YOU NAME IT

By Everett Taylor

Eastland's Fourth of July celebration proved to be just as big as advertised, and perhaps a little bigger.

A crowd estimated at 5,000 attended the bathing review and fireworks display Tuesday night.

A large crowd was on hand all day at the Eastland Country Club to watch the semi-final and final matches of the tournament.

A large crowd followed the foursome of Lewis, Koonce, Poe and Robinson in the semi-finals of the championship flight.

Blair Lewis played Jake Koonce and Galand Poe played Aaron Robinson in an Eastland vs. Rising Star semi-final. Lewis and Poe are from Eastland.

Lewis went three down on the first three holes, and then rallied to half the fourth hole, and win the next four to come into the turn 1-up. Koonce, however, came back to win the match 3 and 2.

In the other match of the foursome, Poe and Robinson played nip and tuck throughout. Robinson, however, nipped at the finish and won the match 1-up by taking the last two holes.

A hard shower after the foursome had played through 14 holes caused some bad shots. Poe, playing with a damp glove and a slick club, topped his tee shot on the 17th and lost the hole, which proved to be the deciding one, leaving an all-Rising Star final.

Koonce beat Robinson 1-up in the finals.

Poe, by the way, almost missed the tourney, according to information have.

Seems that on Saturday before the meet was to start on Sunday, Poe and Johnny Kitchens, former Eastland football coach, and a well known coach over the state, went to Pousum Kingdom for a fishing trip.

All this was after Poe had qualified Saturday for the tourney.

Everything was fine and Kitchens and Poe were having a good time with their fishing gear.

Suddenly Kitchens realized that it was about time for them to start back to Eastland if Poe was going to get to play in the tournament Sunday.

Kitchens yelled for Poe to come on with no response. Search as he might, Kitchens could not locate Poe.

After burning a couple of tanks of gas, Kitchens called in the police and everyone else who he thought might be of help in the search.

All to no avail. No sign of Poe. Just as Kitchens was about to give up, along came a group of coffee girls leading the strayed Poe back to his starting point.

Despite the fact that he was playing with but very little rest, Poe eliminated two opponents in Sunday's play and entered the semi-finals where he made a fine showing for Eastland.

The Eastland Golf Association has asked that their appreciation be expressed to the campfire girls who helped bring their star back in time for the meet.

Members of the association kept a close watch on Poe until after he had played in Tuesday's round.

Koonce and Robinson, the two finalists in the championship flight, from Rising Star and both well known in Texas golfing circles, commented very favorably on the Eastland tournament and course.

Both stated that they enjoyed playing the tourney very much. Koonce said that the Eastland layout was one of the best he had ever seen.

Ranger Rodeo Will Feature Calf Scramble

A calf scramble for registered Jersey heifers and registered pigs will highlight the Ranger Jaycee's rodeo July 19 through 22.

Future Farmers of America and Four-H club boys of the county will be eligible to participate in the two scrambles. The calf scramble will be held Thursday night, the pig scramble Friday night.

Buck and Tommy Steiner, well known rodeo promoters of Austin, have contracted to furnish the stock for the coming rodeo. The quality of their stock has been proven by the action given in past rodeos.

The Steiners estimate that they have $30,000 invested in 100 Brahman bulls. That figures out to about $300 a bull. The investment is so high because each bull must be tried three or four times—and must be culled if it fails to make the rodeo grade.

The Ranger Junior College band will furnish the music during the four nights of the rodeo.

Ted Gouldy's Texo Hired Hands will participate in rodeo festivities and furnish music for American Legion sponsored dances on three nights of the rodeo.

The Gouldy band is one of the featured bands over Texas radio networks.

Jaycee officials announced that Shivers Johnson's famous Comedy Car act has been contracted to perform during intermissions. The act is rated among the top of its type.

Don Wileox, Mitzy Lucas Riley and Ruth Mariani will do trick riding at the rodeo.

The four days of rodeoing will be opened with a parade starting at 4 p. m. Wednesday, July 19. The rodeo will start at 8 p. m. at the rodeo parking grounds. The Volunteer Fire Department has agreed to park cars at the grounds, starting at about 6 p. m.

Reserve seats and box seats are now on sale. C. E. May, Jr., president of the Jaycees, said that holders of last year season's boxes will have option on boxes for this year shows. He said that they should contact Nick Crawford at the Oil City Pharmacy. Bruce Maddox is handling publicity for the show. Dr. Carl Straley will have charge of the parade.

Pie Supper Slated

The Cheaney Home Demonstration club is sponsoring a pie supper at the Cheaney Baptist Church at 8 p. m. Friday, July 7.

All candidates and the public are invited to attend the supper.

Navy Airforce Has Field Day On North Korean Communication Lines

Editors note: The following is an eye-witness account of the strikes against North Korean targets by carrier-based U. S. and British planes. It was written by Harold Martin of the Atlanta Constitution and the Saturday Evening Post for the combined American press.

By Harold Martin (Distributed by United Press) Aboard A U. S. Navy Carrier Off Korea, July 4 (Delayed) — (UP) — Raiding the West coast of Communist Korea for two consecutive days, carrier planes of the joint United States Seventh Fleet and British task force smashed with rockets, bombs and incendiary projectiles air installations, railroad bridges and locomotives and left great fires burning in the freight marshalling yards from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang south to Haeju.

The attacks were carried out under the overall command of Vice Admiral Arthur Dewey Struble of the United States Navy. All the planes returned safely

O. O. Odom, Jr. Announces For Representative

O. O. Odom, Jr., a resident of the Cisco area for 12 years, has authorized this paper to announce that he is a candidate for the office of State Representative of the 107th Floterial District, Eastland and Callahan Counties, in the July 22 primary election.

"I am seeking this office," Odom said, "because I am a young man who firmly believes that the future of Texas depends on good management policies by the state government. Certainly, I am against new taxes."

Odom, who recently completed one term as a Cisco City Commissioner without seeking re-election, is 32 years of age. He is a graduate of Texas Wesleyan College, Fort Worth, and the son of the late Rev. O. O. Odom, Sr., and Mrs. Odom now of Ft. Worth. He is married and the father of two sons.

A veteran of World War II, Odom entered the service as a private and won promotions until he was a captain upon discharge, after seven years of service. He was the organizer and is now the commanding officer of the Cisco Battery of the National Guard.

During World War II, Odom's assignments included that of a navigator and bombardier on Air Force bombers over Germany. He was shot down and spent more than a year as a prisoner of war. He holds 13 decorations.

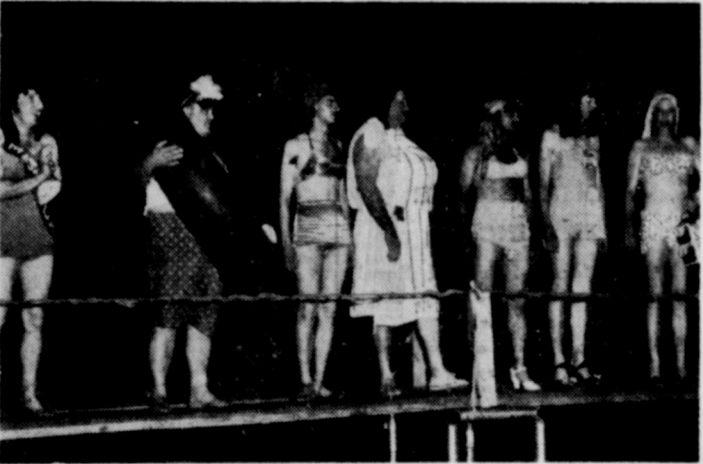

Since leaving the service, Odom has been in business in Cisco and has taught the past two years in the night school for veterans at Cisco Junior College. He is a member of the VFW, American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans.

"My decision to seek this office," Odom said, "was based entirely on my desire to service my community and my state. If I am successful, you can be sure that I will be the people's full time representative and that a good job of government will be my prime objective."

Two Reported Hurt In Crash Of Three Cars

Milton Wayne Forest, 20, of Leon, was released yesterday from the West Texas Hospital, Ranger, following a highway accident 10 miles east of Ranger, July 4.

A Mrs. Ann Faulk, also reported injured, as a result of the accident, was not hospitalized as far as the Times could discover. Forest was injured when the car in which he was riding ran off the road and overturned. Three other boys riding in the car, a '46 Ford, were not injured seriously.

Joe Hickman of Arlington, Calif., driving with his wife and two children, saw the overturned car and stopped to give assistance.

A 1950 Oldsmobile driven by Mrs. Faulk, of Odessa, collided with the Hickman auto, a 1950 Chevrolet, injuring Mrs. Faulk, highway patrolmen said.

Mrs. Faulk and Forest were taken to the hospital at Ranger, the patrolman reported. Mrs. Hickman and her two children were also taken to the hospital but were released after being treated for minor injuries.

Highway patrolmen stated that all three cars were demolished. Patrolman T. S. Barrett stated that the first accident was evidently by high speed and wet pavement.

City Mower Is Available For Private Usage

The City Commission has purchased a weed cutter to be used in cutting weeds on streets, sidewalks, and city owned property, L. C. Heck, city manager, has announced.

Any citizen who wants the city to cut weeds on private property may make arrangements by calling the city hall, phone 45, Heck stated.

The charge for work will be $2 per hour. It is asked that posts, large rocks, wire or anything which would hamper operations be removed from the lot before the cutter arrives. Otherwise it will take additional time to clean the lot before cutting begins and add to the overall cost of the job.

Heck urged that all persons who have unmowed lots have them cleaned. It was pointed out that this would make Eastland a more healthy and beautiful city.

Heldridge To Fill Flatwoods Pulpit

Rev. James Heldridge of De Leon will deliver the message at 11 a. m. Sunday at the Flatwoods Methodist Church. Heldridge is filling in the absence of the pastor, J. W. Tickner, who is attending the summer term at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Yanks Outnumbered; Communications Line Endangered By Reds

Korean War Echoes Around World; Pearl Harbor Goes On War Footing

U. S. troops were in general retreat in Korea today, harassed by 50,000 North Korean soldiers and 100 tanks. The one fact emerging clearly from the confusion of battle was that the G. I.'s were taking a beating in their first big fight with the Communists.

In Washington, however, President Truman reminded the American people that the last battle is yet to be fought. He expressed confidence that the invaders will be defeated despite early successes.

The Yanks seemed to be heavily outnumbered and stretched thin all the way from ports of arrival in Korea to the front lines. But however that may have been, they took a licking in the first round.

The U. S. command was moving up reinforcements as fast as possible. Clearing skies after long hours of murky weather gave promise of an onsurge of American air power.

Some 50,000 Koreans led by perhaps 125 tanks swept down through the soggy Korean hills and valleys against the thin spearhead which the Americans had thrust up almost to Suwon.

The impact hurled the Americans back in a general retreat of eight to ten miles. They lost Pongtaek, 21 miles south of Suwon, and dug in along a more or less stable line on the South bank of a river flowing just below Pongtaek, the big gateway city leading down the main transport route to the provisional capital of Taejong, 49 miles to the southeast.

Altogether the Americans had pulled back as much as 22 miles from their Northernmost penetration near Suwon.

Dispatches from the field conceded that the Americans in the advanced positions suffered heavy casualties when the North Koreans hit and kept hitting.

The North Korean radio, which lards its war reports freely with propaganda, said more than 150 Americans were killed and 50 more were captured yesterday.

Reports to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said that Communists had committed five divisions of perhaps 50,000 men to their main frontal attack below Suwon.

Americans afield estimated that the North Koreans had sent 160 to 170 tanks into South Korea, and that possibly 50 had been knocked out by U. S. and South Korean forces.

How much strength MacArthur had sent-in was his military secret. Last week an official report said a U. S. division, usually numbering around 15,000 men, would be in Korea by July 4.

The Korean war echoed around the world. Pearl Harbor, where America's share of the Second World War started, was back on a war footing as a relay and supply base for the forces in Korea.

Shero, King, Day Representatives At Indian Festival

Bobby Shero will represent Eastland at the Bathing Beauty contest to be held at the Frank Gray Memorial Park in Gorman, Friday, July 14 at 7:30 p. m., in connection with the Gorman Indian Trail Festival, H. J. Tanner, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Miss Shero was the winner of the Eastland Bathing Beauty review held at the city park Tuesday night.

Doug King and Jeanell Day have been selected as Eastland's duke and duchess in coronation of the princess of the Indian Trail Festival. The coronation of the princess will be held Thursday, July 13, at 7 p. m.

Survivors include one brother, E. A. Bills of Littlefield, and a sister, Mrs. Taylor of Monahans. Interment was in the Eastland cemetery with Hamner Funeral Directors in charge.

Funeral services for Fred Bills, 61, long time resident of Eastland, were held in the Church of Christ in Eastland at 2:30 p. m. yesterday with Mac Barte, minister of the church, in charge.

Bills died Tuesday in a Ranger Hospital following a heart attack Monday. In Eastland he stayed at the Charlotte Hotel. He was a veteran of World War I. Bills was a part time employee of Massingale Tin and Plumbing Company. Survivors include one brother, E. A. Bills of Littlefield, and a sister, Mrs. Taylor of Monahans. Interment was in the Eastland cemetery with Hamner Funeral Directors in charge.

The Loves of Carmen

By SOPHIE KERR. Copyright, 1942, MIRA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, has just come to Seville from the countryside of Navarre. He becomes enamored of the bewitching gypsy, Carmen. When he tries to make love to her, the unpredictable Carmen—remembering the fortune teller who foretold a love-death for her—at first repulses him. Later changing her mind, she tries to get him to run off to the mountains with her. Their meeting is interrupted by Jose's superior officer, who feels he has a claim on Carmen. Angry and jealous, the older man draws his sword on Jose.

XV

THE colonel started to prick Jose's hands with the point of his sword—first one hand, then the other, with such skillful rapidity that the eye could hardly follow. The shining steel bit through to blood and darted away to bite again.

"Perhaps the letting of a little of the conscript's blood will cool him of his ardors."

Carmen slid down along the couch silently, her legs outstretched, her feet feeling secretly, warily, for an objective. The colonel's taunting voice kept up its derisive staccato. "Perhaps the conscript enjoys the little sharp bites of steel?"

Carmen's slipped feet slid silently in front of the booted, spurred feet of the colonel.

"Perhaps it reminds him of the little bites of—"

The colonel had worked himself up into a fine fury and he lunged forward as though to beat the boy with the flat of his sword. The little slipped feet twisted suddenly, viciously, tripping the booted ones, making them stumble forward. The colonel's voice broke off in a strangled, guttural sound. The slipped feet drew themselves quickly away.

Don Jose still had his back to the wall but his sword was not kissed with his other hand as he followed her back to the fire. His face carried a dazed look of happiness.

He sniffed appreciatively, looking over his shoulder at the food. "It smells good. But what an enormous potful."

"The others will be riding in soon. They'll be hungry." She bent to tend the spit, Jose close beside her.

"I wish they wouldn't come," he said. "I wish they'd never come."

Carmen turned the roasting game carefully. "We couldn't get along without them. We haven't a peseta between us." She pushed her hair out of her face and looked up at him, laughing. "A man who is hunted as you are, needs friends—good, money-making friends."

Don Jose gazed into the fire, not answering. After a silence he said almost to himself, wonderingly, "I don't know what has happened to me. Here I am, a deserter from the Army and a murderer of my colonel and I don't even understand why I'm here." He frowned. "I can't imagine how it happened. One minute I thought he was going to kill me and the next minute there he was, out of nowhere, on my sword—like this here on a spit. I just don't—"

Carmen rose quickly, slapping the ashes from her hands. "Don't think about it," she said. "You're here and I'm here and that's enough. Think about it that way. Just Carmen and Jose—"

He took her face in his hands, watching her eyes. "All to myself—"

She gazed back at him, clear-eyed, reassuring. "All to yourself."

He put his arms around her savagely and held her as though this made the last statement come true and would keep it true and shining forever. But his arms fell away from her when the clatter of horses' hoofs was heard coming up the rocky mountain side—a sound mixed with the guttural tone of men's voices and the clank of gear.

Carmen twisted away and looked off toward the sound warily.

Roy L. Lane—

When I first asked you for this important office, I told you that if elected I would render you the most efficient service possible. I have tried to make that promise good and I welcome an investigation of my record. During my tenure in office we have filed and handled 2,735 cases of all kinds, which is more than double the number handled during the same length of time preceding my tenure in office.

This of course is due to the years following the war and our little oil flurry which always cause more law suits. I am proud that I have been able to handle these cases with one regular deputy to help me, and I am sure that you will agree and appreciate the fact that we have saved the county money, by the manner in which we have handled the work. And it is still my promise, if you see fit to re-elect me, to render you the same economical, courteous, efficient service that I have in the past.

I believe that my record while serving you as District Clerk will speak for itself and that it will show that I am qualified to render you the service that you are entitled to have.

The office of District Clerk belongs to the citizens of Eastland county, and I have tried to keep this in mind at all times. I am your hired-hand with a job to do, and if the way I have carried for this important office meets your approval, I shall greatly appreciate another term, and again I wish to thank you for the many courtesies and favors which you have extended me.

Thanking you for your support and vote on July 22nd, I am

Respectfully,
Your District Clerk
ROY L. LANE.

South Koreans Almost Hang US American Pilot

TOKYO, July 6 (UP)—An American flier who bailed out of his bomber said today that South Korean villagers had practically signed his death warrant and then gave him a hero's welcome in the space of a few hours.

The flier, First Lt. Harry M. Lister of Topeka, Kans., bailed out of his B-26 over the ocean and was picked up by South Korean fishermen.

Village officials and two rifle-bearing policemen subjected him to rough questioning, he said, but when they became convinced he was an American they tried to make amends by giving him a hero's reception.

"I was taken to a Korean police station and given clothing, food, American cigarettes and beer," Lister said. "A Korean Colonel then took charge and presented me with silver after-dinner cups as a present. I was carried by jeep across the peninsula to Fusan, meeting the mayor and other city officials at every town and generally given a hero's reception."

Lister, 29, bailed out when his bomber stalled 40 miles short of his target.

When he tried to go over the side his coveralls caught on the plane's seat and he had to crawl back inside the bomber and release himself.

Landing safely in the water, his liferaft became entangled in his parachute and he floated for about four hours in his Mae West life jacket before the fishermen picked him up.

Lister's wife is the former Lenora Lapp of Eden, Tex. His mother, Mrs. Austin Wait, lives at 435 Kellman St., Topeka, Kans.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones spent Tuesday in Raton, New Mexico, on their way to Colorado.

Evacuation Plans Posted

Lt. Leonard Plog of Hood River, Ore., shot down a Yak-6 fighter as it lifted from the runway on the takeoff. The only high altitude kill of the morning strike was credited to beardless Ensign Eugene Brown of Little Rock, Ark., who blew a Yak off the tail of his section leader.

Lt. Jr. Grade Donald K. Christensen of Pittsburgh, Calif., and Maj. F. H. Conner of the A 1 r Force, flying with the Navy on an exchange of pilots arrangement, were credited with destroying a plane on the ground.

The Independence day strike began with a strafing sweep over the airfields, which showed no signs of activity. Moving on from Pyongyang airfields to ratter targets, a dozen Panther jets swooped low over the railroad yards at the North Korean capital, exploding three locomotives.

While the Panther jets mauled rolling stock, prop-driven Navy Skyraiders and Corsairs pounded with 1,000-pound bombs an important railway bridge over the Taedong River southwest of Pyongyang.

Over these bridges pass North Korea's arms and supplies to their troops in the South. Their loss will mean rail traffic must be routed circuitously to the West over a ferry connecting with a single track line.

Lt. Marion Galligher of Coeur Dalene, Ida., blew up a rolling locomotive with cannon fire.

British fliers from the carrier HMS Triumph flew the rail line running East along the 38th parallel from Haeju to Ongin, striking at targets of opportunity. They destroyed one railroad bridge and blasted five parked trucks loaded with North Korean troops.

Insurance is a Life-Time Affair—and is so considered by those who figure safety as a business and protection as an investment. The fact that a person has carried insurance many years and never had a claim does not mean that he lost his money premiums. Rather he gained them because he invested in safety, got protection and lost none of his property. If we buy insurance for what it really is a large part of our financial problems will solve themselves.

Ted Atkinson, Veteran Jockey, Still Wants To Win The Derby

By Oscar Fraley
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, July 6 (UP) — A hardened veteran with the shining eyes of an apprentice, jockey Ted Atkinson vowed today that race riding isn't all gold but is filled with glory, too, and that he was out to write his name in the record books of the turf.

"I'd like to be able to say that I won them all," the Toronto thin man explained as he peeled off his silks after another "hard day in the office."

Right now he has won most of them, but there's one which, to date, has eluded the "slasher," a man renowned in the tack room for his ambidextrous ability with a whip. That's the Kentucky Derby, and the odds are that Atkinson won't step down for good until he is satisfied it is out of his reach.

Three times he has gone to the post as the spine-tingling strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" floated through the air at Churchill Downs. On Gold Shoer in 1943 he didn't have a chance. Aboard Lord Boswell in 1946 it was "maybe." And in 1949 he had the big horse in Capot. All three times he failed.

With Capot between his knees, Ted went on to take the Preakness and the Belmont stakes last year. And he has won the Ladies handicap four times, the Shevlin stakes five times and the Brooklyn handicap twice, as well as dozens of other stakes.

The Brooklyn was one of his four winners on July 4 as once again Atkinson showed the skill which made him the leading jockey in 1944 and 1946. And winning it was a thrill which lighted his eyes with a gleam of satisfaction.

"It isn't only the money," insisted Atkinson as he pulled off a leather ankle brace which protects him from the lead weights under his saddle. "It's deep down inside when you're finished. Then you like to look back on a job

10,256 Fans Turn Out For Park Opening

By United Press
Fort Worth fans, who turned out 10,256-strong last night for formal dedication of rebuilt La Grave Field, watched the Dallas Eagles accomplish the amazing feat of turning two measley hits and a Fort Worth error into a 2 to 1 victory over the Texas League-leading ents.

Several notables, including Boss Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodger organization, were on hand as Cat hurler Ray Moore gave up one ineffective hit over eight innings, but was charged with the loss.

The Fort Worth ball park burned early last season. Last night's crowd was the largest since the season opener at Dallas.

well done."

It is a sort of a race with his wife's family for the man his fellow jockeys call "the Professor," because of his precise way of speaking and his one year of college. Atkinson married the former Martha Shanks and she came from a widely known harness racing family.

"Her uncle, Will Caton, drove in Russia before the first war and in 25 years on their main circuit he won every major stake in Russia," Ted said. "That's something of which his family can be proud."

Ted, not in so many words, indicated that he was out to make the home folks as good as the relatives. And the Canadian clouter isn't doing bad, at that.

At 34, Ted is moderately wealthy and adding to the family bank account every day. Some days, like Tuesday when he copped the Brooklyn, it's quite a chunk. But Atkinson isn't satisfied.

His name still isn't on the list of Kentucky Derby winners — and Ted intimates that he needs that to put the Atkinsons in a class with the Catons. Nobody is more happily married than the "slasher," but husbands can't ever be too careful.

Wild orchids are popularly believed to grow only in tropical climes, but one variety flourishes in Aroostook County, Maine.

Seventh Fleet Commander Say Formosa Safe

TOKYO, July 6 (UP)—The commander of the U. S. Seventh Fleet now guarding the Chinese Nationalist island of Formosa against Communist attack said today that the fleet could prevent any large-scale invasion of the island.

"I don't anticipate letting any large invasion get through," Vice Admiral Arthur D. Strubble told a press conference.

Strubble, who commands a combined American-British naval force, left the Fleet in a carrier-based plane and then transferred to another plane on land to report to Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Vice Admiral Charles T. Joy, commander of Naval forces in the Far East.

Strubble said the Chinese Nationalist did not have enough war ships to challenge directly his fleet off Formosa.

Servicemen Going Into Korea For First Time To Find Strange Things

By Harman W. Nichols
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 5 (UP)—Our servicemen who are going into Korea for the first time will find some strange things.

A trip to the National Geographic society reveals: Unless American GI's fetch along their own grub they are likely to be eating whale meat. They say it's a fancy dish and looks like Beef.

When a Korean loses a kinfolk, he doesn't wear black or put a dark band around his arm. He dolls up in white for three years. Korean families are in white most of the time because somebody is always passing along, it seems. A Korean bridegroom sticks with his lady love for three days in his father-in-law's house before he takes off for his own dad's house.

Official manhood is not established until a Korean takes a bride.

And even if he lives to be 100, a Korean bachelor can't open his yap with his own opinion. It carries no weight.

There are half a million Christians in the country. But most Koreans believe in a mixture of spirit worship, or Animism, Buddhism and Confucianism.

In Seoul, the capital of South Korea, the gents mix up their wardrobes. Some wear western clothes; others oriental.

The gals haven't changed their styles for centuries. The old women nearly always dress in white and wear embroidered velvet bonnets. The younger ones doll up in long, high-waisted skirts and short bodices and go in for the pastels like pink, robin's egg blue and aquamarine.

South Korea is mostly agricultural. Even in times of peace and good growing weather, it finds it a rough job to feed the 20,000,000 people there.

This year was somewhat of an exception, at least before the shooting started. ECA officials here said the 1950 rice crop had been expected to be big enough to supply all South Korea's needs and still show a surplus.

Whenever you look at the picture magazines, you see Koreans wearing funny looking hats—funnier, even, than the bonnets our lovely ladies float in this country.

In the land of Korea, it is said, the origin of the unusual skimmers stems from a fear against plotting.

One legend is that an ancient ruler figured that men couldn't conspire if they couldn't put their heads together. So, with considerable logic he issued an order—nothing but huge hats.

If the people had those big blocks topside, they wouldn't get close enough to one another to even whisper and maybe give away a lot of secrets.

American women please take note.

Your Health

AUSTIN (Spl.)—Food poisoning and the spread of food-borne diseases can be "things of the past", State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox asserted here today.

"People need only remember three things to bring about the end of the food poisoning disease classification," Dr. Cox declared. "Buy food from safe sources, prepare it in a sanitary fashion, and serve and store it correctly."

He said state laws covered the sale of contaminated food to the housewife, but "only the home-maker can see that food is properly stored and cleanly prepared for serving the family."

There is a difference between food infection and food intoxication, he pointed out.

Food infection comes from eating or drinking a product contaminated by a germ. Dysentery, typhoid fever, para-typhoid fever and tuberculosis are examples. Animal parasites can also gain entry to the body in this way. That, the doctor said, is how people get trichinosis and tapeworm.

The growth and multiplication of certain toxin forming bacteria in unrefrigerated foods bring on food intoxication, according to the explanation. That is the source of staphylococcus infection and the deadly botulism. Some kinds of mushrooms and certain shellfish are also poisonous.

Some poisonous substances may be accidentally introduced into food, Dr. Cox said. "For instance, rodent and insect poisons, spray residues on fruit and vegetables, and poisons from metal containers."

To point up the deadliness of some food poisons, he related the story of the housewife who suspected some home-canned green beans she had just opened were tainted.

"She barely tasted one of them, but it killed her in a matter of hours. Such instances are rare but do occur."
