GM GOES TO COURT OVER PICKETING

DETROIT (UP) — General Motors Corporation went into court today in an attempt to prevent "illegal picketing" of its plants by striking members of the United Automobile Workers Union. The giant corporation, which has been strikebound for 23 days, started the legal proceedings in common pleas court at Cleveland. Counsel for GM appeared before Judge Frank Daly to file a petition to enjoin local 45 of the UAW against interfering with the right of anyone to enter the plant through the use of force or violence.

Local 45 represents workers at the Fisher Body Plant No. 1 at Cleveland. The move was the first court maneuver against the strikers whose picket lines have kept nearly 50,000 non-striking office workers away from their jobs. A GM spokesman said similar petitions might be filed against the strikers at other plants in the coast-to-coast system of auto factories.

Tommy Dorsey Band Member Is Home For Xmas

Collen Gray Satterwhite, member of Tommy Dorsey's orchestra is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite. His wife, the former Diana Beresford of Hollywood, California, is with him. They will be here until after the Christmas holidays.

Collen Gray is a graduate of Eastland high school where he played in the high school band, then, under the direction of M. R. McCollum. He began his musical training with Miss Wilda Dugood, studying piano. He went from Eastland high school to Texas Tech at Lubbock to study engineering. He played in the college band for two years. He did not return to Tech for his third year; instead, he went to Wichita Falls as a member of Bernio Marcell's band. After one year with Marcell, he went to Bobby Peters. He played with several small bands before going with Jan Savitt and later with Joe Venuti. His work took him all over the country. He was in New Orleans once when Tommy Dorsey came there for a month's engagement. He got in touch with Dorsey and asked to take trombone lessons from him. He was assured by Dorsey that his time was worth at least $5 an hour. Satterwhite said that was all right. He wanted one lesson anyway. Later he was asked to play for Dorsey and soon joined his band, going to Dorsey from Joe Venuti.

He has been with Dorsey since 1943 and is on his first vacation since signing up. He and Mrs. Satterwhite flew from New York City to Dallas early last week and came on to Eastland by train.

Slap Breaks His Ankle INDIANAPOLIS, (UP) — A glass of ice water can be a dangerous thing. One glass cost James Harrington a slap in the face and a broken ankle. Harrington was overly insistent after a waitress told him there was no ice, so she slapped, he slipped, and the net result was one broken ankle.

Auditor Shows Comparative Figures On Tax Collections

Some interesting figures are revealed in the following statement by County Auditor Don D. Parker comparing current and delinquent tax collections for the years 1942, 1943, 1944 and 1945 in Eastland County.

Following is County Auditor Parker's statement for the years, in order listed, 1942, 1943, 1944 and 1945.

State and County — $304,877.07, $316,460.38, $314,441.94, $448,398.85.

Current and Delinquent County Collections — $215,683.28, $233,293.32, $251,068.19, $316,126.95.

Current County Collections — $162,493.23, $158,971.25, $171,431.12, $197,966.53.

Delinquent County Collections — $18,706.82, $41,523.60, $45,683.49, $106,491.15.

Tax Collections for Common Schools — Current — $33,067.08, $31,824.43, $35,318.56, $47,355.95. Delinquent — $2,191.86, $4,033.18, $3,656.53, $11,016.26. Total — $35,258.94, $35,857.61, $38,975.09, $58,372.21.

There is a definite and unparalleled increase in collections for the State, County, and Common school during the first ten months of 1945 as compared with the same period for the last three years. It is particularly noted that the county delinquent tax collections are 2 1/2 times more than in any prior year. Delinquent Collections for the Common Schools are in the same proportion. A study of these figures definitely show an increase in tax payments this year.

Any current or delinquent taxes paid before December 31, 1945, will be allowed as a deduction in figuring your income tax for 1945.

ONE GIVEN LIFE TERM; THREE OTHERS GET TEN YEARS

DACHAU (UP) — An American military court today sentenced 36 stoed Germans to hang for participating in mass murders while serving as officials and guards at the Dachau Concentration Camp.

One of the 40 men convicted yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment, and other three to ten years imprisonment each. The sentences are subject to the approval of Lt. Gen. Lucian Truscott, commander of the U. S. 3rd Army, and Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of the European theatre.

Christof Knoll, former Dachau prisoner who betrayed his fellow inmates, fainted when sentenced to death. Dr. Klaus Schilling, charged with killing hundreds of inmates in malaria experiments, nodded his head though expecting the sentence, then staggered slightly when he was sentenced to die.

The other defendants heard their fate without the slightest show of emotion.

An overflow crowd heard Brig. Gen. John M. Lentz, president of the eight man court read the sentences.

Noted Artists To Appear On County Program

Artists who will appear on the Community Concert Association programs in Eastland promise an interesting and varied series of musical entertainment for holders of membership cards.

The first artist, Rudolf Firkunsky, Czech pianist, will appear February 8. He made his debut in Vienna, is an authority on Czech composers and has toured South America and the U. S. with much success.

The second artist, Zinka Milanov, Yugoslavian soprano will appear February 15. She has been a leading artist with the Metropolitan Opera for six seasons, and has appeared with Toscanini in 13 concerts.

The last and perhaps most unusual attraction in the series is the Trapp Family Singers on March 14. They appear in their original "Tyrol Costumes", offering group singing and music on their native instruments. They came to the United States a few years ago and settled on a Vermont farm where they spent their time between concert tours. The director of this unusual family of musicians is Dr. S. Wassner, a young priest.

Growers estimate that 450,000 carloads of citrus fruits will be produced in the United States during the 1945-46 season.

PESKY FLEAS MAKE FOLK ON COAST HOPPING MAD

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Scratching citizens heard official warnings today that Los Angeles rats were getting out of hand, but worried more about the fleas that are on them.

The news that fleas are increasing their families along with the rats was revealed by a recognized flea expert of the west coast, Dr. O. W. Pierce.

The doctor, an entomologist at the Los Angeles museum, said complaints were pouring in from flea-bitten citizens. Soon, he reflected, Hollywood will be famous not only for bars, blondes, and bathing suits but for flea bites.

"Of course Los Angeles isn't the only flea city in California," Pierce pointed out. "San Francisco fleas are famous."

But fleas in the Golden Gate city are mostly "beach fleas," the doctor explains, as the city is built on sand. Flea bites are discussed in the best circles in San Francisco, the flea expert added.

"However, our fleas are rat fleas," he said, "so they're never mentioned in polite company."

But they're mentioned to the city health department.irate citizens have reported that the sharp-toothed bugs are hanging around theaters and streetcars for sustenance. Some even contended the fleas patronize double features to insure a longer meal. This livelihood is short, however, for the theaters in the city now fumigate their establishments every two weeks.

Not every California visitor need fear that he will take home souvenir bites. Fleas are discriminating, Pierce explained, and taste the flavor of the victim's skin before first taking a nip. Incidentally, some Los Angeles fleas unlike those in other parts of the nation, have teeth on the back of their heads.

The expert indignantly denied that the increase of rats and their parasites has jumped the flea circus business here. It's just a trick done with threads, anyway, he said.

"Who'd pay to see a flea? They can—I hear the Chamber of Commerce shudder—find 'em right at home."

FINDS $1,000 RING IN 10-CENT STORE

DENVER (UP) — Walking through a downtown "dime" store, a Denver attorney stooped and picked up a glittering piece of what he thought was inexpensive costume jewelry.

Justine with a jewelry friend, he asked "what will you give me for it?" He almost fainted when the jeweler placed at the gem and said: "Oh, I'll give you $1,000 for it."

Investigation disclosed that the "cheap" jewelry was a $1,000 diamond ring lost by a Denver woman who had passed through the dime store.

WAC AIDES FOUND GENERAL IKE EXACTING BUT FUN TO WORK FOR

NEW YORK (UP)—The women around Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during the days before and after D-Day had a lot to do with smoothing the path of one of history's most burdened men.

They varied in type from the highly efficient state of Maine girl, Capt. Mattie Pinette, of the Wacs, to the dark haired convent-reared girl, Kay Summersby, who was his No. 1 chauffeur.

Kenneth S. Davis tells about them in his biography of Eisenhower, "Soldiers of Democracy," which has just been published. He intimates that these women had a better insight into the Eisenhower personality than some of the high ranking male officers who were his immediate subordinates.

Capt. Pinette, for instance, disagrees with those who hold that General Ike was "easy" to work for. She arrived in Algiers with the first contingent of Wacs to reach North Africa in January, 1943. Davis says she understood her boss "rather more profoundly than did many of his high ranking subordinates" and in Capt. Pinette's opinion the general was exacting rather than easy, a man who hated inefficiency even though he never lost his temper with a subordinate. But even Capt. Pinette says he was "fun" to work for.

She was most impressed by Eisenhower's phenomenal memory. Once he dictated to her a 300 word statement for a newsreel appearance, then delivered it verbatim to the cameras without once referring to his copy. Another time, during a "leisure hour" discussion of poetry, she heard him recite the greater part of Gray's "Elegy in support of his contention that it was "the most perfect poem ever written."

The informality of the Eisenhower entourage may have given the impression that he was "easy." Sgt. Margaret Chick of Toledo, O., remembers her first meeting. She was called into the anteroom and, when she hesitated at the threshold of the general's office, was told by an aide:

"Come on in. He won't bite you."

Eisenhower laughed and Sgt. Chick remained as one of his two stenographers.

CRIME WAVE IN ITALY ABETTED BY PRIVATION

ROME (UP)—A wave of lawlessness and juvenile delinquency is sweeping Italy.

The crimes include everything from armed train robberies by gangs using hand-grenades to the black market operations by 16-year-olds.

Nothing is safe in Italy unless a guard is posted over it, and sometimes the guard himself gets into a car left standing in the street may be without three or four wheels when the owner returns.

In some places, he is lucky if the car itself remains.

Recently, an American who was driving from Paris to Rome was initiated to the crime wave during his first night in Italy, when all his baggage was stolen from his locked automobile as it stood in an MP-guarded parking lot in Genoa.

Young boys have around the doorways to American and British PX stores. When troops emerge carrying their rations, Italian youths side alongside them and offer to buy their cigarettes candy or clothing for resale on the black market.

But since it takes some ready capital to operate this type of start accumulating a working fund by petty vices, such as making "carry" offers to military hotel trade, and then making off with a piece of baggage that is likely to contain some highly-marketable goods.

In Naples, boys as young as 12 years are spending time in jail awaiting trial. If convicted, those under 14 will be sent to the already overcrowded St. Eramo reformatory and the older youths sent to Poggioreale prison, much-famed in Fascist days.

PLASTIC SURGEON KEPT BUSY RENOVATING MILADY'S FACE

CHICAGO (UP)—Dr. Alexander G. Ward spends most of his time keeping women's chins up and their ages down.

Ward, a plastic surgeon, has lifted 5,000 faces in the past 35 years, some of them two or three times. He said he's getting busier every day.

"All women want to stay young and more and more of them are finding out about face lifting," he said, in an interview. "Eventually, the wrinkle business will be as popular as dental work."

Ward said most of his patients are about 50 years old but he's had them as young as 30 and as old as 87.

"When I finished with the 87-year-old woman, she didn't have to be sent back to the nursing home, but she looked better, he said.

The surgeon has taken tucks in about 50 men's faces, too. Most of them were theatrical performers, he said, but a few were "dragged in by their young wives."

Face-lifting operations are performed under a local anesthetic in the surgeon's office. It requires approximately four hours to take the necessary tucks and stitches.

"I only cut the throats of the older ones," Ward said. "They often have wrinkled necks, and it's the only way to iron them out."

"It's just a tailoring process, like taking in a coat that's too big. Only with faces you have to be especially careful to avoid ruffles."

When face-lifting was introduced early in the century, only theatrical and society people were interested, Ward said. Now even scrubwomen ask him to restore their blush of youth.

Some of his patients have a "mania" for operations, he said, and "take it out" on him.

"One woman comes in every year to see if I can take a tuck some place."

Construction Of New Library To Start Very Soon

ABILENE, Texas — Dirt is to be broken for the Sandefer Memorial Library, first of the structures called for in the Greater Hardin-Simmons university million dollar building program, as soon as the architect's drawings can be completed and a contract awarded.

Announcement of the speeding up of plans to get actual construction underway was made by O. D. Dillingham and W. P. Wright, co-chairmen of the executive committee for the development program.

Drawings for the revised two-unit building which is to be erected in memory of Dr. J. D. Sandefer, president of the school for over thirty years, are being made by the firm of David S. Castle of Abilene. The board announced that Mr. Castle was recently retained as architect for the memorial building.

To be erected in the center of Hickory street, main driveway through the campus, on one of the highest points on the 40 acres the Sandefer Memorial is being redesigned as a two-unit building which will house the library and administrative offices. The cost is to be at least $250,000 and the fund for its erection was recently completed by a $25,000 gift from Mr. Dillingham.

Early completion of Behrens Chapel, university auditorium, was also assured by another gift of $25,000 from Mrs. W. J. Behrens of Abilene, announced at the same time as the Dillingham donation.

Another of Those Mysterious Oriental Dishes

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The parade of over 100 leading U. S. scientists before Senate committees considering how to mobilize peacetime research produced a strange mixture of ideas. The scientists couldn't agree among themselves how it ought to be done.

Net result will be that the three senators principally interested in this peacetime problem will have to get together and write themselves anew, compromise bill which will set the thing up the way they think it ought to be done. The three senators are Harley M. Hays of West Virginia, Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

There were three principal points at issue: Who would own and control the patents developed in government financed research; how the top research organization directing the work should be organized; whether or not research in the social sciences should be included in the program along with the natural sciences.

Controversy over the patent issue was probably the hottest. Despite the desire of Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the wartime Office of Scientific Research and Mobilization, to keep the patent question out of this legislation, it probably will go in under a compromise. This solution will not constitute a revision of the patent law itself, though that may come later.

SENATOR MAGNUSON, who originally supported the Bush position that patent rights should remain with the discoverers, has listened to presidential insistence that patent rights shall belong to the government for free licensing on a non-exclusive basis to anyone wanting to use them. Thus if anyone working on government research projects tries to patent any of his discoveries, he will find that he cannot do so.

The scientists who testified at the hearing on this point were about equally divided. Dr. Karl T. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology had originally supported the Bush views on this subject, but switched his position on the stand when the bill's provisions were explained in detail. Five witnesses from management testified that patent rights should remain with the institutions doing the research. Four witnesses from organized labor said the government should retain ownership.

THE question of how the government's research organization should be set up centered around two points of view. Director of the Budget Harold D. Smith favored a single administrator. His point was that this fixed responsibility, which could not be done if control of federal research were given to a board. Dr. Bush's recommendation had been for a board of nine members, serving part time and without compensation, who would appoint a full-time director.

Empowering the new organization to conduct research in the social sciences—economics, human relationships and living conditions—will probably be included in the new legislation.

No one objected to Uncle Sam paying the bill.

Mrs. Hughes had sustained severe head injuries. The accident occurred about 6:30 Saturday evening at the intersection of the Airport Road and Highway 80. According to reports of the accident one of the cars was coming to town and the other headed west made a turn into the Airport road from the highway and was struck by the other car.

With Mrs. Hughes were her husband and daughter, Shirley Anne, of Olden, who were treated for cuts and bruises and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Huckaby of Ranger were occupants of the other car. Mules consumed 4 of an ounce of salt per 1,000 pounds of live weight daily.

COMING!

One of the outstanding pioneers of Eastland county was Col. C. T. Jenkins, who came to this section from his family home in Baltimore, Maryland.

Col. Jenkins kept a day-by-day diary—in two sections, the latter section begins with the date of 1880. The Chronicle, by consent of Col. Jenkins' relatives, will soon begin the publication of the 1880 diary.

WILL THERE BE A STEEL STRIKE?

Not if the CIO abides by its pledged word, given only last spring.

Question: What would be the general effect on the country of a steel strike?

Answer: Over 40 per cent of all the factory workers in the country earn their living by making steel into useful products for American life. A shut-down of the steel industry would be a disastrous blow to reconversion and would cause a serious loss in both wages and industrial production at a time when they were most needed.

Question: Is it true that the Steelworkers Union has pledged itself not to strike?

Answer: Yes. Every contract which the Union has signed this year with the various steel companies has a clause wherein the Union agrees not to strike during the life of the contract.

Question: Are those contracts still in effect?

Answer: Yes. They were signed in the spring of 1945 to run until October, 1946.

Question: Who signed for the Union?

Answer: Its international officials—Philip Murray, Van Bittner, Clinton Golden and others—and the local Union heads at the various plants.

Question: Is there no "escape clause" by which either side could end the agreements?

Answer: No. The Union demanded a fixed, long-term contract and got it.

Question: Why did they want a long-term contract?

Answer: In the Union's own words before the War Labor Board, "The Union's request for a termination date of October, 1946, is not made capriciously or pressed here for bargaining purposes. It represents the considered view of the Union that only such a term will adequately serve the needs of stability."

Question: Did the recent strike vote violate the contracts?

Answer: No. Only an actual strike would violate them.

Question: Haven't there been strikes already during the life of the contracts?

Answer: Yes. There were 998 strikes in steel plants during the past year alone. They were mostly local strikes which the Union characterizes as "wildcat," but they mean a big loss in production.

Question: Does the end of the war justify changing the contracts?

Answer: No. The bond was sealed on both sides and should be kept whether times be good or bad. The steel companies are continuing to live up to these agreements. If a strike is called, it will be in clear violation of the existing contracts.

A strike in the face of existing contracts would shatter any confidence in the validity of union agreements in the steel industry.

No Jeep With Discharge Shocks This Veteran
TYLER, Tex. (UP) — The Army is giving out no jeeps with discharges and one ex-soldier is extremely disappointed.
"Where's my jeep?" the veteran asked when he received his discharge at the Camp Fannin Separation Center.
"What jeep?" an officer at the center rejoined.
Then the story unfolded. Someone told the soldier at Marseille, France, an embarkation port, that he could obtain a jeep in the place of his $200 mustering out pay, if he so chose.

SMART, WELL-FED NISEI GIRLS ENVY OF JAPANESE WOMEN

TOKYO (UP) — Thirteen Nisei girls from Hawaii assigned to the civil censorship detachment here have the local Japanese baffled. For one thing, these American Japanese from Hawaii are so well fed and so warmly clothed that the natives doubt they are really Japanese.
"They don't look like Japanese" exclaimed a Japanese newspaperman. "I didn't know what they were; I thought perhaps they were Chinese."

The girls create minor riots when they stroll around the streets of Tokyo. Japanese women are particularly fascinated with the girl's attire. Army green uniforms with U. S. collar insignia. They provide a great contrast with the poorly clad shivering Japanese girls in their thin kimonos.

Japanese women, accustomed to the small amount of food available to them and accustomed to taking a second place behind their men, expressed amazement that the girls from Hawaii live in a fine Army hotel here and eat the same food that is served to Army officers.

The young Nisei women are working hard in the office of Lt. Col. Chet W. Wadsworth, deputy civilcensorship officer for Allied Headquarters, but they have some fun, too.
They have made tours of Tokyo's ruins and have seen many of Japan's interesting scenic spots since arriving here by plane from Hawaii.

The girls described the airplane trip from Hawaii to Japan as "the most thrilling experience of our lives." The flight began at Hickam Field. There were short stops at Kwajalein and Saipan. They landed in Japan at Atsugi Airport where Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed when he came to serve as Supreme Allied Commander.

Nearly half of the girls are graduates or have attended the University of Hawaii and the others were employed in civil service or various technical capacities before coming to their present job. Their experience in civil censorship work varies from two years to four months, though the entire group received specialized training before leaving Honolulu.

The group includes Lily N. S. Lee, (820 Green St.) Honolulu; Dorothy Nakama, (635 Pensacola St.) Honolulu; Chisato Furukawa, Waiuku, Maui; Mrs. Yae Ahn, (1238 Lunahilo St.) Honolulu; Sumi Serizawa, Honolulu; Daisy Yamataka, (2765 Kaaha St.) Honolulu; Mrs. Masae Green, (1114 C. Cattlemen Urged To Fight Heel Fly "Gribs"

Eastland County cattlemen and farmmen this week were being urged to treat their animals in order to cull the heel fly "grub" showing up in their backs in large numbers, by J. M. Cooper, county Agricultural Agent.

When infested cattle are slaughtered the meat around the encrustings on the back must be trimmed off and discarded, Cooper said. Such trimming gives it a bad appearance and the entire carcass brings a lower price which means that cattle are bought for less to allow for this damage.

Hides too are discounted one cent per pound if there are as many as five holes per hide. It is impossible to determine the cause of the grubs from reced beef and milk production. Rotten used to dust the back of infested animals was scarce during the war years due to its being imported from the East Indies of South America is now more plentiful and is very effective in grub control work. It is now available locally and is relatively cheap. The only effective way to stop the ravages of this parasite is to kill it in the grub stage, it was said unless killed in the grub stage it passes from the back of the animal onto the ground where it pupates in several weeks to a full grown heel fly, ready to breed, lay eggs and start its life cycle all over again.

Some cattlemen over the county have already enlisted in the campaign but many more would benefit if they would treat their cattle, Cooper concluded.

Texan To Write Cannery Row Screen Play

AUSTIN, Texas — Dr. E. P. Conkle, University of Texas playwright, has been contracted to write the screen play of John Steinbeck's "Cannery Row" which will be produced in Hollywood by Bernie Byrnes.

Dr. Conkle recently spent six months in Hollywood and New York studying playwrighting. He will write the continuity plot for the Steinbeck story.

The University department of drama has produced several of Dr. Conkle's plays, including "Johnny Appleseed," "Gold is Where You Don't Find it," "Bill the Widemaker," and "They Die for Peace."

Grunt and Groaners—Jap Style

Next to baseball, wrestling is most popular sport in Japan and matches go on despite war and occupation. Tournaments feature East and West teams, each made up of four champions. In above photo, Terukuni, the fat man, defeated his huge opponent, Fudoiva.

FREE PUBLIC SCHOOLS COST $100,000,000 YEAR

AUSTIN, Tex., (UP) — Use of the word "free" in connection with Texas public schools is, in one respect, an irony.

For while the public schools are free to students, they cost parents and parents and other taxpayers nearly $100,000,000 a year. This does not include money for state-owned universities and colleges.

A compilation just completed in the State Department of Education shows that total outlay for public schools in Texas during the 1943-44 school year was $952,435,513. For the following year this amount will move nearer $100,000,000, though final figures on it have not been assembled.

These amounts represent contributions from all sources. To maintain Texas' public schools there are five sources of funds. Federal aid amounts to approximately $2,000,000 a year, says Miss Myrtle Tanner, of the Education Department's statistical division.

The state's money for schools is drawn from the available school fund, the rural aid fund and state money to match Federal funds for vocational training.

Then there are amounts distributed by local districts, by counties and what is known as "philanthropic" grants or gifts to schools for private individuals or concerns.

It is estimated that the state puts up more than 49 per cent of the money which goes to operate and maintain public schools.

Based on the total outlay, there are two figures which may be used in determining how much per student is spent in public education.

During the 1943-44 school year, enrollment in schools totaled 1,242,985 students. However, the average daily attendance was but 1,005,994 students.

For accounting and other purposes, schools are grouped into six independent school classifications and the rural aid schools.

In group one are schools with 100,000 and more students. Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio are the only cities in this rank.

LAKE PLACID WINDS UP JOB AS GIC CENTER

LAKE PLACID CLUB, N. Y. (UP)—This upstate New York sports mecca, known through the world as the "playground of the rich" is slowly becoming civilianized again.

More than a year ago, the U. S. signed contracts leasing the club and its spacious grounds and cottages for use as a Redistribution Station for returning overseas veterans.

By the end of this month the last of the soldiers will have left and remodeling of the scores of structures will begin in earnest. Club officials said they expected the first of the civilian guests and members to "move in" some time before Christmas.

During the more than a year in which the Army occupied the club some 30,000 veterans from all parts of the world's battlefronts—China-Eurasia-India, the Solomons, Africa, Italy, France, Germany and others—enjoyed a two weeks rest and relaxation period while they were processed for new Army assignments.

They were permitted free run of the club's recreational facilities to which were added scores of others by the Special Service Section—horseback riding, boating, tennis, golf, swimming, movies, dances and parties.

Under direction of Lt. Col. Donald L. MacGregor, now discharged from the service, the returnees enjoyed special events—such as the appearance of Kate Smith during a radio broadcast. The Spotlight Band program and Vox Pop, starring Parks Johnson and Warren Hull.

Develop New Bugkiller Out of Sabadilla

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A powerful new insecticide has been developed from a long-known plant by University of Wisconsin college of agriculture scientists.

The new bugkiller is known as sabadilla. In itself, it is not a new drug. It was used as a remedy for cardiac conditions and dropsy as early as 1700 and was later used by Indians to keep bugs away from themselves and their horses.

The substance is made from the seed of the sabadilla plant, which grows in Texas and throughout Mexico and Central America. More than 400 tons of it was used this year to kill the peach bugs in California, the sodier bugs in Illinois and the leaf hoppers in Wisconsin.

Prof. T. C. Allen of Wisconsin's department of economic entomology began work on the drug at the university in 1940 and when the war broke out, found that his study of supplies of rotenone and pyrethrum—two of the four major insecticides—

Detailed study, in which various other departments of the university also took part, revealed that by pulverizing the seed, allowing it to oxidize and then heating it to a temperature of 150 degrees centigrade greatly increased the potency of the drug.

Other studies carried out by the university revealed sabadilla safe for use on warm-blooded animals, and in all probability, humans. While sabadilla does not have the lasting potency of DDT, which is commonly used in a five per cent mixture, sabadilla can be used from one part in 500, or even 5,000, depending on the variety of insect to be attacked.

By varying the mixture, experiments showed, sabadilla could be used to kill only certain insects. In use of DDT all insects are killed.

WANT A BOOK TO READ

"You and I", the first novel by Myron Brinig in three years, is full of good reading. Mr. Brinig writes of people who really live upon this earth, facing its hardships and disappointments and going on with life.

"You and I", is the story of two people starting life in the American Southwest as brother & sister even though there is no blood connection. Their parents die a tragic death when the boy, Eric and the girl, Claire are very young. They are separated, Eric going to Montana, Claire to New York to a grandmother who keeps a boarding house, but has delusions of grandeur.

"CTC" gives the green light

"The Texas and Pacific operator sitting before the CTC (Central Traffic Control) board flips a tiny lever and the green light appears on the wayside signal notifying the engineer the track is clear—or he may receive a signal to take the siding at the next passing track to let the Eastbound train speed by.

"Indicator lights on the switch board show the operator the position of each train in his section—and wayside signal lights give the engineer his instructions; they tell him whether to stop, proceed with caution or keep going full speed ahead.

"This well-nigh foolproof CTC system opens and closes switches, sets signals, keeps the trains moving safely and swiftly at almost double-track efficiency—all done by an operator flipping a tiny lever.

"The postwar plans of the Texas and Pacific Railway are now in progress—preparing for the people of the growing Southwest the finest in transportation.

"Your constructive criticisms and suggestions are earnestly solicited."
