dollar and how hard you had to work for it? This is likewise true of every first venture. When Lindbergh sailed across the Atlantic for the first time it must have taken courage, faith and will power possessed by few young Americans, before or since. Now it is no feat at all to do what he did, because he has shown that it can be done.

And buying a home for the first time is a venture in a small way. It takes a little courage and faith to launch out and make the try, but when once done, statistics show a remarkable record of successes. So if you have a hard time saving money and getting ahead, try home ownership. What multiplied thousands of others have done, you can do by making the start today.

Judge Funderburk Is Drafted By a Group of Lawyers

Judge O. C. Funderburk of the Eleventh Court of Civil Appeals of Eastland has been drafted by a group of Dallas lawyers as a possible candidate for the State Supreme Court.

Action of the lawyers was taken at Dallas Monday, when the name of Judge Funderburk was filed and the $100 filing fee was posted.

In commenting on action of the Dallas lawyers, Judge Funderburk said, "For me it is a tremendously important decision to make. I am having great difficulty in convincing myself that I can afford to make the race. In fact I haven't yet succeeded in doing so. I am greatly pleased, of course, but my chief reaction is surprise that so many of all kinds of lawyers and judges of Texas, who so far as I can see could have no personal or selfish interest in the matter, seem to think that I possess some exceptional qualifications to be Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court."

"I only hope their judgment is not too greatly at fault. No other basis than one of qualification for this high post in the public service could tempt me for a moment to enter the race."

Neil Day Files for Land Commissioner

Neil Day, 33-year-old business man of Eastland, Monday filed his candidacy for State Land Commissioner by calling at the office of the State Democratic chairman and paying the $100 filing fee. In announcing against the incumbent, Day said in a statement:

"The present administration of the Land Office, especially in the handling of the State school lands, is the worst in the history of the department. It has fallen millions of dollars short of the revenue paid into the State Permanent School Fund in previous years.

The present Commissioner has gambled with public school lands by refusing to take high cash for oil leases but, instead, took high royalty bids, after he had campaigned against that very thing when he was a candidate."

Day said that he had never before run for office and pointed out that his opponent has been a "life-long holder of public office, having been on the public payroll for 21 years, starting when he was only 17 years old."

Born in Eastland County, Day has spent his entire life in Texas

The smiling gentleman congratulating the girls is none other than Ranny Weeks, nationally popular band leader, currently appearing at the Rice Top Deck, Houston. The occasion marks the third annual observance of the opening of the iced coffee and tea season.

The event is to be observed nationally throughout the coming weeks. Coffee growers of the leading coffee producing countries will send special samples of their coffees by air express to this country, where the coffees will be and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Day, have been life long residents of Eastland. Day attended public schools, attended Texas Military College, business college and Hardin-Simmons University. He has a wide acquaintance over the State and declares that he has made a study of public school lands and living in an oil section—he is familiar with oil, an important qualification as much of the work of the Land Commissioner is in connection with leasing school lands for oil development.

Day plans an intensive speaking campaign which will take him into every section of the State.
