Going Forward With Eastland

By Bob Moore

In the Mail.
"Dear Sir:
I returned home from the hospital in Fort Worth to learn that it was you, and not my husband, who had been sending me the paper each day.
It was a pleasure to keep informed of home doings, especially the Big Derby Races.
It is also gratifying to have such thoughtful folks, when one is ill.
Thank You Most Sincerely,
Mrs. Lillian Horton."

Would like to take the credit Mrs. Horton, but our conscience would trouble us no end if we didn't 'fess up that it was the Telegram circulation manager, Mrs. O. H. Dick, who was responsible for your getting the paper while in the hospital. It pleases us to know that you enjoyed receiving the Telegram and have recovered sufficiently to be home again. By the way, we can't resist telling this on Jim, the genial owner of Hortop Tire Co. His wife gave him the letter Friday to mail and Monday, he saw this scribe at Rotary Club, remember the letter he had been carrying around in his pocket for days and had forgotten to mail, so just handed it to us in person. Talk about absent-minded professors!

Seems our private source of those amusing and interesting tidbits supplied this column by John Dorsett are creating considerable interest with readers. Several have inquired desiring information about Mr. Dorsett. One of these days when we catch him in a favorable mood, we'll write his life story and take his picture for publication in the Telegram. In the meanwhile, we hope he gets his thinking cap on and let us have some more of those quips and jokes.

Joe Stephen, of Stephen Printing Co., and oldest son, Stan are getting a taste of bachelor life this week with Mrs. Stephen in Abilene attending Hardin-Simmons University and the youngest son, Rodney, at Glen Rose for the Methodist Youth Camp. While Stan has had considerable experience in cooking during his years as a Boy Scout, Papa Joe doesn't have much hope of getting him over a hot stove during these summer days, so it'll probably be the cafe for them this week, as you know Joe can't cook.

Down at Dallas, the Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism, is having a convention Monday through Wednesday. Per usual, when women get together, the conversation flies thick and fast, and one of the ladies of the press, Martha Cole of the Associated Press, has written an article quoting the president of the group, Miss Janette T. Harrington of Philadelphia, as saying it's getting harder and harder for a woman to find a job.

Miss Harrington added "it's always been true that a woman is not particularly welcome in a newspaper office. During the war they filled in for the men. Now when a woman leaves, she is replaced by—not another woman—but a man."

Seems the lady is quite upset about the situation and is starting an employment service to find work for young women journalists. "We don't mean to set women apart," she said "a good newspaper woman has the same ability and good qualities as a good newspaperman. Another of the lady press gentry, "Miss Louise Denny of Los Angeles, national vice president of the fraternity, believed women had some special good qualities men don't have.
"They're better listeners," she

FLOOD WATERS IN SOUTH TEXAS RECEDING TODAY

By UNITED PRESS
Flood waters receded today in the South Texas area of Pleasanton where yesterday a nine-inch rain flooded 50 homes and part of the town's business district. The Atascosa River and Bonita Creek, one of its tributaries, flooded considerable farm land yesterday and damaged probably will run as high as $500,000, J. F. Andrews, publisher of the Pleasanton Express, estimated after consulting County Agent Dale Freiburger.
A second crest on the Atascosa River hit the town about 3 A. M. today but it caused no additional new damage. "It was not nearly as large as we had anticipated," Andrews said.
The town of 2,000 took immediate steps to borrow a fogging machine to spray the city with DDT. "There is so much water standing around," said Andrews, "that folks got scared about polio and decided on the spraying campaign."
The Atascosa River was almost within its banks this morning and with no new rains in the area, it was expected to return to normalcy during the day.
All roads in the Pleasanton area are open to traffic but some were badly washed. The Highway Department moved in and was making repairs.
The Red Cross opened a temporary relief headquarters and a local disaster committee was busy taking care of the 35 families whose homes were damaged so badly by flood waters that they could not re-enter them.
"The worst damage to the area was loss of top soil," Andrews said. "Some grain was lost, but fortunately most of it had been harvested."
Rivers in East Texas were receding, too, after heavy weekend rains.
Over the state, temperatures generally were several degrees lower than during last week's intense heat wave. Yesterday's high was 98 at Laredo and the low maximum 75 at Guadalupe Pass. Overnight, the low was 60 at Guadalupe Pass and the high minimum 81 at Galveston.
Thunderstorms were reported this morning at Abilene and Wichita Falls. Rainfall reports for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 A. M. today included 1.16 inches at San Antonio; Bryan .99; Austin .56; Tyler .41 and Houston .78.
More thunderstorm activity was in prospect over the state, the weather bureau said.

Football Fever In July Sun

While it is more than a month before the Eastland High School Mavericks launch their 1949 season in a non-conference tilt with Coleman here, Sept. 9, football fever has invaded Eastland.
The Maverick Band, under direction of T. R. Atwood, have already started practice on musical compositions to be played in the season opener.
Boys have been working director football during the late afternoons for several weeks at Maverick Field, with the practices not sponsored by the school in line with interscholastic League regulations.

ADMINISTRATION DUE TO GIVE PLANS TO CONGRESS

County Dairy Ass'n Chartered

By Edward V. Roberts
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 26 (UP)—The administration is preparing to lay before Congress secret intelligence reports which indicate that Russia is arming for war, it was learned today.
Informed sources said American and allied agents have cracked the curtain of secrecy surrounding Soviet military preparations. Their reports, it was said, will be used to back up President Truman's request for a $1,450,000,000 (B) arms aid program for free nations.
Latest figures available here indicate that Russia and her satellites have 6,000,000 (M) men under arms. U. S. officials said Russia alone has 170 combat divisions, and her satellites 90 more. Last year, it was estimated that Russia's ground strength could be raised to 300 divisions within 60 days.
Aviation experts estimate that Russia has between 12,000 and 15,000 operative war planes.
A recent foreign analysis of Soviet air strength said Russian production of a copy of the American B-29 bomber has reached 75 to 100 per month. American authorities believe this figure too high.
However, the U. S. specialists are inclined to go along with the foreign report's estimate that Russia can put more than 1,000 jet fighters in the air at once. In fact, they said this estimate probably is low.
The foreign report said Russia had between 750 and 1,000 four-engine bomber and probably could put 500 in the air for an initial assault. This estimate, however, was greeted with a measure of skepticism here.
One aviation authority said that in the overall picture, Russia probably has as many operative war planes as the U. S., but that the American planes are of better quality.
There is little doubt, however, of Russia's overwhelming superiority in numerical ground power. Intelligence estimates on her ground equipment, notably tanks and artillery, are closely guarded secrets which may be given only to a limited number of congressmen during hearings on the arms aid bill.
Although Russia's surface navy is in no way comparable with that of the United States, she has a powerful submarine fleet—bigger and better than that with which Hitler entered World War II, according to the experts. The strength of the Red U-boat fleet is estimated at up to 300.
More than 5,000,000 acres of arid and semi-arid lands in western states are under irrigation.

County Dairy Ass'n Chartered

The Eastland County Dairy Association is chartered under the laws of the State of Texas as this was one of the requirements of setting up an artificial breeding program, according to A. Z. Myrick, Cisco, President of the organization.
Cows within a radius of 30 miles from Carbon can be artificially bred to high type bulls by calling Harry Crow, Carbon, breeding technician for the Association Myrick said.
Contract blanks can be secured from either Myrick, Crow, L. R. Higginbottom at Kokomo or, at the County Agent office in Eastland.
The dairy association cooperates with the North Texas Artificial Breeding Farms at Dallas to make this service available to anyone in the 30 mile radius of Carbon with one or more milk cows. This distance would take in all of the county.
The total cost for the cow to be bred artificially is $6.00, Myrick said. When the contract is signed the owner puts up $1.00 per cow. When the cow is bred an additional $5.00 is paid. If the cow does not conceive with the first service then two additional free services are given.
It is not absolutely necessary to have the contract prior to service as Crow can fix up the contract when he calls at the farm to perform the needed service.
Cows can be bred to either Jersey, Guernsey or Holstein bulls. Should the cow be registered the calf also may be registered it was said. However, it is not necessary for the cow to be bred to secure the service.

Parked Cars Do Not Have Right Of Way

The Eastland County Sheriff's office has issued a reminder that a parked vehicle does not have the right of way.
Several recent minor collisions, between cars backing out of a parking place and vehicles traveling down the street, have been reported in Eastland.
The Uniform Traffic Code provides that it is unlawful for a vehicle to be moved from a parked position when it is not safe to do so.
Before moving a vehicle from a parked position, the driver should use caution and not move the vehicle until such movement can be made in safety.

STATE TEXTBOOK COMMITTEE MEMBER SPEAKS AT ROTARY

Mrs. Harold H. Durham, member of the textbook committee of the State Department of Education and teacher in Eastland Public Schools, discussed procedures of the textbook committee at a meeting of the Eastland Rotary Club Monday noon.
Mrs. Durham pointed out the committee is composed of nine members who are appointed by the State Department of Education. Work of the committee consists of detailed examinations of all books submitted for possible adoption to be used in public schools of Texas. After the committee has made its selections, they are turned over to the State Department of Education, which acts as the final approving body of all books adopted.
Of the 4 or 500 books submitted annually to the committee, they are evaluated for authenticity and accuracy of contents, authorship, if teachable, and if the volume meets the needs and demands of pupils. From this criteria, the final selections are made, Mrs. Durham said.
First free textbooks were made available in Texas in 1920 and during the past 19 years, the average cost of furnishing books to a child during a one year period has been $1.22.
The speaker quoted Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, member of the State Department of Education, as "being in favor of newer and better books for Texas children."
Ben Hamner was program chairman and presented the speaker. President W. K. Cowan presided for the business session.

Now, did you ever hear of such tripe? Here's betting that before long a male employment service will have to find a job for the gal who is starting this employment service for lady journalists. As she admitted the trend is for men to replace women in the newsroom, with the war being over. Just as rationing and other evils of war are unnecessary in peacetime, the ladies are not needed in the men's press domain. As for press women being more conscientious, their only trouble is they are seldom conscientious.

Pair Charged In Whim Robbery

NEW YORK, July 26 (UP)—A seaman and a salesman were charged today with the $368,500 "whim" robbery of a Fifth Avenue jewelry store.

The pair, John Broderick, 39, of Boston, who identified him as a "college man" salesman, and Joseph Quinn, 36, a seaman, of Seattle, Wash., were captured with their loot within five minutes after the robbery yesterday.

Broderick told police he and Quinn happened to be passing the Brands-Chatillon store and decided it looked like a "soft touch" since they were broke.

They entered, holding 13 employees at gunpoint, while they broke into the firm's diamond room and grabbed a diamond tiara and three necklaces valued at $368,500.

When the pair ran outside, a shoe clerk, William Van Zandt, 26, who noticed the disturbance, tackled Quinn and held him until a nearby patrolman took him into custody.

Broderick was captured by another patrolman who fired one shot before the robber surrendered.

"We didn't see a single cop when we went into the store," Quinn said, "but when we came out that was all we could see."

Before modern chemical analysis was introduced into the process of making leather soles flexible and shape-retaining, tanners used to gauge the strength of their tanning solutions by tasting them.

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP)—The courage of a man who had both legs amputated above the knees by a train amazed police officers here. Cat Problem Solved
NEWPORT, N. H. (UP)

There's more than one way to skin a cat or to get one out of a treetop. The perennial problem of firemen has been solved by the local department. When a cat gets high in a tree and refuses to come down Newport firemen pump a soft spray of water just above the cat, which quickly descends.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF EASTLAND, TEXAS: SECTION 1. The word "vehicle" as used herein shall mean any device or animal by which any person or property may be transported upon a highway, except those operated upon rails or tracks.

All of those streets and parts of streets upon which limited parking is now permitted under authority, and by virtue of all limited parking ordinances now effective, and the parking limits and restrictions therein provided as hereby incorporated in this ordinance for all uses and purposes applicable to the conditions, terms, and enforcement hereof.

SECTION 13. If any section, provision or part thereof in this ordinance shall be adjudged invalid or unconstitutional by a court of competent jurisdiction, then such adjudication shall not affect the validity of the ordinance as a whole, or any section, provision or part thereof not so adjudged invalid or unconstitutional.

SECTION 14. The fact that the City of Eastland has no adequate vehicle parking zone or regula-

Man Sentenced To Death For Twitchell Murder

KOUNTZE, Tex., July 26 (UP)—Alex (Frog) Leviness was under sentence of death today for his part in the slaying last Sept. 28 of Mrs. Eloise Twitchell, attractive Beaumont housewife.

The jury deliberated only about 45 minutes last night before finding the 27-year-old defendant guilty in the brutal slaying of Mrs. Twitchell on a remote country road near here.

Leviness took the verdict without show of emotion, and asked for a poll of the jurors.

Leviness did not testify in his own behalf. However, a confession which he made at the time of his arrest was used as evidence against him. It implicated his accomplice as the "trigger man" in the slaying.

Mrs. Twitchell's mutilated body was found beside a logging trail near here last Oct. 4, a week after she left her Beaumont home to visit her mother at Colmesneil.

Her automobile containing her personal effects, had been found several days earlier near Houston.

A widespread search was conducted for her murderers before Sheriff Buster Kern of Harris County arrested Leviness and Darius Goleman, 31, on June 29, nine months after the crime was committed.

Both men confessed to the shooting and beating of the blonde, 32-year-old mother, who had given them a ride in her car.

They said they murdered her because they wanted to use her automobile to stage a bank robbery. However, the plot was never carried out, as the men split up and did not meet again until shortly before their arrest.

MAY TAKE STAND—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh may be a star witness for the Air Force in the congressional investigation of the B-36 super-bomber. Colonel Lindbergh, said to be a long-range bomber man, toured the world for General Vandenberg, Air Force chief, last year, checking performance of all kinds of aircraft.

Goleman, now held in the Haddin County Jail here, will face trial during the September term of court.

According to Leviness' statement, the two men used a pistol which they bought in a Beaumont pawnshop to kill Mrs. Twitchell. Leviness said Goleman shot the young wife of a merchant seaman twice as she pleaded with him to put the gun away, take her car and leave her alone. Then, he added, he finished beating her to death with the empty gun.

Flood Control For Two Texas Rivers Sought

AUSTIN, July 26 (UP)—Top state officials sought action today by the Texas delegation in Washington on the Sabine-Neches River question.

U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson and Tom Connally were asked yesterday to support a Sabine-Neches River authority to help prevent disastrous floods in Texas.

Gov. Allan Shivers, Attorney General Price Daniel and Railroad Commissioner William Murray, Jr. wired the senators that such a step would materially help flood conditions as well as attract industry to the area.

They pointed out that "crops have been lost repeatedly in the Sabine and Neches Valleys, and oil wells damaged by the recurring floods."

The state officials added, "The location of large industry is being rendered difficult by lack of adequate water reserves."

CINCINNATI, O. July 26 (UP)—Sam Rue, 26, city fireman, eyed his chewed ankle today and vowed to keep an eye on any and all nearby dogs when he tests another fire plug.

Rue was testing a plug yesterday when a dog walked up and bit him on the ankle.

"He acted like he owned that plug," said Rue. "He braced his legs and growled. I said, 'go away, I'm just testing it.' Guess he didn't believe me."

Those Amazing Penney Stores' Hailed By Coronet Magazine

The J. C. Penney Company is praised by the August issue of Coronet magazine in an article titled, "Those Amazing Penny Stores".

The article, which was written by Lawrence Galton, describes the Company which in 47 years grew from a single, tiny store to a nation-wide chain of more than 1,600 by being friendly and helpful and giving good merchandise

values.
The Penney store here is located at 206 West Main, and is managed by J. L. Waller.
Penney's caters to the average American family, declares Coronet.
"What Penney's has accomplished is to combine all the advantages of modern mass merchandising with the old hometown store idea, sacrificing none
of the latter's friendly helpful-

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Bea Cosgrove, understand that Lily Warren's death was suicide, has just proved to herself and Fred Stillwell that the guilt of the other Spearer Islanders are worthless. But her activities seem pretty well known to George Bascombe and others on the island. However, a storm gathers over the island and the Islanders, eight of them altogether,
retire to the home of the owner,
Henry George Harding. Suddenly
an alarm is given. There is a fire sweeping through the dry grass
of the island.

XXVIII
HENRY HARDING almost knocked Mabel Jones down as he burst into the main room. He carried a 30-30 rifle.

"Stillwell. Stand away from the others. I'll kill you for lighting a fire in this wind."
"I didn't!" Fred said quickly.
"No one could see it in the murk.
Why and how could I light it
now?"

"It's no beacon," Bascombe said.
"It's a fire in the long grass and the brush. It's growing fast."
Bea Cosgrove heard the click as Harding automatically lowered
the cocked hammer of the rifle.
He pushed to a place by the window, turned quickly. His voice carried authority when he spoke.
"We've got one chance to stop or turn that fire. We'll go to the shed for tools. Shovels. Hoes. All of you follow me. I'll show you where we can backfire. We may be able to save the house if it rains soon enough."

Henry Harding stuck his shovel upright in the ground, put his long flashlight on a rock so its beam stabbed toward the opposite side of the island. "We'll backfire here." He had to shout to make himself heard.

The others were breathless and gaspings from the long run with their tools and equipment.
"Make grass bundles," Harding commanded. He showed them how to twist the tough, long-stemmed grass into compact brown masses burned fiercely when he lit
a with his board of matches.
He showed them how to scatter

the burning bundles along the path of the flashlight. A dozen little fires sprang up. A dozen more as they moved across the island.

As they worked they were conscious of the approaching fire. The gusty wind was hot now and whipped bits of burning grass ahead of its main front. The smoke was denser, yet between puffs
there was still comparatively clean air.

The little fires spread out, joined together in a wall between the Spearer Islanders and the larger conflagration.

FLATS of shovels pounded at the edge. Wet sacks beat out the life of sparks. Hoes scraped dried grass from the hard earth.

Harding had chosen his spot
well. A bare outcrop of rock left only a portion of the backfire line to be guarded. But the wind was making up, and the counterfire
ate its way to windward slowly, while it sipped and rushed toward
the laboring people.

The charred barrier widened
gradually, dotted with still-burning bushes and shrubs, to offer scant fuel for the main fire. It was close now, close enough so its chuckle and crackle as it swallowed grass and dry brush could be heard plainly.

A few scattered drops of rain fell unnoticed.

The fire on their side of the black path was out. Shouted orders were passed along from one smoke-shrouded figure to another.
"Fall back! If it jumps, try to check it. If you can't, try to get back to the rock!" The voices were hoarse, as unrecognizable as the blackened figures.

The wind was a hot fierce blast.
Bea Cosgrove staggered along,
the wind at her back. She still clutched a shovel. Half blinded and in the uncertain light from the fires, she stumbled over rocks and brush, put a few more yards between herself and the burned-

ness towards customers."
For 47 years, says Coronet, it has been an ironclad Penney principle not to quote comparative prices. "Sales are not held. 'We Don't Deliver' is an unbreakable
rule, and not 'a single dollar's worth of goods has been sold across the counter on credit.'"

Much of the credit for Penney's spirit and success goes to James Cash Penney, who was born 73
years ago and now is honorary board chairman of the Company
he founded. Today, he still is seen at his New York office, when he isn't lecturing in churches and before business and civic groups.

Coronet concludes its tribute to the Penney stores with these words of J. C. Penney: "Today's greatest challenge is human relations. You won't find a finer example of good human-relations than between our people and our customers. The answer lies in the spirit within our Company, built up because everybody has an opportunity to get ahead and participate in profits."

over area. A few more, and new feet were stinging lead. She tripped, fell heavily. She got up with the aid of the shovel, left it as she stumbled on.

The earth trembled beneath her aching body. In a few seconds a dull rumbling came to her.
"Thunder," she muttered looking in the direction of the sound.
She knew at once it was not thunder.

BEYOND the main house, from
the cove and lower storerooms, flames were leaping high into the air. Gasoline-fed flames. The house, the squatting water tower, made a silhouette against their brightness.

As Bea stared, the house lifted into the air. It moved slowly, in one piece. As it settled back, it disintegrated.

The earth trembled beneath her again, a heavier jar. Concussion pushed at her. There was no sign now of the house or tower.

She was suddenly conscious of growing light near by. She turned quickly to face intense heat. The main flames had jumped the backfire in a dozen places. Its several spearsheads were joining into a new solid front.

Bea forced herself to her feet,
ran as she could see others running toward the rock outcrop. The scant check of the charred path
gave them a few precious minutes to race along the fire's face toward shelter.

It was a near thing for some. A spending of the last strength of desperation for others. And for a time they had to fight for even their scant margin of safety, had to beat at encroaching flames running along paths of grass.

Then the main fire was past. It swept down the island, roaring and chucking again, apparently unchecked by the slowly increasing rain. Its brilliance merged with the leaping flames from the cove.

"All here? All here?" Hoarse questioning voices. A counting of figures. "All here! All here!"
One man stood apart, his face turned up toward the rain, his lips moving silently, in the passing firelight.

AUSTIN, July 26 (UP)—The State Board of Insurance Commissioners has taken under advisement a proposed reduction in insurance rates, including those
for fire insurance of homes.
Ralph Soape, Dallas insurance
consultant, urged the cut in fire,
wind-tem and extended coverage
on dwelling rates, in addition to 32 changes in insurance regulations.
Soape told the commission his figures showed owners of Texas homes were paying premiums in excess of the amount necessary to cover the risk involved.

AUSTIN, July 26 (UP)—Rep.
Philip L. Willis, sponsor of a proposal in the 51st Legislature to remove the $35,000,000 ceiling
on old age assistance and other welfare grants, said today the old folks' only hope was in adoption of a proposed constitutional adjustment calling for annual legislative sessions.
Willis said he would introduce his plan again next January if the annual session amendment is approved. It failed during the past session.

Comedians Thru With Promotion Of Prize Fights

HOLLYWOOD, July 26 (UP)—Comedians Bud Abbott and Lou Costello said today they'll stick to movies and radio from here out and leave the business of promoting prize fights to somebody else.
They learned that their first fight-promotion — a light-weight title bout between Ike Williams and Enrique Bolanos here last week — earned only $18,450 profit for the Lou Costello Jr. Youth Foundation although it drew a gross $108,297.92.
They needed $85,000 to avoid foreclosing of a mortgage on the $343,000 boy's club on Los Angeles' east side and they had hoped to realize at least $40,000 on the fight promotion.
"We're through with the fight game," Abbott said. "We were amateurs, but we thought we could do something with this."

The fight grossed $108,297.92, but taxes cut the net down to $85,873.51. Williams got $6,376.11 and Bolanos $14,877.58. That left $64,619.82 for expenses

CAB TIPS FOR SERVICE

An innovation in the light pick-up and delivery truck is the new, tilting cab, model shown in the picture. Though White is an old-line manufacturer of pneumatic tire carriers, the "3000" series is something new to meet the demands of present day needs. Designed for speed, service and durability, the new truck travels on 9.00x20 General Highway tires.
The cab of the truck was placed over and forward of the engine to provide easy handling on crowded streets where parking is an ever growing problem. Another feature places the front axle in a position to spread more of an even load to all four tires thus allowing a heavier load per square foot of body space. When the motor needs servicing the cab is tilted, by an aircraft type hydraulic mechanism, giving the mechanic complete access to the motor.

and-profit. The expenses were big.

A new service to simplify kitchen work is a two-piece affair which, The American Magazine says, fits into any pop-up toaster and cooks weiners, bacon, hamburgers, onions and similar food in five minutes.

A high producing dairy cow deserves good feeding, kind treatment and comfortable surroundings.

Archbishop Hits Bathing Suits

VATICAN CITY, July 26 (UP)—The Archbishop of Genoa said today that modern bathing suits "violate the moral law and open the gates to the worst immorality."
Archbishop Giuseppe Siri condemned the beach attire of men as well as women in a pastoral letter published in the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano.
"The licentious attitudes and brazen exhibition, even for reasons of publicity, commonly admitted on the beaches certainly violate the moral law," he said. His letter asked priests to withhold absolution at the confession- al from those who continue in the "sinful self exhibition" on and near the beaches. It asked the faithful to conform to the standards of decency.

On your vacation trip... stop for an afternoon at Baytown

If your vacation leads you down our way, you'll find a visit to Humble's Baytown refinery a highlight of your trip. It is one of the great oil refineries in the world, processing about 200,000 barrels of crude oil daily into such diverse products as gasoline and asphalt, motor oils and insecticides.

Tours of the refinery start at 2:00 p.m. every day. First, you find out what you're going to see; then you're taken on a comfortable bus tour of the plant with a guide to tell you what goes on. The children are welcome.

A visit to Baytown will give you a glimpse of the results of scientific research by the oil industry; for unless you see a modern refinery, you'd never suspect that it can break up crude oil molecules and reconstruct them into other molecules of wider service to you in your daily life... A visit to Baytown will show you how the petroleum industry supplies many of the necessities of modern living, and how energetically the industry works to supply them. For throughout the United States, oil refineries like Baytown work night and day to supply you with petroleum products of continuously improved quality and continuously increased diversity.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

More than six thousand men and women work in shifts 24 hours a day at Baytown to help supply your needs for petroleum products.
