WILD BILL ELLIOTT To star in horse show—In an effort to end a hand to a worthy cause, "Wild Bill" Elliott, star of more than 69 western pictures, will be in Eastland to participate in the Hospital Fund benefit Horse Show and Cutting Horse Contest. "Wild Bill" will bring Red Boy, Reserve World's Champion Cutting Horse for 1950, to compete with the many good Texas horses in that event. As an added gesture, "Wild Bill" just announced he will donate a $50 Resistol hat to the winner of the cutting horse competition. This cowboy star's appearance will mean a great deal toward raising the funds necessary for the hospital project. His popularity with cowboys, horsemen, and children of all ages results from his friendly, unaffected, attitude in dealing with the public. We're proud to have him as a part of our community, even for such a short time. Elliott will make a personal appearance at the Lyric Theatre in Eastland at 2 p.m. Saturday.

REDS RUSH REINFORCEMENTS TO NORTH KOREAN FRONT

By Frank Tremaine
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO, April 13 (UP)—The Chinese Reds rushed 18,000 more divisions—160,000 to 180,000 men—to their sagging North Korean front today.

The reinforcements moved into position south of Pyongyang, the Communist capital, to bolster Chinese forces retreating from Yonchon, seven miles north of the 38th Parallel on the Seoul-Pyongyang highway.

An American tank task force routed a handful of Red rear guards on the highway yesterday and rolled into deserted Yonchon. The town formerly a Chinese strong point, was believed occupied in force by the Americans today.

Farther east, however, the 8th Army ran into the stiffest resistance it has encountered since it crossed the Parallel into the Communist homeland.

United Nations forces hit the entrenched Communists with flame throwers, rockets, bayonets and the heaviest artillery bombardments in two months, but their gains were measured only in yards. A Communist counter-attack was repulsed southeast of Yonchon.

Allied guns killed or wounded an estimated 1,175 Reds in one bombardment alone yesterday south of the Hwachon Reservoir. Enemy casualties along the whole front totaled 2,400 yesterday—more than twice as many as reported the previous two days.

The air war also reached a new pitch yesterday. Thirty-three Communist MIG-15 jets were shot down or damaged by American planes in the greatest day of aerial battles since World War II.

More than 227 aircraft—115 American jets, 32 B-29 superfortresses and at least 80 enemy jets—were engaged in the first of the day's two major battles over north west Korea.

Twelve Sabrejets tangled with 15 Soviet-built jets in the second battle. The day ended with eight Communist jets destroyed, seven probably destroyed and 18 damaged. No American planes were lost.

Chinese Reds holding concrete bunkers and other long-prepared defenses on the west-central front fought back for the third straight day north of Yonpyong.

Third Sunday Singing Called Off

The Third Sunday afternoon singing convention, scheduled at the Church of God, has been called off because of the State Singing Convention being held at Stephenville.

Next meeting of the Third Sunday afternoon group will be on the third Sunday in May.

KP Sponsor Party

The Knights of Pythian are sponsoring a "42" party Tuesday, April 17, at 7:45 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Musical entertainment will be on the program.

Acheson Appears To Be Winning

WASHINGTON, April 13 (UP)—Once again, Dean Acheson has defeated a major critic—and tightened his grip on the job of Secretary of State.

General Douglas MacArthur, despite all the prestige that he commands, fell by the wayside when he publicly challenged Acheson's foreign policies.

Former Defense Secretary Louis Johnson feuded with Acheson last fall. When the quarrel reached the breaking point, it was Johnson who got out.

President Truman backed Acheson completely last night by declaring that the United States plans "no change" in foreign policies sponsored by Acheson.

This seemed to cement Acheson in his job more firmly than ever—at least as far as Truman is concerned. Republican and other critics of U. S. Foreign Policy will renew their demands for Acheson's resignation, but Truman could hardly replace the man whom he has backed with such vigor.

Acheson has shown no signs of quitting. In fact, he would hesitate to resign when the pressure was on because he likes to think he can "take it."

Acheson outlasted both MacArthur and Johnson on issues growing out of the Korean war. Johnson was accused of failing to have the nation prepared for the fight. After the war broke out, MacArthur wanted to be more aggressive than Washington would allow.

Capacity Crowd On Hand For Minstrel Open; Closes Today

Eastland's Quarterback Minstrel for 1951 opened to a full house at the Eastland High School auditorium Thursday night.

The show will close with a performance at 8 p.m. today at the auditorium.

Thursday night's show was well received by the audience with much music and laughter.

"Buckshot" James Wright, who was scheduled to take part in the show, was unable to be present Thursday night because of illness, and was missed by the audience. Buckshot has appeared in previous shows.

Stepping into Buckshot's place on very short notice was Buster Graham who had never before rehearsed with the group. A junior in high school, Graham was slated to appear between acts. He sang a well received number on the program.

Miss Candy, Mrs. Andy Taylor, the pianist for the entire show, also had solo parts. She was brought back for two encores.

"Pinky" Sarita Seale, pleased the audience by her skill and antics with the Big Bass Fiddle.

Interlocutor Bruce Pipkin made a welcoming speech to the crowd attending during the intermission, which also featured a number by a group of high school girls.

Lighting was effectively used on the colorfully decorated stage throughout the program.

A musical conversation number, featuring Booker T. Mac Barte, provided a great many laughs for the audience.

A number of out-of-town persons attended the opening show including attendance from Abilene, Mineral Wells, Weatherford, Cisco and Ranger.

Eastland County Woman Artist Is Award Winner

Mrs. Florence Jessop, representing the Eastland County Women's Federation, was awarded second place in the professional group, artists, for her work, "Indian Head Rock" at the Sixth District Meeting of Texas Federation Clubs held recently at Junction.

Mrs. Jessop, who conducted the Summer Art Colony here last summer, had the picture, "Light-foot Branch," selected for honorable mention in the state. The picture is now on tour.

In the west Texas exhibit in Abilene's Museum of Fine Arts held last fall Mrs. Jessop's picture, "Winter," and "Fall Outing" were given honorable mention.

The Summer Art Colony last year was terminated by an exhibition of 52 pictures of the colony. The colony work was exhibited at the Texas Club House last month.

Mrs. Jessop has moved her studio to her home, 1204 South Green. She said she would be glad to have everyone interested in art to call. All her pictures are on sale and can be seen at her home.

Wave Of Crime

FORT WORTH, April 13 (UP)—A mounting wave of big-scale thefts from construction projects here was blamed today by sheriff's deputies to "two or three" gangs operating in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Officers said the gangs stole tools and construction materials and then sold them to small-scale contractors "who are willing to buy anything."

Plumbing fixtures rank especially high on thieves' lists of preferred loot, officers said.

Eastland county is well over its quota of $6,000 in the 1951 Red Cross fund raising campaign. E. E. Woody, county treasurer, reported this week.

Atomic Explosion Set Off In Head

NEW YORK, April 13 (UP)—Scientists have set off a miniature atomic explosion inside a woman's brain in a revolutionary attempt to destroy a brain tumor, a national magazine has reported.

Associate Editor John Lear wrote in the current issue of Collier's Magazine that the unique experiment was carried out the night of Feb. 15 the Brookhaven (N. Y.) National Laboratory.

"A brave New England woman whose name must be withheld now—and may never be revealed—submitted herself to an experience entirely new to man," he wrote.

"Lying face down on a stretcher she allowed herself to be carried to the top of a great block of concrete and lowered into a sunken room walled and floored with lead.

"Suspended there, alone, she was bombarded about the head with slow neutrons, the same invisible particles of matter that detonate atom bombs," Lear said.

The scientists' plan, he said, was to inject the metal boric into the tumor and then bombard the boric with neutrons until the boric disintegrated in a small explosion.

A week after the history-making experiment, Lear said, the woman was cheerful and gave coherent replies to all questions although the tumor previously had made her incoherent at times.

He said it will be "weeks, probably months, possibly years" before it is known definitely how

Blackwell-Ramsdell Pitching Duel Shows Lack of Sense

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla.—(NEA)—With all the supervision, you see some mighty foolish things in the spring training of major league clubs.

There was the duel between EWELL BLACKWELL and WILLARD RAMSDELL at Plant Field here, for example. It is explained that the Cincinnati pitchers wanted to see who could make the most pitches without tiring.

How do you like that, especially at this time of year?

Anyway, each threw 20 pitches hard, then rested while the other threw the same number.

After 100 pitches, each was fresh. It is reported, but the tips of the first two fingers on each hurler's throwing hand were beginning to blister.

If Blackwell and Willie the Knuck Ramsdell keep that up for a few afternoons, particularly in March, they'll be bothered by something vastly worse than blisters.

Hank Borowy, who has been around and about since breaking in so spectacularly with the Yankees, has been sorely handicapped throughout his career by finger-tip blisters. And the Fordham alumnus didn't have to practice to get them. They just came naturally and with a minimum of effort.

Pitching iron man stunts are bad business in baseball, totally senseless in the early spring.

BIG Ed Walsh wasn't worth a quarter after toiling overtime for the White Sox of 1908. Joe Oeschger and Leon Cadore fell apart after their memorable record 26-inning duel, May 1, 1920.

Bob Feller was out of his head pitching out of turn breaking Rube Waddell's debatable major league seasonal strikeout record in 1946. The Iowa farm boy hasn't been quite the same since, and still isn't thinking straight when it comes to conserving what has been a matchless arm. He now intends to put additional strain on it by aiming for a third no-hit, no-run game.

There is a limit to physical resources, only so many flips in a pitching arm, and the ball player isn't training for one afternoon or night, but for repeated appearances throughout a stretch of seven months.

A player is training to be an idiot when he deliberately tries to throw away his only means of making a living.

A lot of ex-ball players, chiefly pitchers, will tell him how easily it is done.

The throwing arm is a mighty delicate piece of mechanism.

Happy Because He Moved Head

DAVENPORT, Ia., April 13 (UP)—A young Texas housewife was overjoyed today because her husband smiled and moved his head.

It was the first time Wendell Armstrong, 30, had shown signs of emerging from a coma since his spinal cord was injured in an auto accident near his hometown of Kilgore, last Nov. 30.

Fellow townsmen contributed enough money to enable his wife to bring him and their three-month-old daughter here for special treatment at the Palmer School of Chiropractic.

Mrs. Armstrong kept watch at his bedside, watching for any sign of recovery. Yesterday she almost cried with joy when her husband moved his head.

"Everything is so wonderful," she said.

More Fun In Honolulu Surf

By H. D. QUIGG
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 HONOLULU, April 13 (UP)—On the beach at Waikiki there's a bronze giant who teaches surfboard riding. A lesson costs $3 for one hour.

The surf is so dashing, the sport so picturesque, the skill so linked with grace and movement that there's a strong temptation to take a lesson. Ah, temptation. Ah, $3. Ah, well.

The Northern Lights have seen queer sights, according to Robert Service. They've got nothing on Waikiki beach now.

From the moment my teacher and I walked onto the beach together, there was apparent to all and Sunday an amazing disparity between our personal set ups. The instructor, whose name was Drummond, was taller than I and had wide and bulging shoulders, a handsome face, wavy blond hair and muscles that rippled and played over an athletic body.

The difference was so great that I felt spindly, if it is possible to feel so in a middle-aged spread sort of way.

Drummond was done up golden brown by the sun. I was milk-white from a winter under two overcoats. People stared. One woman bather offered me a bottle of sunburn lotion as we passed.

The first lesson was how to lift a surfboard and carry it to the water. A surfboard weighs 55 pounds. It is a big thing, and you have to get it balanced just right on your arm to keep it from seawing. When the wind catches it, the board tends to move off with you attached to it.

Drummond picked up a board easily and walked off with it balanced on a brawny arm. I struggled with one and followed, staggering, while the board wavered, tilted and swung around. People stared some more.

We paddled out toward the breakers while Drummond twisted that magnificent body around and told me about surfing.

We caught a wave. Only I caught it sideways. I stayed with it, but underneath it. Drummond rescued me and plunked me back on the board. We caught another.

"Keep your shoulders down," hollered Drummond. "Arch your back."

I slipped, tipped, splashed off the board, and rolled over and over in the breaker. After a lot of coaching, I finally got it. With a push from Drummond, I was off on the crest of a wave. It was a triumphant ride, all the way in. But there was no applause from the beach. I rode on my stomach, not my feet.

Then, from far out, Drummond surfed in to show me how. Erect, balanced, body poised, knees slight

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The following is a letter from an Eastland citizen, giving his views on the political situation today.

The Telegram will be glad to receive and publish letters expressing the opinions of citizens on political as well as other matters, reserving the right of editing all letters submitted.

Dear Editor and readers of the Telegram:

As a private citizen, I would like to speak a word thru your columns in connection with happenings in our own government and especially relating to the war in Korea. There is war in Korea, in spite of our president's effort to convince us there is not. And in that war, we have suffered more casualties in the past nine months than we did in the first 12 months of World War II.

Our president has made many errors, what man has not? But in his firing our commander in Korea, he has made the most grievous and hurtful, the most far reaching mistake of his career. He made a mistake that has given more aid and comfort to Red Russia and the enemies of our form of government than any other mistake that he has ever made, or that any other living man has ever made. And giving aid and comfort to our enemies in time of war is a grave offense, and one that is condemned by our constitution. Well may Joe Stalin laugh up his sleeve today, and well may every true American hang his head in shame.

In firing our commander in Korea, he, as stated in his speech Wednesday, has made plain his policy, and to me it adds simply to this—keep the war confined to Korea; keep the Chinese who oppose Red Russia from defending themselves; surrender Formosa to the Reds; recognize the Reds as the Chinese government; seat them in the world council; allow them to dictate the terms of peace we shall make with Japan, in fact surrender, not at once, but by degrees to the demand of Red Russia, and thus prolong the time of suffering and sacrifice of our own soldiers, the weakening, both financially, and morally of our own people.

In my opinion, if the money we have spent in rehabilitating England, and helping her to get back on her feet to oppose our own defense and the defense of all liberty loving peoples, had been spent to help the Chinese government to expel the Reds, things would be far different today than

NAVY'S TOP WOMAN OFFICER
—Captain Joy B. Hancock, USN, highest ranking woman officer in the Navy, an assistant to the chief of personnel, responsible to him for matters pertaining to women in the Navy, has had a distinguished career in the service. As Yeoman First Class, USNR, in 1918 she was on duty in shipbuilding yards in Camden, N. J., and as Chief Yeoman was attached to the U. S. Naval Air Station at Cape May, N. J. She was mustered out of the service in 1919 and subsequently became a civilian employee at the Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

From 1934 until 1942 she was in charge of the Editorial and Research Section of the Bureau of Aeronautics and special assistant to the chief of that bureau. On October 15, 1942, she was commissioned lieutenant, Women's Reserve, U. S. Naval Reserve, and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant commander, November 26, 1943; to commander, March 5, 1945; and to captain, July 26, 1946. On October 15, 1948, she was sworn into the regular Navy.

force the laws of our country and to defend its citizens. It should be considered just as sacred by those who elect our officials, so long as those officials keep the oath they took. But when public officials disregard the oath they took, and actually break and break and break them, then the electors are no longer due respect or loyalty to those officials, but are honor bound to put them out of office, send them back home as private citizens, and then punish them as our laws direct.

To me it appears that we have now facing us, a condition that can no longer with safety be overlooked and endured, much less condoned and be defended. And the efforts to impeach, that I hear of being made, are encouraging. I just hope they are not just threats, but that they may materialize, that an aroused citizenry will rise in its might and demand the impeachment and punishment of those who have surrendered to the enemy by punishing one who has fought bravely, courageously and wisely for the things that our people hold dear.

To the fathers and mothers who have given up your sons to die on Korean soil, to the wives whose husbands are buried over there, or will be, if you join in this move to impeach those who have surrendered to the enemy, your loved have not died in vain. If you do not, but condone their action, your loved one have died in vain, and you, at least silently, will be assisting those who sent them to death.
