HUNTING BANS SLACKENED IN MANY STATES

CHICAGO (UP)—Veteran hunters with quick trigger-fingers and amateurs with too many thumbs, all short on red ration points, can start shooting, according to the Council of State Governments.

Greatly increased wild game, consequent increased crop damage and the shortage of meat from normal channels has brought nationwide liberalization of hunting laws, the council said.

Deer, elk, bear, rabbits, fowl and other game provide the nation with 250,000,000 pounds of meat a year, the council said. It summed up the hunting situation like this:

Complaints that game has damaged crops have increased. The complaints are directed especially at deer and elk in Western states, deer in Great Lakes states and northern Great Plains states. Wisconsin has paid farmers $10,000 to $15,000 annually since 1939 for damage by deer and bears.

The hunting season has been lengthened in many areas. Twenty five New York counties announced open season on deer, allowing hunters to shoot deer of both sexes for the first time in 25 years. Only exception was a limited season in one county in 1941.

The Colorado game and fish department extended the antlered (male) deer and elk season to 4 weeks and doubled the pheasant and quail season to two weeks and four days. Wisconsin fixed a four-day open season in several central and southern counties where crop damage by deer was excessive.

A scarcity of ammunition will hamper new hunters, but most veterans bought it by the case and have stocks on hand.

The "bag limit" on small game has been increased particularly in the West and in the Great Lakes region.

Michigan increased the daily bag of pheasants from six to eight and Minnesota from three to four. Colorado increased the daily cottontail rabbit limit from eight to 15, and Michigan from three to five.

Quack, Henry, the barrel. A circus trainer certainly needed one recently. Emil Pallenberg Jr., was minus part of his trousers when one of his performing bears took a swipe at him during a circus performance. The bear carried away a portion of Pallenberg's pants on its paw.

MOVEMENTS AN EFFORTS TO WIN APPROACHES TO RABAU

Thursday, Oct. 28, 1943
Allied amphibious forces, undoubtedly American, were reported by the Japanese today to have landed on Mono Island in a 70-mile overwater jump to outflank the last major enemy base in the Solomons and win the southeastern approaches to Rabaul.

A report by radio Tokyo indicated the landing occurred after American flyers had knocked out three enemy airfields in pounding attacks against Buin, on Bougainville island, northernmost of the Solomons, and Buin-Paisi, just south of Bougainville.

At the same time, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said 58 more enemy planes had been destroyed in a crushing raid on Rabaul, the New Britain base which forms the hub for the enemy's southern Pacific out post.

Although Rabaul's many ack-ack defense made their mark on several of the bombers, only one went down. And six members of its crew were picked up at sea.

Nearly all the escorting lightnings had to turn back because of a storm over New Britain. So it was up to the heavies to do their own fighting as well as bombing.

Zeros hit the bombers about ten minutes off the target. The Liberators then were leaving the coasting of near-by New Ireland. One Liberator made its bombing run on two engines, managing to get a third going later. Heavy anti-aircraft fire and seventy intercepting fighters were employed in futile enemy attempts to break up the formations.

The nose turret on another Liberator went out of commission, although the plane was not hit, and Bombardier Lieut James Gaddis of White Plains, N. Y., dropped his bombs by a virtual thumb and lost sighting method.

"It was like shooting at somebody in a dark room," Gaddis said.

Forty-three Jap planes were damaged in addition to those destroyed. One hundred and seventy-seven planes were knocked out in a 350-ton strike there Oct. 12. Sixty more were destroyed Oct. 18. Raids Oct. 23 and 24, destroyed 123 others and probable destroyed an additional forty-eight. The Oct. 12 total of 177 included at least 126 destroyed.

City Officials Warn Beer Not To Eat Out Lights

City officials are getting complaints that boys are shooting out electric lights on Eastland streets and information is furnished showing that considerable damage is being caused in this manner.

Warnings are being issued to the effect that this practice must stop or measures will be taken by the City to stop it.

Also attention is called to the fact that youngsters are reminded to not soap up and otherwise mar windows on Halloween as the scarcity of labor makes it difficult to have windows cleaned.

Buy Higher Analysis Fertilizers

Farmers purchasing mixed fertilizer can save money at the same time contribute substantially to the war effort by buying higher analysis fertilizers, according to War Food Administration officials. Higher analysis fertilizers will cost more per 100 pounds than those of lower plant food content, but the cost per pound of plant food is lower. To help the fertilizer program, farmers should apply for fertilizer needed for fall and next spring as soon as possible and take delivery of it during the fall and winter months.

Can Still Send Some Gifts

Christmas packages for soldiers overseas which have been returned to the sender because of an improper address still may be mailed according to the War Department. The original wrapper, bearing the indorsement, "Return to Sender, Insufficient Address," must be submitted with the correctly addressed package to insure that it originally was mailed before the October 17 deadline. Christmas packages also may be mailed to soldiers serving overseas between now and Christmas. When the sender presents his package to the post office for mailing he must bring the Change of Address Form containing the APO address to which the package is being sent.

Return Ration Books in Mail

Finders of lost ration books may drop them in the mail without prepaying postage or enclosing them in envelopes, according to OPA. On payment of a five-cent postage due charge, the Post Office Department will return the lost book to the person whose name and address appear on the cover. When the addressee cannot be found, the post office will forward the book to the nearest rationing board.

To Collect: Old Clothing, Rags

A nation-wide collection campaign for discarded clothing, used fabrics, and rags is being planned to meet heavy industrial and military requirements for wiping cloths, according to WFB. Officials emphasized that they do not want clothes that the owner will wear again or can use. The discarded clothing also will be used for local relief and rehabilitation purposes abroad. Materials collected will be separated and classified for best possible use. It is expected that the collection program will be handled by individual states and communities.

Urges Farmers to Collect Scrap

In support of the all-out "Victory Scrap Bank" drive to collect iron and steel scrap, Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, has urged farmers to comb their farms for all possible scrap. Pointing out that next to industry, the greatest source of heavy scrap is the American farm, Mr. Jones said in his history. However, if we are to insure ample steel for wartime production, millions of tons of scrap iron and steel must come from our farms in the next six weeks.

CLEVELAND IS EAGER FOR '44 GOP MEETING

CLEVELAND, (UP)—Cleveland hotels are receiving applications for reservations today from many groups which believe that the Republican national convention may be held here next year, as it was in 1936.

The reservations, "when and if" basis, are for all kinds of accommodations—from a single room with shower to large suites. One application asked for 10 rooms in addition to temporary conversion of the ladies' "powder room" into an office.

Hotel officials said all applications would be treated with "due consideration" despite the fact that Cleveland may see the convention go to Chicago, with the Office of Defense Transportation contends is more centrally located.

A committee headed by Frank J. Lausche, mayor of Cleveland, recently went to Washington in an effort to convince Republican party leaders that the convention is best suited for Cleveland, with its spacious public auditorium.

Although the 1936 convention was held here, GOP leaders usually frown on holding the important sessions in a state which has a "favorite son" as Presidential hopeful. Ohio has Gov. John W. Bricker again, as in 1940.

One of the stout supporters of Cleveland for the convention next year is Wendell Wilkie, who was nominated by the Republicans in 1940 in Philadelphia. "Old Guard" GOP'ers would be expected to oppose Wilkie's wishes, however, in the matter.

The 1936 convention brought approximately 25,000 "outsiders" to Cleveland who spent between $500,000 and $1,000,000 in "new money" during their stay of about two weeks. The Great Lakes Exposition, in progress at the time, received a big boost.

But the 1944 convention, no matter where it is held, probably will be streamlined to conform to wartime restrictions on travel, housing and hotel facilities, food and other necessary accommodations. It may be that alternate delegates will stay home.

Cleveland's big Republican businessmen would be expected to contribute at least $125,000 in order to help to bring the convention here next year. The subscription in 1936 totaled $150,000 and in 1937 $50,000 realized through the sale of the convention books.

The Republican National Committee meets early next year to decide which city is to hold the convention. Meanwhile, Cleveland city officials plan to keep up a steady campaign to have the session here.

War Manpower Ills Discussed At Meeting Mon.

A group of local employers attended the War Manpower Commission meeting held in the County Court Room in Eastland, Texas, Monday night and heard a discussion of the Employment Stabilization Program for this area.

The meeting was held for the purpose of providing information interpretation of the War Manpower Commission Program designed to reduce labor turn-over in essential activities. A feature of this meeting was the questions asked by local employers on how "Statements of Availability" could be used and when these statements should be given to workers seeking to change jobs.

John Griffin from the United States Employment Service in Abilene, Texas, strongly urged local employers not to offer employment to persons now in other essential work. He also emphasized that a worker should not secure a statement of availability who simply quit a job to seek other employment without regard to the Nation at War Effort. Local employers were particularly interested in War Manpower Regulation regarding the hiring of farmers for non-agricultural work. It was stressed that it was the desire of the WMC that agricultural workers be used in Eastland Co., for non-agricultural work to the greatest extent possible where such use would not curtail food production. It was stated that the Government did not favor agricultural workers leaving Eastland County for distant war plants.

Alameda 4-H Club Organizes For The Current Year

At a recent meeting of the Alameda 4-H Club, organization for the year completed and Carlton Lee was elected president.

Hand books for use in the years work were distributed by Floyd Lynch, county agent and a report was filed. The club pledge, prayer and motto were repeated by those attending and it was announced that a talk on hog demonstrations will be given at the next meeting by Junior Love. Each member is requested to bring a new member to the next regular meeting.

It Is Not Just An Accident

...that Eastland enjoys one of the lowest fire records in Texas. Usually, it is the fire department, or the City Commission, or both, that get the credit and they deserve all the credit they get, but without the co-operation of the individual, no town could have a good fire record. Elimination of the common fire hazard found everywhere yields results worth thousands of dollars. Here they are defective electric wiring, faulty stoves, greasy rags, and mops, rats and mice, weeds and grass, and the worst, the careless smoker. Do you have any of these hazards in or near your home?

SAYS POSTWAR AIR MIRACLES DAY-DREAMING

DETROIT. (UP)—The day of and airport caller ushering people aboard a "Valdivostok special by way of the Arctic Circle air route" is a long way off and we are only indulging in impractical day-dreaming when we believe that such a miracle lies around the corner when peace returns, according to C. Badell Monro, president of Pennsylvania-Central Airlines.

He condemned "irresponsible utterances" which misled people into believing a Jules Verne world will follow immediately after the war and added that the super-plane is a product of aviation "crystal-gazers."

Explaining that his statements should not be considered as pessimistic or lacking in vision, the PCA president predicted no immediate changes in air travel and insisted that the public be given the facts of what it may expect from post war aviation.

The aviation executive outlined cost and design problems of a projected super plane. If a luxury-liner could be built to carry 153 passengers from New York to London in 10 hours, at a cost of $100 per passenger, he explained, it would require at least 25,000 horse power and cost two and one-third times as much per ton mile to operate as any plane today.

ODT Approval Is Required For New Truck Operations

All truck operators in the nation today were forbidden by Joseph B. Eastman Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, to inaugurate new truck operations or extend present routes or delivery areas without obtaining prior approval of the ODT. The action was taken in Amendments to three of ODT's General Orders.

The Amendments, which are effective immediately, forbid any motor carrier to increase his mileage by extending his operations into areas or over routes not now served by the carrier.

All truck operators performing over-the-road, local cartage and pick-up-and-delivery operations are affected.

A VARIETY IN GIFTS

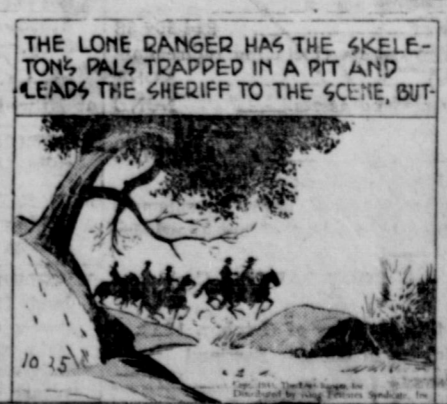

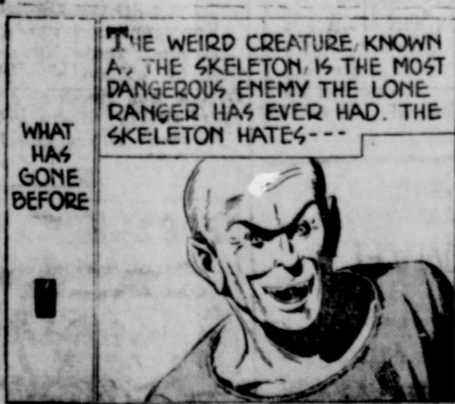

SHREVEPORT, La. (UP)—Some soldiers serving overseas will get some unusual—but useful—Christmas gifts this year.

MORAL ATMOSPHERE

"The Function of Moral Atmosphere" will be our Sunday morning sermon topic. Our great choir, directed by Miss Wilda Drago, again will lead us in worship through music, singing an anthem. Last Sunday morning the anthem was superb. The congregation was a little larger than usual. We expect a great day Sunday. Share it with us.

LAST SUNDAY

Sunday will bring to a close our conference year. The annual conference will open Tuesday evening and continue through Friday noon at the First Church, Fort Worth. We seek to make the last services for the year most joyous ones. Your presence will increase our happiness.

GOOD YEAR

On every hand the people are saying the year has been a good one. Sixty-two have united with the church. Sunday the pastor will have preached in 85 worship services this year. Considering the size of our resident membership, our congregations have been fairer than large. The total amount expended for local expenses, world service, woman's work, church school and church debt, will exceed $8,573.00. Only a small per cent of the money raised has been solicited personally. This is a wholesome spirit in the church. The pastor and his family have been happy in their work and the many kindnesses of the people will be remembered and treasured always.

NOT PERFECT

As Churchill said, it is a poor heart that never takes time to rejoice. We do that over the successes which have blessed our fellowship in the church this year. However, we have not done all things well nor have we attained unto perfection. Many of our members are spiritually dead and many others are spiritually ill. Whatever spiritual interests and activities they have are outside the church to which they pledged their love and loyalty. We as pastor and people active in the church have failed to enlist these people in our working fellowship. They stand willingly and in some cases rebelliously outside their church and unresponsively in the presence of all its services. This is partly the fault of their church, though, in the main, it is their responsibility. We pray for them. With all the short-comings we honestly try to do them good. They stand along with their kindred spirit, those out of the membership of any church, as something to keep us humble in all our work and ever conscious of our own limitations.

PROFANITY

"The Curse of Profanity" will be the sermon subject in the second service Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Profanity, once the sure mark of a low brow, now is characteristic of the highbrow. It is not because the lowbrow has been lifted to the level of the highbrow. The reason is that highbrow has descended to level of the lowbrow. Profanity is both a symptom of spiritual disease and a spiritual disease. Why not drop in and think with us about this significant thing which has come to plague mankind.

BUILDING FUND

At the present writing, noon Tuesday, the building fund is near being paid. You may still have time to do your part, if you have not, before someone does it for you. We thank all the people for their unusual response to this item.

WORLD SERVICE

At noon Tuesday the world service item stood $178 short. There are sacrificial contributions made to this work which we think of as the heart of the church. Will you think of the $872 and then of what you have given ($5, $10, or $15) and then ask yourself if what you have done really is your part? If you think so, and you alone must decide, well and good. But if you feel you can and should go more on this item, kindly do so, for we need it. If you do not do your part someone else will have to do more than their part to make up for your failure. We know you would not want that to be true of you.

BUDGET

It now looks like—and just think of it!—your local budget will be paid out in the regular offering Sunday. This will come to you—an unheard of thing! If the people remember Sunday to put in their offerings not only for Sunday but also for the following Sunday which belongs in this conference year but comes after the conference and the reports are in. Really Sunday is finish-up day. If you have paid 20 on your $24 for the year, Sunday is the time to wipe out the $4 balance. If you have paid nothing on your annual contribution, Sunday is the last opportunity for you to settle up with your conscience on that score. You can hardly make a regular

YOUNG ADULTS

The Young Adult Fellowship for young adults under 35 years of age is coming along in a most satisfactory manner. It has met three times. It had five new members Sunday! It meets at 9:45 in the old Booster room. The young adults are themselves working out the things they will study and the things they will do. They are trying to carry on a program which will meet their own interests and needs as young adults. If you belong in this group we shall be happy to see you Sunday morning. The fellowship does not seek to draw members from other classes in the church. It seeks to enlist and build up a great group of young adults who are not in any group in the church now.

CHURCH SCHOOL

Our church school is prepared to do constructive work this year. We have an excellent corps of officers and teachers. The school is properly organized. We have rich literature to aid us in our studies and activities. It remains for us now to make the most of our opportunities. If you or your child or youth are not in the school you would do well to attend to the matter, beginning next Sunday morning.

City-Slickers Solve Rancher's Labor Shortage

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—One Texas rancher has solved his own manpower shortage—by using city slickers for his wartime round-up.

G. Fred Watson had 100 Hereford cattle that needed to be branded and dehorned. But getting hired help on a job like that is now practically an impossibility, he decided.

So, Watson turned to employer to host and invited his friends out to demonstrate their cow-punching ability.

The volunteers—including policemen, ex-rodio performers and war workers—started appearing about sunrise, ready to put foot to stirrup and man a branding iron.

Watson got his Herefords branded and dehorned; his friends had a fine time in the open; and possibly only the cattle were displeased with the day's work.

Regent Schemes To Keep His Cook

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—University of Texas regent Dan Harrison evidently believes in the old adage that there are more ways to kill a cat than by choking it to death with butter.

So, he reasons, there must be more than one way to keep a good cook.

He hired an attorney to defend his Negro cook in a defrauding case. She was charged with defrauding the Veteran's Administration of $5,500 by posing as the widow of a soldier in the last war.

Little Lamb Has Nothing On Yarn

AMARILLO, Tex. (UP)—Mary whose little lamb came trailing after, has nothing on one Amarillo woman, whose yarn came raveling after.

She had taken her knitting into a drug store recently to wait for a bus. When someone told her the bus was coming, she grabbed up her knitting and hurried down the street—with a long string of yarn unraveling behind her. She had left a ball of yarn in the drug store.

A man stepped up the ball and ran after her. He stopped her just as she was getting on the bus and together they re-wound the yarn strung along the street.

Dog Named Trouble Live Up To Name

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—A black Cocker Spaniel called "Trouble" has lived up to his name.

His owner, 15-year-old Bobby Summer, nearly drowned because of trouble with "Trouble."

The boy with his pet was fishing from an old leaky boat in Oakland Lake. Striking out for shore Bobby was doing fine until "Trouble" started climbing aboard his shoulders and pushing him under. Bobby had forgotten that "Trouble" was afraid of water.

He was going under for the third time when a man who had been fishing from the bank rescued him.

Bobby had to be revived by artificial respiration and sent home in an ambulance.

Helium Plant Named For Navajo Indians

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (UP)—The U. S. Bureau of Mines announced recently that it is developing a new helium plant on the Navajo Indian Reservation and has named the Navajo Helium plant in recognition of the fine cooperation shown by the Navajo Indians.

The new plant is under construction on the old Rattlesnake Field in the northeastern part of Arizona. Plans call for a pipeline from the field to a railroad spur where the helium will be put into tanks.

At present the only source of helium in the United States is the Amarillo, Tex., field. It is expected the new plant will greatly supplement the supply of this precious gas for war purposes.

Patent For Auto Truck Steering Device Pending

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Evan L. Sitter of McLean, Tex., and other automobile drivers will be sitting pretty if automobile manufacturers adopt a device for which Sitter has made a patent application.

The Baptist Herald

First Baptist Church
Rev. Homer J. Starnes Pastor

The message from the Gideon representative last Sunday met with a warm response. Mr. Shelton, the speaker, has been most complimentary of the response, cordial reception, etc., accorded him. The pastor has received a letter from the Secy-Treas. of the Gideons thanking the church for the offering, and saying that Bro. Shelton reports one of the best services he ever attended. The offering made by the people last Sunday will purchase 184 new Testaments for our men and women in the services. It is a privilege to have a part in any worthwhile work.

The Cisco Association Workers Conference meets with our church next Tuesday, Nov. 2. We trust that our people and others will not miss the inspiration that comes from these meetings. The women are making ready to serve the noon meal at the church. We have reason to expect a large attendance, and will, therefore, need the cooperation of everyone in order to take care of the meeting in a satisfactory way. Any member who can furnish a hen, pies, or any other needed article should see one of the following right away: Mrs. H. T. Weaver, Mrs. Frank Lovett, Mrs. A. M. Hearne, Mrs. W. H. Kuykendall, Mrs. C. C. Peels, Mrs. J. C. Childress.

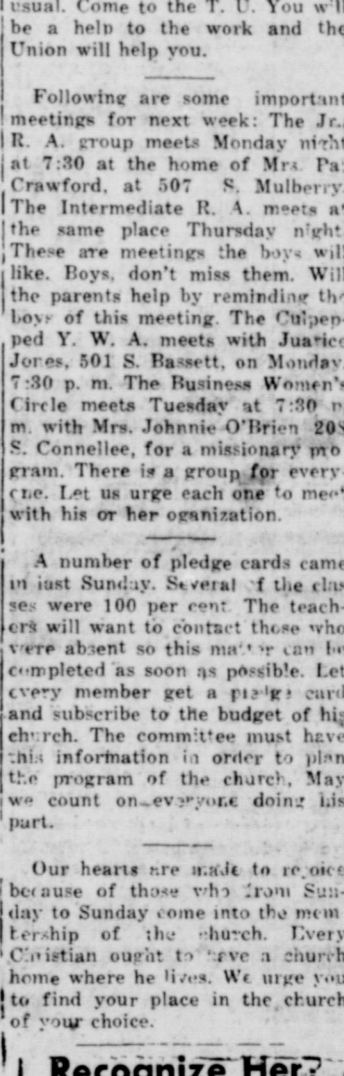

The attendance upon all the services is on the increase. We are grateful for that. Many others should and can be enlisted. Let every teacher contact their pupils before Sunday. This is the only way we may expect a continued increase in attendance. We are deeply appreciative of the fine work done by the teachers and officers. More were in Training Union last Sunday night than usual. Come to the T. U. You will be a help to the work and the Union will help you.

Following are some important meetings for next week: The J. E. R. A. group meets Monday night at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Paul Crawford, at 507 S. Mulberry. The Intermediate R. A. meets at the same place Thursday night. These are meetings the boys will like. Boys, don't miss them. Will the parents help by reminding the boys of this meeting. The Cuipeped Jones, 501 S. Bassett, on Monday, 7:30 p. m. The Business Women's Circle meets Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Johanie O'Brien 208 S. Connellee, for a missionary program. There is a group for everyone. Let us urge each one to meet with his or her organization.

A number of pledge cards came in just Sunday. Several of the pledges were 100 per cent. The teachers will want to contact those who were absent so this matter can be completed as soon as possible. Let every member get a pledge card and subscribe to the budget of his church. The committee must have this information in order to plan the program of the church. May we count on everyone doing his part.

Our hearts are made to rejoice because of those who from Sunday to Sunday come into the membership of the church. Every Christian ought to give a church home where he lives. We urge you to find your place in the church of your choice.

Recognize Her?

It is also the closing S... of the year. It will be our first Sunday with the Church at Eastland. It has been a joy to work with the good people like we have in the Eastland church.

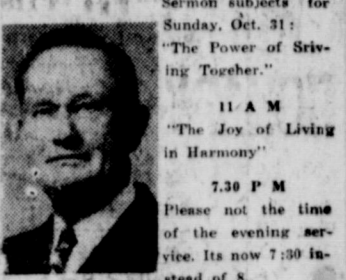

Our prayer is that Heavens richest blessings will rest upon each member, and the church will go forward.

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday October 31.

The Golden Text is: "Let Israel hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption" (Psalms 130:7.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I, even I, am he that blot out sin, and will not remember thy sins" (Isaiah 43:25.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The destruction of sin is the divine method of pardon. Does not God's pardon, destroying any one sin, prophesy and involve the final destruction of all sin?" (page 339.)

Fred G. Stockton, Pastor

The home coming was a good success. We are glad to have a number of folk that had been members of the church here in the past to come back and worship with us. The presence of the Lord was with us throughout the day. The increase in the Sunday school was good for the fourth Sunday. So we have had an advance every Sunday of the month.

Next Sunday will be Victory Sunday. If we advance then we can celebrate a real Victory. Every teacher see to your absentees.

It is also the closing Sunday of the year. It will be our first Sunday with the Church at Eastland. It has been a joy to work with the good people like we have in the Eastland church.

WAR ADDING NEW WORDS TO DICTIONARY

By Leo S. Disher
United Press Staff Correspondent
OXFORD, Eng. (UP)—The war—New West and American—genius—considered—was having to what the dictionary people called a "traffic wallop on the English language."

The conflict, said spokesmen connected with the Oxford 1 (Oxford) dictionary, already has brought forth many words in back-etchments, in the end will have contributed scores accepted by the lexicographers and hundreds—but perhaps not thousands—of war-born words will become a permanent part of the language.

The dictionary, as has been said before, lists "Mae West" as "an airman's jacket," then passes on, somewhat hurriedly, without further explanation other than that the source is a "person." But "Mae West" is given a sound chance of being known to posterity. Even "jeep" is going to make the grade, at least for the moment.

"Blitzkrieg," said the spokesman, will be one of the war's "musts" for historians.

When a new word crops up in the gun roar the dictionary people ask first: "Is it widely used?" Then: "Is it too technical?" Finally they apply the acid test: "Will it live?"

"If it passes, it probably will be accepted," said one official of Oxford's Clarendon Press, "but we have to be careful in war not to saturate the dictionary with words which will go out of use."

He said the pronunciation Naa-zi (Churchillian) for Nazi probably will win out in the end over Nah-tsi (the German way).

"That primarily," he added, "is due to Mr. Churchill, who studiously avoids the foreign pronunciation of words and in this case makes Naa-zi sound like what it is—something bad."

The Oxford dictionary, in its largest volumes, is the only complete listing of any spoken language by any nation. His spokesmen said the English language is the most varied of all, the richest in words and has "a readiness to adopt new words from any other language, which is, we believe, unique."

Some of their conclusions were these:

That American-English is causing greater change in the English-English than vice versa—and that American effect is colossal.

That Americans have a positive gift for inventing words.

The American word "radio" will displace the Englishman's word, "wireless," even in England but that there just isn't sense in using "elevator" instead of "lift."

That Americans also have gone a little haywire in other instances of inventiveness: witness "extracurricular."

That as world communications improve there is more and more a tendency toward a "common denominator" between American-English and English-English.

The spokesman said every word included in the dictionary is traced to its source if possible, but whereas "E-boat" in this war was found officially to mean nothing more than "enemy boat," there is still some unused hangover from World War I.

No one—yet—has explained satisfactorily from whence came "blimp."

No. 1 Thrill To Doctor, 83, Was His Prize Peach

ABINGTON, Ja. (UP)—Out of his recollections as a doctor in the Wild West, when the usual day's work consisted of patching up cow boys after a shooting affray, Dr. Sumner Gleason, 83, likes most of all to remember his peach tree.

Dr. Gleason admits that repairing casualties on the barroom floor at the Red Dog saloon had its exciting moments, and performing emergency operations on crushed, helpless men trapped in mines is adventure, but for him, the thrill of a lifetime was helping to develop the Early Elberta.

It happened when the doctor first settled in Kaysville, Utah, far from his native New England some fifty odd years ago. He decided to plant fruit trees in spare moments, and read about a large nursery which offered a $300 prize to anyone producing a peach which ripened earlier and had a better taste than the old Elberta variety. Gleason applied for, and was sent, a seedling, along with thousands of other people. He claims the seedling, like Topsy, "just grew" and in two years was producing on its own, peaches of unusual flavor and early maturing. He sent the buds to the company, eventually collected the prize for his success. He still is amazed that, out of 4,000,000 seedlings distributed, he had the luck to find an early type.

The medical odyssey of Dr. Gleason—who claims he didn't even know the scientific name for nosebleed when he graduated from medical school—centers around the wide-open mining town of Carthage, N. M. Knowing nothing of antiseptics, and only little about operations, the 23-year-old youth went to work in a country where accidents—intentional and otherwise—were as frequent as in any spot in the country.

He learned dentistry from a book, because there were no one else to do the work, eventually taking that position as dentist in the public schools of Salt Lake City, in quieter days. Until his retirement, Gleason remained in Utah, then came east to his daughter's home in Abington.

Out Our Way BY WILLIAMS

Women 'Man The Guns' Testing War Ammunition

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—American women in uniform perform many of the non-combat duties of the armed forces, but at the Frankford Arsenal here the women also "man the guns" in ammunition tests.

More than 50 per cent of the arsenal's civilian employees who test small arms ammunition are women, but the occupation is no more dangerous than in any other industry.

In every test, except one, the guns are fixed in position inside a building with only the muzzle open to the outside range. Every precaution is taken to prevent any accidents on the range itself.

The job the women do is not simply a matter of putting shells in a machine gun and going rat-a-tat-tat, just to see how it works. There are six different tests, including tests for accuracy, velocity and penetration, and each requires calculation and tabulation results, also done by women.

Lt. W. D. Cramer, in charge of the section, credits the women with doing an excellent job in the highly standardized operations.

He is a native of Ranger and is a graduate of Ranger High school and Ranger Junior College.

Tire Producers Plan to Match Car Production

By Anthony G. De Lorenzo
United Press Staff Correspondent
DETROIT, Oct. 11 (UP)—The rubber industry is gearing itself to keep pace with automobile manufacturers' post war plans to build 6,000,000 passenger cars annually, an increase of 50 per cent over normal peacetime output.

Edwin J. Thomas, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. at Akron, O., believes tire producers, using natural as well as synthetic rubber, will be ready to equip the cars rolling from re-converted assembly lines after the war.

Although describing the synthetic rubber - expansion program since outbreak of war as an "industrial miracle," the Goodyear executive predicts that natural rubber still will be an important factor in the industry after hostilities cease.

"You can't count crude rubber out of the picture," he said, "when you can still tap a rubber tree at three cents a pound."

Thomas isn't concerned as much about meeting the demands of expanded passenger car production after the war as he is about the industry's ability to fill its staggering 1944 schedules.

In 1944, he said the industry must manufacture a minimum of 30,000,000 passenger car tires for

Library Records Show Less Reading

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Texans are doing less reading than before the war, if the Dallas public library's circulation is any indication.

Miss Cleora Clanton, librarian, said that wartime activities have curtailed people's spare time and consequently cut circulation. She said the decline here has followed a national trend.

However, the reference department has been kept busy because of people's need for basic facts.

In addition, there is an increasing demand for personal narrative stories and for material on South America, Africa and the South Pacific.

TOO MUCH OF THREE W's
AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—According to an informal poll of the student body at University of Texas, popular opinion seems to show that there are three things wrong with the wartime university,—the weather, the water and the women.

Students think there's too much of all of them.

WINTER COMFORT

Lone Star Gas Service costs so little. But this is no reason why in these wartime days some thought shouldn't be given to its wise use. By planning ahead there are many little things you can do to eliminate waste and thereby get full benefit from the economy of whole house heating. The eight suggestions below are insignificant in themselves, but all together they add up to quite a saving over a period of months. But more important they mean the wise use of a fuel which is so important to Southwestern war industries.

- HOW TO USE GAS WISELY FOR HOUSE HEATING
1. Avoid overheating. Keep the house temperature around 72 degrees.
  2. Keep all heating equipment in good operating condition; keep it clean and free from all dust particles.
  3. Flame on radiant-type room heaters should not be allowed to lick out top of radiators.
  4. If you have a gas heater in your fireplace, seal the flue to the extent that the room heat will not go up the chimney, yet leave sufficient space for venting heater.
  5. See that windows and doors lock tightly; if possible they should be weather-stripped.
  6. Where unvented equipment is used, a small opening at the top of the window is recommended to help reduce "wall sweating." Window openings should be no wider than necessary for an ample flow of fresh air, otherwise they become heat wasters.
  7. At night when windows are open in bedrooms, shut off rest of house to prevent temperatures from dropping so low that more fuel will be needed to build up warmth during the morning hours.
  8. When properly used, insulation can reduce consumption of heating gas 20 to 25 per cent in one-story houses and 15 to 20 per cent in two-story houses of standard type construction. Insulation materials are plentiful.

Gas Floor Furnaces are available for you who can qualify under WPB ruling. Gas room heaters are rationed by OPA. Let us help you in making out necessary application forms.
