PRECAUTIONARY MOVES MADE TO COMBAT OUTBREAK OF POLIO

Arsonist Fails In Attempt To Burn Lewis Home

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 4 (UP)—Mine Chieftain John L. Lewis returned home today to find that a headline-hunting arsonist had tried to burn down his house.

The firebug slipped into the house while the watchman was out to dinner last night. He ignited papers in the dining room and basement.

Then he telephoned the Washington Post and Times-Herald newspapers to report the fire.

"John L. Lewis' house is burning to the ground," he said. "How do you know" he was asked.

"Because I set it on fire myself about 15 minutes ago."

With that, the firebug hung up. A little later, however, he called again to tell the newspapers:

"If you didn't like that fire, I'll set a better one next time."

When police arrived at the house, they found heavy smoke but little damage. Papers had been stuffed under some rugs and ignited, but the rug apparently had smothered the flames.

Reports from various parts of the state indicate that many other communities have not been as fortunate as Eastland in not having a polio case this year. San Angelo, for instance, has had to close all schools, churches, swimming pools and other public places in an effort to combat the disease. They have had 61 cases this year, resulting in four deaths. San Antonio is throwing DDT from helicopters, with 51 cases reported and six deaths. Austin has had 10 cases and five deaths from polio. Other cases have been reported in Big Spring, Plainview, Abilene and Port Arthur.

Texas has had 396 polio cases reported for the first five months of this year, the highest number on record. Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns that half-way clean-up measures just won't get the job done in combating the dreaded disease.

Heck stated that sanitation is No. 1 on the city's work program.

E. Witt, Eastland Health and Sanitation officer, is devoting his full time to see that all breeding places for flies and mosquitoes in the city are cleaned up. People having dry closets are urged to spread lime inside and around the outside. All cow lots and chicken houses should be cleaned.

Arrangements have been made by the city with scoutmasters for Eastland Boy Scout troops to work in teams to cut weeds and grass on vacant lots. In this way, not only the citizens will be helped, but the Scouts as well in making money for summer camp. Persons desiring services of scouts to cut weeds should call the Eastland City Hall.

Three Children Die In Icebox

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. June 4 (UP)—A family ice box became a death trap yesterday for three small children.

Police believed they accidentally locked themselves in while playing.

Dead were Joyce Ann Chastain, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chastain, of Calvin, a small community nine miles north of here; James Delbert Chastain, 2, Joyce's brother, and Shirley Ramsey, 6, daughter of a neighbor, Mrs. Ethel Ramsey.

Joyce died in a Jonesboro hospital early today. The others were either frozen or suffocated to death before removal from the box.

Mrs. Chastain discovered the children wedged into the box when she returned from chopping cotton. She heard a strange noise in the ice box and opened it to investigate. The youngsters were crammed within the four-foot space.

Mrs. Chastain ran to a neighbor's home for help. The surviving child was rushed to a Walnut Ridge clinic and later to a Jonesboro hospital where she died.

The child is a garment commonly worn next to the skin by both sexes in classical times.

An all-out sanitation drive has been launched by the city of Eastland to clean up the community as a precautionary measure against polio.

"We want to keep the polio disease out of Eastland and the only way we can do it is for citizens to cooperate in helping the city clean up all breeding places for flies and mosquitoes," City Manager I. C. Heck stated.

The spraying machine has been out all this week dusting the city with a special preparation being used by the city of Abilene, that is especially effective. Dusting will be done regularly through the summer.

Garbage trucks make regular pick ups each week. Citizens are urged to secure trash cans with lids. It is requested that both ends of cans be cut out and the cans mashed. This way the cans take less space and no chance of water becoming accumulated in the cans making a breeding place for mosquitoes.

The water in the city swimming pool is drained weekly and the pool scrubbed out, keeping fresh drinking water in the pool at all times. Citizens can rest assured the pool is free from any germs.

BONHAM, June 4 (UP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Martha C. Norman, 83, who left 190 direct descendants, will be held here Sunday afternoon. A native of Arkansas, she had lived in Texas 52 years.

The descendants include nine sons and daughters, 75 grandchildren, 97 great-grandchildren and 18 great-great grandchildren.

In 1948 the potato chip industry consumed about 20,000,000 bushels of potatoes.

Six Killed Two Hurt Seriously In Head-On Crash

WALLER, Tex., June 4 (UP)—Two speeding automobiles crashed head-on last night in the dark South Texas prairie country near here, killing six persons, three instantly.

The dead were identified as: John William Coppinger, 51, Dallas.

Mrs. John William Coppinger, 46, Dallas.

Mrs. M. Madge Balyeat, 65, Bristol, Ind.

Mrs. Gloria Balyeat, 30, Elkhart, Ind.

John Thomas Balyeat, 33, Elkhart, Ind.

Mrs. Ernest L. Reid, 23, Orange, Texas.

Injured were Ernest L. Reid, Jr., Orange, Tex., attorney, and husband of one of the victims. He was hospitalized in "critical" condition in Bellville. Thomas J. Balyeat, 65, husband of Mrs. Madge Balyeat, suffered several head injuries and was hospitalized in Navasota.

The toll of the tragedy, one of the worst Texas highway disasters this year, rose to six with the death of a Navasota hospital this morning of John Thomas Balyeat. He sustained head injuries and internal injuries not immediately known.

The tragedy occurred where Highway 290 stretches across a deserted prairie, five miles north of here. A motorist signalled state highway patrolmen and relayed word of the accident. Ambulances from Waller and Houston removed the dead and injured.

Went over Friday night to the dance at the annual tournament of the Ranger Country Club. It looked like half of the Eastland men folks were there.

Boy, what a feed those Rangers fixed up. With the tables down by the lake, fully 300 fellows lined up to get a generous serving of barbecued chicken, barbecue beef, potato salad, onions, radishes, and all the trimmings. The food was delicious, with many going back for "seconds." Ditto for the refreshments.

Following the eats, the group adjourned to the club house where a Calcutta Pool was held. Begin to look like Bob Vaught was going to have to buy all the golfers, but after Neil Day got up and started pounding on the table with a cane, the bidding became spirited.

You just can't beat the air of friendliness that prevails around a country club. The fellows compare their qualifying scores, talk shop about golf and renew old acquaintances. I bet a dollar to a doughnut that every Eastland fellow came back from Ranger feeling "wouldn't it be nice if we had a club like that and could hold annual tournaments." Well, we can, if everyone will just get in and pitch. Little elbow grease and a little money is all it takes.

It would be impossible to name all the local folks over for the barbecue, but ones this scribe noticed and remembers off hand were: Jimmie Harkrider, Everett Plowman, Bruce Pipkin, Don Hill, Herb Tanner, Hood King, Curley Maynard, Neil Day, Bob Vaught, Blair Lewis, Jack Lewis, Carl Angstadt, Willys Smith, Carl Johnson, and Buck Pickens.

One thing about a Country Club, whether you play golf—win or not—you sure can have a lot of fun around one.

Let's get us a country club real soon.

The tragedy occurred where Highway 290 stretches across a deserted prairie, five miles north of here. A motorist signalled state highway patrolmen and relayed word of the accident. Ambulances from Waller and Houston removed the dead and injured.

Wainwright Boosts Vet Organizations

TEMPLE, June 4 (UP)—Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, national commander of the Disabled American Veterans meeting here in state convention, said today veterans' organizations should be strengthened.

While about 1,000 DAV members and visitors met and heard speeches, they headed for the climax of the meeting Sunday.

"The stonger the veteran organizations are, the more they will be able to do for the veterans," he said.

He praised the leadership of State DAV Commander Earl D. Whitley of Dallas, pointing out that in the last year Texas has made great increases in both the number of DAV charters and members.

Monument To Banker Set Up

PORTLAND, Ore., June 4 (UP)—A "prepetunt" to A. P. Giannini, Bank of America chairman who died yesterday, was voted by the American Institute of Banking in the final session of convention here.

After expressing "profound shock and deep sorrow" over the death of Giannini at his San Mateo, Cal., home, the AIB passed a resolution setting up a major part of its banking education program as a memorial to the farm boy who established the largest bank in the world.

Funeral services for Giannini will be held at St. Mary's Cathedral in San Francisco Monday with auxiliary services at the Catholic Cathedral in Los Angeles.

Giannini will be entombed beside his wife at the family crypt at Holy Cross Cemetery in San Mateo.

KENDRICK QUARTET, ORGANIZED 2 YEARS AGO, FAST BECOMING RECOGNIZED IN SOUTHWEST

BY BOB MOORE
Telegram Editor

Desiring to have a young quartet, J. H. Kendrick, Eastland County dairyman, who lives four miles west of Eastland on U. S. Highway 80, about two years ago organized his family and two friends into a group of singers known as the Kendrick Quartet.

The results speak for themselves. The quartet has made so many appearances in concerts and singing conventions that Kendrick, who serves as manager and master of ceremonies for the group, has no idea of the number, but guesses several hundred. In fact, during the past two years the quartet has only missed three Sundays in not singing in church or at a singing convention. They roads kept the quartet at home two Sundays and the other Sunday was spent in going to a hospital to visit sick friends. In the past 14 months alone, Kendrick has put 32,000 miles on a new Buick automobile traveling the length and breadth of Texas and parts of New Mexico with the quartet.

Music for the quartet is furnished by Mrs. J. H. Kendrick, who plays both the piano and the accordion, and is a music teacher. The quartet itself is unusual in that the average age of the performers is 18, making it one of the youngest groups in concert and convention appearances. The Kendrick's two sons—Pierre, 17, and Shorty, 15, comprise one-half of the quartet—while Noel Graves, 21, of Brownwood; and Miss Lois Walker, 18, who resides one mile south of the Kendrick's residence, form the other half.

Pierre and Shorty have been studying music and singing for several years under the direction of their mother, and are both students in Cisco High School.

Young Graves is a graduate of Brownwood High School, where he played in the Lion Band. He attended Howard Payne College two years on a scholarship won in music.

Miss Walker has attended several sessions of the Stamps School of Music in Dallas, and is a graduate of Cisco High School.

Unlike most quartets, the Kendrick songsters do not limit their numbers to hymns, but present a varied program of gospel, spiritual, popular and Spanish songs, the quartet appears in special costumes and sing the songs in the Spanish language. Their concerts are of two hours length and during intermission, the quartet passes through the audience selling souvenir post card pictures of the group, with over 1,000 postcards being sold recently. Some of the recent concerts have been at Lorraine, Burkett, Coleman, Cisco, Richland Springs, Hamilton and May. The quartet has appeared on radio stations in Dallas, Fort Worth, Brownwood, Stephenville, Breckenridge and Graham.

Since two members of the quartet are still in school, the group has been limited to some extent in making appearances, but Kendrick has plans to "go professional," with a regular sponsored daily broadcast. At present, however, the quartet is in a more or less a semi-professional stage—receiving many more invitations to appear than they can possibly make—attesting to their popularity and ability.

The Kendrick's moved to Eastland 11 years ago from Dallas, and have been engaged in the dairy business for the past seven years. Mr. Kendrick was employed by Light Crust Flour Co. in Dallas, owning a flour mill in Cisco, prior to that.

Kendrick has built his 120-acre pasture land farm up to one of the most modern dairies to be found anywhere. Using native Eastland County rock, much of it from his farm, Kendrick erected an eight room house, dairy barn, shed, chicken houses and other out buildings. The facilities also include a concrete swimming pool. With all the conveniences of city life—lights, water and gas—the Kendrick's place is one of the nicest to be found anywhere.

Only 20 cows are milked at the dairy now, as compared with a maximum of 73 head at one time. The Kendrick do all of the work about the dairy, including all of the milking with the aid of electric milkers, bottling the milk and distributing it to Eastland businesses and residences.

Between operating the dairy and making quartet appearances, the Kendrick sometimes have difficulty in determining whether the quartet is a hobby or vice versa, but they are having fun and making money out of both as well as spreading joy through their music and nourishment with the milk.

Tornadoes Cause Little Damage

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., June 4 (UP)—Negligible damage was reported today along the paths of two tornadoes that struck in isolated portions of Oklahoma last night.

One small tornado hit a mile north of Bartlesville's airport in northern Oklahoma. The other slipped through a field 15 miles northwest of Leedley, Okla., headed toward the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau said an airplane pilot sighted two funnel-shaped clouds near Monroe City, Mo., both disappeared without touching the ground.

Pioneer Eastland Resident Dies

Mrs. Rachael Ann Hendricks, 90, who had lived on a farm 15 miles southeast of Eastland for the past 62 years, died at the residence Friday, June 3, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Hendricks was born in Denton County, coming to Eastland County in 1887. Her husband preceded her in death some years ago.

Funeral and burial services were at the Simpson Cemetery Saturday, June 4, at 3 P. M., with Rev. Willie Skaggs, Baptist minister, officiating. Hammer Funeral Home of Eastland directed.

Survivors include four children, Sarah Hendricks, Mrs. Dellee Henley, J. A. Hendricks, June Kay Hendricks; 14 grandchildren, 19 great grandchildren, and one great-great grandchild.

TRUMAN MOVES TO AVERT ATOMIC PLANT STRIKE

WASHINGTON, June 4 (UP)—President Truman today cleared the way for government action to head off a threatened strike which would cripple this country's atomic bomb production.

The President did so by filling the remaining two vacancies on the three-man atomic labor relations panel, recently created to handle such disputes as the one threatening a shutdown of the government's Oak Ridge, Tenn., uranium separation plant.

Named to the panel by Mr. Truman were Dr. Edwin E. White, University of Wisconsin economics professor, and Aaron Horvitz, New York lawyer and labor relations consultant. William H. Davis of New York, former chairman of the War Labor Board, was named chairman of the panel April 26.

Bartin Wagner, president of the CIO Gas, Coke & Chemical Workers Union, said the appointments are "good news" and may help the situation.

The union has authorized a strike which would start any time after midnight Thursday. Its policy committee is meeting here today, and Wagner said he may issue a statement later.

It appeared that Mr. Truman's action would prevent the threatened strike. Davis had said only yesterday that the panel would enter the dispute as soon as it was completed. When and if the panel enters the dispute, its first task will be to get a no-strike, no-lockout agreement, then look into the dispute and make recommendations.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Four lonely women, Bea Cosgrove and Agnes Firth, spinners, Mrs. Mabel Jones and Mrs. Lilly Warren, widows, are greeted on Spanish island by wealthy, eccentric, middle-aged Henry Gough Harding, who says after a three-month period he will choose one as his bride and found a new way of life. He divides the household duties assigning Miss Cosgrove to the kitchen, Bea, alone, hides her automatic pistol in the sugar store. But as she does this she notices the awing door moving, quietly, back and forth.

Mrs. Warren turned suddenly, laughed at Bea. "Looking over your competition?"

IN the upper story the flat roof had collected the heat of the day and used it to release odors of fresh paint and new wood. Miss Cosgrove forced open the small window, looked out into blackness. "A long way down." "Three hundred feet," Lilly Warren agreed. "Or at least that's what our genial host told me. You think he's nuts?" "Hadn't thought of it," Bea said. Lilly Warren swung her bare feet onto the floor, stood up and opened her overnight case. "Don't give me that. You must've thought something. All this share the work and uniforms. And what they said on that stinking boat. Or don't you speak Spanish?" "No. What did they say?" "Oh—I couldn't get much sense out of it. Just a few ideas there's something wrong here. But the captain and the mate, his cousin or something, went into more details about you." Lilly looked at Bea critically. "The captain thought you're hot stuff." "What did he say just as we decked. When the men laughed?" Lilly told her the proverb. "He who travels the wrong way travels the road two times." "Where'd you learn Spanish?" "In L.A. I liked the crack the guy on the dock made. 'Four birds in the hand are better than a hundred flying.' So we're four birds in you know whose hand." Bea pulled open empty drawers in the chest and dresser. She found a narrow door opening into a tiny bare closet. Plenty of room for the changes of underwear, a spare slip, a thin silk robe and a nightdress that her bag held. "Say, you know there's a little railroad, a funicular he calls it, down to the storeroom?" Lilly asked. "I saw the tracks. You want the chest or the dresser for your things?" "The chest," Lilly decided. "I guess we'll have to share the dresser top though. It's got the only mirror."

"You still have to marry him first." She sure must have something on her mind. "Oh that. Look. We might as well be friends, honey. After me you've got the best figure. Maybe since you're Miss Cosgrove, you've got something to offer I haven't. Some men are funny. Oh well, we'll see." She picked up a bottle of bath salts, went in and started running the water. "There's one thing about our uniforms." "What?" "If anybody's interested he can tell just where each of us is any time. Those color'll stick out like a sore thumb on this little dirt pile." "If anybody's interested." "Are you kidding?" Lilly went into the bathroom, turned off the water and splashed into the tub. "How'd you happen to come here?" Lilly called. Bea Cosgrove stopped brushing her hair. She stared at her reflection without seeing it. She said, "I taught school for 20 years. I couldn't stand it any more. Like you, I was lonely. So I joined the club and here I am." Mrs. Warren splashed. "I never had much education myself. What I know I found out the hard way. I guess I'm dumb, but I'd never picked you for a schoolteacher." "Why not?" "I dunno. The way you carry yourself maybe. Or maybe because you seem hard—in a soft sort of way. Anyhow you know the score. I always thought school-teachers were pretty dumb about the facts of life." "About average. And that's bad enough." "See. That's what I mean about you. Say, what sort of dope is Mrs. Jones? You roomed with her on the way. What's she say and do?" "She stayed on her bunk. Stared at the ceiling." Mrs. Warren stood in the doorway to dry herself. "That must have been cozy. And to Jonesey skinny! At that you got a better figure than I did. That Agnes Firth's a twitcher. Can she sidge!

She pattered nonchalantly to the dresser, took bottles of cosmetics, powder and make-up necessities from her case. They filled half the dresser top with several flasks of henna rinse left over. Lilly had slim ankles, the hard-muscled calves of a dancer and the flare of her hips and breasts was full, not fat. Mrs. Warren turned suddenly, laughed at Bea. "Looking over your competition?" "How'd you happen to sign up with the Lonely Club and end up here?" "Sorry, honey," Lilly said. "I hate nosy girls. But I don't mind telling. A couple years ago a boy friend of mine gave me—we'll quarrel you might say. I was surk, really low. Maybe you don't know how it is. I was lonely all right. So I signed up for a laugh. I didn't pay much attention until this business came up. I'd read all about Henry Gough Harding and his dough you can bet. So, here I am!" "And now you find out all his fortune is tied up in the island," Bea reminded. "Sure. Listen, honey, I'll tell you something. A lawyer tied up the money. All right. There are other lawyers. And I know a good one."

22-Year-Old Murder Suspect Not The Man

HOUSTON, Tex., June 4 (UP)—Georgia officers, who flew here yesterday to view a man believed involved in a murder 22 years ago, left today without their man.

Ed Barnes, state revenue agent from Georgia, and Grady Jones, Pickens County, Ga., commissioner, failed to identify a 44-year old Houston contractor as one of five men who shot policeman Lee Cate in 1927.

The contractor was arrested Thursday night and held here after a telephone request from Sheriff Cagle of Jasper, Ga. The sheriff said a man believed to be Lindsey Evans was living here under an assumed name.

The Georgia officers reviewed a police lineup, and interviewed the suspect again later in a private office. The man's identity was established and was released.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 5. The Golden Text is: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power, for Thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they were created" (Revelation 4:11).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible.

Thine, O Lord, is the greatness and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all" (1 Chronicles 29:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence. He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else" (page 331).

The pastor, William C. Emberton, says "Evangelist Darnell preaches with power, without fear or favor. If you like good gospel preaching we urge you to attend. The services start each evening at 8 o'clock and will continue until June 12.

Coplon Case Resists On Judge's Decision

WASHINGTON, June 4 (UP)—The government may have to drop its espionage case against Judith Coplon if the judge rules that it must open certain secret files, federal lawyers said today. Informed quarters said that any decision to "not pros" the case would have to come from "high up in the justice department."

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves is expected to rule Monday on a defense demand for confidential FBI files which the government contends must be kept secret for security reasons. The files contain secret reports which Miss Coplon, a former justice department analyst, is accused of copying for transmission to Russia.

If the judge rules that the files must be made public, it was said, the prosecution may give up its

"The Judgment Day". The Cisco district young people will meet at the church at 3 P.M. Sunday.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—T-Sgt. Robert H. O'Farrell, 27, stationed at Carswell Air Force base here, is one of the Army's shortest soldiers. O'Farrell, who wears specially-made GI shoes because of his small feet, is only 4 feet 11 inches.

Oil and Gas News

Gorman Oil News

By Huena Van Winkle

Commercial Production Co. No. 1 R. S. Sanders drilling at 2,200 feet. They are hurrying to finish this operation, we understand, so that the rig may be put on some more operations which are rather pressing.

R. H. Patterson No. 1 James at 2,881 in very hard Ranger lime.

Mr. Hardeman with Skeeters and Curry on the No. 1 Shelton out of Sipe Springs are trying to get equipment in order and everything shipshape and they will move within the next day or two to the East 80 of the J. C. Burns land.

The Jay L. Baker Co. No. T. N. Watt drilling at 2,756 feet. Everything is running almost too smoothly now, since the fishing jobs and the bucking pipe, and all.

R. H. Patterson and wife are hurrying up on some of their operations now, since for several months they have been planning a trip to Arizona and Wyoming if we have the place right and they are very anxious to get away before really strapping up on some continuous contracting which Slat's will have to manage when he gets back. He has a partnership in the making with another Operator, too, so he will have more on his hands after his vacation.

Belt Lison No. 1 G. W. Pison acidized Friday mornin', and are swabbing. That is a pretty good indication that they have an oil well instead of the weak gas wells which have been found in that area on some leases. If the well blows in with a great deal of pressure show right at the start, the Operators have learned to look for gas wells which do not pay off, or they will expect to have an oil well with too much gas, that their allowable will be shut down until they can take pay from the hole. Mr. Dison may have a nice well, from all indications. We hope so, for he is more or less a home county man, living over around DeLeon and Dublin, and we naturally have a little feeling for such Independent Operators.

Continental No. 1 N. L. Box is drilling away, but as was expected, it is a tight hole so not a trickle of authentic information is lacking out, so far. And after they have made their tests enough to satisfy their curiosity as to what is down there they may close up and go home and still not make a well, which EGGS FALL FLAT—This white leghorn hen owned by Mrs. Charles Valek, of Valley View, a Cleveland, O., suburb, lays flat eggs. But every now and then, the bird lays a normal rounded egg. Mrs. Valek doesn't know what to make of it. The healthy hen seems to think nothing is odd at all. She cackles just like other hens and for just as long. Mrs. Valek says she is going to put a flat egg under a setting hen to see if it hatches a flat chicken. A neighbor suggested it might produce a chicken pattie.

UNDER DEVELOPMENT

Waste Gas Burned In Oil Flares May Go Into Clothing Manufacture

COLLEGE STATION, June 3 (Sp)—Instead of being burned off in oil field flares, as it is today, a part of Texas' natural gas may some day go into the manufacture of clothing, commercial solvents, dyes and other useful products, as the result of a process under development in the Chemical Engineering department at the A. and M. College of Texas. C. F. Sanderson, working for his Ph. D. here under a Gulf Oil Corporation graduate fellowship, has designed and built a pilot plant for producing an industrially important chemical from propane by catalytic oxidation.

This is a relatively simple method of producing a single organic chemical from propane and promises to be less expensive than any now in use. The thermal oxidation process now being used commercially results in a complex and corrosive mixture of chemicals which must be further separated before commercially useful products are secured.

The pilot plant here breaks down propane by the catalytic process at lower temperatures than other processes now in use, producing a highly volatile liquid which looks very much like water, but is considerably lighter. The liquid is acetaldehyde.

Propane, which Sanderson's process uses, is the third most plentiful component of the natural gas being processed in many natural gasoline plants dotting the Texas oil fields. It is now used largely as a fuel.

Recent conservation moves on the part of the Texas Railroad commission, threatening with shut-down those fields which do not find a commercial end use for their gas, make the problem of new uses for propane even more important.

Further work on development of this process and improvement of the pilot plant will be carried on by the Chemical Engineering department here. Sanderson is receiving his Ph. D. at commencement exercises here this month and will hereafter spend full time with the firm of Sanderson-Glending, consulting engineers, Houston, which he helped establish while doing his graduate work.

We are Fond of Fires -

... that warm the home in wintry weather, but not the kind we read about in the papers. We like ice in its place, but in the form of hail it's unbearable. Spring breezes are exhilarating until they turn themselves into tornadoes and leave us helpless in their wake. So we can't have everything as we want it, except insurance. Because it costs so little and it's value so great, be adequately insured.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflow Drive

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

THERE'S the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot—so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflow.

For Dynaflow Drive is not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience—a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it
