OMAR BURKETT MAKES FORMAL STATEMENT

Omar Burkett makes formal announcement of his candidacy for State Representative, District 106, Eastland, County.

TO THE VOTERS OF EASTLAND COUNTY

I hereby make formal announcement for the office of State Representative of District 106 which is comprised of Eastland county. My position on public questions is very well known to most of the people of Eastland county—but for the convenience of those who have not had the opportunity to familiarize themselves with my Legislative Record, I submit the following:

For the improvement of Public Education which includes increase in Teacher's salaries; increase in per capita apportionment. More funds for Rural Aid and Adequate State Aid for our Junior Colleges I give my full support.

For the support of our Old People, Needy Blind and Dependent Children, my record will speak for me, which is well known to every interested person in the county. I favor appropriating the maximum limit set by Constitutional Amendment and removing as soon as possible the ceiling limit.

I supported House Bill 8, which is now the law, just as we passed it in the 47th Legislature. This law raised sufficient revenue to turn a debt of $30,000,000 in the General Revenue Fund into a net balance of $30,000,000 in the face of a large increase in government expenditures. Time has fully justified the wisdom of this good law. It is our opinion that this law will raise sufficient revenue for the continued operation of our State Government for at least another two years without further tax levies being necessary, or increase in the tax burden now effective.

I give my full support to all measures affecting Agriculture; such as soil conservation, which was passed, as amended, in the 47th Legislature. I have been an ardent supporter of every move to bring electric power to the farm people and others living in rural communities.

My record for economy and efficiency in our government, we think, is well established by the work done by the Committee of which I was a member, to investigate Eleemosynary Institutions of the State. The facts found by the Committee and the suggestions made by the Committee have had salutary results in the operation of these Institutions.

One problem that is pressing for immediate solution is the Farm-to-Market Road program—and we might add—school bus and rural route road improvements. I pledge my support to this program.

Being beyond the age to bear arms in World War Two, I did all in my power as a civilian worker to place material in the hands of our soldiers on the battle front.

I have four children; three of them served in the armed military service of our country during the war.

In offering my services again to the people in becoming a candidate to succeed my friend the late Judge Grisham my hope is, if elected, that I may serve you in the same exalted, unselfish, Christian spirit which activated his every act. I humbly pledge you the best service of which I am capable.

Respectfully Submitted, Omar Burkett.

Queen Marie Jose of Italy, foreground, and her four children and attendants are escorted to refuge with friends upon their arrival in Lisbon, Portugal. The Queen and her children had fled Rome after King Umberto was defeated in the elections which favored the Republic. Umberto remained in Rome to contest the election which has become the center of riots between monarchists and Republican partisans. (NEA Telephoto)

MRS. HEADRICK OF SWEETWATER ENTERS CONGRESSIONAL RACE

To the voters of Eastland county:

The last few years have made news of tremendous import to women. News which changed their lives, opened new doors to them and gave them a view of future fields of opportunity. Women entered into almost every kind of occupation from rivet driver and sheet metal worker to airplane pilots, formerly considered the province of men. Executive and professional fields found them alert and efficient. No one will deny they did a good job. Thus women have proven that service and privilege in the field of good government is neither of masculine nor feminine gender.

In announcing as a candidate for Congress, I have done so after prayerful and careful consideration. It has taken much courage "to put into action my better impulses, straight forward and unafraid."

My platform is simple. In the laying of its foundation, the words of an old adage came to my mind: "Prepare thy work without, and make it fit for thyself in the field; and afterward build thine house." The intelligent voter will consider more about what the candidate will be required to do as an individual than what he or she says in order to win votes. Worthiness for office and fitness can be determined more largely by the record of past years of service than by any promise or pledge made during a campaign.

Education—There are many serious problems before our American democracy. The problems of education are of particular importance, and should be of vital concern to every citizen and every home. I heartily favor Senate Bill 181, which provides for Federal Aid to schools, with such funds under state control.

The Veteran—To the boys who served in our armed forces we owe a debt of gratitude we cannot repay, but we can meet their problems fairly and justly, endeavoring to compensate them for the time lost by their years in military service. I favor legislation to strengthen the GI Bill of Rights to give more efficient and greater assistance in providing homes and in making up lost educational opportunities. More flexible insurance benefits should be provided. Medical care should be extended and greatly improved.

Agriculture—Issues of far reaching importance and concern to the farmer and stockmen are pressing hard for solution. I am familiar with the problems which confront these industries, having lived for over twenty years on a West Texas farm. I recognize the need for better farm to market roads and the need for the expansion of the rural electrification program.

I shall insist on Federal Aid to assist the farmer and rancher in the eradication of poison weeds which have been so destructive to livestock, and for the eradication of certain weeds which threaten to possess our farm lands in many sections of the district.

Old Age Pensions—Experience is a good teacher. I say with no hesitancy that no candidate in this race for Congress has had more experience with old age groups than have I. I am serving my fourth year as a member of the board of directors of a home for the aged. Out of these (Continued on Page 5)

Two Governors To Be Heard On Methodist Hour

Two outstanding Southern governors will be heard on the Methodist Hour, Sunday morning, June 16th, when Governor Thomas L. Bailey of Mississippi speaks on the subject, "The Mission of the Rural Church." He will be introduced by Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia. The program originates from WSB in Atlanta.

Governor Bailey, one of the leading laymen of the Methodist Church was a featured speaker at the 1944 sessions of the General and Jurisdictional Conferences, and has become nationally recognized as a champion of a better rural life and a stronger rural church.

As chief executive of the state of Mississippi, his administration is being marked by a very constructive program including the revival of the state's agricultural and industrial interests and the development and encouragement of oil production and gasoline refining. Governor Bailey has been extremely active in obtaining more national recognition for Mississippi and more equitable treatment of Southern industry as a whole. He has sponsored and promoted the Mississippi Rural Life Council, with a program for better rural life, and has sought to develop the home and community life of the people.

Governor Bailey has been very active in the religious and fraternal life of his state. He was for twenty years teacher of the Men's Bible Class in his home church and for two years was national president of the Exchange Club. In October 1945 he was presented with the Order of Distinguished Auxiliary Service by the Salvation Army, being the twenty-ninth man to receive the award in the history of this organization.

Governor Arnall, nationally recognized as a leader in the new South, and in the midst of one of the most constructive administrations in Georgia's history, will be the speaker on The Baptist Hour over this same network of stations on July 7th, and will introduce Governor Bailey on June 16, when he speaks on The Methodist Hour, which will be heard over station WFAA at 7:30 a.m.

SPEAKER

Governor Thomas L. Bailey of Mississippi, above, will speak on the subject of "The Mission of the Rural Church," on the Methodist Hour program Sunday morning, June 16, at 7:30. The program originates over station WSB, Atlanta, and may be heard over station WFAA, Dallas.

Sandefur Visits Eastland County Friends Here

Gib Sandefur, candidate for congress from the 17th district, was in Eastland and Eastland county the past week greeting old friends and making new ones, and was highly pleased with the outspoken encouragement given him in this his initial venture in the political field.

"Visiting the people of Eastland county and of the entire 17th district is not new to me," Sandefur said while here.

Born in Stephenville while his late father, Dr. Jefferson Davis Sandefur, was president of John Tarleton college, Gib was virtually reared on the campus of Hardin-Simmons university, and has lived all of his 41 years in the 17th district.

Following graduation from the school his father headed for almost one third of a century, Gib has served as manager of the colorful and internationally known Cowboy Band; as business manager of athletics at Hardin-Simmons university; he owned and operated a ranch for several years in Nolan county, and is a nationally known lecturer.

Sandefur and the world-travelled Cowboy Band have appeared in almost every city, town and community of the 17th district in recent years. Gib knows the 17th district like a book, and is personally acquainted with thousands of the men and women who on July 27 will select some one to represent their interests in the nation's congress.

Sandefur says he expects to return to Eastland county frequently between now and July 27. "I just want to have a little fellowship with all the voters of the county and present to them my qualifications for the high office which I am seeking—not for personal reasons, but in the sincere belief that I can be of real service to the people with whom I have lived the past 41 years," Sandefur added.

Time On World War II Book Is Again Extended

The time for turning in pictures for Eastland County's World War II Book has been extended one more week until June 22nd, according to Fred Flising, local representative of the firm which is publishing the book.

The citizens of Eastland County have given splendid cooperation he said and because of this Eastland County is now assured a fine World War II Book.

There are still some who have not turned in their pictures so to be sure that everyone will have the opportunity to be included, the final date for accepting pictures is now extended to June 22nd. No pictures will be accepted after this date and if anyone is left out it will be because the pictures and write ups were not turned in by the service people or their parents he explained. There is no cost or obligation for including your picture in this historical record for Eastland County, so turn in your picture before the deadline date.

GRAVE OF THE LATE ROBERT M. FERRELL TO HAVE A MARKER

Judge R. E. Sparkman, of Italy, Texas, has notified relatives of the late Robert M. Ferrell, well known Eastland County Confederate soldier, that the grave of the veteran would soon be marked with a government marker of Southern marble.

Robert M. Ferrell died near Rising Star in 1918 and was buried in the Old Army cemetery. He was born in Missouri and at the age of 19 entered West Point. He fought under General Edward Forrest in the Tennessee and Alabama campaigns.

A niece of the veteran, Mrs. Florence Bowden of Munday, is having the work done. Judge Sparkman has secured a number of these markers for Eastland County Confederate graves.

Warren Motor Co. Now Showing The 1947 Studebaker

The first of the automobile industry's long-awaited 1947 models will go on display here June 20.

The cars are Studebakers. They can be seen at Warren Motor Co., 305 East Main Street. Lower, wider and more fully streamlined than any previous automotive design, the cars bear the unmistakable stamp of "true postwar products" both in beauty and performance. "This car could not have been built before the war," said W. M. Warren of the Warren Motor Co. "Progress in manufacturing and engineering has given us greater safety, greater comfort and greater operating efficiency than our pre-war knowledge could have made possible. It is not only the first genuine postwar automobile, but an automobile that sets the style for the entire industry."

"We feel that this new Studebaker is the most important contribution to motoring in two decades. Our opinion has been strengthened by the models reception in public and private reviews. At the recent Golden Jubilee Celebration of the automobile in Detroit these cars were the center of attraction. They drew large curbside crowds wherever they parked. Drivers were besieged by questions. Unbiased newspaper writers have termed it 'the hottest thing on wheels.' They report 'Studebaker has taken the lead.'"

Most apparent result of an engineering program that touched virtually every part of the chassis and body is the blended unity of the new Studebaker design. Fenders have been absorbed into the body. A judicious application of curved glass has created a "flow" of line that commands immediate admiration.

Although smartness has been achieved by the design, refinements afford as well many practical advantages. By extending passenger compartments into the former tender areas interior room has been appreciably increased. Exceptional visibility is another highspot. Windshields and windows have been broadened. Wind resistance is lower, adding to top (Continued on Page 5)

Brownwood Man Candidate For Appeals Court

E. J. Miller, former district judge of the 35th Judicial District, has announced formally his candidacy for associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 11th Supreme Judicial District, Eastland, in the following statement.

To the voters of the Eleventh Supreme Judicial District:

For some years I have entertained an ambition to serve upon the Court of Civil Appeals but I had no idea of becoming a candidate for such position this year. Judge Courtney Gray is a gentleman of sound, mature judgment and has made a 100 per cent record as appellate judge. I felt that he was entitled to election this year without opposition and would not have entered the race against him upon any consideration.

I regret very much the circumstances and conditions which have impelled him to announce his withdrawal, and will conduct an active campaign from now until the July primary.

This district is composed of 23 counties; is more than 200 miles long, extending from Dawson County on the northwest to Erath County on the southeast. With about 50 days for the campaign, I cannot hope to see more than a small per cent of the voters, but will utilize the time and the means available to place myself and my qualifications before the people. To this end, I solicit your investigation and consideration and will appreciate your interest and support.

I was reared on a farm in Callahan County, spent two years in Simmons College, two years in a State Teachers College, taught school five years, for many years an active Odd Fellow, am a deacon in my church, and a member of the Howard Payne College Board. And was for five years president of Comanche Trail Council Boy Scouts of America.

Having been in active private practice 25 years, practicing in all State Courts, and in District and Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States, and having served 12 years as district judge with a record above the average, I feel that I could render satisfactory service upon the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland and thereupon submit my candidacy for such position.

Respectfully, E. J. Miller.

Buried Treasure Finally Found Around Albany

ALBANY, Tex. (UP)—Over 40 years ago the word got around that there was buried treasure just south of Greer Mountain near Albany.

A map gave that area as the location. In droves at first and spasmodically through the years afterwards, hopeful seekers of quick riches dug and dug into the ground leaving great scooped up mounds and holes and excavations. No treasure.

One man even took a team of horses and dirt-scraped one particular ten-acre site. Still no treasure. But the map was right—in a way. There was buried wealth in the Greer Mountain area.

A rich paying oil well has just been brought in.

GAMBLES OWN PRESTIGE TO KEEP SEAMEN ON THE JOB

WASHINGTON (UP)—CIO President Phillip Murray, his personal prestige at stake, today, joined government peacemakers in final, critical efforts to avert a nationwide shipping strike scheduled for midnight tomorrow.

WASHINGTON (UP)—A spokesman for the International Longshoremen's Association AFL told a congressional committee today that if the CIO seamen go on strike the members of his AFL union "will not pass picket lines."

Murray and CIO Counsel Lee Pressman conferred with assistant Secretary of Labor John Gibson and Capt. Granville Conway, head of the War Shipping Administration. Later Frank J. Taylor, spokesman for Atlantic and Gulf coast shipowners, joined the discussion.

Meanwhile, about two score representatives of the shipowners and the six CIO unions and one independent waited outside Gibson's office.

It was believed Taylor was called in to acquaint shipowners with developments in the negotiations which government officials have been conducting with the unions. The seven unions demand shorter working hours and higher wages.

Government officials believed the dispute would be settled today or negotiations would collapse and the strike go on.

ED WINTON TO HEAD SAVINGS BOND SALES

NEW YORK — Edward H. Winton, president of the Continental National Bank Fort Worth, Texas, has been named state chairman for Texas to head activities of banks in that state in the broad national program of the American Bankers Association to combat inflation through the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds to individuals. His appointment was made by Fran C. Rathje, president of the A.B.A. who is also president of the Chicago City Bank and Trust Company, Chicago, Illinois, in response to a request from Fred M. Vinson, secretary of the Treasury, that banks continue their public spirited aid to the Treasury in keeping the national debt widely distributed through the sale of Savings Bonds.

Mr. Winton will coordinate activities between the Treasury's state director of Savings Bond sales and Texas banks in an effort to sell Savings Bonds to as many people as possible.

The promotion of the sale of Savings Bonds by the banks is not intended for the purpose of increasing the public debt, but is aimed at maintaining widespread ownership of government obligations as one of the most effective anti-inflationary measures. During the seven War Loan Drives and the Victory Loan, the banks participated actively in the sale of War Bonds to 85 million Americans, and it is to encourage the continuation of this habit of thrift that this national program has been initiated. Mr. Winton, as state chairman, is a part of the national A.B.A. program, which includes a Committee on Treasury Savings Bonds with regional representation. H. Frederic Hazemann Jr., vice president of the Postmen's National Bank, St. Louis, Missouri, is chairman of the A.B.A. Committee on Treasury Savings Bonds.

New Mexico's elevation ranges from 3,000 feet in the southeastern part of the state to 14,000 feet atop the highest mountains in the north.

CAPT. JENKINS' DIARY...

August 1 — The weather is still hot.

Aug. 5 — Rain in showers, good time to sow turnips. Still raining, wind in north, Mrs. Charley High came near being shot. She was winding the clock and the children were playing with a gun. It fell on the floor and exploded; tore the clock all to pieces and strange to say, she escaped unhurt.

Aug. 6 — Dr. Downtain lost a yoke of oxen, struck by lightning. They were yoked together and both were killed in his pasture. Charley Simmons shot ten doves in ten shots. Just enough for a pot pie.

Aug. 7 — E. D. Townsend left Eastland this morning to take a bunch of horses and mules down south.

Aug. 8 — Rain.

Aug. 9 — Thunder storm and rain.

Aug. 10 — Bad on the cotton, but fine for cane and grapes.

The town cows are getting fat and stay out late at night.

Aug. 21 — Last Sunday as Mr. Peard and wife were coming home from camp meeting, their horse took fright at some boys. The buggy turned over. They made a narrow escape.

Aug. 24 — C. H. Simmons has built a first class storm cellar and a new barn and stable for his cattle and hogs.

Aug. 29 — Steam was raised today at the Downtain cotton gin to try the machinery and now it gins cotton at all times.

Aug. 30 — A party of "salvation cranks," two men and two women, made a raid on the churches of town. The preacher, an old demented woman, made the fur fly. She said the Catholics were all bound for hell; the Methodists were all a set of hypocrites, dead beats and liars and never had any religion anyway; the Campbellites were no better. She is a good talker. They will preach again tonight at the courthouse door.

HOME CANNING SUGAR NOW AVAILABLE

The suggestions below are made by the OPA and should be observed by everyone.

1. Spare Stamp No. 9 is now good for 5 pounds of sugar for home canning. This stamp is good through October 31, 1946.
2. Keep this stamp until you really need the sugar for home canning. Don't spend it until fresh fruits are ready for canning. That will help you make sure that you use this sugar for canning—not for your table, baking or other purposes.
3. You may live in a place where canning is done some time in the summer—not in the spring. When your canning season comes around, your grocer will have enough surplus "cash" these canning sugar stamps.
4. In the canning season, if a will probably make another stamp good for canning sugar. This second stamp is expected to be made good for only up to five cents. This means that the most you'll get is 10 pounds of canning sugar for every member of your family.
5. Use one pound of canning sugar for at least four quarts of fruit.
6. Play fair and square with your

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (UP)—A 46-year old San Antonio man booked recently on a charge of being drunk and using abusive language paid his $5.00 fine by pealing a "fiver" off a roll totaling $4,600.

friends and neighbors—and with the hungry peoples abroad. Don't buy sugar for canning without giving up the required sugar stamps. Pay no more than the ceiling price on sugar. Help stop "black marketing."

I GIVE YOU TEXAS By Boyce House

It's an old one but I've always liked the story of the intoxicated man who was shoved out the front door of the club and he announced to a bystander, "I'm gonna go back in there and throw 'em all out. You stand here an' count 'em." So he made his wobbly way back up the steps and back into the building. In a little while the door flew open and out sailed a form. The man on the street said "One." The figure on the sidewalk slowly rose and said, "Don't start counting yet; this is just me comin' out again."

And changing the subject: For the first breakfast in their home, the bride cooked some biscuits. Her husband said, "Darling, don't cook biscuits anymore; you are too light to do such heavy work."

Here's a little poem whose author is unknown, entitled "Give Them the Flowers Now."

Closed eyes can't see white roses. Cold hands can't hold them, you know; Breath that is stilled can not gather The odors that sweet from them blow. Death, with a peace beyond dreaming, Its children of earth doth endow; Life is the time we can help them, So give them the flowers now. Here are the struggles and striving, Here are the cares and tears; Now is the time to be smoothing The frowns and the furrows and fears. What, to closed ears, are kind sayings? What, to hushed heart, is deep vow? Naught can avail after parting, So give them the flowers now. Just a kind word or a greeting, Just a warm clasp or a smile— These are the flowers that will lighten The burdens for many a mile. After the journey is over, What is the use of them? How can they carry them, who must be carried, Oh, give them the flowers now. Blooms from the happy heart's garden, Plucked in the spirit of love; Blooms that are earthly reflections On flowers that blossom above— Words can not tell what a measure Of blessings such gifts may allow To dwell in the lives of many; So give them the flowers now.

GRAY AND BLUE — Even a glamorous opera star has economical ideas on dressing. Elaine Rost, of NBC's "Backstage Wife," bought her peacock blue gabardine suit in a department store and made her gray broadcloth blouse herself. She put a bow on the blouse front and Mexican silver buttons. Her own little milliner made the hat. Gray shoes and a gray bag complete the costume.

TOWN AND—For town and country this pretty pink, black and white border print dress is chosen by Elaine Rost, of NBC's "Backstage Wife." Its medium price (under eight dollars) is another asset. The fabric is a linen-like rayon called Irelin that washes with great ease. Annetta designed it.

years of service has come the conviction that we should stop thinking of an old age pension as a dole which we grant to the needy. I believe in an old age pension as a matter of right—as something we earn in our productive years by our contributions to the up-building of the community. I shall do my best to see that just principles are embodied in our pension laws. We have had far too much political hypocrisy in connection with this issue in recent years.

Labor and Industry
Strikes and labor disputes are today the most disturbing issues in our national life. America stands on the brink of economic disaster. Once we thought it could not happen here. Regardless of the justice or injustice of individual strikes, when the welfare of our nation is threatened, we must call a halt. When collective bargaining fails in such cases, I favor compulsory arbitration by a government agency responsible to the people. Though we may disagree as to the remedy for these ills, we are all agreed on our aspirations for our country. All of us aspire to establish social and economic justice and to maintain equality of opportunity. Stabilization of the relationship between labor and industry must be established and maintained. American institutions, traditions and ideals depend upon this.

In 1940 I received an appointment from the U. S. Department of Commerce as assistant supervisor of the 17th district for the Bureau of Census. I traveled over ten thousand miles over the district in this capacity. It was truly a fact-finding job. During the business census I came to know the problems which confront the business man both large and small, as well as the problem of the farmer and stockman. The growth and welfare of our district must be aided and encouraged by a courageous voice in Congress. I propose to work with our business leaders in the removal of discriminations against the Southwest, and with our public officials and other groups who seek advice and assistance from Federal agencies. My compelling desire is to represent and serve all of the people of the 17th Congressional District in every attempt in making our district a better place in which to live.

The lower body (measuring only fractionally over five feet in height) has been produced without any sacrifice in headroom by moving the passenger compartment forward. Passengers now ride well ahead of the rear axle in a zone where road irregularities are least felt.
Lowering the car floor, accompanied by a scientific redistribution of chassis weight, increases driving and riding ease. The center of gravity is lower. Cars seemingly "hug" the highway, a point that is readily evident on curves.
A further improvement in safety speeds.

ty is effected by Studebaker's new self-adjusting brakes. An important "first" in transportation, the mechanism assures quick firm stops throughout the life of the brake lining. The secret lies in a device that automatically moves the brake shoe outward in steps of .005 of an inch as the lining wears.

Non-glare, black light instrument panel illumination, originally developed for fighter aircraft; stronger, box-section frames; broader wheel rims and a more secure method of locking bodies and chassis are other safety features. Also listed among chassis advances is a re-engineered front wheel planar suspension in which spring ends are "floated" in rubber.

Body detail imparts an atmosphere of luxury and reflects a studious regard for comfort and convenience. The spaciousness of the richly tailored interiors is impressive. Door handles are of a new pull-to type. A modishly trimmed instrument panel sets off jumbo-sized dials. A pistolgrip parking brake is located in the center of the dash. Seats are fully adjustable.

Convertibles, two and four-door sedans, business coupes and a fresh treatment of the five-passenger coupe, which has been acclaimed as the most progressive step in automotive styling since the advent of the closed body, will be available in the 1947 Studebaker Champion and Commander lines. Including "Deluxe" and "Regal-Deluxe" series, the cars are offered in 21 bodies.

DON D. PARKER, Post Commander
MRS. GEORGE LANE, Aux. President

W. E. Lowry, Chairman of our Americanism Committee, received a letter from Sid Lowry, Department Service Officer, relative to the return of our War Dead. The plan calls for the return of 328,000 World War II deceased military and naval personnel buried outside the United States. Cost is estimated at from 195 to 215 million dollars and the law as passed and approved May 16, 1946 gives the families the following option: Having the remains returned for final interment in a National Cemetery near their home. The cost of this will be borne entirely by the government. $50 will be allowed toward the local burial expense after the body has arrived home. Cremation at government expense is authorized when desired. Burying the deceased in a permanent American Military Cemetery overseas. All American civilians buried overseas are included in the reburial program, this includes Government employees, Red Cross workers, War correspondents and Merchant Marine personnel. In fact anyone who was engaged in war work or whose death was directly the result of the war. The War Department asks that next of kin of men buried overseas who have changed their address since being notified of the death to write now and give their correct address. Current addresses of next of kin should be mailed to Army Quartermaster General, Memorial Division, War Department, Washington 25, D. C. Marine Corps:

Health Program In Texas Costs 8c Per Person

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—San Antonio's former city sanitary engineer—Willis E. Collins—has revealed that Texas is spending just eight cents per person in its public health program.

Collins says that an expenditure of one-dollar per capita is necessary for the provision of an adequate health service.

He was San Antonio's sanitary engineer from 1939 to 1943 and was for eight years a member of the State Health Department. His statistics originated at a recent meeting of the Texas Public Health Association in Austin.

"Now a resident of a Chicago suburb, where he is chief engineer for a private concern, Collins reviewed the sanitation problems facing San Antonio.

What is needed primarily in the Alamo city, hardest hit by polio in the state, is for civic organizations to pool their efforts to stimulate an adequate health program, organizing public opinion so that local officials can set up necessary programs.

"Too often," Collins said on a visit, "there is lack of organization. Many people are coasting and some are working, but pulling in opposite directions."

The 1939 Manufacturers Census showed that of the nation's 184,230 factories, the top eight-tenths of 1 per cent, or 3,486, employed more than one-third of the total

BRITONS COLD TO SEASHORE IN OCTOBER

LONDON (UP) — One of the biggest "selling jobs" by any government office appeared today to have met a cold response as the Ministry of Labor admitted it hadn't convinced Britons that October is just as good for vacationing as July.

The Ministry said accommodation reports from holiday resorts showed July and August were still the most popular months for holidays.

With the four-day Easter holiday crush fresh in memory, the Ministry prepared to renew its efforts to have the public voluntarily stagger vacation periods in order to avoid transportation, housing and eating crises.

Several resorts reported only a few accommodations still left for the summer months. Resorts have also urged that October be used for vacations, pointing out that they have plenty of accommodations for the latter month. Blackpool reported room for 250,000 guests in October but will be able to handle only 80,000 by July.

Bournemouth can take 70,000 guests a week during July and 140,000 in August. Hastings reported 70 per cent of available accommodations already booked for August and Ramsgate said virtually all rooms for July and the first part of August were already gone.

A Personal Checking Account Is A Must for College Students

When that son or daughter of yours goes away to school, the best way to handle his allowance is through a personal checking account. The advantages are numerous: (1) it teaches him to handle and budget his allowance carefully, (2) the plan is more convenient for you since you needn't send small sums of money frequently... one large deposit will take care of the entire semester, (3) the student is protected from loss or theft because all his money is not in cash, (4) he has money whenever he needs it and need not borrow from his fellow students when an emergency arises, and (5) it provides a diary-like account of all expenditures. Come in and talk it over now, before school starts.

MACMILLAN, 71 TO MAKE 25TH TRIP TO ARCTIC

BOOTHBY HARBOR, Me. (UP) — A rare bird known as the Kumlun Gull will be among the objects of the 25th Arctic expedition sailing from here June 28 under the command of famed explorer Donald-B. MacMillan.

The 71-year-old MacMillan, who in 1922 found the first blue goose eggs ever seen by man, believes he may have found the hitherto-hidden nesting place of the Kumlun Gull. If so, he will settle a long-standing controversy as to whether the bird actually exists.

As usual, MacMillan is making the trip aboard the schooner which has covered 100,000 miles of arctic waters both under his direction and as an exploration vessel for the Navy during the war. After its war duty, the Bowdoin was outfitted for the new expedition at Southport.

Sponsored by the Colorado Museum of Natural History, this voyage has as its goal at least 1,000 soundings of northern waters, charting of little-known coasts and other scientific activities, mainly ornithology.

It's especially fitting that MacMillan's first postwar arctic trip should be on the trim little craft for which he has such a real affection. When the Navy was ready to sell the Bowdoin, MacMillan had to vie with a Massachusetts sword-fishing concern, but his bid won.

"They couldn't have her," he said. "We're going north again. She's as sound as she was on her launching day in 1921. I want to go North on her five or six more times."

When the Navy finished with the Bowdoin, the doughty little vessel was stripped down to the hull—even the engine and galley range had been removed. MacMillan has had a new 100 h.p. diesel engine installed since then.

A TRIBUTE TO RAINEY

"An article, written by Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, appeared in that Capital City newspaper last Sunday upholding the candidacy of Dr. Homer P. Rainey for the Texas governorship and declaring flatly: "Nobody who has the future welfare of our nation at heart can be indifferent to the outcome of the (political) battle."

The story had a four-column headline, reading "Rainey's Race Is Local. His Cause National."

Mrs. Meyer, who frequently writes signed articles in her husband's newspaper, recently completed a tour of the South.

About Rainey she said: "He is a factual, honest and public-spirited man who can not see injustice without doing something about it. He has as little personal ambition as any man I have ever encountered in public or private life."

Lower and wider bodies, re-engineered weight distribution that adds immeasurably to riding safety and comfort, mechanical advances that include self-adjusting brakes and stronger, box-section frames are among the many highspots. Pictured above is the four-door Champion sedan.

URGES ENLISTMENT NOW AND COLLEGE LATER ON

Citing overcrowded conditions prevailing in colleges and universities among other reasons, R. L. Brewer, veteran Registrar of the Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, yesterday expressed the opinion that the average young man graduating from high school this spring would be wise to volunteer for Army service at this time, and start his college career at a later date.

"In the period from November 1945 to March 1946, 800 veterans were registered in SMU. In the following period, March to July, 2400 'fighters for freedom' in World War II whose education was interrupted, are attending classes. From this group our records indicate that some 22100 will register for the fall term and we are receiving applications at the rate of thirty or forty per day. Our capacity is 4,500, and indications point to an expected 5,500 which is more than we can comfortably accommodate under present conditions," Mr. Brewer said.

GI Ingenuity Saves Veterans A Large Sum

FORT WORTH, Tex., (UP)—GI ingenuity saved a dozen veterans $624 in the purchase of Jeeps from the War Assets Administration.

The 12 ex-servicemen saved that amount in transporting the 12 Jeeps from Columbus, Ohio, to Fort Worth.

C. F. McCauley had the idea. He told his friends and they combined to ship their purchases on one flat car consigned to McCauley. Then they paid for it prorata, $123 each. The individual rate would have been $175.

The Jeeps cost $782 in Columbus, or $905 by the time they were delivered here.

Jeans, Shirt-Tails Fade Before Vets

ATHENS, O. (UP)—Add post war notes:
Blue jeans with flapping shirt-tails for campus co-eds are fast disappearing at Ohio University because the men don't like them.
Miss Irma Zuroweste, women's dormitory counselor, says that Ohio University girls "have been much neater about their appearance" now that there is a heavy enrollment of servicemen at the university.
Slacks and jeans were especially prevalent during the war years as campus and club attire when the men were scarce.

What Causes Destructive Fires?

... you guessed it—matches and smoking head the list with a percentage of 29.44. Then comes misuse of electricity 10.28 per cent, followed by lightning, stove flues, petroleum products, etc. During the past 10 years fires have burned up three billion dollars worth of property in the United States, and the figures are increasing despite advanced methods of fire fighting and fire control. Now that we know what causes most destructive fires let each individual lend a hand in helping prevent them.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO OPEN JULY 25 IN BERKSHIRES

LENEX, Mass. (UP) — The Boston Symphony Orchestra opens its annual Berkshire music festival July 25 in gala prewar style at Tanglewood, in the hills of western Massachusetts.

A series of nine concerts extending over three week ends will be given in a bucolic setting. Thousands of music lovers from every corner of the nation are expected to attend. Some will have seats in the music shed. The others will prattle helter-skelter on the lawns of the rambling 200-acre estate—out of luck if it rains.

The program begins and ends with Beethoven symphonies. However, conductor Serge Koussevitzky has included the works of modern composers, among whom are Tchaikoff, Copland, Shostakovich and Martinu.

Before the opening of the festival, the orchestra under the direction of Dr. Koussevitzky will give a series of four chamber music concerts comprised solely of the music of Bach and Mozart. Longtime favorites, including Jach's Brandenburg Concerto and Mozart's Jupiter Symphony, are on the program.

The festivals have been held annually since their inauguration in 1934. Each time they draw a bigger crowd. The Tanglewood estate, where once Nathaniel Hawthorne lived and wrote "Tanglewood Tales," was presented to the symphony orchestra in 1936 by Mrs. Andres Hepburn and her aunt, Miss Mary A. Tappan. The shed was built in 1938. A crowd of 95,000 persons gathered for the series of concerts in 1941.

Nearly a month before the opening of the festival the Berkshire music center opens for six weeks beginning July 1. Unique in purpose, the school gives young musicians a chance to polish their performance before entering the professional fields.

The faculty of the school is composed of the nation's big names in music, including composer Leonard Bernstein, Gregor Piatigorsky, Aaron Copland and opera expert Boris Golidovsky.

The school was closed during the war, but now has accepted more than 300 students in various departments such as composition, instrumentation, conducting, and opera. The opera department plans a performance of Benjamin Britten's opera, "Peter Grimes," a piece that was composed for Tanglewood and produced in England last summer.

'Wooden Money' Always OK in Lumber Town

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UP) — The town of Tenine, Wash., puts no faith in the adage—"Don't take any wooden money."

Town's inhabitants (1,120), who make their livelihood mainly from wood, have learned from experience the real value of "wooden money."

Tenine's experiences with the unusual currency resulted from the failure of the Citizen's Bank of Tenine in 1931.

Assets frozen, and hard-up for cash, the town's Chamber of Commerce agreed to accept assignments of up to 25 per cent of an individual's bank account. In return, paper thin slices of Sitka spruce were glued together and distributed in 25 cents, 50 cents, and one dollar denominations.

The spruce proved to be so serviceable as currency, that $11,525.50 worth of the hard cash was issued before the need for scrip had passed.

Independent Tenine resorted to wood again in 1935 when the Washington state sales tax went into effect.

Aluminum tokens, issued by the state, were too slow in coming so the town's merchants issued their own, made of wood.

Twenty thousand of the small wooden wheels were in circulation before the state of Washington caught up with one of its smallest towns.

OLD COUNTY DEED RECALLS FUEDIN' DAYS

FREDERICK, Okla. (UP) — Oklahoma old timers recalled the colorful tale of Sawson county—no longer in existence—recently when a deed was filed with the Tillman county clerk bearing its name.

The document was filed by William T. Webb for land north of Tipton, Okla., and at the time of the transaction the property was situated in what was known as Swanson county. No record of the transaction had been filed until this year, county officials said.

Swanson county was composed of land just north of the base line, which runs down the main street of the small town of Manitou, Okla., and near the north limits of Tipton. It was a small strip of what is now part of Comanche county and Klawna county.

Definite information as to the reason the county was dissolved cannot be learned, but one story indicates it was because of a "town fight" in the early days when civilization in these parts was a rather turbulent.

The two feuding towns reportedly were Snyder and Mountain Park, Okla., still small communities—quite peaceful these days except for a little postwar jitters.

The feud is said to have begun with the running of a railroad in 1903 when bitter fights took place between residents of the two towns—though Snyder was in the formative stage and the other already an established community.

It was not uncommon for "Pa to sit up all night with his shootin' rod" to see that no harm was done to business houses of the town-ship, the story goes, and many old-timers will vouch for the tale that it was typical of the struggles of early Indian territory towns.

Final outcome of the quarrel was that the county was dissolved and part of the land went to each of the two newly established counties.

Oklahoma government officials say that it is remarkable how the state has advanced from those rough old days to a highly industrial and agricultural region.

93-YEAR-OLD PUBLISHER BEGAN CAREER AS NEWSBOY

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Harry Dies, 93, publisher of the South-west Builder and Contractor, doesn't believe the yarn about hard work killing a man.

Dies began his business career as a newsboy in his native England, where he made the rounds ringing a bell with one hand and carrying a market basket with the latest issues with the other.

As a youth, he came to America with his family, settling in Colorado when Denver was just "a lot of bull teams and Indians."

A succession of hard jobs followed—railroading, typesetting, auditing. He came to Los Angeles in 1884 to work for The Times. In 1897 he purchased a publication called the Builder and Contractor.

Dies has seen the development of Los Angeles from a pueblo, with Broadway sites leasing for only $1 a foot per month, to a city teeming with thousands scattered from the mountains to the sea.

Dies still rides the trolley, transferring once en route, smokes a cigar—a mild one—after dinner, if he wishes, and occasionally takes a little "snifter" if he finds sleeping a little difficult.

One incident in his political life he well remembers.

"One of the delegates stood to put into nomination," he said, "the name of a candidate for the corner's office. There was a pitcher of water and a glass on the speaker's stand. That delegate took two glasses of water before beginning his nominating speech and several more as the speech progressed. Finally someone in the audience rose to a point of order. The chairman asked him to give his point of order.

"This is the first time," he said, "that I ever saw a windmill run by water."

The delegate promptly concluded his speech.

Learning About the Kingdom

Scripture: Luke 9:23-24, 46-48, 57-62; 11:1-4; 17:20-21

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

WHEN Pilate asked Jesus, "Art thou a king, then?" Jesus answered, "Thou sayest that I am a King. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Everyone that is of the truth heareth my voice."

The jesting Pilate did not take Jesus seriously. He replied in the memorable words of cynicism, "What is truth?" And, though he was willing to sacrifice the life of an innocent man for his own advantage, he could not resist jesting with the clamorous enemies of Jesus, "Shall I crucify your king?"

The soldiers, too, had to have their cruel jest, plating their crown of thorns, putting it on His head, robing Him tauntingly in purple and mocking Him, "Hail, King of the Jews!"

In their cruel jesting and clowning they did better than they knew. The crown of thorns has become the truest and noblest crown in history, and He, whom they called in mockery "King of the Jews," has become the King of the World.

It is true that Jesus said that His Kingdom was not of this world, but He spoke of His disciples as "in the world, but not of the world," and that is true also of His Kingdom.

There were two classes who were wrong in their conceptions of Christ and of His Kingdom—the enemies of Jesus, who either believed that He intended to set up an earthly kingdom or professed that belief only to accuse

Him to the Roman authorities; and the friends of Jesus, who hailed Him as the Messiah, about to establish a kingdom on earth. To His friends, Jesus gave the assurance that His Kingdom was spiritual, a Kingdom of inner rule in the hearts of men.

The emphasis of Jesus was not upon outward power and authority, the tokens of earthly kingdoms, but upon the ideas, the faith, the vision, the motives that control conduct. Thus, when He taught His disciples to pray, "Thy Kingdom come," He added the interpretative petition, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven."

We are subject to the danger of materializing the Kingdom of Christ even today. Attempts to establish theocracies, to build Christian states on the basis of external authority and power, have failed. True religion cannot be forced. Christianity must be built upon love, and upon righteousness and truth.

Many people today are looking to the church as a barrier against communism, especially atheistic communism. If this is merely, or chiefly, an appeal for power against power, there can be little doubt of the result. Atheistic revolutionary movements in Europe gained their strength from the failure of power-Christianity.

Communism is a challenge to Christians to make their Christianity real, and to display to the world that a free society established on love and on the principles that Jesus taught offers more hope for humanity than does totalitarian power and authority.

Azobenzine Seen Boon To Flower Growers

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP) An entomologist at Cornell University has discovered a new use for a substance called "azobenzine" which will save the nation's flower growers hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

Dr. W. E. Blauvelt used the substance as a fumigant in vapor form for the first time and discovered it controls red spider mite on roses and can be used on many other flowers, including gardenias, hydrangeas and geraniums.

Azobenzine is not new. It was first synthesized more than 100 years ago. However, it had no industrial use until Blauvelt discovered its effectiveness as a fumigant while testing a dust containing 20 per cent of the substance.

Numerous experiments were made in small greenhouses at Ithaca to iron out the wrinkles. There were no research funds available so five cooperating growers contributed $2,500 to cover expenses. Now four companies are marketing the substance in powder form.

Growers brush it on greenhouse steamships, like ordinary paint. As the pipes heat, the Azobenzine melts and diffuses as an orange-colored vapor, which goes to work on the bugs quickly and effectively.

Users report that not only does it increase production and quantity, but it saves 90 per cent of the former labor cost by eliminating the need for constant syringing of plants.

OUR RECAPS are GUARANTEED for SUMMER DRIVING

Before the war, an amazing material called Underdread was used for truck tire recapping. When a new tread is put on a tire with Underdread it is virtually impossible for it to come loose. Underdread recently became available again. We now use it for all passenger tire recapping. Because we use Underdread we are able to Guarantee Our Recaps for Hot Weather Driving.

OUR SAFETY PLEDGE—We will not accept a tire for recapping unless our examination shows that the carcass is in good condition. This is your assurance that our recaps are safe and dependable for summer driving.
