American Paratroopers Have Landed Behind Red Lines North Of Seoul

RANGERS MAKE SECOND JUMP OF KOREAN WAR OPERATION

By Earnest Hoberecht
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, March 23 (UP)—Thousands of American Paratroopers jumped behind Communist lines 20 miles northwest of Seoul today. Within less than 10 hours they linked up with a powerful American armored column from the south and sent Red defense forces fleeing across the Imjin River.

The jump was made by the U. S. 187th Regimental Combat Team and attached American Rangers. It was the second and largest parachute jump of the Korean War.

The paratroopers dropped on the south bank of the Imjin river at 9:01 a. m. (6:01 p. m. Thursday CST), trapping major elements of up to 20,000 Reds north of Seoul.

El Paso Officers Land In Hot Water Over Association With Cohen

EL PASO, Tex., March 22 (UP)—One El Paso policeman was fired today and another was suspended temporarily for their contacts with Mickey Cohen, west Coast gambler here yesterday.

Policeman John Hartridge was fired. Cohen was at his home here when a subpoena was served on him calling him to testify before the Texas House Crime Committee. He had met Cohen at the airport earlier when he arrived from Los Angeles.

Detective W. D. White was suspended temporarily. He also met Cohen. He telephoned Cohen from here Sunday to tell him of the slaying of detective Ralph Marmolejo Saturday night.

Cohen came here to attend Marmolejo's funeral.

Acting police chief Ralph Lessor announced the firing and suspension.

He said both men will be investigated as to "their connections with Cohen."

Hartridge said "they are making me the goat for this Cohen business."

He said he met Cohen first when he visited here last fall.

White said, "Mickey wanted to come here quietly for Ralph's funeral without any publicity. Beyond that I have nothing to say."

Hartridge denied he had been absent from the police department without leave.

"I told captain Risinger Tuesday I was going to pick up some guys and take them to rotary services for detective Ralph Marmolejo that evening," Hartridge said today.

"I worked the funeral yesterday and rode a motor cycle during the funeral services."

"This business about being A.W.O.L.—that isn't the real reason I was fired."

"I'm being made a goat on the Mickey Cohen business."

The Texas Palamino Association will sponsor the Eastland Roping Club Horse Show to be held at the Faircloth Auction barn April 14.

Bob Lucas, president of the association, Ft. Worth, and Dr. G. H. Alexander, secretary of the group, Terrell, met with an Eastland delegation to discuss the show.

Proceeds from the show will go to the Eastland Hospital Fund.

Only Palaminos registered with the association will be eligible to enter the show. A nominal entrance fee will be charged for each horse entered in the affair, which will begin Saturday morning.

No charge will be made for the daytime events. A roping and cutting exhibition will be presented Saturday night for which admission prices will be announced later. All receipts from the night show will go to the hospital fund.

Pete Tindall, who was instrumental in organizing the show here, said that top ropers and cutting horses of the nation will be present for the show here.

C. D. Dittmore, Cisco, will have charge of the Palamino portion of the show.

Lucas said that he could assure those organizing the show that the top Palamino horses of the state would be present for the show.

Explaining the Palamino association, Lucas stated that it was first organized in 1937. The first show

Baptist Classes Have Joint Service

Robert Johnson, leader of a quartet of Hillbilly musicians from Lamont, Calif., last night was given the death penalty for his part in the fatal shooting last Jan. 22 of Rookie Patrolman Johnny Sides.

The jury deliberated only 10 minutes in deciding that Johnson should die after hearing him confess he was the trigger man in the shooting.

Sides died 16 days after he and another Rookie Officer, Harold Dawson, were felled by gunfire when they stopped the four musicians for running a red light at a Dallas intersection.

Johnson's confession was in conflict with testimony offered by Billy Pomeroy, another member of the quartet, who said that Marvin Johnson, 21-year-old nephew of Robert, had fired at sides.

Before he died, Sides had also pointed out Marvin Johnson as his killer. The identification was verified by Dawson.

Johnson TO DIE FOR KILLING

DALLAS, March 23 (UP)—A woman can't make goo-goo eyes at a man as far as the law is concerned and thus a charge must specify that the maker of the eyes is a male a court ruled today in dismissing a conviction against a young Houston attorney.

When Edwin P. Lea, a 27-year-old attorney, was charged with making goo-goo eyes at shapely Alice Rogers, a 22-year-old housewife, it was not specified in the charge that he was a "male person."

Therefore the charge was dismissed in county court of law, where it had gone on appeal from corporation court.

Lea had been fined $50 by Judge W. E. Bell despite the protest of defense attorney Thomas E. Lichenstein that the charge was in correct because it failed to mention male person.

Judge Bell replied that he was taking "judicial notice of the fact that the defendant was a male," and levied the fine.

Mrs. Rogers testified at the corporation court trial two weeks ago that Lea followed her and a 16-year-old girl friend home last December. When he stopped in front of her house, she said, she asked Lea what he wanted.

"What have you got to offer?" she quoted him as saying.

Mrs. Rogers said the way the attorney "looked" at her bothered her considerably. She filed the goo-goo eyes complaint under an ancient city ordinance.

Gambling A "Biological Necessity" Asserts Carrell Before Committee

WASHINGTON, MARCH 23 (UP)—James J. Carroll, St. Louis odds-maker, said yesterday that gambling is a "biological necessity" and that catering to it gave his $20,000,000 betting business a gross profit close to $750,000 in 1949.

Carroll went before the Senate Crime Committee to purge himself of a contempt charge voted for his previous refusal to testify before television cameras in St. Louis.

For his second appearance, the committee gave Carroll the same concession it gave Frank Costello, New York underworld figure, by ordering the TV cameras to show only his hands.

Sen. Alexander Wiley, R., Wis., asked Carroll for a guess on the "gambling take" in St. Louis. The witness answered that he could testify about only "one operation"—his own—which did a business of over $20,000,000 in 1949.

"How many operations are there?" Wiley asked.

"I wouldn't have any idea," Carroll replied. Then he said he couldn't even say whether there are as many as "half a dozen."

"I think gambling is a biological necessity," he said. "It's the quality that gives substance to their daydreams."

Questioned about the profit on his $20,000,000 annual business, Carroll said the gross profit was $740,000 to $750,000.

Carroll began his testimony with protests not only against television but against newsreel cameras and their lights, press photographers, and smoking in the hearing room.

He accused the committee of "injecting a 'fright factor' into the proceedings. He said he suffered from "mike fright" and was "speechless."

The committee refused to eject the newsreel men but told press photographers to get out. As a further concession it banned smoking.

Sen. Lester C. Hunt, D., Wyo., observed that he thought the committee has not got at the root of the problem. He said he thought there was no question but that the "highest officials" of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. know they are "aiding and abetting this illegal operation."

Hunt announced that he will ask the committee to call telephone officials, presumably about layoff betting handled by telephone. Hunt said the telephone companies could disconnect telephones if they knew they were used for illegal purposes.

Committee chairman Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., said he agreed with Hunt. He said telephone company officials at St. Louis knew their service was used for betting.

The St. Louis "hookies" bookie" at one point told the committee that New York gambling czar Frank Erickson, since jailed, was wrong when he testified he did business with Carroll.

Don't Delay Filing Application For Benefits If Eligible Under New Social Security Is Advised

"Don't delay filing your application" is the advice issued to persons who may be eligible for benefits under the revised social security program by Ralph H. Fisher, manager of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration.

Several new-type benefits are payable under the amended law because of reduced eligibility requirements and other technical changes, Fisher said.

Since these benefits may be retroactive for six months, March 31st is the deadline for obtaining all payments due, if the insured person retired or died before September 1950. Those who may qualify are:

All workers who are 65 and who have worked at least a year and a half in employment covered by the law since January 1937. A number of women who worked during World War II may now be eligible for old-age insurance benefits.

Employed workers who are now 75 years of age may receive an old-age insurance check every month even though they are still working full-time.

Widows with children under 18 in their care and whose husbands were killed in service or who died after discharge may be entitled to monthly payments. The deceased father, however, must have been in the armed forces at least a year and a half between September 1950 and July 1947; in some cases the required period of service is longer.

Children under the age of 18 of a woman worker who died after 1939 may be eligible for survivor's insurance benefits, provided their mother had worked at least a year and a half in the three years immediately preceding her death. In such cases, it is immaterial if the children were living with and supported by their father.

The wife of a retired worker is eligible for benefits regardless of her own age if she has his children under the age of 18 in her care.

An aged dependent husband of a retired woman wage earner may also be eligible. In some instances the former divorced wife was dependent on her deceased husband may receive payments if she has his young children in her care.

It is important for any person who may be eligible for any of the benefits listed above to get in touch with the Social Security Administration before the end of March. The Abilene office is located at 308 Post Office Building, Abilene, Texas.

County's First Turkey Day Held

Eastland county's first Turkey Field Day and School were held at Desdemona, Wednesday, with about 75 turkey enthusiasts from over the area attending.

The meeting began at 10 a. m. with a series of talks, in the Desdemona school house. Topics discussed included, management of the breeding or laying flock, brooding and care of poults, feeding turkeys for the market, the National Turkey improvement plan, disease control and sanitation and problems of the turkey hatchery man.

During the afternoon a tour of the Tidwell Turkey Hatchery, five miles northeast of Desdemona was made.

Participating on the program were Mrs. John Thurman, Staff; George McCarty and H. H. Weatherby of Ft. Worth; W. Doyle Graves, Tarleton State College, Stephenville, Sam Davidson, Abilene and J. H. Tidwell, Desdemona.

The 187th Regimental Combat Team was commanded by Brig. Gen. Frank S. Bowen. He jumped with his men in the third group.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the 8th Army and a paratrooper himself, landed in the drop zone in a light reconnaissance plane a little more than an hour later. Multi-colored chutes still were blossoming around him.

"Operations are going well," Bowen told Ridgway.

United Press correspondent Jack Burby, who jumped with the paratroopers, reported that the North Korean Regiment guarding the drop target ran in terror when they saw the massive force floating down upon them.

Paratroopers quickly untangled their gear and gave chase. They captured all high ground around the valley, taking 60 prisoners in the first five hours.

The Communists stiffened after they had retreated behind the ridges and put up some fight, hitting the drop area with mortars and artillery.

Then the heavy tanks of task force groundwon, commanded by Lt. Col. John S. Groundwon, of Pittsburgh, Pa., linked up with the paratroopers and roared into the fight. In Groundwon's task force were infantrymen, self-propelled artillery and combat engineers.

Late reports received after dark said the Reds were fleeing across the Imjin River toward the 38th Parallel nine miles north.

Groundwon's men raced 18 road miles to make the linkup with the paratroopers. They met scattered resistance but were slowed up about midway by heavy mine fields seven miles south of the drop zone. Engineers cleared out the mines.

The way was paved for the paratroopers with intensive strafing and rocket attacks by Allied planes. The air attacks continued after the paratroopers landed.

"All around the Munsan hills Air Force Mustangs and jets shrieked in to slam rockets and .50 caliber machinegun bullets into Red positions," Burby reported.

"The noise was so deafening that incoming mortar and artillery shells could not be heard until they burst around you."

The Far East Air Force said the jump "swarfed all previous combat paradrops in the Far East." This included the jump north of Seoul.

Draftees Take Korean Positions

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, March 21 (UP)—The first American draftees have taken positions without fanfare alongside combat veterans on the Korean front.

Youngsters who six months ago were attending school or working in the U.S. replace fatigued veterans daily. The Army hopes to increase the flow of draftee replacements on the fighting line in order to start a rotation plan for combat men.

Two draftees joined C company of the 79th Tank Battalion recently. Neither had ever been inside a tank force before. One of them, Pvt. Robert C. Corbin of Kalamazoo, Mich., loaded a gun in a medium tank on the next day.

Like most World War II draftees, Corbin and Pvt. Glenn H. Johnstonbaugh of Bellefonte, Pa., 23, brought their grips with them.

Corbin, a former Air Force mechanic, was discharged because of his mother's illness. He was working in an automobile body plant last October when he was drafted.

"I am willing to do what they say," Corbin said. "But I just think I would be able to do a better job somewhere else."

Johnstonbaugh had a different complaint:

"I just wish I had been drafted when I was 18 or long as I had to come in. But it's not so bad. We get good attention and I consider myself lucky to be in tanks instead of the Infantry."

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 21 (UP)—Paul Pettit, who received $100,000 from the Pittsburgh Pirates for signing his name, may soon be getting $75 a month from his Uncle Sam for totting a gun.

The $100,000 bonus pitcher received notice from his Draft Board yesterday to report for a pre-induction physical examination.

THE LIFE STORY OF JESUS CHRIST

Copyright 1951 by Hallmark Productions, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Jesus, born of Mary, wife of Joseph, in Bethlehem, is taken to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod, who fears Him as an earthly rival. After Egypt, the Holy Family returns to Nazareth and when 30, Jesus starts out on His mission. He is baptized by his cousin, John the Baptist, later put to death. Jesus preaches, heals and performs other miracles. He and His 12 apostles, in the face of the enmity of the Pharisees, head for Jerusalem, where Christ is received in triumph. Jesus foretells His Own death and escapes many traps laid by His enemies.

CHAPTER 10

Now came Judas Iscariot, one of the 12 apostles, whose love for Jesus had waned. Jesus' enemies needed somebody who would positively identify Him as One Who and proclaimed Himself the Messiah, so they could accuse Him of blasphemy. For 30 pieces of silver, Judas unfolded a plan to deliver Jesus into their power.

answered: "He that dipeth his hand with Me in the dish, the same shall betray Me. The Son of Man goeth as it is written of Him but woe unto that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It had been good for that man if he had not been born."

Then Judas asked: "Master, is it I?" "Thou has said it," Jesus replied, and told him to do what day is still a part of the Christian religion.

He broke the bread and said: "Take, eat, This is My Body." And taking up a cup, He passed it to all to drink, saying: "Drink ye all of it, for This is My blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins."

The feast ended with the singing of hymns and then all went to the Mount of Olives, where Jesus told the disciples: "All ye shall be offended because of Me this night; for it is written, I will smite the Shepherd and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered abroad. But after I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee."

Peter came forward quickly with assurance that though all men should be offended, he would never be. But Jesus knew that Peter would be the first to deny Him and told him: "Before the cock crow, thou shalt deny Me thrice."

Then they went to the Garden of Gethsemane, at the foot of the Mount of Olives. He told all but Peter and James and John to wait outside the Garden, while He prayed. Three times during the night He found the three apostles asleep.

Soon soldiers arrived and seized Jesus and Judas gave Him the kiss of betrayal. One of His disciples drew a sword and cut off an ear from a soldier, but Jesus admonished him to sheath his weapon, saying: "Put up thy sword, for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

Jesus was taken before the high priest Caiaphas, but all witnesses proved so unconvincing that Jesus was not convicted until Caiaphas asked Him point blank if He claimed to be the Messiah and Jesus replied: "Thou hast said." Caiaphas cried: "He hath spoken blasphemy, what further need have we of witnesses? What think ye?" All who were near Jesus began to strike Him and spit upon Him.

When the Romans seized Jesus, all His disciples fled and during the night, when Peter was accused of being a follower of Christ, he denied it. The third denial was made as the cock crowed and Peter was shocked into remembrance of Jesus' words and fled, weeping bitterly.

With the morning, all the chief priests and elders of the people decreed repentant, hanged himself.

Judas betrays Jesus for 30 pieces of silver. "Whomsoever I shall kiss, that same is He."

Jesus tells Peter. "They that take up the sword shall perish with the sword."

Illustrated by actors and scenes in the motion picture, "Prince of Peace"

At Passover, Jesus and His disciples had their feast in the two-story house of a follower in Jerusalem. As they sat and ate, Jesus said: "Verily I say unto you, that one of you shall betray Me." The apostles demanded to know, one by one, "Is it I, Lord?" and Jesus answered: "He that dipeth his hand with Me in the dish, the same shall betray Me."

Wonder If They Liked The Show?

HOUSTON, Mch 21 (UP)—It was a hot floor show at the Ballerina Club last Friday morning and it proved too warm for two young policemen.

The officers—Patrolmen J. R. Truitt and H. B. Wright—were suspended by Chief L. D. Morrison today on charges that they left their district, drove 20 blocks to the club and went inside for a peep while they were supposed to be on duty.

The "peep" turned into an 18-minute stand while the officers watched the Negro dancers.

Truitt, 24, drew a three-day suspension, and Wright, 28, got two days.

The two ran into trouble at the club because the police dispatcher had been trying to reach the patrol car to send the officers on a stabbing case in their district.

When they didn't answer, Sgt. A. T. Cook started looking for them and found the two officers in the club after spotting their parked car outside.

The field is being reactivated as a technical training school for the Air Force, and 30,000 men are expected to be assigned here by mid-summer.

American—

Pyongyang last October.

The paratroopers and their equipment were carried in 70 C-119 flying boxcars and 45 C-46 commandoes of the 315th Air Division.

The second task force from Seoul that captured Uijongbu and drove north was commanded by Lt. Col. Wilson Hawkins, of Pascagoula, Miss.

It reached Uijongbu, 10 miles north of Seoul, at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. Thursday EST), and found the city abandoned by the Reds. But north of Uijongbu the Americans ran into mines and enemy fire and a battle developed.

Tanks and infantry of three United Nations Divisions advanced virtually unopposed eight to 10 miles along highways southwest and southeast of the paratroopers on Korea's blazing western front.

The one South Korean and two U. S. Divisions reported only one allied casualty from small arms fire during the advance through territory hitherto bitterly defended by the Communists.

The easternmost column captured Uijongbu, 10 miles northeast of Seoul, and drove on another two miles farther north.

The central column, heading northwest toward a junction with the paratroopers at Munsan, was stalled temporarily by a minefield seven miles south of that city. But it soon got rolling again.

Infantry on the western flank gained eight miles.

The U. S. 187th Regimental Combat Team reinforced with American Rangers jumped onto the south bank of the Imjin River within sight of the 38th Parallel at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. Sunday EST) and took the enemy completely by surprise.

Fanning out across hills and rice paddies, the Americans quickly seized their initial objectives and established defense lines to serve as the anvil against which armored columns from the south hoped to smash the retreating North Korean 1st Corps.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the 8th Army and a former paratrooper himself, landed in a light liaison plane in the midst of parachuting troops a half hour after the jump began.

He sent out this message: "The airborne troops dropped today are in fine spirits. They landed with no appreciable losses and are now proceeding to secure their objectives.

"It is still too early for any major enemy reaction to the drop to become apparent."

Farther east, United Nations spearheads above Chunchon neared the Parallel itself. They drove within three to four miles of that old border between South and Communist North Korea yesterday.

Other UN divisions also were believed within a few miles of the Parallel near Puyong, 22 miles east northeast of Chunchon, and on the east coast. Enemy rear-guard resistance was light.

Some UN patrols already may have crossed the parallel.

The air-borne landing north of Seoul was the second such operation of the Korean war. Last October, the same 187th Regiment dropped 30 miles north of Pyongyang, capital of Communist North Korea, in another hammer-anvil assault.

Today's drive got under way shortly after dawn, when Mustangs and Shooting Star jets of the 5th Air Force began raking enemy positions north and south of Imjin River.

Then B-26 Marauder light-bombers criss-crossed the drop area south and east of the curving river near Munsan with bombs, rockets and .50 caliber machine-gun bullets for a full hour.

Smoke from still smoldering fires curled lazily skyward as the first of more than 100 C-119 flying boxcars and C-46 commandoes loaded with paratroopers and their equipment thundered over the bomb-pocked drop area under sunny skies.

HOUSE REJECTS PROPOSAL TO AID NEGRO U.

By O. B. Lloyd, Jr.
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, March 22 (UP)—The House of Representatives rejected a proposal yesterday to provide $6,600,000 for new buildings at the Texas State University for Negroes at Houston.

Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston, sponsor of the plan, said the money was urgently needed because "we may find soon that the courts not to be equal" with facilities furnished at other schools.

However, Murphy's proposal, offered as an amendment to a spending program for the next biennium totaling $159,000,000 was killed by a vote of 87-27.

Murphy called for the addition of $6,600,000 primarily for dormitories and classroom buildings. However, Rep. W. R. Chambers of May, chairman of the appropriations sub-committee on higher education said that the Negro University had been granted a 10 per cent increase per student for operating expenses.

He argued that funds for building should be provided by revenue bonds.

Murphy said that "we've got to" provide additional funds. "I don't think we have an alternative in this matter."

The House discovered today that an amendment reinstating the Rio Grande compact commission, placed on the appropriation yesterday, actually had been killed.

House Speaker Reuben Senterfill announced that a vote on which opponents had failed to kill the amendment actually had carried and had been announced incorrectly yesterday through an error.

The vote yesterday on a motion to kill the proposal was announced at 6:00. The House then adopted the amendment. However, Senterfill said the vote actually was 69-59, killing the proposal. An effort to suspend House rules to permit the lower chamber to reconsider its action, requiring a two-thirds vote, failed. The attempt was made by Rep. Frank Owen III of Fabens.

Breeding Project At University

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—University of California zoologists have developed a strain of "biologically uniform and predictable" mice to test treatment of cancer.

Dr. Kenneth DeOme, associate professor of zoology and director of the breeding project, said the special strain is being produced at the rate of 250 mice a month for use in research at the University of California and other universities.

The special strain is valuable to cancer researchers because of its reliability, Dr. DeOme explained.

In testing various types of tumors and treatments for cancer, he explained, researchers need animals which are uniformly susceptible to inoculations.

Inoculations will "take" in 95 per cent of the laboratory mice, Dr. DeOme said, and the tumors will grow at about the same speed in all of them.

In unselected animals, the "take" is only 30 to 40 per cent with no accurate measure of the effectiveness of treatments, he said.

Pay Rates Are Boosted In U. S.

CHICAGO, (UP)—The rising cost of living has boosted public pay rates as well as those of private industry, a survey shows.

The Civil Service Assembly checked more than 150 state and local government personnel agencies and found that at least 102 cities and states gave moderate raises to their employees last year.

Most of the pay boosts came after the outbreak of the Korean war and in large part reflected the higher cost of living, as well as the need to meet competition

Do you really need a new top in your station-wagon, Ben? How about that, Margie June???

Well, the senior play is over with, as well as the water-gun shooting, hand-cuffing, "the merry chases", back-stage "practicing", late hours, and—well, need we say more???

Did someone say something about new room back-stage? Now, what was the name of that room? Some people certainly got a big surprise Sunday night. Didn't they, Charles and Gerald? Where did you ever get that idea, boys? Lydia, how do you manage to get yourself in so many mix-ups? It seems that some people just can't get along without chaperons. Or can they???

Such literature for you to read, Dixie! Interesting, wasn't it?? Patsy, Billie, Pauline and Guyrene should go to bed early so they will be able to get to school the next day! Huh, girls??

It seems that everyone had dates with everyone else's girls Friday. Quite a mix-up!
The F.F.A. boys and Lydia seemed to have had quite a time in Breckenridge Tuesday night—the banquet and all, that is. You didn't really want to stop, did you, boys?
The choir is really enjoying the new risers. They certainly are a help.
Don't forget the carnival Thursday!

Did you know that Dorothy Thorne is getting married Saturday night in Weatherford? Good luck, Dot!

DAUL TWING tore down Broadway like a drunken man. He bumped into people, not seeming to realize it, dodged in front of moving cars deaf to the screeching brakes, the cursing drivers. He just kept going.

Not that he felt that he was being pursued—he was blindly dazedly pursuing. He wanted to find May Jenkins and little Judy. He wanted them desperately. He had to find them tonight! This was their last chance—their only chance—this last night.

The very impossibility of finding someone in the vastness of New York spurred him on, faster and faster because he didn't want to admit to himself that he was chasing a phantom—that there was neither rhyme nor reason to his fantastic dash down the crowded streets of the world's most populous city.

He didn't want to face the fact that the Dolphin would sail in the morning without them. By the time he had gone ten blocks the accumulation of worry, disappointment, the prodigious amount of walking he had done through the long day, and the fact that he had eaten nothing since early morning began to tell on him.

Nothing. Then he wondered if it had been too recent to have made the final edition. He forgot his weariness and hurried over to Amsterdam Avenue.

He knew from many previous stays in New York that there he would find an endless succession of bar-and-drill establishments. Many of them kept a radio going all the time.

DAUL went from one to another just opening the door and thrusting his head in until he found one with a radio. He went in the first one and slumped down at the first table. The place was crowded and busy.

No one paid any attention to him. He saw an empty spot at the bar so he pulled himself up and shouldered his way into the vacant place. The bartender poured the straight whisky he called for. The hot glow of the liquor in his empty stomach revived him, steadied his lurching nerves.

A comedy team was performing on the radio and it was apparently a favorite of the patrons. Crowded as the place was, most of them were listening with quiet grinning attention. From time to time there was a chorus of hearty laughter. The laughter irritated Paul.

He looked at his watch. At 7— in 15 minutes—there should be a news program. He signaled to the bartender and ordered another drink.

Twing Case" the metallic voice intoned "took place less than one hour ago here in New York City." Paul sucked in his breath and gripped the edge of the bar.

"The man next to him turned and said "If you ask me..." "SHUT UP!" Paul exploded.

"ATTENTION" has been focused here since early this morning" the radio voice continued. "When the child Judy Twing, accompanied by a woman, was recognized in a southbound subway. This evening Federal Agents uncovered the licensee and the car of the woman and child at a rooming house on West 81st Street."

Mrs. Kate Barron proprietor of the rooming house had read the account of what had taken place in the subway. The description of the woman and the child, who is reported dressed as a boy, caused her to suspect a Mrs. May Jenkins of Wheeling, W. Va. who had come to her establishment last night, accompanied by a small boy.

"Mrs. Barron called the police this afternoon. Two detectives, from a special squad detailed to run down the many leads that have been pouring in all day, answered the summons.

"They saw and spoke to Mrs. Jenkins in her room and they saw the child, but did not press the investigation when they noted that the boy with her had brown eyes. Judy Twing's eyes are blue.

"Later in the day Mrs. Barron learned that the boy the detectives had seen was the son of another roomer in her house, not the one Mrs. Jenkins claimed to be her son. Agents of the FBI responded to Mrs. Barron's second call.

JUDY GARLAND GETS DIVORCE

HOLLYWOOD, March 23 (UP)—Songstress Judy Garland divorced her second husband, movie director Vincente Minnelli, today on her testimony that he made her nervous and ill by failing to talk to her.

The 23-year-old Miss Garland told superior judge William R. McKay that she and Minnelli were "very very happy" after they were first married in June, 1945.

"We had so much together," she said. "Then suddenly he became withdrawn. He secluded himself without any reason that I know of."
"I had to go many places alone, and it was very embarrassing to try to explain why he was not along. I became nervous, very nervous and ill, and had to have a doctor many times."

Couple To Face Charges In Hobbs, New Mexico

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22 (UP)—An Oklahoma city couple left here in custody last night for Hobbs, N. M., to face charges that they killed a New Mexico construction worker and dumped his body into a shallow grave on a west Texas ranch.

Art Johnson, 54-year-old ex-convict, and his wife, Lucille, 40, were arrested at their apartment in Oklahoma City yesterday.

Mrs. Johnson told officers that her husband and William Cabral, 60, had a fight "out there."

Handed a waiver of extradition she said, "why do I have to sign that? He's the one who did it."

Cabral's body was found by two cowboys on a ranch near Andrews,

Tex. He was last seen on March 5, the day he visited the Johnsons.

Cabral's wife said he carried about $600 when he disappeared but had only a dime when his body was found.

Officers said the Johnsons tried to sell Cabral's pickup but couldn't because they did not have the papers. It was later found abandoned.

Officers said Johnson burglarized an Oklahoma City home Sunday stealing a pistol and some clothing.

False Alarm Explained SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP)—A bus driver accomplished the trick of the week when he set off a fire alarm. Harry Stroup told police he had to cut a corner too sharply because of an approaching automobile. The rear fender of the bus struck a firebox, setting off the alarm.

FARM Facts

Can a poultry farmer control the quality of the eggs his chickens lay? Very definitely. It has been proven conclusively at the Purina Research Farm that the ration fed a laying flock can and does control the quality as well as the color of the yolk of an egg.

By John M. Wear, Jr., Manager, Purina Research Farm

few days, the chicks assumed their natural color. The ration affects the second generation, too! When the laying flock was fed the Layena without the dye after a period of green yolk egg production, the eggs resumed the natural bright yellow color. However, when the hens were placed at the conclusion of the experiment, the effects of the green dye were evident in the organs of the birds, in the flesh and in the fatty tissues.

It is apparent, from this research work, that the ration fed the hen does have an effect on the quality of the egg, the baby chick and is also a permanent factor in the hen itself. It follows then, a farmer, by choosing his laying ration can control the quality of the eggs his hens produce.

It had been the popular belief that quality egg production was a bred-in quality and that the ration had little, or nothing, to do with the egg itself. Nutrition science has proved otherwise—the ration can be used to control quality in eggs.

Farmers who feed their flocks for quality egg production can usually realize a wider margin of profit because market fluctuations aren't too serious a factor when quality products are available.

A quality egg will invariably bring a premium price.

Mexican Mines Have Increase

MEXICO CITY (UP)—Mexican mines are planning "substantial" increases in mercury production during 1951 to meet the demand of U.S. war-manufacturing industries.

Many mines that closed in mid-1949 because of skidding prices on the world market will be reopened, while operative mercury producers are planning to step up output.

Mexican mercury production fell off approximately 50,000 kilograms in 1950 because of small demand and "unattractive prices."

With prices starting to climb again, however, producers said Mexico probably can climb back to its 1949 level of 181,170 kilograms.

"Mercury production here is largely geared to international demand and prices," one producer said. "When we had a slump two years ago many of the 'gambusinos' who work out in the fields burning rocks to extract mercury turned to other work."

"Now I think we'll have them back extracting the metal again and you'll see a production."

Most of Mexico's production goes to the United States.

FROM PAGES OF ENGLISH-KOREAN HYMN BOOK—Chaplain (Colonel) Ivan L. Bennett, United Nations Command Chaplain, edited an edition of spiritual songs to be used in joint services among the U. N. troops in Korea. It is interesting to note the translation of the beloved old hymn, "Watchman, Tell Us of the Night," for Koreans. General of the Army Douglas MacArthur writes in the foreword: "Hymnody constitutes an important part of our religious heritage, and reflects the struggle of mankind for the freedom of mind and body and spirit. No race or nation or creed can claim the authors and composers. Here is the language of unshackled spirits, the voice of God's freemen in the sanctuary."

Housing Expansion Is Considered

CHICAGO (UP)—Legislation to expand housing programs is being considered by several state legislatures, according to the National Association of Housing Officials.

The proposed housing laws would cover a wide range of subjects, including defense housing, zoning and public housing as well as state housing programs.

A bill in the Nebraska legislature would permit second class cities to take over and operate federally-built war housing. At present, only the larger cities are permitted to do so.

A bill pending in New York would require all plans for federal, state or city-aided housing projects to include provisions for adequate school facilities for children living in the projects.

In Wyoming, an act has been introduced to enable Wyoming cities to participate in low-rent federal housing programs. Wyoming is one of five states which do not allow cities to take part in the program.

Other states taking up the problem are Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Utah and Minnesota.
