Lotto mania

With the Texas Lotto jackpot this past Saturday being an estimated $65 million, The Allsup's Convenience Store, along with others in Muleshoe, have been busier than usual, selling tickets to millionaire hopefuls in the area. Pictured are (Left) Linda Cox, manager of Allsup's and Jimmy Berry, assistant manager, ringing up a winning scratch game card. Cox and Berry said that scratch game sales always go up as well when the Lotto jackpot is high. Cox said on Thursday, that if there was no winner on Saturday night, Wednesday night's Lotto jackpot would be an estimated $85-90 million.

Dollar General Store set to open up in Muleshoe

Dollar General Corporation, based in Nashville, Tenn., has announced that a Dollar General Store will open in Muleshoe on Wednesday, Aug. 31 at 303 Main Street, inside the old Perry's store.

A grand opening ceremony will be held on Thursday, Sept. 1. According to Karen Moss of Dollar Store Corporation, a manager for the local store has to be named but it will likely be a local person, she said. The store is expected to employ five to eight people.

The 6,000 square-foot store is a discount retailer which will carry everything from hard-line type merchandise to domestic and household items, clothing, cosmetics, toys, cleaning supplies, health and beauty aids and much more.

According to a press release by Dollar General Corporation, Dollar General Stores are typically located in communities of less than 25,000 people or in selected locations within larger metropolitan areas. The company's typical customer earns a small paycheck or depends on monthly government assistance.

While many of Dollar General's customers are ages 25-45, a sizeable number are retired.

The Dollar General Store in Muleshoe will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Through an aggressive new store development program, Dollar General Corporation has increased its size from 1,300 stores in 23 states in 1989 to its current 1,808 store in 24 states.

Very few items in the Dollar General Store will cost more than $25 and 90 percent

EMT classes to be held

Bailey County Emergency Medical Services (EMS) will be offering an Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) class to be held in Muleshoe this fall.

In order for the class to begin, a minimum of 15 students must attend. In order to be eligible for the class, a person must be 18 years old and have a high school diploma or equivalent.

Classes will be held two nights a week, from 6-10 p.m. for approximately four months in Muleshoe.

Upon completion of the course, a person will be eligible to be a part-time medic for Bailey County EMS. If anyone would like to be a part of the life-saving team for Bailey County, contact Jackie Wayne Burris at Bailey County EMS, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 272-4390. We need your help!

Hospital admissions pick up after slow month

July was typically a very slow month for Muleshoe Area Medical Center, according to Hospital Administrator Richard Murphy.

"It was the lousiest month for the hospital," Murphy said. "There just were not enough sick people. Folks were too well."

Murphy said the slow month was attributed to a lower number of admissions and other services administered in July in general. The hospital had 35 admissions in July.

As of Aug. 15 though, the hospital had already seen 41 admissions and surgeon Dr. Robert D. Johnson performed 12 procedures.

"We've endured the summer slump and we are back," Murphy said.

During a hospital board meeting on Thursday, the board talked about financing the purchases of some equipment rather than taking the money out of operational funds. Items discussed to be financed include an X-ray film processor and anesthesia machine. The hospital has already received the anesthesia machine.

In other business Thursday the hospital board voted to set the annual property tax rate at .25 cents, which is the same as it was last year.

Murphy also said that the hospital received a good rating on a recent survey of the nursing home.

A room was decertified, however, because it did not meet square foot requirement standards. The room, which was originally set up to hold two people, has been reduced

Muleshoe man arrested for possession of marijuana plants

A Muleshoe man has been arrested in connection with 73 marijuana plants confiscated by the Muleshoe Police Department last Monday.

Michael Elihugh Pugh, age 55, of Muleshoe was arrested on Tuesday for possession of marijuana. He was released on a $1,000 personal recognance bond and is expected to be arraigned in county court.

Pugh was arrested for possession of four ounces of marijuana. However, Muleshoe Police Chief Julian Dominguez said that the marijuana plants have been sent to a laboratory in order to get an exact weight.

The plants were 8-12 inches in height when confiscated.

Possession of at least four ounces of marijuana and less than five pounds is considered a felony. Possession of four ounces or less of marijuana is a misdemeanor.

Officers with MPD made a search of Pugh's residence on Monday following a three day investigation. The investigation resulted in the confiscation of the 73 marijuana plants, along with other drug-related

Kittrell is named senior citizen of year

Wanda Kittrell has been named Senior Citizen of the Year by the Senior Citizens of Muleshoe. While she was named with the honor a few months ago, she received special recognition during a luncheon on Monday at the Heritage Depot.

Kittrell was selected for this honor in June by the Senior Citizens Committee.

She has lived in Muleshoe for 50 years and been active with Senior Citizens for a year now.

Buster Kittrell, Wanda's husband, said, "Each year the Senior Citizens pick an outstanding person to honor. Wanda is always doing something for the community, visiting the nursing home."

Wanda said that she does volunteer work at the nursing home at Muleshoe Area Medical Center. She is also active in her church, First Baptist Church of Sudan.

OUTSTANDING SENIOR CITIZEN - Wanda Kittrell of Muleshoe was recently named Senior Citizen of the Year by the Muleshoe Senior Citizen's Committee.

Buster have five children.

Also on Monday, the Senior Citizens honored Irene Dilts and Ethel Allison. The two ladies built a banner which won second place at the Senior Citizen's Jamboree in Lubbock recently.

MISD sees increase in enrollment

During a meeting of the Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees last Monday night, Superintendent Bill Moore reported that enrollment for the new 1994-95 school year was up by 56 students over the same date last year. However, Moore said that the enrollment count usually does not stabilize for the school year until after Labor Day.

As of Wednesday, Moore said that the enrollment count was 30 students more than last year at that same time.

Moore added, "It is pretty routine every year. The enrollment will level off for a while after Labor Day and stay pretty consistent throughout most of the year."

Moore said though, that once the harvest season is over, the schools generally lose some students and then the enrollment typically picks up again a bit in the spring during plant-

Combust supports property rights

LUBBOCK - U.S. Representative Larry Combust (R-Texas) today called on the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to heed the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's expertise about the swift fox and to not consider restricting private land use.

Combust's letter to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service opposes the possibility of adding the swift fox to the List of Threatened and Endangered Wildlife and Plants without sound scientific data and public comment.

Congressman Combust pointed to Texas Parks and Wildlife experts who wrote that the swift fox may actually be locally abundant throughout the Panhandle, South Plains and Permian Basin areas that Combust represents. Specifically, the Texas Parks and Wildlife experts have concluded, "The biological evidence in Texas does not warrant the listing of this species (as endangered)."

"The idea of an endangered species listing for the swift fox is not a swift idea," said Combust. "Like most Texans, I have always been concerned about preserving our natural resources, but we would not tolerate the federal government trampling on property rights in the name of protection. The swift fox exists in many parts of my congressional district and government restrictions could deal a severe economic blow to our entire region that depends on farming, ranching and oil and gas drilling."

Once a plant or animal is placed on the List of Threatened and Endangered Wildlife and Plants, any property owners must first receive permission and permits from the federal government if certain activity is classified as harming or disturbing the species in its habitat.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is expected to make studies and then recommend by May 1995 whether to list the swift fox as endangered.

Morris selected to All-American team

LAZBUDDIE - The Lazbuddie Junior High cheerleaders recently returned from a National Cheerleader's Association (NCA) summer camp workshop where one of their squad members, Kia Morris, received top recognition as being selected for the NCA All-American Team.

Kia Morris

The workshop was held at Wayland Baptist University and attracted over 300 cheerleaders from surrounding areas.

The National Cheerleaders Association is sponsoring the All-American Team award at each of more than 500 NCA workshops held across the United States. The winners were selected for this award above all other cheerleaders at the workshop on the basis of their cheerleading technique, leadership and all-around cheerleading ability.

The presentation of the NCA All-American Team award came at the completion of a full workshop on training on cheerleading technique, cheers, chants, jumps, partner stunts and pyramids, as well as a leadership program for sportsmanship, crowd participation, responsibilities, organization and dedication. The National Cheerleader's Association has been conducting summer workshops for more than 45 years, teaching more than 125,000 students each year on the art of cheerleading.

Commissioner's to discuss oil collection grants

The Bailey County Commissioner's Court will meet in special session on Monday, Aug. 29 at 10 a.m. at the Bailey County Courthouse.

The Commissioner's Court will discuss used oil collection grants and consider sharing any incurred expense with the City of Muleshoe. They will also discuss the fiscal year 1995 budget proposal.

The Court will consider granting an easement in Precinct #1 to run a water line under the road and consider granting an easement to Pe-Ru Corporation for an electric line in Precinct #4.

Also on Monday, the Court will discuss accumulated compensatory time of deputy sheriff's and other county employees and consider a solution and will consider the appointment of Berta Combs as Veteran Service Officer and Community Services Advisor for Bailey County. They will also consider waiving probation period, as to salary only, for Berta Combs.

Creative Living

With Sheryl Borden

PORTALES - Information on wild rice, healthy cooking with new appliances and reasons and recipes for hosting a dessert party will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, August 30 at noon and Saturday, September 3rd at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.) "Creative Living" airs on Public broadcasting station, KENW-TV, from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, N.M.

Ann Thacker, California Wild Rice, will explain the differences between various types of rice and share some "stuffing" recipes. Thacker is from Old Sacramento, Calif.

Another guest, Sheryl Flomenhoft, from Shelton, Conn., will share some handy tips for healthy eating and demonstrate some cooking methods using new appliances. Flomenhoft represents the Black and Decker Household Products Groups.

Jenifer Lang, ICY Vodka, will present some good reasons and recipes for hosting a dessert party. She's from New York City.

On Tuesday, August 30th at 9:30 p.m., "Creative Living" will not be shown due to special programming, but will return on Tuesday, September 6th at its regular scheduled time. On Thursday, September 1st at noon, "Creative Living" will demonstrate the basics for making buttonholes and share tips to help you keep your car rolling.

Linda Turner Griepentrog, Editor of Sew News Magazine will show all of the new notions on the market for buttonhole making and also show how to make a corded buttonhole. Griepentrog is from Peoria, Ill.

Another guest, a former race car driver will share some professional tips to keep your car from rolling and explain the term "wrenchless mechanics". Pat Lazzaro represents Bridgestone Tires and is from Nashville, Tenn.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, Colo.

Rebekah Lodge planning chili lunch, other events

The Rebekah Lodge wants to remind people they will have a chili, bean, cornbread and cobbler luncheon on Thursday, Sept. 1 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The Lodge was happy to have Doris Lambert in Lodge after having tests done in Temple. She reports she is feeling better. Ona Berry continues to improve at home but her daughter-in-law Pat Berry has been in the hospital and is to have surgery in the near future.

The Lodge's busy sisters reported 60 telephone calls, 27 home visits and 17 hospital visits.

The Lodge will have another skating party on Sept. 16, where people can enjoy two hours of skating.

Roll call was conducted, showing 18 members present. The business was conducted by Betty Vanzandt.

Breast cancer screenings to be held

The Women's Center of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital will again conduct a breast cancer screening clinic at South Plains Health Care Providers, Inc., located at 208 West 2nd in Muleshoe. The screenings will be held on Thursday, Sept. 15 from 8-11 a.m.

Breast cancer affects one in nine women. The key to boosting chances of winning the battle against cancer are early detection by having an annual breast exam, mammogram and performing breast self-exams each month.

Each participant in the screening will receive a breast exam and one-to-one instruction in breast self-examination by a registered nurse specially trained in breast cancer detection, and a mammogram by a mammography technician.

The mammogram machine is certified by the American College of Radiology, ensuring a quality film.

The American Cancer Society urges all women to have their first mammograms by age 40. Those who have a close relative with breast cancer or other risk factors may be asked by their doctor to have a mammogram at an earlier age.

Ask about funding that is available for free breast screenings.

Please call the Women's Center at Harrington Cancer Center at 1-800-377-HOPE (4673) or (806)359-4673 today for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Cropland management key to stability of mourning dove population

Biologists have long recognized that habitat should be the crucial focus for most forms of wildlife management. For mourning dove in Bailey County, that key is management of cropland. The quality of the mourning dove habitat is directly related to the cropland management practices that affect the dove's food supply and cover.

The mourning dove, whose diet consists of seeds from native grasses, waste grains and forbs such as sunflowers, appears to be holding its own and this is mainly due to their adaptation to changing land use.

As a general rule, most harvest procedures in this county leave enough waste grain and stubble in the fields to sustain a dove population if it is left on top of the ground and accessible to the birds. Crop residues provide valuable food and cover. Leaving fence rows, odd field corners, tailwater pits and playa lake areas in weedy cover also provide excellent cover.

It is generally agreed that hunting is the largest mortality factor for dove. It may take 30 to 35 percent of the fall population. So with the mourning dove hunting season around the corner it is also important to remember to follow state regulations on hunting and bag limits. This too is key to our dove population.

For more information on mourning doves or other wildlife, contact the Soil Conservation Service office at 272-5124, or come by 105 E. Ave. D in Muleshoe.

Programs and services of the SCS are offered on a non-discriminatory basis without regards for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status or handicap.

Students attend Texas War on Drugs conference

LUBBOCK—Fourteen students from Muleshoe were among more than 350 area junior high and high school students who gathered at Texas Tech University for the 10th annual Texans' "War on Drugs Youth Leadership Conference." It was held July 6-9.

Sponsored by the Texan's War on Drugs, the four day conference brought together groups of young people who are concerned about their future in a world filled with drugs.

Many of them have seen first hand, the devastating effects of drugs on their peers and family.

These youth leaders came together over the summer for a week of comprehensive training on preventing alcohol and other drug use in their schools and communities.

They share the pressure they face daily and publicly reaffirm their commitment to lead drug-free lives and help their peers do the same.

"This is an amazing group of young people, who are committed to making their schools and communities a better place by helping their families and friends who are involved with alcohol and drugs," said conference coordinator Bobby Heard.

These young people participated in a variety of workshops and activities that provide information and training in the areas of drug prevention LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE PARTICIPANTS — Muleshoe students who recently participated in the Texans' War on Drugs Youth Leadership Conference in Lubbock were: (Back, left) Diana Harrison, sponsor; Crista Trussell, Chanda Weatherbie, Kandy Wilcox and Crystal Wheeler. education, helping those with alcohol and other drug problems, starting drug-free youth groups, community action planning, decision making and leadership skills.

Texans' War on Drugs Youth Leadership Conference is one of the best in the country. The program has been recognized by many national organizations as a model for the country, such as the National Crime Prevention Council, the National Association of State Alcohol and Drug Abuse Agency Directors, and many others.

Texans' War on Drugs Youth Leadership Conference started in 1984 with only 40 people from across Texas. This summer, approximately, 1,800 junior and high school students are expected to participate.

Students from Muleshoe who attended the conference were: Fara Black, Rebecca Warren, Rachel Givens, Amy Hooten, Alma Gonzales, Mikki Bowen, Heather Hooten, Josh Alfaro, Crystal Wheeler, Amber Bruns, Crista Trussell, Kandy Wilcox, Chanda Weatherbie and Tara Bell.

Local teacher sponsors were April Smith and Diana Harrison.

It Pays To Keep Your Eyes Open

When you're walking in dangerous territory, it pays to keep your eyes open. We are, and we'd better.

Just a few days ago my middle two sons, Jeffrey and Stephan, and some friends, were heading for a favorite bike-riding spot—a big caliche down to discover that he was standing on the business end of a rattlesnake.

Dogs may wag their tails to show affection, but that is not what rattlesnakes have in mind.

I can imagine myself and the snake at that point frozen motionless in a mutually unpleasant situation with neither of us knowing how to gracefully and safely take his leave.

Jeffrey didn't wait that long. In a flash, human boy went one way, rattle-tailed reptile went the other, and both were glad to get away intact.

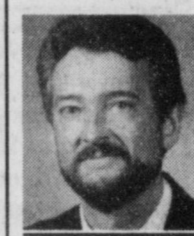

It was a close call. If Jeff had stepped on the other end of that snake, the day's events would likely have ended much differently. As it happened, that snake favored our kids with a very valuable lesson: Not all the ground you think of as safe is. When you're walking in dangerous territory, it pays to keep your eyes open.

We are, by the way. This world is a rough neighborhood with lots of dangers worse than rattlesnakes.

Little kids get leukemia. Families get broken. Dreams get shattered. People get hurt.

Our Creator went to a cross to ensure one Serpent's final defeat. And it will happen! But until then, let's be careful out there!

Curtis Shelburne

pit known by the neighborhood kids simply as THE PIT.

THE PIT is a hole in the ground filled with bike trails, hills, jumps, etc. It's not too far off from home, but far enough off. It's not totally out of reach of parents, but far enough out of reach. It's not like screaming down the rim of the Grand Canyon on a motocross bike, but it's close enough that a good imagination can supply what's lacking. And usually it's relatively safe.

But the Pit, or at least the path to the Pit, wasn't safe one recent Thursday.

As Jeffrey was crossing the dirt road to head down to the Pit, he took a step, heard a strange sound, and looked
