RUSSIANS ROLL BACK NAZI IN NORTH, SOUTH

LONDON, Sept. 30. (UP)—

Two Red Armies, more than 400 miles distant from each other, have reached a point only 110 miles from the old Polish border in the north, and 210 miles from the border of Rumania in the south. A third army occupied an island in the Dnieper River only a quarter of a mile from Kiev, the Russians announced today.

In the north the Red Army advanced halfway from Smolensk to Vitebsk by capturing the town of Rudnya on the eighty-mile railway line between these two cities. Despite rain soaked roads, the Soviets advanced more than nine miles, killing 1,000 Germans, capturing much war material and occupying 120 towns and hamlets.

Premier Joseph Stalin, in one of two orders of the day, called Rudnya, ten miles from the northern border of White Russia on the rail line that leads to Riga, a powerful enemy stronghold and a center of communications in the Vitebsk direction.

At Kiev the Russians burst through German defense lines to capture the bridgehead fortifications of Trochynsk Island, a river bastion directly in front of central Kiev. The river is 1,400 feet wide at this point.

In the advance the Russians also captured Darnitsa. The communique said they killed more than 6,000 Germans and destroyed sixty nine tanks and seventy eight guns.

"Remnants of routed German troops were hurled onto the right (west) bank of the river," it said. "Our troops, capturing the enemy bridgehead fortifications in this district came out directly onto the Dnieper River in front of the town of Kiev."

The third major gain of the day was the capture of Kremenchug, on the east bank of the Dnieper River between Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk.

After a great three day battle by eight Soviet divisions and swarms of Soviet fighter planes the Russians captured the town, Stalin said in one of his orders of the day.

"Remnants of routed German troops were hurled back onto the other side of the Dnieper River. Many trophies were captured," added the Soviet communique. "The enemy hurled reserves into this district and attempted by all means to hold bridgehead fortifications on the left bank of the Dnieper."

Kremenchug is a rail junction 160 miles east of Kiev, eighty three miles northwest of Dnepropetrovsk. It is at the east end of the only Dnieper bridge in the area.

There were indications the Soviets had crossed the Dnieper at least with advanced units, for the German high command communique said "new attempts on the enemy's part to gain ground in some places on the middle Dnieper on the western bank failed."

EASTLAND COUNTY OVER TOP IN WAR BOND DRIVE

The following message has been addressed to the people of Eastland County by Cyrus B. Frost, county chairman for the sale of War Bonds and Stamps.

Eastland, Texas, Sept. 29, 1943.

Dear Editor: At the close of business, Saturday, September 25, 1943, Eastland County passed its quota of $597,300.00 for the Third War Loan Drive. On today, Wednesday, the 29th, every town in the county has passed its quota except three of the smaller ones and they say they will have reached the same by Saturday night, October 2, 1943.

Unofficially, Cisco, Ranger and Eastland have raised their quotas from $145,000.00 each to $200,000.00 and it looks like they will all have reached this goal by the end of Saturday. Carbon, Rising Star, Gorman and Pioneer have also passed their quotas and they are heading for new goals.

It now looks as if the county will sell at least $750,000.00. This will exceed quota by twenty-five per cent. This is a wonderful showing, the details of which will come forward in next week's paper when returns are all in.

Your County Chairman has an out of county subscription of $50,000.00 from a corporation that has been doing business in this county for more than half a century. This subscription is being allocated to the entire county and I will disclose the name of this corporation making this contribution at the close of the campaign Saturday, October 2nd.

Lions Hear Talk By Cpl. White Of The U. S. Marines

Eastland Lions Tuesday heard a talk by Cpl. Mack L. White on some of his experiences as a United States Marine. He was on the program presented by Lion H. M. Tanner. His talk was very interesting. After finishing his talk, he answered many questions asked by members, always cautioning to not say anything or give forbidden information.

Cpl. White, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. White of Eastland, has been in the Marines 18 months and has seen service on Guadalcanal and numerous other outposts. He is a trainer of dogs for sentinel duty and gave some of his experiences with these animals when on active duty.

During the several months he was on Guadalcanal and other islands White said he met only one Eastland county boy, Pete McCoy of Eastland.

Lion Ernest Jones, called upon by Lion President Van Hoy, gave a report on the district meeting of Lions club here Tuesday night of last week at which Zone chairman Norman Houston of Cisco presided and which was attended by Joe Childress of Abilene, district governor. Each club in the district was fully represented at the Eastland meeting.

Next week's program will be in charge of Herbert Weaver while the following week W. G. Womack will have charge.

Seven members were reported absent at Tuesday's meeting some of which were also absent at the meeting for the previous week.

Eastland Gets Needed Rains

Eastland and vicinity received rain Wednesday night amounting to one-half inch, which, added to one-fourth of an inch that had fallen earlier in the week brought the total for the week to three-fourths of an inch.

Reports from other sections of the County gave the fall as being a little heavier than at Eastland and indicated that the rain was spotted.

Late feed, gardens, shade trees, orchards and shrubbery will be benefited by the rain, and possibly stock water will be replenished in some sections.

WRECK HARBOR BUT FAIL TO QUELL REVOLT OF ITALIANS

(Sept. 30, 1943.) Allied fifth army troops fought forward today in a pounding drive for Naples and indirect reports from Berlin said German troops had fled the wrecked, rebellion-torn city in fear of a sea and land trap.

Dispatches from the Reich capital to Stockholm quoted a Nazi military spokesman that the Germans had given up Naples after wrecking the harbor and trying to quell a revolt of Italians inside the city who were preparing for a new Allied landing.

German units slowed the march for Naples with extensive demolitions and shellfire, holding up the American and British troops pushing across flat country from the south and southwest.

Coincidentally other Stockholm advices asserted the Russian situation had become so bad for the Germans Adolf Hitler had rushed to the front and ordered his armies to stop their retreat at the Dnieper River.

The Russians were battling to spring across one of the last natural barriers east of the old Polish border.

While the fifth army advanced in a slow but sure investment of Naples, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army on the eastern side of Italy took a 22-mile stride to capture Manfredonia on the east coast scarcely 100 miles from the Dalmatian coast of the Balkans.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS in North Africa (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his ranking commanders have held a council of war with Marshal Pietro Badoglio on means for the Italians to exert the most effective military effort against the Germans, it was announced today.

LONDON, (UP)—The Evening News, in a report credited to a "Fareis Redie," said today that "at this moment the British fleet is bombarding Naples." The report was not confirmed by an Allied source.

Casualty Total Is Announced

WASHINGTON (UP)—American casualties in the North African theater—including Sicily and Italy—from the original landings on Sicily on July 10 to Sept. 15 have numbered slightly less than 12,000 killed, wounded and missing, according to the Henry L. Sulzberg said today.

WOMAN IS INJURED

Mrs. Thomas P. Eaton of Oakland, California, sustained a broken back early Sunday morning when the automobile in which she and her husband were driving from their home in Oakland to Texarkana, Texas, left the highway and went into a ditch about three miles west of Eastland on Highway 80. An ambulance from the Hamner Funeral Home in Eastland brought her to Eastland and later took her on to Texarkana.

The Methodist Broadcaster
Weekly News Of
First Methodist Church
J. Daniel Barron Pastor

The Methodist Church, during the month of August, contributed to World Service $240,822, an increase of $105,680 over that period a year ago. The last three months the increase has gained 29 percent over the same period last year. During those three months $533,976 were contributed. It is inspiring to know that at a time when every American is being urged to give financial support to the war effort, Methodists increase their contributions to World Service by almost one third.

LOCAL WORLD SERVICE
First Methodist is coming along well with its support of World Service. This year it accepted an increase in its quota, which amounts to $872. That is well on its way to being paid. The people have been unusually cooperative. ONE FLOCK

The theme of the Sunday morning worship service will be "One Flock with One Shepherd". The choir will be in its place and lead us in worship. We are looking forward to this hour. Throughout the world Christians will join in a world wide communion service. May we share this service with you.

SECOND SERVICE
The second service will begin at eight in the evening. The light of the Bible, as best we can, will be turned upon some living issue. Your presence will be a benediction to us and we are persuaded it will be one to you.

U. S. Army's Chief of Staff

World-wide commander-in-chief of all Anglo-American armed forces may be the assignment for U. S. chief-of-staff Gen. George C. Marshall if Washington rumors blossom into fact. This unprecedented field command would go to the V. M. I. graduate (1901) who served in the Philippines (1902, 1915), as aide to Pershing in World War I, and in China (1924-27). General Marshall, pictured above with his two Washington bosses and his wife, has been the Army's chief of staff since 1939.

The instruments on a Thunderbolt will register a speed no greater than 600 miles an hour and some engineers hold that a plane cannot fly faster than the speed of sound, (about 735 miles an hour, but intelligence officers here said Knapp exceeded the record of 780 miles an hour made last spring by a test pilot in another P-47.

Attempt Made To Derail M. K. T. Train Near Carbon

The Eastland County sheriff's department was notified Tuesday morning that the crew of an M. K. & T. Ry. freight train had found a cross tie across the track a short distance east of Carbon. Sheriff John Hart, accompanied by a deputy, went to the scene and started an investigation. He stated that the heavy cross tie had been placed across the track in such a manner that had a moving train struck it much damage would have been done and the train possibly derailed.

Fighter Pilot Attains Fastest Speed By Man

A THUNDERBOLT BASE — somewhere in England, Sept. 28, (UP)—Possibly the fastest speed ever attained by man, believed by intelligence officers here to have been 840 miles an hour, was achieved accidentally Monday over Em den, Germany, by the young American pilot of a Thunderbolt fighter. Second Lieut. Robert H. Knapp Norwich, N. Y., had the experience and lived to describe how it felt.

A Yank team mate had dived to pounce on a German fighter. "I started down after him," Knapp said. "I gave Perey—that's my plane—full throttle and pointed the nose straight down. At about 17,000 feet I tried to pull out, but nothing happened. "I thought about bailing out, but knew I would be killed if I tried it at that speed. "I didn't remember any noise—just a sensation of increasing speed and seeing the earth coming up to me. I couldn't even jxad the stick. "But at about 10,000 feet the plane started coming out of the dive, gradually. I didn't black out at all. It took about 5,000 feet more to really level off." When Knapp returned to this base it was found the paint was

Chicago's Long Awaited Subway To Be Opened

By PHILIP WECK United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO (UP)—After 76 years of waiting, planning and hoping, Chicago finally will open its subway to the public Oct. 17. Unless something else come up, elaborate ceremonies will make the formal opening Saturday, Oct. 16, and the first fare-paying passengers will ride through the tubes the following day.

And something else may come up, of course, as it has for 76 long fight for a subway has been tragicomic of misfirings and delays since two years after the Civil War.

Back in 1867 when the world's first subway, in London, had been going only four years, a tunnel was built beneath the Chicago River at Washington St. for cable cars. Engineers and city fathers believed it would be the first part of a city-wide subway.

Then, while the people waited, authorities forgot about it. In 1909 another subway plan was presented. Nothing happened. Nor did anything happen to the plans presented in 1912, 1916, 1923 and 1930.

Finally, in 1937, a workable presentation was put into operation. The government, through PWA, contributed 118,000,000. Dec. 18, 1938, bands played, people alternately cheered and shivered in unseasonal cold, Secretary Harold Ickes made a speech and Mayor Edward J. Kelly pressed his foot on a silver-plate spade. The first ground for the subway actually had been broken.

Oct. 30, 1939, the plans were altered. Nov. 26 1940, they were enlarged further, and an additional $5,000,000 was granted by the government.

Then came the war. Materials vanished; so did workmen. The Chicago subway couldn't get a priority. In despair citizens spoke of using the empty tubes as air-raid shelters.

WAKE UP, AMERICA!

Would An Anglo-American Alliance Insure Lasting Peace?

As debated by

Henry Noble Hall
Veteran British and American
Newspaperman, Authority on International Affairs

John T. Flynn
Writer, Economist, Lecturer and Columnist

MR. HALL OPENS: As an Englishman it would be highly improper for me to express any opinion as to what the American people ought to do about strengthening the bonds forged and welded on the battle-fields of two wars in one generation. That is their business, not mine. But a man would have to be a fool to deny the fact that an alliance between the United States and the British Empire would ensure peace on earth and good will to men. The English speaking world is at this very moment proving that when united it attracts to itself and brings within its orbit all the peace-loving and liberty-loving peoples of the world, and can crush any combination of anti-democratic forces. It would include one-quarter of the population of the earth and one-quarter of the land surface of the globe, it would command the seas and the air, it would contain most of the raw materials of the world, three-fourths of its industrial production and more than one-half of its food. It would be truly one world—it would have a common language, faith, and a common belief in Man and in his right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

MR. FLYNN CHALLENGES: Mr. Hall's outline makes a good blueprint for world dominion. It would control "most of the raw materials of the world, three-fourths of its industrial production, half its food." "We" will be united by a common language and common faith. The rest of the world will be expected to hunker under this dose. But the vast peoples ruled by this alliance do not have a common language or faith. They contain far more Mohammedans than Christians and more people talking countless alien dialects than those who speak English. Mr. Hall lumps all the peoples together when he talks of "our" resources. When he talks of our common faith and language, he leaves out two-thirds of the human beings.

MR. HALL REPLIES: Power does not mean domination. To have a giant's strength is not to use it as a giant. Only because it would have the power an alliance could guarantee permanent peace. If there is to be a better world other nations will be expected to "swallow" the Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter. That is the condition upon which they will be given access to our raw materials. As for the peoples within the alliance, surely it is only upon those of constant faith and language that the burden of civilization and of preserving peace will fall.

Humanitarian Aim of Commandments Is Key to a Better World Tomorrow

Lesson Text: Matthew 5: 17-20; 19: 16-22; John 5: 39, 40

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

THE aim of the lessons of this last quarter of the year is "to help the student to interpret the Ten Commandments in the light of the teaching of Jesus and to apply them in personal life and in social relationships."

Such interpretation is necessary, for though moral principles and the rules governing good relationships in social life do not change, the conditions and the problems to which they must be applied do change, and the form and manner of their application must be adapted accordingly.

Sabbath observance, for instance, in a great modern city must be different in form, if not in spirit, from Sabbath observance in a small rural community, or in primitive conditions like those in which the Israelites were situated when the Commandments were given.

To attempt to apply the same rule with literal exactness in a modern city would involve great hardship and suffering, and it was just this that the Commandments were designed to prevent.

The whole purpose of the Commandments was humanitarian, and this ought to be the purpose of all laws and moral codes. But laws and rules tend to become crystallized apart from their purpose; outward observance tends to become of more importance than what the law or the rule was designed to prevent or to achieve.

Jesus saw this, and with His accustomed realism He gave the Commandments positive expression. It was not enough to refrain from doing certain things; the Commandments could be fulfilled only in loving one's neighbor as one's self. Thus it was that the young man who had observed all the Commandments from his youth up still lacked one thing. His heart was set on his great possessions, for when the test came he loved them more than he loved God or his fellowmen.

How many of us, even if our possessions are small, would emerge successfully from a test like that? Yet the first and great Commandment is that one should love God with all the heart, soul, mind and strength; and the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

Examine the Commandments of the Mosaic Law in the light of this over-all teaching, and note how essentially they are designed to establish that sort of love in family and social relationships. Could one love his neighbor and seek to steal from him, or do anything mean or spiteful against him?

The principles laid down in the Ten Commandments, as interpreted by Jesus, emphasizing the interpretation of the Jewish law itself—for Jesus did not invent the Commandment to love one's neighbor—are at the very foundation of prosperity, justice, and welfare.

We shall never have real peace, or a true democracy, until these principles are recognized and practiced. It is futile to talk of a better tomorrow for the world unless men are going to be better themselves in practicing justice with one another, and in studying ways of mutual helpfulness.

True life, for the individual and for society, is in seeking God's way; and God's way is the way of love to man.
