MACARTHUR TALKS WITH SENATORS—Senators and newsmen mob Gen. MacArthur in center, as he arrives in the Senate Caucus Room in Washington to give his story to Senate investigators. Republicans Want Him Out

WASHINGTON, May 4 (UP)—Senate Republicans renewed their demands today for the ouster of Ambassador William O'Dwyer, despite President Truman's assurance that he still has confidence in the former New York Mayor.

"How can he have confidence in this man?" Asked Senate Republican Leader Kenneth S. Wherry, R., Neb.

Wherry cited the report of the Senate Crime Committee which said that O'Dwyer "contributed" to the growth of crime in New York.

Mr. Truman restated his confidence in O'Dwyer at his news conference yesterday. The president said he doesn't think a man can be tried in public and convicted unless all the evidence is available.

Truman's statement made it clear that like other White House appointees who have come under fire in the press and on Capitol Hill—the Ambassador to Mexico does not have to worry about being forced out of his job.

Like the others, O'Dwyer was assured a full measure of Truman's loyalty.

Sen. Estes C. Kefauver, D., Tenn., Former Chairman of the Crime Committee, had no comment on the president's statement. He had previously indicated that he would not now vote to confirm O'Dwyer in the diplomatic post.

Russians Kill American M.P.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA, May 4 (UP)—The US and Soviet commanders in Vienna opened a joint investigation today into the slaying of an American military policeman by two uniformed Soviet soldiers.

A blast from a "burp gun" fired by one of the Russians killed MP Cpl. Paul J. Gressen of the New York City with seven slugs in his stomach early this morning. He died within minutes.

A second American MP, who with Gressen had halted the Russians on a Vienna street for a routine check, returned the fire. He said he believed he had wounded one of the slayers, but both escaped. An Austrian civilian was wounded in the leg by the cross-fire.

The Communist version of the incident, published in the newspaper Der Abend, was that one of the Americans opened fire with a pistol when the two Russians ignored a command to halt.

"One of the Soviet soldiers returned the fire," Der Abend said.

Verdict Returned Today of Suicide

HOUSTON, May 4 (UP)—A verdict of suicide was returned today in the death of Miss Virginia Lorena Dobbs, a 29-year-old nurse, who died yesterday after swallowing sodium amylal and injecting some of the drug in her left arm.

The verdict was returned by Justice Tom Maes.

Two school boys reported they saw Miss Dobbs, a Jefferson Davis Hospital nurse, drinking from a bottle in the back seat of her car, parked in a wooded area off a residential section. She was found dead a short time later and an empty bottle which had contained the drug was found nearby.

A sister said Miss Dobbs suffered a nervous breakdown about 18 months ago and had stabbed herself in the throat at that time.

Four Members Of Eastland Family Killed In Wreck

Truck, Auto Hit Head-On Near Cisco; Two Others Are Injured

Four members of an Eastland family were killed and two others critically injured when the car in which they were riding was in a head-on collision with a Sunset Motor Lines truck about one mile east of Cisco at about 11:45 p.m. Thursday.

Jack Stephenson, 30, his wife, 29, and two of their four sons, Donald Lee, 3, and Archie Dale, 5, were killed in the crash. They lived at Route 2, Eastland.

The other two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, Davy Jack, 6, and Kenneth Joe, 10 months, were in critical condition in a Cisco hospital Friday morning.

Samuel Leon Hayes, 46, Dallas, driver of the truck, was apparently not injured in the crash although he was pinned in the wreckage for some time. Hayes was en route to Odessa from Dallas. The Stephensons were riding in a late model Ford sedan.

Hayes said that he was turning off onto a detour from a section of Highway 80 which is being replaced when he saw the oncoming Stephenson auto. He said that the driver of the car appeared to be unfamiliar with the detour and turned into the path of the truck. Hayes said that he attempted to swerve out of the path of the car but the vehicles met head-on.

The bodies of the family were found in a 60 foot area around the wreckage.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson and Donald Lee died instantly in the crash. Archie Dale died at the scene of the wreck in the arms of Cisco Constable Herbert Wooten.

Les Threatt, Cisco policeman, was one of the first persons to the scene of the wreck and reported that he found Davy Jack pinned in the automobile by his legs. Kenneth Joe was found under the body of his mother in a ditch about 30 feet from the car. Stephenson's body was pinned in the wreckage.

It was reported that the family had been to a rodeo in Baird and visited with relatives in Cisco before starting back to their home at Route 2, Eastland.

Stephenson was employed by Gilchrist-Drilling Co., and had been working in the nearby oil fields.

Highway Patrolman Terry Barrett, who investigated the wreck, said that the accident was apparently caused by a confusing detour, which at night especially, is very confusing. The Eastland Cisco portion of Highway 80 has been under construction for some time in the process of being made into a four-lane road.

The deaths were the first of the year from highway accidents in Eastland County.

Survivors include Stephenson's mother, Mrs. Annie Stephenson, of Eastland; three brothers, Charles, Carbon, Louis, Eastland and Orville, Handley; and three sisters, Mrs. M. J. Hooper, Eastland; Mrs. Jack Ellison, Fort Worth; and Mrs. Letha Sellers, Azle.

Mrs. Stephenson was the former Clara Huber of Albany. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Clara Huber, Cisco; four sisters, Mrs. Claude Baker, Palm City, Calif., Mrs. Harvey Johnson, Misses Ella and Emma Huber, Cisco; and one brother, William R. Huber, Cisco.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Friday morning. The bodies were at Thomas Funeral Home in Cisco.

Army Calls for 20,000 Draftees

WASHINGTON, May 4 (UP)—The Army asked Selective Service today to supply it with 20,000 draftees in June.

The June call will bring to 550,000 the total number of men drafted into the Army since outbreak of the Korean War.

The Defense Department said the Navy, Air Force and Marines will not take any draftees in June. None has taken any draftees so far.

The June call of 20,000 is the lowest in the present program. The April and May calls were 40,000 for each month.

Newspaper Fixes It for Marines

WHEELING, W. Va., May 4 (UP)—A squad of 11 fighting marines in Korea, with only one Mother's Day card among them, appealed to the Wheeling News-Register Sports Writer Arnold Lazarus.

"The guys in my squad have a problem," Hannah wrote, "and I wonder if you can help us straighten it out."

Hannah said one Mother's Day card was issued to each squad because of a shortage. "We thought the best thing to do was for all of us to sign this one card, sending it to all of our 'mothers,'" Hannah told his friend. "I do hope you can help us out."

Lazarus did. He arranged for his newspaper to photograph the card with its message and signatures in such a way that it could be folded and mailed to each mother. Hannah's mother, Mrs. Albert M. Hannah, was given the original.

And as an extra, Wheeling Florist Joseph Fahy said he would send each of the mothers an orchid on Mother's Day.

Over the signature, "A squad of Marines located on the front lines in Korea," the following names were included:

Cpl. Billy H. Freeman, Box 304 New Boston, Tex.; Pfc. Myron S. Bell, 1517 Paris Rd., Columbia, Mo.; and Pfc. James M. Schexnayder, 1810 Dante, New Orleans, La.

Tommy Pate Bid For Freedom

BRIMMINGHAM, ALA., May 4 (UP)—Tommy Pate of Dallas, charged with safe burglary here at a fashionable apartment village, made a bid for freedom today.

Pate's attorneys said they would seek at a hearing to have Pate freed until he is tried in circuit court or else have his bond reduced.

Pate and two other Texas badmen were jailed under $8,000 bond each after the safe-cracking last month. G. W. (Jettie) Bass, alleged leader of the Dallas underworld, was shot down in a police trap at the scene of the robbery. Pate and Nick Casco were captured later.

Nieman-Marcus Wants No Bees

DALLAS, May 4 (UP)—The swank Nieman-Marcus Department Store decided yesterday it wanted nothing to do with visiting royalty—a queen.

The queen—a bee—and thousands of her followers swarmed on the side of the store at a busy downtown intersection.

While shoppers gave that section of the sidewalk a wide berth, a Nieman-Marcus porter lured the queen into a box and the rest of the swarm followed.

Then a policeman, who keeps bees on the side, placed the swarm in protective custody.

Holdes of Maturing Series E Bonds Now Have 3 Options County Chairman Frost Says

Ten years ago on the first of May, 1941, the United States Treasury sold the first Series E Saving Bonds. Americans now hold around 500 million E Bonds, worth some $34 1-2 billion, present cash value. On May 1, 1951, E Bonds begin to mature.

The first E Bonds were titled "Defense Savings Bond," Series E" until after Pearl Harbor when the title became "War Savings Bond", followed in 1946 by "U. S. Savings Bond." Since mid-January the Treasury Department has been referring to them as Defense Bonds. However, under all these names it is the same Series E Savings Bond, the most widely owned security in the world.

About $1,096,000,000 of Series E defense Bonds issued in 1941 are still outstanding and will mature month by month between now and the end of 1951. In 1952-54 the amounts maturing will markedly increase, reflecting the heavy wartime sales of E Bonds in war loan drives and on the Payroll Savings Plan during 1942-44. In 1955, maturities will begin to come down to peacetime levels.

In a statement embodying these facts, Chairman Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., of the Eastland County Savings Bond Committee, reminds owners of Series E Bonds that under a recent act of Congress (H.R. 2268), they now have three options at maturity, two of which are new privileges:

(1) CASH. The owner of any Series E Bond may receive, if he wishes, full cash payment by presenting his matured bond to any qualified bank or other paying agent. This has not changed. The new options are:

(2) EXTENSION: The owner may retain the matured E bond and for a period not to exceed ten additional years the cash value of the bond will increase each six months, interest accruing at the rate for the remaining 2 1-2 years, to bring the aggregate interest return to approximately 2 9/10 per cent, compounded semi-annually (the average rate as for the original ten-year period). This choice requires no action by the owner of the bond; and E bond which is not turned in for cash at its original maturity date will be extended automatically until such time as the owner does present it for payment. At the end of the extended period of ten years, interest ceases. The extended E bond may be redeemed at any time for the full face value plus interest which has accrued at the new rates.

(3) EXCHANGE. Those who prefer to receive interest as current income, rather than having it accrue and add to the cash value of the bond, may exchange maturing E bonds in amounts of $500 or multiples thereof for Series G Saving Bonds. Series G bonds are registered bonds issued at face amount (selling at par.)

They bear interest at the rate of 2 1-2 per cent annum, payable semi-annually from issue date until their maturity in 12 years. There is a time limit after maturity of E bonds for exchanging them for G bonds; ask at any bank for details.

G bonds may be redeemed at any time after six months from the issue date on one calendar month's notice from the owner. It issued in exchange for maturing E bonds, they will be redeemable for full face value whenever they are presented for payment—a new privilege.

The options outlined apply to all outstanding E bonds as they mature and will apply to all new Series E Savings Bonds issued in the future, Frost added.

Four Men Held In Pipe Theft

Two DeLeon men and two men alleged as being Chicago and New York thugs have been arrested in connection with a recent pipe robbery at Desdemonia, according to the Eastland County Sheriff's Department.

Authorities listed R. A. Boswell, DeLeon, Damon Edward Lohman, Chicago, William James Higgins, New York, and Bobby Ray Watts, DeLeon, as the four men who were arrested and charged with the theft.

Boswell was picked up in De Leon following work done by the Eastland Officers on the case. He was turned over to Eastland County authorities but was later released on $1,000 bond pending a hearing.

Other investigations was done by Sheriff Frank Tucker and his department, which led to the arrest in Odessa of the other three, Lohman, Higgins, and Watts were picked up by Odessa City Police. Eastland Officers brought them back to Eastland today.

Eighty feet of pipe was stolen which was estimated by a special investigator as being worth $1.00 a foot. This constituted theft over $50.00 which made the crime a felony in Texas. The case will come to trial at a later date.

Offers Wounded Vet A Paradise

WASHINGTON, May 4 (UP)—A couple of decades ago a Russian, who wants to remain unidentified, decided the American way was the right way.

So, with 14 cents in his pocket, he latched on as a hay fork boy on a cattle boat. When he got to our shores, he got a job as a carpenter. He has been building ever since.

He wants to repay America. He is doing just that as owner and builder of a big motel in Miami, Fla. In cooperation with the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Eastern Airlines, he is offering a wounded veteran of the Korean war and his wife two weeks of dream life in fancy surroundings.

"How could it happen in Russia?" the man asked, describing the layout.

"A big car to drive. Beach privileges. Some of the best meals in Florida and no tips. That plus maid service, and free entry at all the entertainment spots in the neighborhood."

Communist Forces In Russian Uniform May Enter Korean War

(UP)—An International Communist force of 20,000 men in Russian Army uniforms is awaiting orders from Moscow to cross from Manchuria into Korea, Chinese Nationalist intelligence reports said today.

The troops claim to be European, Mongolian and Japanese contingents of an "international anti-Korea volunteer army," the reports said.

In addition, the reports claimed at least one air division composed of flyers from eight countries has 800 planes ready for combat against United Nations Forces in Korea.

Russian ground and air force were reported being kept separate from the International Army. The reports said medical corpsmen and technical units from the group have already joined Communist Forces in Korea.

The bulk of the ground forces were said to be composed of Polish, Romanian and Lithuanian Communists. The reports did not list the number of different nationalities involved but all were believed European, Mongolian or Japanese.

The army was reported massed in Mukden, where Russia has taken over control. Soviet authorities were also reported to have taken over key positions from Chinese Reds in other large Manchurian cities.

The reports said Russia has extended its Far East War Zone from the Dairen and Port Arthur areas to more than half of Manchuria.

FORTY YEARS OF FARM PRICES AND PARITY

President Truman's proposal to "freeze" farm parity at the beginning of each marketing season is sure to meet stiff opposition in Congress. Some legislators predict they will still be wrangling over the issue when the present price and wage control law expires June 30. The Newschart above, based on data from the Department of Agriculture and the National Industrial Conference Board, shows how farm prices have stood in relation to the parity (so-called fair price) figure of 100 over the past 40 years. Farm prices are considered a weak link in present price controls. The law exempts farm products from control as long as they're below parity. The difficulty is that every spark of inflation sends the parity level a little higher, so that prices of farm items now below parity—such as potatoes, oranges and dairy products—might go sky high and still never reach parity's "magic level."

ANGUS KENT stood abruptly and looked down at Lisa Farwell, still seated on the log on the beach of Lake Michigan.

"I'm old-fashioned enough to believe that you're not the kind of girl who'd marry without love." He pulled her to her feet and kissed her again. "Come on, I've got to get back. I'm going to Chicago tonight."

That was all he said. No explanations, or anything. At first Lisa thought she hadn't heard rightly, but his words came back to her and beat against her and she knew she had. They left her standing there shaken. Then, still stunned and a little angry, she followed Angus to the car.

She didn't speak during the short drive home. She let the soft talk of the lake fill in until they left the beach. Afterwards, on the drive home, the whisper of the wind was the only sound. When she got out in her own driveway, she said only:

"Goodbye, Angus."

But Lisa ran up the steps and all the way to her bedroom and just made it before the tears came.

Love them and leave them, she tried to think fiercely, but she knew this wasn't true. Angus was the kind of man who has a code and, when life takes a pattern untenable to those principles, there is nothing to do but readjust life. The code would remain inviolable.

Lisa wouldn't change that if she could. That was why she loved him.

EASTER SUNDAY was the same bright day that the day before had been, but there was no joy in it for Lisa Farwell. Henry Farwell, her father, was silent on the subject of Angus's sudden departure and when Lisa brought up the matter during the morning, he said soberly:

"There was no reason for the police to detain Angus, Lisa. Undoubtedly he had their permission to leave Hilton if he wished."

All that afternoon Lisa waited, wondering if Court Grenable would call her or come over, and if they would start afresh. If he did, perhaps everything of the past few days would evaporate like the morning mists over the lake. But Court did not come over, and the tiny thought she had nourished for two days suddenly came to full growth.

She went to the phone and dialed the Grenable number. Geri Palmer answered.

"Is Court around?" Lisa asked her.

"No, I'm sorry, he isn't," the voice came to Lisa impersonally. "Shall I have him call you, Lisa?"

"No, never mind, thank you, Geri. Is Andrew there?"

There was a shadow of strain in the rich voice. "Andrew? I might ask you if you've seen or heard anything of him today?"

"Is Andrew in trouble?" Lisa faltered, not wanting to admit to this capable outsider that she feared Andrew Grenable or anything he might know.

"That's generally what it means when Andrew is involved," the secretary admitted dryly. "As a matter of fact, we're all very worried about him. I was thinking of calling you and the Ellsworths to see if he might have been at either place. You see, Andrew left the house last night and he hasn't been home since."

"He might be in—Hilton," Lisa suggested.

"Court made the rounds of all the taverns this morning," said Geri, apparently understanding what Lisa meant. "But this afternoon, when Andrew didn't return, Court decided to see Sheriff Lane about it. You know none of us was supposed to leave Hilton until after the inquest. I can't even look for another job."

"You mean... Court reported Andy's absence to the sheriff?" Lisa's question was more of an exclamation. Cold hands of doubt were around her heart again.

"Yes," Geri replied, hesitantly, and Lisa felt her embarrassment for Court Grenable. "Call us if you hear from Andrew, Lisa, will you?"

"Of course," Lisa reassured Geri, and hung up.

She sat down weakly on the telephone bench.

SUPPOSING Andrew had been drinking too much again and remorse or fear began to gnaw at him. His disappearance would be strong evidence against him in the eyes of Sheriff Lane.

Lisa wished that Court had waited though—just a little longer. It must look to the sheriff as though no one of the Grenables had loyalty to another. It would be so plausible for an intoxicated, sick, twisted mind to do what someone had done to the emergency brake on Lavinia Grenable's wheel chair.

Perhaps Court had been right, after all. Perhaps it would be dangerous for his brother Andrew to be at large.

Would Andrew kill again?

Movies Dating to 1893 Still On Display

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—Television fans who get a kick out of watching old-time movies on their sets might like to have the choice available to James Card.

Assistant curator in charge of motion pictures at the George Eastman House, Card can flip through an index and pick out any one of 700 films ranging through the early "sound" days and back to 1893.

Reels of Charlie Chaplin, Rudolph Valentino and Theda Bara flickers are cataloged with such rare movies as "Faust," with Emil Jennings, the only print of the show available to American audiences.

The earliest film in the collection is Edison's "Fatima," produced in 1893. Most of the films are "silents," including Gloria Swanson in "Shifting Sands," the actress' first dramatic role after graduation from Keystone Comedies;

FUNNY BUSINESS

"That was a swell idea, Sam—putting up that hidden high speed fan to increase business!"

GOSSIP

Golly, there are sure a lot of new couples. Are they all in the same family, or do their names just happen to rhyme? Be careful Billie, you might kill Wolliver like Lydia did Boliver.

Some seniors sure had fun riding around after choir practice last Tuesday night so we heard. How about it, kids??

Say, if you noticed some "smell" the other day, it was just our chemistry class. Don't be alarmed that's only the beginning.

Man on man!!! The senior trip turned out to be a dilly. Everyone had so much fun. We hope we can have another one real soon and have just as much fun.

Is this true about Bobby and Gay breaking up "for good"?

Work, Work, Work, the seniors are really having to work to get their autobiographies in on time. They're due soon and some of the mighty seniors have a lot to do.

The choir is coming along nicely. Their concert is going to be May 15. Everyone is working hard to help, and the kids are co-operating wonderfully, aren't they, Mr. Stanley?

★ THE SCOREBOARD ★ Regret, Only Filly to Win It, Gave Derby First Recognition

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

LOUISVILLE—(NEA)—Filles don't run well in the spring. So another may never as much as start in the Kentucky Derby, but the only one that won it, Regret, made the fabled Run for the Roses this country's greatest sports attraction.

The Derby, down for its 77th running, May 5, became the tremendous show it is because Col. Matt Winn was publicly conscious while eastern track proprietors were sitting on their hands. The New York edition of the latter are still sitting on their hands, by the way.

The young old-timer remembers when it was nice at ancient and spired Churchill Downs—nice and quiet. The Derby was just a local race, for the Blue Grass-bred James E. Maddens and such. It was a nothing race, run across the tracks, beneath the notice of eastern big shots.

Then along came O'Neill Sevier. No race writer since has quite reached his stature. He wrote well of the running horse under several names. He was racing's first publicist, put Arlington Park across, among many other things.

Sevier's first suggestion was to up the purse and get name horses, but the larger eastern strings didn't care to ship to Louisville. Too tough getting in and out, nothing to gain, not even prestige.

SEVIER broke the ice through his friend, the renowned Harry Payne Whitney. Would Mr. Whitney please make a complimentary entry to a little track trying to get along in the breeding country? He would.

So he shipped Regret, a masculine filly, to Churchill Downs in 1915 to give the Kentucky Derby its first national recognition. Regret, by Broomstick, out of Jersey Lightning, won her only three starts at two—in the Saratoga Special, Sanford Memorial Handicap and Hopeful—but to Whitney was a throw-away horse.

Because of the names, Whitney and Trainer Old Jimmy Rowe, Regret was made the favorite and won easily, picking up all of $11,450, and as a result will be remembered forever.

Matt Winn brought in very important people by special invitation. Soon there were special trains and hotel rooms at $30 a day, and you had to pay for three days.

The purse zoomed until it reached its present $100,000 added. There is no underestimating the power of a woman.
