Nation To Get Higher Taxes; Burdensome Wartime Controls If Korean Fighting Continues

By Lyle C. Wilson
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 17 (UP)—It was obvious here today that the nation will be asked to accept higher taxes and many burdensome wartime controls unless spending and time limits speedily are fixed for the Korean fighting.

Controls and taxes may be proposed piecemeal because this is a campaign year. But on the basis of President Truman's record in office, here is what to expect if the Korean breaks continue against us:

1. A Presidential request that Congress boost taxes by an overall $400,000,000 or more.

Wallace Comes Out For US Korean Stand

NEW YORK, July 17 (UP)—Henry A. Wallace will step down as Progressive Party leader if the rank and file oppose overwhelmingly his stand on Korea, he told the United Press yesterday by telephone from his south Salem, N. Y. farm.

"We'll just have to wait and see," he said. Asked what he would do if the party membership opposed his stand on Korea, Wallace replied:

"That question automatically answers itself. Nobody could lead a group that was overwhelmingly in disagreement with his policies. Wallace, who polled 1,157,172 votes in 1948 when he ran for President on the Progressive Party slate, Saturday declared himself "on the side of the U.S. and the UN" in the Korean war and blamed Russia for North Korea's invasion of South Korea.

The National committee of the Progressive Party meanwhile adopted a policy statement which did not say which side it was on and blamed no one for the Korea war.

Brownsville Youth Beat In Matamoros

MATAMOROS, Mex., July 17 (UP)—A 23-year-old Brownsville youth, C. Heyre, was reported brutally beaten yesterday when he tried to protest his arrest on a traffic violation here.

Heyre was arrested by officers as he left a Matamoros cafe, and charged with parking on the wrong side of the street.

Witnesses said when the youth protested, the officers beat him. Matamoros police acknowledged today that there had been a scuffle and that "blood had been shed." However, they said Heyre was a prisoner of the traffic department and "any statement about the incident would have to come from them."

Texas Climbs To Fifth

DALLAS, July 17 (UP)—Texas climbed to fifth place among the 48 states today in population figures with the state's total for 1950 listed unofficially at 7,660,481.

2. That Congress authorize the government to build steel plants and other facilities if private initiative fails to do so.

3. Installment buying and perhaps real estate credit controls to close the easy purchase markets.

4. Strict priorities and allocations authority for transportation and key materials.

5. Standby power to impose price ceilings on scarce and vital commodities and wage controls of some kind.

6. Renewed Administration pressure for extension of rent control.

7. Enormous emergency appropriations for national defense. Truman has asked for all of the foregoing, except emergency appropriations, before. In 1947-48-49 he bombarded Congress with messages along those lines. Congress accepted some of the numerous anti-inflation proposals fired at Capitol Hill but balked at most of them.

Rep. Arthur G. Klein, D., N. Y., told newsmen he will introduce a bill today that would restore the President's World War II authority over rationing, raw materials and wages.

Police Search For Boys Who Stoned House

HOUSTON July 17 (UP)—Police searched today for two carloads of young boys who stoned the residence of Texas Communist Leader James J. Green and left a warning for "Commies" to "cease activity."

Green was not at home yesterday when the youths started the rock barrage. One stone ripped through a window into the living room of the Communist Leader, but two others missed their mark and broke windows in an upstairs apartment occupied by another family.

Police found one brick on the front porch wrapped in paper and addressed "to the Commies". Inside the wrapping, another message read: "Warning to the Commies, cease activities at once. Veterans and mothers and fathers of sons who gave their lives in World War Two."

Bobbie Shero Wins Gorman Beauty Contest

Miss Bobby Shero representing Eastland was awarded first place in the bathing beauty show held at Gorman Friday night in connection with the Indian Trail Festival celebration.

Miss Shero is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Shero.

It is the second bathing beauty event this month in which Miss Shero has captured first place. She was also chosen as the top beauty in the Eastland Bathing Revue, held here in connection with the July 4 celebration at the city park pool.

Miss Shero is a sophomore at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Commies Close In On American Forces With Three Divisions

By Earnest Hoberecht
United Press Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Tuesday, July 18 (UP)—The main American force has abandoned the strategic city of Taejon, a dispatch from the front said today.

The Communists are closing in on the city from three sides. Taejon formerly was the emergency capital of the Korean government.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's midnight communique did not mention abandonment of Taejon, but said heavy pressure from two and possibly three Communist divisions had forced an American withdrawal in the Taejon-Kongju-Nonsan triangle. The communique said the Communists were paying a high price for the ground they gained and that the American withdrawal was orderly. It added that only two Communist tanks had succeeded in crossing to the South bank of the Kum river and that both of them had been destroyed.

Five Teams In Softball Meet For District

The district softball tournament will begin at Fireman's softball field in Eastland Wednesday, Staff Sgt. Brannon, in charge of the tournament, has announced.

Originally scheduled to begin Monday, the tournament was postponed until Wednesday because of the smaller number of entries than expected.

Five teams, Wootens of Abilene, Thorntons of Abilene, Cisco Junior College, Lamb Motor of Eastland and King Ford of Eastland, will play for district honors.

Brannon stated that it was believed that other teams which had been expected to enter dropped out because they have paid players on their teams. The meet is strictly for amateur teams.

The winner of the tournament here will play at Brownwood in August in a tourney to decide the State Amateur Softball Championship.

Brannon said that plans were being made to hold a "wildcat" tournament in Eastland in August, with all teams eligible to compete, even if their players are paid.

USAF Enlistments Are Announced

Billy Ray Adams and Bobby Dean Warren, both of Olden, have joined the United States Air Force for a period of four years, S-Sgt. Charles Brannon, Eastland recruiting officer, has announced.

Adams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of Olden. He graduated from Olden High School this year.

Warren is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Warren of Olden. He is also a 1950 graduate of Olden High School.

Sgt. Brannon also has announced that orders had been received for the Eastland office to remain open seven days a week. Brannon is also on call 24 hours each day. His phone number is 859.

Enlistments are showing a slight increase, Brannon added. Six enlistments have been made from his office this month, a higher percentage than from any other office in the district.

Australia To Send Troops

LONDON July 17 (UP)—Australia indicated today it would send ground forces to back the United States in Korea, but most of the rest of the United Nations were expected to plead they had none to spare.

WEATHER

By United Press
Scattered showers fell in Texas yesterday and more are in prospect for the next 24 hours, the weather bureau in Dallas predicted today.

High winds accompanied the showers yesterday in most sections of the state, particularly in the Lubbock area. Rainfall there measured .55 inch.

Heaviest rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. was .02 inches at Marfa.

Warmest point yesterday was Presidio with 105 degrees. It was 85 at Marfa for the day's minimum.

Commies Cave In U. S. Line With Heavy Force

By Robert C. Miller
WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE KOREAN FRONT, Korea, July 17 (UP)—The Communists came by the thousands in fanatical, screaming waves, right into American foxholes and beyond.

American artillery fired at point-blank range as fast as it could be loaded, but it couldn't stop them for long.

Neither could U. S. machine-guns who piled up Communist bodies like cordwood in front of their guns.

For every one killed, 10 took his place.

And still they came. An aid station was enveloped. The North Koreans killed all the wounded, even the chaplain who had stayed behind to comfort the men.

That is how the North Koreans caved in the American line on the Kum river north of Taejon Sunday. They won by sheer weight of numbers. In simple arithmetic, it was hundreds of Americans fighting against thousands, perhaps tens of thousands, of North Koreans.

L. A. A. Dianda of Marquette, Mich., told how it was in the front lines.

"We must have killed 1,000 of them," the young Lieutenant said. "You just couldn't miss."

"We were dug in on a dike along the river," he said. "They opened up on us about 4:30 a. m. Sunday. The fire did not hurt us much, but we had to keep our heads down.

"The first attack came right behind the barrage. This first group of North Koreans carried only knives and hand grenades.

"They swam the river and scrambled by the banks and came right into the foxholes where we were ducking for cover. As fast as they'd clean out one foxhole, they'd move into another in sort of leap-frog fashion."

In this way, Dianda said, the Reds cleared an area of about 300 yards on either side of a vital bridge across the Kum which the Americans had blown up earlier.

"Then came the main attack," he said. "They poured out of the woods on the other side of the river in groups of about 70 yelling, 'Banzai! Banzai!', and running straight at us."

"They were all well-uniformed and every fifth man carried an automatic weapon. They tried to come through the hole they had made in our front-line defenses but we were ready for them."

"We had the area zeroed in with heavy mortars and artillery and blew them to bits at point-blank range."

"From 6 until 8 a. m., they kept coming out of those woods and we kept blasting away at them.

"They would hold their fire until they were on top of us and then give us the works. "They pushed through our forward positions, but we caught them with machine-gun fire from our second line of defense along some hills about 500 yards to the rear.

"One machine-gunner must have killed 250 of them in 15 minutes. The Reds piled up like cordwood before his gun."

But the Americans did halt that drive, then started a tank-supported counter-attack and drove the Reds back across the river. By 10 a. m., they were in full retreat.

Then the American flanks caved in and the outnumbered Yankees were engulfed by the Reds hordes.

"It's a miracle any of us got out alive. If you got hit, you kept right on going. There are lots of kids we had to leave back in the rice paddies lying there in the mud as there was no way of getting them out."

"Lots of us didn't know why we were over here fighting, but now we know, we're going to even the score and give those blankie blinks the lesson they deserve."

"Lots of good Americans have to be avenged, and we are going to do it, no matter how long it takes."

A lot of heroes emerged from this battle. And a good many of them will have to be decorated posthumously.

One American major charged a North Korean machine-gun nest and knifed three Koreans to death before he was overpowered and killed.

The Loves of Carmen By SOPHIE KERR Copyright, 1948, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, falls victim to the charms of the bewitching gypsy, Carmen. His helpless infatuation leads him into a sword-fight with his commanding officer and the older man is killed. Jose is forced to flee to a mountain hide-out with Carmen. There he meets the gypsy rogues, Pablo and Remondado. Another member of the band, Dancaire, is in town to get their leader, Garcia, out of jail. Carmen explains to Jose that they live by smuggling and robbery. Murder is sometimes incidental. Jose, shocked and dazed, says there'll be no more of that for Carmen when she becomes his wife. Carmen agrees to acquiesce. The sound of horns and shouts is heard.

XVII THE shouts of the men welcoming two new arrivals introduced Garcia, the bandit leader, who strode toward the fire, boisterous and masterful. He was an enormous man, well over six feet four inches, heavy-boned, broad-shouldered and dark-skinned—an evil-looking gypsy, with the prowling, arrogant grace of a tomcat.

He was in command of that group because his presence made him leader and he spoke as a leader, with sharp orders. "What a ride! Pablo, take care of the horses. What's in the pot? Remondado, get me something to eat! Carmen, come here. Show these ruffians how glad you are to have me back."

The Loves of Carmen By SOPHIE KERR Copyright, 1948, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, falls victim to the charms of the bewitching gypsy, Carmen. His helpless infatuation leads him into a sword-fight with his commanding officer and the older man is killed. Jose is forced to flee to a mountain hide-out with Carmen. There he meets the gypsy rogues, murderers and thieves, who are Carmen's associates. Jose finds it hard to realize what has happened to him. He is completely disillusioned when he learns that Garcia, leader of the gypsy band, is Carmen's husband.

XVIII LATE that night when the fire was low, Carmen moved stealthily across to Don Jose, so silently that he did not hear her when she came up to him and knelt for a moment looking down into his face. His hands were clasped behind his head and he looked miserably off into the horizon, sleepless. He turned his head, startled, as she whispered, "Jose—Jose!" His face lightened with bitter disgust and he turned his head away from her.

Carmen crept closer to him. "Joseito, let me tell you something. "There isn't anything you can tell me now. Why didn't you tell me before? Why didn't you tell me about Garcia?" Carmen was ready with excuses. "I didn't know he'd come back so soon." "But you knew he was—" "Yes. Yes. But I didn't think he would be here until tomorrow. She became indignantly defensive. "Is it my fault he arrived so fast?" The words came from him slowly, bitterly. "What kind of a creature are you?" "Your kind, Joseito." She put her face against his. "Can you forget me? Can you?" He shoved her away and turned his back on her. "Go where you belong. Go back to him." Carmen touched his hair, pleading. "Joseito—look at me."

Premier Plans Refining Unit At Fort Worth

Officials of Premier Oil Refining Company of Texas have just announced from the Longview Texas office that the company will install a new platforming unit at its Fort Worth refinery. Contracts have been let and construction will proceed as rapidly as possible. Construction on an enlarged Polymerization unit is already well along at Premier's Arp Texas plant.

According to R. P. Hargis, president of Premier, the platforming process at its Fort Worth plant will be the first of its type to be built in the State of Texas, and it represents the latest advancement in petroleum processing equipment.

The Platforming process was discovered and developed by Universal Oil Products Company of Chicago who have been responsible for many developments in refining process facilities. This lat-another man's life doesn't mean much to him." "But—" "He's her husband, Navarro," Dancaire said quietly. Jose stared at him unbelievably. "Her—husband—" "That's right," Dancaire said, and he continued on toward the stewpot.

HOURS passed before the camp fell to rest but Don Jose could not sleep. He lay on the high ground 20 yards away from them, separated by boulders which were but slight separation to a man who, such a short time ago, had been separated from men like these by a chasm of civilized time. The night was very clear. The stars were high and bright in a cloudless sky. Had he wanted to look, he could have seen a great deal of the beauty of Spain falling away out of the mountains toward a warm sea, but he did not look. He was retracing in his mind the painfully simple steps that had led him to this rocky darkness. If they had been intricate steps, if everything that had happened to him had happened with blinding swiftness, leaving not a moment to permit him to choose and decide, then it would not have been so bitter, he thought. But each move was cut like a mosaic in his mind, each scene was clearly dramatized in the detail of his memory. He could see now that on the very few times, really, he had encountered Carmen, and with her his destiny, that she had carried with her the warning, the overt signs of a peril which he should have recognized.

He heard, within his mind, Andres' sobbed indictment. He knew that she was evil but he knew in a surging, sharp, ascendant way that she loved him, and this relieved the guilt in his soul. But though guilt was gone, he was left with despair and dishonor. Not only was his honor gone but at the sound of three words that could never be recalled, Carmen too was gone. The three words rang in mocking, frightening echoes in the depths of his mind, the words of Dancaire—"He's her husband."

He did not answer nor turn. Her voice became angry. "Look at me—" When he did not move she shrugged and rose. "So much the better. I'll live longer."

THE bandits were climbing upward to high ground. It was rocky, rough terrain. Garcia rode four lengths in the lead, with Carmen on the back of his horse, back to back with him. Carmen's eyes were fixed on Don Jose who rode beside Dancaire, at the rear of the band. When she caught his eye she smiled at him but he only looked away, his face set. Then she leaned back to press against Garcia, hoping to torment Jose, and from his undisguised look of misery knew she was getting the effect she wanted.

RIGHT PITCH—Each ball represents 100 major league victories to Bob Feller, who notched the 20th winning effort of his pitching career against Detroit in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. The Indians' one-time freball king is the only active player to reach the two-century mark, a trick turned by 31 others since 1900.

est process is unique in that it employs percentages of Platinum in the catalyst, yet operating cost are not excessive because the Platinum is recoverable when the catalyst becomes inactive.

Platforming is essentially a reforming process that is capable of increasing the Octane rating and other performance characteristics of gasoline. Blending stocks from the Premier unit at the Fort Worth plant will be transported to, and blended with gasolines being produced at Premier's other three Texas plants located at Baird, Arp and Longview, Texas.

This program will make the quality of gasoline available at all four of Premier's Texas refineries among the best in the petroleum industry and Premier will be in a position to meet the anticipated higher quality gasoline requirements of its customers throughout its entire marketing area.

National Guard Buckles Down To Work At Ft. Hood

NORTH CAMP HOOD, Tex., July 17 (UP)—Citizen-soldiers of the 49th Armored Division, Texas National Guard, buckled down to business today in their third summer training encampment.

Firing is scheduled to begin tomorrow when field artillery units and the reserve command move into the field on maneuver problems.

Other units will go on a three-day bivouac, living under field conditions, next week.

The big event of the week was set for Saturday morning, when the division will stage a review in honor of Gov. Allan Shivers.

Yesterday's tactical move into the camp was accomplished without serious trouble. However, high winds bothered pilots of light liaison aircraft hovering over convoys, and the hot Texas sun burned the skin of the citizen-turned-soldier.

Japan's 'Grand Old Man,' 94, Promotes Amity With U. S.

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The man who gave this city its famous cherry trees breezed into town the other day to check on their blossoms, renew some old friendships and drop a few words of ominous advice.

He is 94-year-old Yukio Ozaki, known as the mayor of Tokyo and truly one of the most amazing world characters alive today. Advanced deafness is the tiny old man's only sign of his great age. Otherwise he's spry, quick-witted, very much aware of what's going on in the world and not afraid to pass out sage advice.

He alternates using an old-fashioned Japanese ear trumpet and a modern, electric hearing aid, which sort of typifies Ozaki's unique link between the past and present. His record of actively fighting for true, liberal political causes for more than 68 years is probably unequalled by any man alive.

Back in 1882, before most of this country's liberals were born, Ozaki dumfounded every citizen of Japan and the world by daring to claim that the emperor shared sovereignty with the Japanese people. He organized a political party to espouse this theory. The group was promptly obliterated.

Next, he became an editor and fought his causes effectively through the press. In spite of cruel persecution he extended his influence and won election to the first Japanese Diet in 1890. He has never failed to be re-elected to that body, probably the longest legislative tenure in history.

His greatest fight proved a lost cause, against the rise of the Japanese militarists who ended up plotting Pearl Harbor. In the years before the war, and during it, his life was constantly in danger. He never ceased to fight the warmongers. His house was burned, he was marked for execution at least three times and sentenced to prison.

His tremendous personal popularity among the Japanese people somehow kept him alive and out of jail. In the midst of it he wrote, "Assassination is so popular in Japan it has become a statesman's death."

The cherry tree gift to Washington was made in 1908 by Ozaki as a thank-you for America's help ending the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5. The first batch of trees were allowed to die before they were ever planted. Hearing of this, he said:

"Starting with their first president, Americans have always been a little rough with cherry trees. I'll send some more with better instructions on how to take care of them."

COMMUNIST control of China is bothering Ozaki most. "Culturally, China is our mother country," he explains, "therefore, you can understand what happens in China will have a great impact on Japan." Recent riots in Tokyo he attributes directly to Communist agitation.

What his countrymen need most, he says, is courage and confidence, which he thinks can only be inspired by America's unwavering stand against the spread of Communism in the Orient. He admits that every Japanese citizen would like to see the end of the occupation. But he also admits that if Japan is to keep any semblance of democratic freedom, it has to be protected by the U. S. Navy, Army and Air Force. How the U. S. is to reconcile these two things, he doesn't say.

Mr. Ozaki, with all his mature wisdom and experience, is not very optimistic about the possibilities of avoiding World War III. With Oriental resignation he shrugs his shoulders and says that only by the complete eradication of the Communist elements in the democratic countries and by ending the spread of communism now, can war be averted.

Sportsmen Urged To Lend A Hand By Confederation

BROWNWOOD, July 17 (UP)—Texas sportsmen were warned here last night to "lend a hand" through statewide confederations of sportsmen's clubs if they wanted to keep the state's supply of national wildlife at a reasonable level.

Bud Jackson, field representative of the National Wildlife Federation, told directors of the Texas wildlife federation that the nation is waking up to the need of conserving resources. He branded "false" the notion that Texas has unlimited hunting.

TEXAS NEWS BRIEFS

By United Press

DALLAS, July 17 (UP)—Two men died yesterday from injuries received in separate traffic accidents, bringing the Dallas 1950 toll to 23.

Gordon B. Leard, 54, of Dallas was killed when the car he was driving collided with one driven by Carl Matthews, also of Dallas. Leard's car skidded 55 feet after the impact, overturned against a fire plug and pinned the victim underneath.

Arthur Thornberg, 60, died in Parkland hospital from injuries he received when struck by an automobile on July 14.

WESLACO, July 17 (UP)—A retired Methodist minister, Rev. A. T. White, predicted here yesterday that the Korean conflict would not develop into full-scale World War III, at least not "in the foreseeable future."

Rev. White, who started preaching 51 years ago, said that "God will thwart the efforts of those rulers who would throw the world in global conflict."

DALLAS, July 17 (UP)—A fishing outing on White Rock Lake ended with the death of George M. Dickerson, about 60, of Dallas yesterday.

Dickerson was fishing with three other men when the choppy water overturned their boat, dumping the men in 50 feet of water. The other three were rescued by Royal Williams of Dallas but firemen grappled for five hours before recovering Dickerson's body.

HOUSTON, July 17 (UP)—The six-day international convention of the Gideons Association will open here Wednesday with about 1,500 expected for the 51st annual meeting.

CLOQUET, Minn. (UP)—Plaintiff and defendant each won and lost a damage suit growing out of an auto collision. Judge decided both parties were at fault and awarded $140.50 to the plaintiff, Edmund R. Ludes, and $123.85 to the co-defendant, Mrs. Lillian Mantry and her 19-year-old son, Allen.

Truman Expected To Tell Nehru That US Will Dicker Only After North Koreans Return To Home

WASHINGTON, July 17 (UP)—President Truman was expected today to tell Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India that the United States will not negotiate a Korean peace until Communist forces agree to stop fighting and return north of the 38th parallel.

A State department spokesman indicated that Truman has not yet answered Nehru's proposal for ending the Korean war.

But the department has hinted broadly at what the President's answer would be—that this nation's "rock bottom" terms are a "cease fire and return to the 38th parallel."

In almost identical notes to Moscow and Washington, Nehru had urged Russia and the United States to find a peaceful solution to the Far Eastern conflict.

Reports from New Delhi said Premier Josef Stalin replied yesterday that he "welcomed" Nehru's proposal. He was said to be especially enthusiastic about Nehru's proposal that the United States facilitate the entry of Communist China into the United Nations as a condition for ending the Korean war.

Truman was expected to throw cold water on this plan.

State Department Spokesman Lincoln White said last week that the United States opposes the seating of the Chinese Reds in the UN. But he added that if a majority rules otherwise, this country will not veto seating of the Communists or walk out of the session.

White said the United States would undertake no bilateral negotiations with Moscow on the Korean conflict. Any solution, he said, would have to be worked out within the framework of the UN after the Northern Communists returned to the 38th parallel which divides North and South Korea.

American officials so far have been pessimistic about chances of a peaceful solution. But they noted that there might be several reasons for Stalin's quick acceptance of Nehru's proposal. They pointed out that:

1. Russian intervention to end the Korean war would give a big boost to the Soviet peace propaganda campaign.

2. Soviet leaders might have misjudged U. S. firmness against the Communist attack. A negotiated end of the battle would give them a chance to escape the consequences of their error.

3. Russian propagandists have insisted that the fighting was started by the South Koreans. Refusal to try to end the conflict would hardly be consistent with these claims.

Indian Member Of UN Thinks US Will Push

AN AMERICAN AIRBASE IN JAPAN, July 17 (UP)—The Indian member of the United Nations Korean commission said today he believes the United States will push into North Korea after the Communist invaders have been cleared out of South Korea.

The Indian member, Anup Singh, and two other commission members—Lui Yu Wan of China and Bernabe Affrica of the Philippines—passed through here on from Dallas to take over the headcount and speed returns.

Teeming, industrial Harris County is the biggest population center of the biggest state, Findlay announced, with a population of 801,169, far over early guesses of 700,000 to 750,000.

Thus, the bustling port city displaces historic New Orleans as the South's Queen city. The New Orleans 1950 population is 568,878 for the city proper, and 682,658 for the metropolitan area.

The new figure for Houston is an increase of 208,486, or more than 54 per cent over the city's 1940 population of 384,514, and ranks Houston fourteenth among the nation's cities, trailing Milwaukee.

Houston and Harris County had been the stumbling block in the Texas census count for weeks.

the way to Pusan, where the Turkish, Salvadorian, French and Australian members have set up temporary headquarters.

Singh said he did not believe the Russians would enter the Korean war directly but obviously were furnishing the North Koreans with indirect aid.

He said he expected that when hostilities end "the commission will be used as kind of mediator."

"I think the commission will be asked to prepare a plan for the reconstruction of Korea," Singh said.

"Korea should be united," the Indian said, or "we should return to the status quo" of pre-invasion days.

"We all would like to see Korea united," Singh said. "That is what we were sent here to do but we have had no success."

Two American Fighter Pilots Shoot Down Russian Made Planes

By Ralph Teatsworth
United Press Staff Correspondent
AN ADVANCED AMERICAN AIRBASE IN KOREA, July 17 (UP)—An American fighter pilot reported that he and another fighter pilot shot down two Russian-made North Korean Yak fighter planes today over the American battle front.

Lt. George Edward of El Paso, Tex., said two Yaks were shot down out of a formation of four when they appeared this morning. Edward got one of them. An unidentified F-80 jet pilot got the other.

"The two Yaks jumped me five miles northeast of Tozgy in the Kongju area," Edward said. "They made a headon pass at me and started yelling for help. The F-80 opened up on one Yak and I saw it go down. Then I came up from below on the other Yak."

"He tried to outvie me and that was the wrong thing for him to do," Edward added. "It took me three minutes to catch up, flying through clouds. I let go with my rockets and it must have scared hell out of him. Then I got him with my fifties."

"I wanted to see a plane explode like they do in pictures," Edward said, "but all I saw was pieces of plane break up—first the wings and then the flaps and so on."

"He made two violent spins in to the clouds at 2,000 feet and never came up again."

More than 50 American B-29 superfortresses plastered the Seoul marshalling yards yesterday with 400 tons of bombs, burning buildings and tearing up railroad tracks. Other B-29's hit bridges, roads and troop concentrations at Chungju in the central sector with 70 tons of explosives.

In addition U. S. and Australian fighter pilots supporting ground forces destroyed or damaged 28 enemy tanks.

A communique from Gen Douglas MacArthur said "excellent to good results" were observed at Seoul and that "results were excellent" at Chungju.

All planes returned safely even though anti-aircraft fire was encountered on both raids and several Yak fighters were sighted near Seoul.

The communique said that reconnaissance photographs taken after the Seoul mission showed that shops in the marshalling yards were "in flames and through tracks severed."

"Other buildings in the yards were damaged and on fire," the communique said. "One of the flights reported seeing several Yak fighters but stated they moved out of range upon spotting the B-29's."

Meantime the Far East Air Forces said seven B-29 airmen rescued by a British Naval unit were crewmen of a super fortress shot down by two Yak fighters west in Inchon July 12.

The plane referred to was the Meet America's Savingest "SIX"

NEVER BEFORE did any "Six" combine such a low purchase price . . . such economy of operation . . . and so much "go." And you'll find Ford's new "Six" is so smooth you can hardly hear it . . . for its new design has "hushed" its voice down to a whisper.

TRY THE "MID SHIP" RIDE
You can pay hundreds more and still not equal the comfort of Ford's road-hugging "Mid Ship" Ride . . . or the quiet of Ford's sound-conditioned "Lifeguard" Body. With Ford's 35% easier-acting King-Size Brakes, it keeps you safe and snug.

IT'S A COMPANION IN QUALITY TO FORD'S SILENT NEW V-8
Yes, "Six" or V-8, you're sure of smooth, silent quality at rock bottom price. Ford's V-8, you know, is the type of engine powering America's finest cars—yet it sells for hundreds lower than most sixes. And Ford's "Six" costs even less.

"Test Drive" the FORD "SIX" today!
