Eastland Should Have Business Women's Club

October 13 to October 19 is National Business and Professional Women's 19th Anniversary week. Several years back Eastland had a Business and Professional Woman's Club, why doesn't she have one now? Towns over the country have these clubs.

This week over the nation, "Public Affairs, Our Affairs," "Let's Work Together for Better Communities," is the theme, being observed by these clubs.

Many places the clubs invited representatives of government, social, economic, health, education, and welfare agencies, to speak on the most urgent need of his or her agency.

Speakers were asked to offer solutions in working together for better communities.

The woman who works through the day and wants to help improve the community she lives in, would enjoy a club of this kind.

DELEGATION APPEALS FOR AID ON ROAD

Following up a petition that had already been sent to the State Highway Department, a group of business men from Ranger, Eastland, Breckenridge and Caddo went to Austin Monday to appear before the department in the interest of an improved road from Ranger to Caddo.

Those attending the hearing were County Judge P. L. Crossley, County Auditor Don Parker of Eastland; L. R. Pearson, J. J. Kelly, A. N. Larson, P. C. MacDonald, County Commissioner H. V. Davenport and R. V. Galloway of Ranger; Tom Downing of Caddo and County Judge-Elect John Lueders and County Commissioner Lewis of Breckenridge.

The delegation presented facts showing the necessity of the state taking over the Caddo-Ranger road as a far as market road. During the boom in this area, Eastland and Stephens counties spent about a quarter of a million dollars paving this road and the expense of building and maintaining the road were borne without state aid.

In the petition which was signed by 75 to 100 people living along the road, it was pointed out that the road is essential not only as a farm to market road but that medical service is not now available due to the condition of the road. School buses that run over the route are unable to make the trip during bad weather because of the bad condition of the road and furthermore it would be a direct route to Possum Kingdom Lake. It was further pointed out that the fact that the counties originally spent money to build the road shows the necessity for it.

Members of the delegation in Austin Monday stated today that a reply to the petition and hearing should be received within the next ten days.

EASTLAND MAN IS ATTACKED BY THUGS WHILE IN DALLAS

Lowell Snyder, son of Mrs. J. Snyder and brother of Mrs. D. L. Houle, is recovering from wounds received Saturday, October 5, from unknown assailants in downtown Dallas, while he and a friend, Buford Crow, of Lindsey, Oklahoma, were attending the Fair.

They had parked Crow's car, a 1946 Ford, when two men eased up and hit Snyder in the head, cutting a gash in his head just above the right temple and cut the little finger open on his left hand and has a compound fracture of the joint in the finger, he was bruised all over, and was unconscious from 7 p.m. to Sunday at 1 p.m., however he was able to come home in the evening.

Buford Crow was stabbed in the back and had bruises and cuts, but remained conscious, he remained in a hospital several days. Both were carried to a hospital.

Snyder stated they found a soldiers cap in the car and officers found the keys some distance away. They suspected their assailants were after the car and probably became frightened, as nothing was missing.

Proposed Good Roads Amendment Important Issue

The Good Roads Amendment has been proposed to the Constitution whereby these allocations will be made by the Constitution rather than by statute. The people will vote on this amendment at the November 5 General Election and when it is approved by their votes it will be unnecessary for the Legislature to re-enact these allocations each two years. It will guarantee continuation of road user taxes for the exclusive purposes of roads and schools. Briefly this is what it provides:

One-fourth of the gasoline tax will go to the Available School Fund as in the past. Since the Supreme Court ruled taxes are not occupation taxes, there is no constitutional guarantee of this allocation until the Good Roads Amendment is adopted.

The remaining three-fourths of the gasoline tax and all the registration fees will be used exclusively for road purposes. Road purposes are defined to include right-of-way purchases, construction, maintenance, enforcing safety and traffic laws and policing all public roads, payment of eligible county bonds, etc.

The counties are assured their present maximum amounts and percentages of motor vehicle registration fees, and of course the amendment proposes no changes in the law providing refunds for taxes paid on gasoline not used to propel vehicles on public roads.

The Good Roads Amendment merely guarantees by Constitution that the present statutory provisions will continue and it makes road user taxes subject to the direction, appropriation, and allocation of the Legislature so long as they are used for roads and so long as the Available School Fund gets its one-fourth of the gasoline tax.

The greatest distance around the earth is at the equator, and is 24,902 statute miles.

Tanner's Letter Points Out Some Eastland Needs

The following from Secretary-Manager H. J. Tanner of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce is self-explanatory and sets out some things citizens of Eastland should give careful consideration to: "Eastland Chronicle, Eastland, Texas, Dear Sirs:

Steady progress is being made in securing industries to locate in Eastland with resultant payrolls vitally needed in our economic advancement.

The Texas Light Weight Aggregate Company which through local efforts were induced to locate here have started the manufacturing of Haydite. They have their first kiln in operation and are now installing the second one. Company officials anticipate duplicating their present equipment in the very near future.

In getting the Texas Light Weight Aggregate Company to locate here we did so at no cash financial outlay on the part of our citizens.

One of our great drawbacks in securing new industries to locate here is the lack of buildings.

The Hollywood Corset Company which manufactures brassiers are opening a plant in Eastland. They will employ seventy-five or more Eastland citizens, a greater majority of which will be women. We have negotiated a deal to rent the Masonic Building where this plant will be located.

The Chamber of Commerce is setting out to raise a fund of $10,000.00 to be used as a revolving fund solely for industrial purposes. This fund will be known as "The Greater Eastland Fund."

The Hollywood Corset Company will pay rent in the amount of $100.00 per month, $25.00 of this going to the Masonic Lodge and $75.00 will be returned into "The Greater Eastland Fund." The cash outlay necessary to remodel and enlarge the Masonic Building will be paid back through rentals in a period of seven years.

Many cities in Texas have raised or are raising funds to be used only for the securing of new industries. Some cities the size of our city have raised as much as $25,000.00. The fund is in no sense a subsidy as it will be used in making available absolute essentials for securing industries and the returns will be paid back into "The Greater Eastland Fund."

In the very near future the Committee will contact you and discuss this matter with you in detail. This Committee is composed of the following citizens: Victor Cornelius, chairman, John Turner, W. B. Pickens, L. E. McGraw, Theo Lamb, and J. Carl Johnson. By our combined efforts we will hasten Eastland's advancement.

Sincerely yours,
H. J. Tanner
Secretary-Manager"

ANOTHER INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE?

It is almost a year since representatives of management and labor gathered in Washington, at the Secretary of Labor's invitation, to work out a formula for industrial peace and speedy reconversion. We don't remember much about that conference except that at one point John L. Lewis said to Philip Murray, "Nuts to you," and Murray replied, "Nuts to you too, sir."

We believe, however, that the recollection is an accurate synthesis of what took place. Rival union groups bickered. So did labor and management representatives. The sorry industrial history of the ensuing months reveals how little was accomplished.

Now Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, has asked the automobile industry to join with the UAW in petitioning President Truman to call another labor-management-public conference.

There are a couple of interesting points to the UAW leader's proposal. This time it is a labor representative and not a government official who is suggesting a conference. And this time Reuther is not aiming angry polemics at industry executives. The tone of his statement suggests his conviction that the situation is too serious for wild claims, wilder demands and mutually bitter accusations such as have distinguished UAW-industry dealings in the past.

Well, perhaps another conference would do some good. We believe that the facts are already at hand, and that the greatest need is for the responsible parties to face them squarely and act upon them. But it still might be well for labor and management and the public to get together again in the light of the bitter industrial lessons that 1946 has taught.

Perhaps labor and management are ready at last to take open minds and good manners in the conference table and attempt a really sensible production program. We don't know.

But we do feel certain that Reuther is being unwise in excluding government from his projected meeting. At last year's conference the government role was largely that of host and adviser. Yet another glance at the first nine months of 1946 reveals that government played a leading part in a sorry economic drama.

Labor, management and the public might bring the best will in the world to the problem of ending the wave of strikes, getting production going and halting the inflationary spiral. But they could not hope for much success without at least a general idea of what and how much the government plans to do, and when.

Boy Learns His Lesson Hard Way

GOOSE CREEK, Tex. (UP) — Tommy Brundrett learned a lesson away from his junior high school classroom recently—the lesson that silence is golden. A motorist had picked him up and asked him questions about the school. With perfect frankness, Tommy told about the things "we get by with" and how "we just cut up all the time." Tommy also told the stranger that "the next fellow that comes to Horace Mann will have a hard time; there is nobody who can take the place of W. T. Crenger who left this year."

When Tommy next saw the man, his face flamed. The motorist who gave him the ride was W. D. Hibson, the new principal of Horace Mann junior high school.

Sports Minded Mayor Putting City On Map

By William S. Bittner
United Press Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — Every two years, along about the last Saturday in November, the football spotlight hits Columbus when Michigan and Ohio State universities meet on the gridiron in their traditional rivalry.

Young "Jim" Rhodes, 36-year-old mayor of Columbus, wants the country to know Columbus has other claims to sports fame than the record of going a bit "wacky" when Ohio State and Michigan meet here.

He has set forth an ambitious program to bring fame to this central Ohio city by a series of big-time sports events which he hopes will become regular events for big-time competitors.

The Nationwide Caddie Tournament this year was his brain-child. He even went so far in his plans for that event to include the President of the United States in the program. The President awarded the winners' trophy in Washington at the White House.

The Rhodes' ideas keep coming. He has planned for the future:

1. A bowling tournament for pin boys this winter—to find the Columbus champion. Then next winter a national tournament for pin setters from all over the country.
2. The National Outdoor Swimming Meet (for men and women) in Columbus for next summer.
3. Establishment of a Boys Club of America Chapter here.

The $10,500 Invitational Golf Tournament here last July, which attracted big-time golfers, was one of Rhodes' projects.

It is just a matter of time until Rhodes becomes president of the National Amateur Athletic Union. He is now second vice president. He is president of the Ohio Amateur Athletic Union and Ohio softball commissioner.

At the age of 34, when he was sworn in as Columbus' youngest mayor, the people were saying a great political career lay ahead of him. "He'll be governor at least," they said.

A bout politics, they haven't changed their minds. But they are beginning to think that his activity in sports may overshadow his statesmanship.

Too little water given to growing chicks and poulters results in poor growth and less efficiency in the use of feed.

How to Grow Christmas Flowers in Your Home

Amateurs planning to grow bulbs indoors for winter gardens should obtain them early and grow them slowly. The lovely Paper White narcissus, and its golden cousin, narcissus soliel d'or, will flower for Christmas if started by Nov. 1 and grown in the proper temperature. Failure is usually due to fast growth stimulated by high temperatures, which result in scanty roots, spindly top growth, and no flowers at all, or very poor ones. Whether grown in gravel and water, bulb fibre, or soil, containers several inches deep should be used, so there is plenty of room for roots. Set the bulbs close together, but do not let them touch. There should be two inches of gravel, soil or fibre below them, and water should be kept only high enough to touch the base of the bulbs.

Daffodils Flowered in the House.

Root formation precedes top growth and should take four weeks. A temperature below 60 degrees is essential, and it may be kept below 50. Roots develop best in the dark, but with these bulbs a subdued light is permissible. When the roots are fully developed, top growth will begin, and at this stage the bulbs can be given more light though it is well to keep them out of direct sun until flower stalks begin to develop. Then give them all the light possible.

Best flowers will result if a temperature of 65 degrees is never exceeded. Be careful to keep the plants away from steam pipes and radiators, or living rooms heated above 70 degrees. They should be near windows where there is light and temperatures are lower. An enclosed porch or sunparlor where ventilation can be given, and temperatures kept down, is the best place for the winter garden. By arranging shelves in front of the windows, on which the plants can stand, an attractive display is made, and favorable conditions provided.

Large bulbs of Dutch hyacinths can be grown in water in special glasses, which support the bulb just above the water, in which their roots develop. It takes 10 to 12 weeks for the roots to develop, in a dark place, in cool temperature. When roots fill the glass, and top growth begins, accustom the plant gradually to light, and grow them slowly in a temperature under 65 degrees.

All the bulbs which have been mentioned can be grown in soil, and usually produce better flowers. In addition, daffodils, tulips and amaryllis can be grown. The soil should be what florists call good "potting" soil.

Two parts of your best top garden soil, one part sand and one part of peat moss will make a good substitute. Add more sand if the top soil is heavy, thoroughly mix and run through a 1/2-inch mesh screen. Place each bulb so that its point is half an inch below the surface. Now it is necessary to allow the bulb to make roots; and for this purpose the pot must be placed in a dark and cool place, where it cannot freeze or dry out too much. A cold frame, where it can be covered with leaves, ashes or sand, will do.

When placed in this storage the pot should be thoroughly soaked, and no further watering should be necessary. If stored in an indoor cellar or closet the soil should be prevented from drying out excessively. Root action will follow and when top growth begins the pot may be brought indoors or kept in the storage place and so retarded until wanted.

After being brought indoors the pot must be given all the light possible and kept in a temperature which averages 60 degrees until stems, leaves and flower buds are formed. After buds are formed a temperature of 70 degrees will bring out the flowers, and if more is needed a higher temperature will induce it.

Veterans High School Follows Relaxed Rules

BOSTON (UP) — A high school where students may leave the building, smoke, or, in many cases, call up their wives, is flourishing in the reputedly staid city of Boston.

Perhaps the only one of its kind in the nation, the Boston School for Veterans has a n e academic year under its Sam Browne belt and embarked on the second Sept. 12.

Germinating from an idea by members of the Boston school committee, this novel veterans - only high school opened its doors Dec. 3, 1945 under the head-mastership of former navy Lt. Comdr. Henry McInerney. All faculty members are veterans.

To date, the students' ages have ranged from 19 to 50, the only qualifications being that the applicant live in Boston and have a wartime service record. Thus far the student body has been divided equally between those earning diplomas and those taking refresher courses for college.

McInerney, who taught at other Boston public schools before entering the navy, has only the highest praise for his battle-hardened pupils.

"We have no disciplinary problem, the way you might have at other high schools," he said. "These men have seen too much of life to be fooling around. They're serious and they learn fast. We've even had 150 married men."

The average home has more than 150 locks. The world's lock factories produce more than 50 million locks yearly to keep belongings safe.

Your Eyes Work 105 Hours a Week

They Need Good Light To Make Seeing Easier

From the time you get up in the morning til you turn off the lights at night, your eyes are busy doing at least 15 hours of work each day. This overtime work for your eyes demands that you have ample light to avoid needless fatigue and eyestrain.

You can provide your eyes with good light needed to make seeing easier and to safeguard precious eyesight by following these suggestions:

- Get bulbs large enough to provide the full amount of light your eyes need.
- Use wide shades with white linings to direct the light on your work or book.
- Keep lamp bulbs and shades clean. You'll get as much as 30% more light.
- Place lamps as close as practical when you read or sew.

LIGHT IS CHEAP!

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

They say that J. Evetts Haley, noted Texas author, once visited a Fort Worth book store. His newest volume was on display. Picking up a copy, he asked the saleslady, "Is this book any good?" Not knowing she was speaking to the man who had written it, she answered, "You bet it is! The pictures were drawn by Harold Burgee!"

Pugbee is, of course, the Clarendon artist. None of us can resist the temptation to say, "I told you." Last summer, I warned that an effort would be made next January, when the legislature meets, to repeal the tax exemption on the gasoline the farmers burn in their tractors. Well, those in favoring of removing the exemption didn't wait till January; the campaign has already started.

The farmer is the most heavily taxed man in Texas in proportion to income and property. His land can't escape taxation because it is out in the open where everybody can see it; he couldn't hide it, even if he wanted to. And he pays 4 cents a gallon on the gasoline he burns in his automobile—and mainly drives over community roads that are dusty half the year and nearly impassable with mud the rest of the time. And they are going to try to make him pay a tax on the gasoline he uses in his tractor.

A favorite story is the one about the Irishman who captured 17 enemy soldiers, single-handed. The general asked, "How did you do it?" He said, "I surrounded 'em."

We have read many times that Robert E. Lee was second in his class at West Point. What happened to the fellow who was first?

Worry is the interest people pay on trouble before it becomes due.

QuickRising Bread Sets Inflation Mark

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Eugene Eisen reports the quickest case of inflation on record.

Eisen went into a bakery for a loaf of bread. The salesgirl asked for 13 cents. As he fumbled for the change, Eisen discovered that he would have to give the girl a $10 bill. She went for his money, and when she returned said "Bread has gone up and now it is 17 cents."

Sandwich Plane Held Ideal For Family Model

By David A. Loehwing

United Press Staff Correspondent PARIS (UP)—The development of "sandwich" construction, boosted during the war by the success of the British mosquito fighter-bomber, will pave the way toward future construction of cheap, family-type airplanes.

That was the prediction of Dr. Nicholas J. Hoff, professor of aeronautical engineering at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, in a statement before the first post-war meeting of the Sixth International Congress for Applied Mechanics at Sorbonne University.

The "sandwich" plane utilizes a basic core material, either cork, balsa wood, rubber or cellulose acetate, sandwiched between two layers of strong surface material such as plywood paper or aluminum alloy.

Economics effected in molding alone, as contrasted with the cost of this operation in construction of the aluminum riveted planes which won the war, represent the answer to reasonably-priced private planes with family seating capacity, and cheaper commercial planes.

It also eliminates the network of reinforcing elements necessary in modern aluminum planes. A large bomber, Dr. Hoff pointed out, has more than 3,000,000 rivets.

Other advantages, Dr. Hoff said include "better aerodynamic properties than are possible in the present aluminum construction in high speed aircraft, greater durability than is possible in fabric-covered planes in light aircraft, and the increased amount of useful space because of the small number of internal reinforcements."

"A small cabin plane on the sandwich principle," Dr. Hoff ad-

ed, "will be more streamlined and tracier than the great bombers of World War II."

Dr. Hoff has been experimenting with the sandwich principle for the past seven years, but his efforts were discounted until the deHavilland Company in England proved its possibilities with the "mosquito."

He said many outstanding American airplane companies are experimenting with this type of construction, of which the fiberglass experimental model built by the Army Air Forces at Wright Field is the most widely known to date.

Italy Confronted With Problem Of 2,000,000 Idle

ROME (UP) — Italy has more than 2,000,000 unemployed, reputedly the highest figure in Europe, Italian government authorities report.

A survey conducted by the Socialist organ, Avanti, from government figures showed that there were 1,683,077 registered unemployed workers in the various regions of Italy. The survey emphasized that the number of unregistered unemployed workers may exceed 500,000.

Thus, in relation to its inhabitants, Italy has one-twentieth of its population unemployed. Compared with the proportion of the unemployed in the United States at the time of the peak unemployment, when one-third of American inhabitants were unemployed, Italy is fast approaching the position of the United States in the most critical unemployment period.

Italians keep coming home from their PW camps, from Africa, and from Russia. Private enterprise is not undertaking large scale operations to absorb the unemployed. The state's public works program gives many employment, but it cannot absorb more than about one-third of the present unemployed.

Private business has been negotiating with government and labor representatives to remove the ban on laying off thousands of workers drawing pay though idle. Both government and labor representatives are trying to unfreeze labor gradually and prevent a catastrophic discharge of workers who would swell the ranks of the unemployed.

Specialists Find Exercise Aids Arthritis Cases

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The best treatment for victims of rheumatoid arthritis is more exercise and less rest.

That is the finding reported by Dr. George M. Piersol and Dr. Joseph L. Hollander, physicians associated with the hospital and medical schools of the University of Pennsylvania.

They based their findings on the treatment of thousands of cases of rheumatoid arthritis at army rheumatic disease centers. They said experience showed "remissions in the disease occurred at least as quickly on exercise to the limit of the individual's tolerance as on bed rest, and with much rarer incidence of muscle atrophy and contractures."

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Barney Boling, cartographer for the state highway department, has a profitable hobby.

While in the navy, he handcarved a polished wood set of chessmen and a box of them with a checkered board inlaid on the cover. Urged by friends to enter his set in a USO hobby contest, Boling won a prize of $1,000.

He used the prize money to finish payments on his home. But now that he has his home, he is too busy "fixing screen doors and doing other household chores" to give any time to his hobby.

Besides Gunpowder China Started Kraut

CHICAGO (UP) — The Germans may not know it but the Chinese served the first dish of their favorite food. The National Kraut Packers Association has discovered the Chinese invented sauerkraut.

In fact, the association found, sauerkraut, by a different name, was so popular as a strength-giving food more than 2,200 years ago that it was served to the laborers who built the Great Wall of China.

The Chinese still use the original recipe, which called for fermenting cabbage in wine. Later the Egyptians started eating sauerkraut, the association said. They liked it so well they built altars to it.

Women Drivers May Be As Bad As Men Claim

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — It may be true what men say of feminine drivers.

Recently automobiles were stalled in four directions at a downtown intersection in Austin for 20 minutes of the mid-morning rush hour.

Our national convention closed in San Francisco with the election of Paul H. Griffith who served the department of Pennsylvania as commander and at the time of his election as national commander was a member of the national Americanism commission and is well acquainted with the infiltration into our country of enemies who are spending huge sums of money to circulate their theories and doctrines that are so detrimental in undermining our democratic way of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pullman and children attended the Dallas state fair last Saturday, they also visited with relatives while in Dallas.

What is an atom and how do we make bombs out of the things?— seems to be a common question that lingers in our mind. To make a long story short we'll use a grain of salt for an example; instead of calling it a grain of salt, let's call it a molecule of salt, which tells us that salt is made up of different substances, which are atoms of chlorine and sodium. Sugar is composed of atoms of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. No, the atomic bomb is not made out of salt and sugar atoms, rather its atoms come from an element known as Uranium. Now here's the pay-off: "How to make an Atomic Bomb" (Russia please take notice) Get some Uranium, perhaps you can do it up in your back yard, you'll find Uranium is composed of three substances of different atomic weights, you must extract the heaviest of these three, leaving you the pure Uranium, lets call it U-235, next you split this U-235 in two parts, in doing so you will notice each part will release a number of high-speed energy particles known as neutrons, these neutrons must be slowed down in order to start a cyclic action, such as a string of firecrackers, one split atom, automatically setting off another, resulting in a terrific explosion, each atom is capable of releasing 200,000,000 electron volts. So there you have the secret of the atomic bomb, simple isn't it?

Fewer Skunks in Missouri
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP) —For better or worse, Missouri's skunk population is on the decline. So says the conservation commission, which reported that only 43,000 skunk pelts were taken during the 1945-46 season—a drop of almost five per cent.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Want a Vacation from Marriage?
Alvin Blake went south on his vacation, for some fishing, and left his Missus to enjoy a vacation from the corn-cob pipe, clothes in a heap, and solos on the harmonica.
First few days, Martha enjoyed it—house neat and quiet, top back on the toothpaste, no morning mess from Alvin's midnight snacks (Al's partial to a bit of cheese and beer at bedtime).
Come the end of the week, she began to fidget; couldn't even read the Clarion, it looked so unmissed; didn't have any appetite with no body to cook for. She was about to wire Al, when he barges home a week ahead of time, and she almost cries for gratitude. ("Felt the same way myself," says Al.)
From where I sit, those differences of habit and opinion—whether they have to do with corn-cob pipes, a glass of beer, or playing the harmonica, seem mighty trivial when you're separated. And they are, too!

Building farm telephone lines is one of our big jobs

We're hard at work at the job of providing more and better telephone service to farmers throughout the Southwest right now. We knew it would be a big job when we set a goal of 165,000 new rural telephones in five years—40,000 of them this year alone.
Shortages of copper, lead, poles, steel, and other equipment have kept us from building as many lines as we had planned, but the future looks brighter.
The jobs of surveying, interviewing, and building are now under way in more than 250 rural areas. Sooner or later we'll get to every farmer who is waiting for a telephone.

Great Lakes Tragedy Sloop To Be Raised And Sailed Again

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (UP)—

The wrecked sloop Half Moon, lying 90 feet below the surface of Green Bay, faces a new chapter in its stormy, fatal career. The 21-foot sailing sloop went down during a winter storm, carrying to their deaths Captain Smith, whose kayak-shed building and industrial magnets, who were killed in the storm, and a Chicagoan.

The vessel has been bought by a group of local business men. The plan is to raise her for sailing on Lake Michigan. Captain Smith bought the sloop in 1943 from Grandy and brought her to Lake Michigan, where she became a contender in Great Lakes races.

The sloop party was returning from a race when the storm hit. On its way to Green Bay, the sloop was hit by a wave which caused it to pitch and roll. The sloop was about half a mile from shore when it was hit.

The Half Moon was built at Onondaga, N.Y., and was used as one of the most seaworthy craft of her time. She was owned for a time by James Roosevelt, son of the late president, who sold her to V. S. Grandy, merchant.

The last time received notice of an exceptionally severe storm when she weathered two severe storms on the Atlantic, one off Chesapeake Bay with Roosevelt as the owner and another off the coast of Virginia with Grandy as owner.

16 Men Settle Down For Winter Atop Mile-High Mt. Washington

MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. (UP)—

Sixteen men have settled down for the winter on top of mile-high Mt. Washington, where the snowfall averages nearly 200 inches and the winds reach 200 miles an hour. The 16 men—a record winter population for the northeast's highest peak—form the crews for the weather station and the FM outlet for a radio network.

Their fuel and food supply is all stored away and they're set for whatever the weather brings. In the past it has brought the highest wind ever recorded—231 miles an hour—temperatures as low as 46 degrees below zero and a mean average snowfall of 192.6 inches.

Because they live in the "worst weather in the world," the men work only three weeks at a time and then have one week off. But to take advantage of the week off, they have to ski down the carriage road and then walk back—an eight-mile trip.

The weather changes so suddenly that it is not uncommon for a returning worker to get in sight of the summit house and have to turn back because of a blizzard above the timber line.

Besides regular duties, the summit crew have two special projects this winter. One is experiments with a new instrument to weather the water content of clouds and the other is a project to study icing on airplane wings.

The buildings on the summit are anchored to the ground and are of extra sturdy construction to withstand the "triple hurricanes" that blow. The men report that they would be comfortable even in the wildest storms if they could stay indoors. However, they have to go outside to keep instruments clear of ice and in operating condition.

The record wind of 231 miles an hour was recorded April 12, 1934 and none of the four buildings built 6,284 feet above sea level was damaged. A wind vane was knocked over. That was all.

Famed Bridge To Provide Wood For Bonfire

WACO, Tex. (UP)—

Wood for the homecoming bon-fire which is usually the worry of every college freshman this time of year is no problem at Baylor university. The frosh, with thousands of Baylor students and ex-students that will gather for the Baylor-Texas A&M game Oct. 26, have already acquired wood for the fire. They are to burn the bridge that has crossed Waco creek on Baylor's campus and is familiar to every man who has attended the school in the last 25 years.

Records show the bridge, which Baylor men have plod across from the dormitory to classes and back has been the goal of many freshman arsonists for a score of years. Though the amateur firebugs have claimed in years past that the wooden bridge torn down in favor said Baylor's alert, bucket-brigade faculty is the reason for the bridge's continued existence.

The spring of '45 saw the wooden bridge torn down in favor of a concrete span donated by a North Texas bridge-builder and a former Baylor student. Handled carefully and stored in sections, the whole of the old bridge has been preserved for the '46 homecoming ceremony.

Many a man loyal to the Green & Gold can realize his urge Oct. 25, when all will be permitted to throw some part of the bridge into the blaze. With their arms locked and their voices echoing to the strains of "The Good Ole Baylor Line," students and exes from every corner of the U. S. will unite in Baylor's first peacetime homecoming.

When's A Bass Not A Bass? When It's A White Perch

GONCORD, N.H. (UP)—Fisher-men and hunters in New Hampshire probably will say, "What's in a name?" but the fact is, they are miscalling things.

According to the state planning and development commission, many fish and game specimens are not named correctly in New Hampshire.

What is called the brook trout, for example, actually is a charr; the white perch is true bass; the bass is a member of the sunfish family; and the shad of Lake Winnepesaukee is a whitefish.

As for the errors in game names, a partridge is actually a grouse; snowshoe rabbits are really hares; quail are more nearly true partridge; and the moose is an elk.

Hypnotism Aids Tooth Pulling

BAKERSFIELD, Cal. (UP)—

Hypnotism, long thought of as a good stage trick and now used in medicine and in curing mental illness, has found a happy place in dentistry here. Mrs. Violet Nicola went to Henderick's Medical - Dental Clinic. She had two teeth that had to come out and she was allergic to all types of anesthetic.

Dr. Niel Norton, consulting psycho-therapist, and two other doctors were called for consultation by Dr. Meredith Hendricks, who was to remove the teeth. Norton began talking to Mrs. Nicola. Within a few minutes she was in a hypnotic trance.

Thirty minutes later she was brought out of it, minus her two teeth, but completely unaware that they were gone. Though the doctors and two other witnesses told her the operation was over, a mirror was the only thing that convinced her.

Dr. W. G. Hendricks, a brother of the doctor who performed the operation, reported Mrs. Nicola suffered no ill after-effects such as bleeding, swelling or shock.

Post-War Traffic Boos On Pike In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—

Business is getting better every day on Pennsylvania's highway deluxe. Officials of the $70,000,000 Pennsylvania Turnpike said traffic volume, increasing steadily, totaled 1,638,166 vehicles for the first eight months of this year, only about 20,000 short of the 1941 peak for the corresponding period. January-to-August income of $2,484,244 topped about $450,000 the 1941 return.

The turnpike staff was unprepared for the sudden increase in traffic immediately after V-E day, according to Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, but he said the turnpike is now in excellent shape and ready for post-war motordom.

PROPER WAY TO MARK BALLOT

FOR: The Amendment to the Constitution of the State

Thomas A. Edison broke his bamboo pole while on a fishing trip and it was while experimenting with the splinters that he perfected the first filaments for the electric light.

Approximately 2,351,000 persons in the U.S. each year play at least 10 rounds of golf a year. More than 63,000,000,000 games are played annually on the nation's 6,209 courses.

BETTER HEALTH PROGRAM PROPOSED FOR SECURITY

CHICAGO (UP) — The Research Council for Economic Security forges a better-planned medical service program in the United States which would include helicopters to fly doctors over impassable roads.

The council found that in some respects "our existing health organization is orthodox and inflexible in application."

Among developments, the council expects state-wide free ambulance services to get operative cases to the hospital quickly, mobile health clinics for isolated settlements, and public health teams working regular routes like postmen.

The study, entitled "Our National Health Problem," was based upon a statistical report made by Gerhard Hirschfeld, director of the council and Carl W. Strow, associate director. Their statistics were published originally in the American Sociological Review.

The council found out that medical needs in every state and locality are different.

"Those who advocate some single measure to safeguard the national health fail to realize the complexity of the problem," the council reported.

Close study of data, the council said, reveals "enormous fluctuations" between the 48 states in population, medical facilities, sanitation and other matters relating to health.

Seven of the nine states having the highest mortality rate from heart disease are in New England. Put, the council said, people live longer in New England and the death rate from heart disease reflects the longevity.

Of the ten states leading in tuberculosis mortality rates, eight are in the south. Tennessee and Kentucky have a death rate from tuberculosis four times as high as Utah, Wyoming, and Nebraska.

Studies by the council show that the cancer mortality is most pronounced among older persons having good incomes and living in cities. Six of the seven states with greatest number of deaths from cancer are in New England.

Influenza and pneumonia deaths are highest in the south where poverty and poor sanitation are important contributing factors.

The council concluded that "the causes of death show how much the health problems of one locality, one age group, or one income group differ from those of others. We would waste part of our effort if we blanketed the country with a packaged program."

Seek Aid For Fifteen Counties

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Texas Water Conservation Association at a meeting in Austin, started a concerted movement to have the state legislature appropriate funds to 15 counties that have tax remissions for flood control works.

The taxes that had been remitted to these counties were the state ad valorem taxes ordinarily collected by the counties and turned over to the state treasurer for the state general fund.

When no state ad valorem tax for general purposes was levied for 1947, the counties lost that much in the sense that they had been collecting the tax and using it to pay off bond indebtedness on their control projects.

Now they still have to pay the bond indebtedness without the remitted taxes with which to do it.

School Football Survey Shows Few Injuries

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Records of high school accidents gathered by the Texas Interscholastic League show but three per cent of school injuries due to playing football.

The league is sponsored by the University of Texas. Last season 438 schools participated in league football with 17,347 players. Most of the schools responded to a questionnaire on injuries.

Results showed no fatality for the season. There were 270 fractures and 397 sprains.

School buildings, not playing fields, were the location of 21 per cent of the pupil accidents.

The term "express train" originally had no connection with how fast the train traveled. It meant a train running for some special purpose or engaged by a private person.

45,000 Volume Library Placed In Medical Center

(UP) — A 45,000 volume library—dealing from books on military strategy in the revolutionary war to mysteries and today's best sellers—has recently been installed in the library at the Army Medical Department's schools here.

Officials say 90 per cent of the 200 best books of the last four years which were recommended by the Board of Congressional Experts for the White House Library were on the book shelves at the time the approved list was published.

The library was moved from Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, to Brooke Army Medical Center to accompany the opening of the Medical Department Schools. It has, in addition to many rare and unusual volumes long out of print, a complete periodical file of more than 500 different publications, a map room, a War Department publications reference room, and its own book bindery.

And officials point out that student officers attending the schools can find everything from medical and military history to racial problems or the latest fiction.

In one reference reading room are rare volumes including an army register listing officers in Washington's army, medical department records of both the north and south during the Civil War and a complete file of the Stars and Stripes of World War I published in Paris.

Library director Captain A. B. Nolan, retired, who ordered the first book for the library in 1932, says they are building up the library for the future so that "our ever growing collection of the literature of World War II will be rare and invaluable 50 to 100 years hence."

War Boom Town Grows Into A Regular City

HENDERSON, Nev. (UP)—This war boom town, scheduled to fold on V-J day, has grown to be the third largest city in Nevada.

Henderson, a government village built to house magnesium workers, was planned to be demountable so houses could be moved to more populous areas.

Instead, Henderson needs more houses to care for employees of five peacetime chemical industries, a gem factory and a movie company.

Whey Alcohol To Make Bow At Dairy Show

WASHINGTON (UP)—A profitable use for whey, which can be turned into pure alcohol, has been found by the Department of Agriculture.

The process of making alcohol from whey, developed by the department, will be demonstrated along with 1,500 other dairy devices and services at the Dairy Industries Exposition at Atlantic City, October 21-26.

The Dairy Industries Supply Association, sponsoring the exposition, will also make public a world-wide survey of dairying and dairying conditions to the attending dairy industrialists and scientists.

The survey, the association said, will show how "dietary practices in many countries have been greatly influenced by the role of milk and dairy products in the relief feeding operations of the U. S. armed forces and UNRRA."

Dairymen have long been searching for a way to utilize whey because, dumped as a waste, it has a damaging effect on livestock. A good grade of alcohol is obtained by fermenting the sugar in whey with a special yeast, the department found. While the department predicts its best use in the making of clear vinegar, the alcohol could be cut into liquor.

The exposition will be the world's largest for a single industrial field in 1946, according to the association. It will crowd Atlantic City hotels with 25,000 visitors and spread its exhibits over five acres.

Representatives from all 48 states will attend as well as from South and Central America, Europe and a 50-man ice cream delegation from England, Norwegian, Dutch and Portuguese delegations will tour U. S. Dairy country during the month.

Drawing of Wills By Banks Barred In Court Ruling

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP)—The right to practice law may not be enjoyed by other than natural persons, the Kentucky Court of Appeals has ruled in enjoining banks and trust companies from drawing "wills, mortgages, deeds and other legal documents" except casually and without pay.

The court's order directed that five large Louisville banks and trust companies cease the practice, and particularly from advertising to the outside world that such services were performed, as constituting "the unlawful practice of law."

Judge Gus Thomas wrote that "corporations cannot meet the moral standards required to practice law, nor the scholastic ones either, since these may only be obtained by a natural person," and added it "is a self-evident fact that a corporation cannot qualify so as to obtain a license to practice law."

"If an individual may not practice law as sought to be enjoined, neither may the detendants (banks and trust companies) engage in similar practice."

The order directs that the banks may "without solicitation on their part" draft such documents as a customer desires executed "and for which it receives no compensation."

Agriculture has a considerable stake in air transportation, because of the speed with which perishable products can be carried to distant markets.

Hair-Raising Letter Leaves Manager Stumped

ABILENE, Tex., (UP) — Chamber of Commerce manager John Womble recently received a hair-raising letter.

It was from a former soldier who had been stationed at Camp Berkeley and now lives in Virginia. The soldier wrote that while he was stationed at Camp Berkeley a friend of his who was bald had his hair restored by some company in Abilene.

"Since then," the letter goes on, "I have lost my hair and am unable to locate my friend. Please let me know any information you may have on this subject."

Womble, whose adequate head of hair needs no restorer, confessed he didn't know how to reply.

Under The Dome At Austin

By Gordon K. Shearer and Henry A. Zimmerman
United Press Staff Correspondents
AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Gainful employment for a blind person is more likely in Texas than in any other state, Texas' place among the first three states was announced in a recent report ranking it along with Ohio and Washington.

But by July, Texas had established itself in first place.
Lop E. Alsop, blind secretary-director of the State Commission to aid the blind, moreover announced that the intention to keep Texas at the top.

Operation of vending stands in federal, state and municipal buildings is one of the principal projects stressed by the state commission for the blind in its rehabilitation and placement program. The number of such stands operated under commission supervision increased from 10 to 20 for the 34 months prior to last July. In August, five more were established. This record was made in spite of the difficulties of obtaining merchandise.

A report on the 20 stands that were operating last June 20 showed that the blind person in charge had an average take-home pay of $2.237 for a year.

But it is not only as operators of vending stands that blind folks find employment in Texas. Statistics show that 60 per cent of the blind in Texas reside in the country. So the commission for their aid in stressing agriculture in its vocational training program. One blind person, so aided, has established an apiary and has been working for him. Six have completed nine-months' courses in poultry raising at A & M College and thus became eligible for federal farm security administration loans to establish poultry farms.

Workshops situated in Austin, San Antonio, Houston, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth and El Paso are providing training in trades.

The commission's census of blind persons in Texas is 7,959. The count was made in February, 1945, and so the number may be either more or less now.

Texas traffic officers who attend the traffic school to be held at Camp Mabry, near Austin, Oct. 14-26, will not be taught that success depends on the number of arrests.

"The job of traffic enforcement must be done calmly, fairly and with great diligence," says Homer Garrison, state director of safety who will head the school. "Any officer who gets all steamed up and 'picks on' marginal violators will discredit himself and his organization. The officer should try to see how many arrests he can make—but they must be 'good' arrests. It's a lot harder to catch a willful violator than an unknowing one."

Uniform enforcement policies will be stressed at the school. There will be instruction in proper use of warnings, prompt correction of defective equipment (maybe there will not be so many one-eyed cars out at night), enforcement of pedestrian regulation and investigation of accidents. Sporadic campaigns and arrests for non-hazardous law violations will be frowned upon, Garrison said.

Austin has gone football crazy. With a University of Texas team leading the nation and a high school team rolling up about as big scores against its opponents, football dominates everything.

For instance, the state employes, turn to football to boost the proposed amendment to the state constitution to permit state and county retirement systems.

They illustrate the proposal to Texas voters on a football gridiron. On the gridiron the cost of living is shown making a run up to the other side's 40 yard line. That represents the advance made by the cost of living. A step ahead is the runner who represents the salary raises obtained by white collar workers in private employment. Out ahead of both is the factory worker who has run his rises well across the 40 yard line. Then on the same gridiron are shown the "runners" for the salary raises for state employes. The runner carrying the ball for the state employes who get $3,000 or more a year is being tackled on his own goal line as the ball flies out of his hands.

Other state employe runners are shown by the brackets used in the state pay increase voted by the last legislature. One of them has gotten to the 15 yard or 15 per cent line, other trailing on the 19 and 2 1-2 yard lines.

To emphasize the argument, the same gridiron shows state revenue advancing across the 50 yard line and 'way down to the 38 yard line in enemy territory.

Y., parachutist, was fired upon and driven off as it combed wilderness of western China, seeking an American pilot and 31 other persons reported held by wild Lolo tribesmen. PETROLEUM LEADERS OF THIS AREA DUE AT MEET

Petroleum leaders from Ranger and other West Central Texas oil centers in large numbers will attend the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Victory Meeting at Houston Thursday and Friday, Oct. 17 and 18, according to Jack B. Robert of Breckenridge, association vice-president for West Central Texas.

"This area will be well represented at the meeting, the first general gathering of the State's oil and gas operators since 1943," Mr. Robert said. "A full program of speeches and entertainment, including the oilmen's golf tournament, has been planned for the two-day session, which also will attract leading oilmen from other States."

Christened the association's Victory Meeting, the convention has as its theme the part petroleum played in helping win the war. Texas alone supplied almost three-fourths of the nation's increased oil needs for war, Mr. Robert said.

The keynote address will be delivered by James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, speaking on "Oil and Victory" Friday afternoon, Oct. 18. Other nationally-known speakers include Cedric Foster, news analyst, who will talk on "Problems of the Post-War World" Thursday afternoon and be guest of honor that night at the association dinner honoring the press. Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association, will discuss "National Oil Policy" at the opening session that morning. Texas speakers include John S.

Redditt, Lufkin, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, talking on "The Oil-Producer and the Gasoline Tax" and ex-Senator Clint C. Small, Austin, discussing "Price Fixing by Governmental Agencies" both Thursday.

Golf teams from a number of Texas oil centers including those of this area will compete for both team and individual prizes at River Oaks Country Club Friday morning. Prizes will be awarded.

at the membership reception and dinner that night at the Rice Hotel, convention headquarters. Directors will hold their annual dinner the night before.

The meeting will mark the Texas Mid-Continent's twenty-seventh anniversary as the Texas industry's service and research organization.
