Two high school groups of which the citizens of Eastland have a right to be proud are performing in concerts this week.

Sunday the Eastland High School band, division I winner at the regional meet in concert playing, will give a concert at 3 p.m.

The band is directed by T. R. Atwood. Citizens are urged to attend the concert and show their appreciation to the students and the director. A lot of work has gone into the making of the band into the unit it now is and people of the city should show their appreciation.

The other group which will perform at the high school auditorium this week is the high school A Cappella choir which has made remarkable progress since its organization last fall.

Under the direction of W. H. Stanley, high school principal, the group has become a truly outstanding singing organization. If you don't believe it just ask some of the members of the Lions Club who heard them perform last week.

The A Cappella group will give a program Tuesday night. Both programs deserve a large attendance.

With the first invitational tournament of the Lakeside Country Club arriving, golf has been the talk of the city for the week.

Troubles aplenty plagued John Lively, new keeper of the greens, as the big event approached.

First, the water pump went out last week and lack of water is a serious hazard on the bent grass greens. A shower Saturday afternoon helped the situation somewhat and the pump was back in working order before the greens were hurt too badly.

Then when everything seemed to be coming along fine, a hail-storm tore holes in the greens which seemed almost irreparable at first glance. But about 20 citizens pitched in and helped Mr. and Mrs. Lively patch up the putting surfaces.

Scars still remain but the greens are smooth and in pretty good shape. A large group of qualifiers were on the course Friday afternoon and a goodly number of entrants are expected to participate.

A number of persons have stated that Wednesday night's hailstones were the largest they have ever seen. Most of them added that they were as large as they care to see.

Damage from the storm was still being counted Friday, some of it pretty heavy, other light.

Methodist Set Mothers' Service

"Behold Thy Mother" will be the Mother's Day sermon Sunday at the 10:50 a.m. worship of the First Methodist Church.

The pastor, Rev. J. Morris Bailey, will preach. The chancel choir, under the direction of Mrs. Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., will sing the anthem "Let All The World In Every Corner Sing" by Robertson.

Mrs. Don Doyle will sing "Ave Maria" by Schubert as an offertory solo. Mrs. J. P. Kilgore will play the pipe organ.

Sunday at the 7:30 p.m. worship service, the pastor will preach on the theme "Christ In The Home" Frank T. Crowell will lead the congregational song service. The men's choir will sing and Mrs. T. J. Haley will play for the service.

Sunday School will meet at 9:45 a.m. and the youth groups will meet jointly at 6:30 p.m.

They Want The Straight Answer

WASHINGTON, May 12 (UP)—Some Senate investigators demanded "straight answers" today on whether the United States talks tough in Korea but secretly plans "appeasement" of Red China.

Republicans called for details on President Truman's March effort to obtain a cease fire settlement of the Korean War, an effort which the administration claims was thwarted by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The lawmakers wanted to know if the administration was—and is—ready to offer Communist China the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa and a United Nations seat in return for peace in Korea.

Defense Secretary George C. Marshall, returning for a sixth day before the Senate Armed Services- Foreign Relations Committee investigating MacArthur's discharge (at 10 a.m. EDT), said military leaders strongly oppose any such peace terms, and that he believes the State Department agrees.

But Sen. William F. Knowland, R., Calif., and his GOP colleagues were far from sure. They demanded that Marshall or Secretary of State Dean Acheson produce the working papers detailing the terms on which the United States was willing to negotiate a cease fire.

Truman's efforts for a United Nations Peace Agreement with Red China collapsed after the UN Allies reacted angrily to a MacArthur statement on March 24 telling the Chinese Communists to negotiate with him on the battlefield or risk destruction of their "coastal areas and interior bases."

COCKE BLAST U. S. POLICY

ST. LOUIS, May 12 (UP)—Erle Cocke, Jr., National Commander of the American Legion, charged today American Foreign Policy is in "complete bankruptcy" and the State Department is staffed by "lukewarm and apologetic Americans."

Cocke, who recently returned from a world tour, said the State Department and the United Nations continue to encourage Communist aggression "politically, diplomatically and economically."

He said the war in Korea, "A major war in which America has already suffered more than 70,000 casualties," will be won only by "American power and might."

Cocke spoke at ceremonies commemorating the founding of the Legion in St. Louis on May 10, 1919.

He said America is furnishing 90 per cent of the fighting manpower in Korea, suffering 90 per cent of the casualties and "in one way or another" paying 100 per cent of the financial costs.

Under their sponsorship the evening service has steadily increased according to Rev. L. M. Chapman, pastor.

A youth quartet from Carbon will present a special number on the program Sunday evening. Everyone is invited to attend.

Her mother.

Last night, Mrs. Peyton said, her husband showed up at her mother's home. She said he came to the back door and began beating on it and threatening her.

"I went and got my pistol (a .380 caliber automatic) and fired at the door," she said.

Mrs. Keralkowski told police and newsmen: "we're good citizens now, and haven't had any trouble in years. We wouldn't violate the tiniest traffic law."

Hamilton was one of the few men ever to escape from the death cell of the Huntsville State Prison. He escaped July 22, 1934, but was recaptured in a Dallas railroad yard and executed about a year later.

Tulley Takes Medal Honors; 94 Qualify In Eastland Invitation

TRUMAN MAY BE THE MAN

TULSA, Okla., May 12 (UP)—Republican National Committee members said today that President Truman will be the man they will have to whip in the 1952 elections.

A spokesman said it was "the general belief here" that Truman will be the Democratic standard bearer in the next presidential contest.

The observation came as private talk of candidates spread among the delegates who yesterday choose Chicago as the site for their convention to begin July 7, 1952.

At last night's session Sen. Eugene Millikin, R., Colo., collapsed while making what party leaders described as a "major" policy address.

The portly senator collapsed on the speakers' platform just before he finished his speech.

He was removed to his hotel room where a physician said he suffered a fainting spell from over-exertion and heat. The physician, Dr. J. C. Brogden, said Millikin would be "up and about" after a good night's sleep.

Public Morale Is The Problem

NEW YORK, May 12 (UP)—Col. A. E. Howse, assistant to defense mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, said today that public morale is the "major problem" confronting the defense effort.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the annual convention of the New York State Society of Professional Engineers, Howse said a "twilight mood" is current all over the nation. As a result, he said, there is not sufficient public understanding of the objectives of mobilization and the "threats that make controls necessary."

The "weight", or more properly, the mass, of the sun, would be expressed in tons by 25 followed by 26 zeros. Masses of other stars vary mainly from about one-fifth that figure to perhaps 15 times as much.

OUTNUMBERED ALLIES PLAN TO STAND AND FIGHT COMMIES

TOKYO, Sunday, May 13 (UP)—Chinese Communists streamed by the thousands across Korea's 38th Parallel under a dense smoke screen Saturday. United Nations Troops were alerted for another enemy assault "at any moment," possibly within 72 hours.

The Allies were outnumbered two to one, but they were confident they would beat off round two of the Red's costly spring offensive as they had beaten off the first.

Front reports said there were signs the next blow would come within 72 hours as Communist Screening Forces stiffened their resistance to UN Raiding Columns striking North from the Central Front and along the extreme Eastern and Western ends of the 100-mile-long battle line.

Two huge smoke screens over the Central and Western Fronts cloaked the enemy's final preparations. But it was believed he might throw 500,000 men against the U. S. 8th Army in a supreme attempt to destroy the Allies or drive them into the sea.

The Chinese withstood an American Air and Artillery Bombardment of their bridgehead across the Soyang River, Northeast of Chunchon and hurried back attacking Infantrymen. Thousands of Chinese troops and hundreds of trucks poured Southward from the Hwachon Dam Area toward Chunchon Saturday, moving in a tight column despite Allied air strikes and long-range artillery fire.

United Press Correspondent Robert Gibson reported a heavy movement of Red Army trucks and motorcycles from Hwachon Eastward into the Yanggu-Inje Sector, indicating the Chinese may be shifting to the Eastern Mountain Region for the next attack. Eighth Army Staff Officers esti-

As a gesture of recognition for the tremendous impact he has made in the advertising world, Governor William S. Beardsley of Iowa places the crown on the Louisiana Senator's head. A. B. MEANING OF MOTHER'S DAY

When special days of tribute to "Mothers" was made before the turn of the century, and then officially in 1914, it is doubtful if the founders, or even President who placed his stamp of approval upon the day as the Second Sunday in May, had any idea that even the sacredness of "Mother's Day" would become so prevented and commercialized as it is to the present time. But, when the birth of our Savior was changed into a Pagan Roman Holiday, the same spirit would desecrate the sacredness of motherhood.

Mother's Day was officially set up by Miss Anna M. Jarvis as a special honor to her own mother, after a few years the spirit spread and others began to give recognition to Mothers on various days. It was not until the late President, Theo. Roosevelt declared the second Sunday in May as the official Mothers Day that Mother's Day was accepted as a national day of recognition.

On Mother's day, some will dream of loving tenderness of Mothers who have long since gone on to be with the Heavenly Father. Others will leave their own homes and travel great distances to be with their mother on this special day. There may be a few who will only on mothers day remember that there is any sense of obligation due the one who "went into the valley of the shadow of death" in order that they might have life. Churches should be filled.

ed with families and Mother should have the center of personal attention.

Mother should have the very best and easiest day of the year. Mothers should have the best at all times. The official flowers for Mothers day are Carnations. Red ones for those whose mother is living and white ones for those whose mothers have gone on. Many beautiful and sentimental "Mother's Day Cards" are on the stands and the verse and color scheme is delightful.

One admission, "Let us make every Mother's day by following the teaching of the one who gave us our Mothers and created "he them in His own image". If, and when the human race follows the teaching of Jesus then and then only will Mother's Day and Christmas be the days that originally they were intended to be. Then will come to pass the saying, "Peace, I give the..."

TEXAS THUG IS HALTED

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 12—Erstwhile Texas gambler L. B. (Benny) Binion today found himself owner of a gambling casino he can't obtain a license to operate.

The Nevada Tax Commission yesterday refused to grant Binion a state gambling license for his recently-purchased Horseshoe Club in Las Vegas. No reason was given for the action.

Binion had filed an amended license application for the Horseshoe Club, formerly the El Dorado Club. Listed with him as officers of the corporation controlling the club were Nick (The Greek) Dondolas, nationally known gambling figure, and Harry Claiborne, of Las Vegas, Binion's attorney.

Under Nevada gambling laws, denial of the license application meant that Binion cannot operate the club. His only alternative was to challenge the commission's denial in court, but there was no indication such action would be taken.

Binion came to Las Vegas from Texas several years ago. He has successfully resisted attempts to extradite him to face trial on charges that he operated a million-dollar a year policy wheel in Texas.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE

In the Lesson-Sermon titled "Adam and Fallen Man" to be read in all Christian Science churches, on Sunday, May 13, Christ is represented as the remedy for Adam. As Paul says in Romans 5:19—the Golden Text—"As by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be righteous."

One of the Bible citations reads "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive" (1 Corinthians 15:22). This correlative statement from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, goes into more detail: "Jehovah declared the ground was accursed; and from this ground, or matter, sprang Adam, notwithstanding God had blessed the earth 'for man's sake.' From this it follows that Adam was not the ideal man for whom the earth was blessed. The ideal man was revealed in due time, and was known as Christ Jesus" (page 338).

A cordial welcome awaits you.

Every hour of every day... and night... consciously or subconsciously... we draw upon Mother's strength and love. It is a meager tribute that we should pause once a year and dedicate one day to Mother.

Mother is what makes the wheels go round. Home isn't home without Mother. The countless details, the careful planning, the constant loving care... that takes Mother every time. Children won't tick without Mother. Form the start, Mother is our warm meal when we are hungry, our extra blanket on a cold night, our light in a dark room. Little minds and hearts reach out for MOTHER. Baby-sitters aren't the same. Servants are insufficient. Even Daddy isn't quite enough. A well child runs on eager feet to tell MOTHER of his joys; a sick child calls constantly for MOTHER to soothe away his pains. There's something special, something extra, that comes only from Mother.

Who else can kiss a hurt and make it well? Who else can give us lovely memories of a happy childhood, rich with fun and friends? And who, but Mother, can lead us from our earliest days to find Him as our Refuge and Strength, a very present Help in time of trouble?

Life brings floods of uncertainties, disappointments, failures. Mother is the rock that stands fast. Her faith is sure, her spirit never wavering, her love never failing. Life, too, brings joy, achievement, success. Then we know one heart is happier even than our own. Mother is then the soaring cloud of radiant rapture, lifting us to new attempts.

HOLY BIBLE
Attend Church
YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU
Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that family and influence are showered with benedictions that carry and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding into great character. Statesmen today desire that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—earn a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
Williams Newspaper Feature, P. O. Box 231, Ft. Worth, Tex.

As long as Mother lives, we shall not lack for care or love or prayers. When separation comes, as come it must, "death is swallowed up in victory." Life will not change Mother's love; death will not conquer it. Mother's spirit will walk ever beside us; her love will wrap us close. Her gentle hand will guide us; her sweet voice will echo in our ears. Again we'll feel that extra blanket slipped quietly over us, in the coldness of our night! Mother is and will be forever more our guardian angel. In this world or in the next, we know that we may draw eternally upon the strength and the love that is... MOTHER. Go to your church this Mother's Day.

Pressure Cooker Idea Fore Tea and Coffee

MELBORNE, Australia, (UP)—A tea and coffee pot working on the principle of the pressure cooker has been invented by Dr. R. C. Hutchinson and J. Excell of the department of labor and national service.

The men, who hope to find a world market for their brain pot, report that tea is brewed with half the usual amount of leaves, with almost no tannin content has a finer flavor, and can be reheated without loss of flavor. Coffee, they maintain, loses none of the aroma which escapes by ordinary methods of brewing.

THUGS ASK WHAT'S WRONG

FORT WORTH, May 12 (UP)—Two Fort Worth men learned what "the matter" was today when their high speed chase was halted by 12 squad cars of officers blocking the road at Dallas.

The men, 24 and 27 were blocked for resisting arrest, speeding and reckless driving after a chase reaching speeds of 95 miles an hour and extending from suburban Haltom City to the outskirts of Dallas over highway 183.

The chase started at midnight when the 1950 model car whizzed by Haltom City police. The officers gave chase, spotting the speeding car with their spotlight and flashing their red signal light. The fleeing car only increased its speed.

The Haltom City officers radioed ahead for help after officer Robert L. Smith fired two shots at the speeding car.

A Dallas sheriff squad car joined the chase from a side road as the speeders neared Dallas. When the speeders reached the Dallas traffic circle, they tried to skirt the blockade by swerving off the

WITHOUT stopping to knock,

Angus Kent opened the door at the end of the hall and switched on a ceiling light. Lisa Farwell, who was close at his heels, saw him race across the long room to the bed near the window.

On the bed was a long, sprawling form.

The figure lay there very still, and before Angus called out for Sheriff Lane to shut the door and to keep Lisa out of the room, she saw everything. Lisa knew what was wrong as certainly as anyone before the sheriff called for the doctor.

She knew before Angus returned to her in the corridor and said savagely: "He's dead. Dead." Angus started to close the door to the bedroom, but looking back his gaze fastened on something near the bed. Lisa saw that it was an empty box on the table by the bed—the box that had contained the sleeping pills.

"Isn't it better this way, Angus?" Lisa asked timidly. "Suicide surely is better than a murder trial."

Angus Kent's voice was flat as he replied while they were going back down the stairs.

"Suicide? It wasn't suicide, Lisa. Andrew Grenable was murdered!"

It was still early when the confusion following the discovery of Andrew Grenable's body had abated. The fog lay heavily across the terraces and choked the ravines like thick white smoke. A drizzle of rain clung to the long French windows in Lavinia Grenable's den and all of the dimness was reflected in the heavy mirrors on the opposite wall until the room seemed to be part of the outdoors, unreal and frightening.

Lisa Farwell sat with her back to the windows, facing the mirrored wall, while members of the Grenable household filed into the room on orders from Sheriff Lane.

The sheriff's face was dispassionate. Lisa supposed he was accustomed to things like this. But Angus Kent wasn't. He sat beside Lisa. Angus hummed forward a little in his chair and his eyes were remote and somber.

When Angus had first sat down he had looked at Lisa and said: "This isn't to be nice, dear." That was all.

And now, something still and knowing within her struggled with shock and as yet she couldn't feel much of any emotion. Fear, sadness and doubt had merged into a kind of numbness. She could only see the sickness in Angus' eyes and the lines of weariness dug deeply around his firm mouth and under his eyes.

Sheriff Lane came directly to the point.

"This won't take long," he said slowly. "As you all know, clues we found after Mrs. Grenable's death pointed to each of you. Most of you stood to gain by her death—either financially or emotionally."

"At first my men and myself believed the diary to be the connecting link. But apparently the diary was not feared by the murderer—otherwise it would have been destroyed. So we went to work on another theory, one suggested by Mr. Kent, that because everyone knew of Mrs. Grenable's diaries, none of them would risk its revelations without reading its contents."

"Therefore, the person least afraid of the diary is likely to be the murderer."

The sheriff paused and looked from face to face. Angus Kent still sat tensely in the chair, with Lisa beside him. Court Grenable stood nearby. Geri Palmer sat in a far corner of the room. She was not taking notes this time. Elizabeth Stratton, Lavinia Grenable's sister, sat nearby, pale and frightened looking. Mr. and Mrs. Carson had lost all pretense of poise.

"Well," the sheriff went on, "that narrowed down the field considerably. You'll remember we had quite a field to begin with. Everyone in or near this house could be suspected. That included Court Grenable and his brother Andrew, Mr. and Mrs. Carson, Miss Stratton, Mr. Farwell and his daughter Lisa, Geri Palmer and Mr. Kent."

"BECAUSE the murderer must have hoped that Elizabeth Stratton would be the chief suspect, through the evidence that her sister Lavinia planned to commit her to an institution, and since my men were working on the opposite theory—that anyone threatened by the diary was not guilty, we therefore eliminated Mr. Farwell on the grounds that his involvement concerned Miss Stratton's safety."

"Of course, there was also the possibility of his attitude toward his daughter's plans to be married to Court Grenable, but we were inclined to discount this as a motive."

"Mr. Kent had no probable connection and could be eliminated. Lisa Farwell and he had a fool-proof alibi, since they were together at the time Mrs. Grenable's death occurred and not being members of the household would have been seen had they been to the house earlier."

"We also eliminated the Carsons. Even though Mrs. Grenable had threatened Mrs. Carson's chances of being elected to the Senate, and Mrs. Carson was not on good terms with her mother, they would not have attempted the deed without destroying reference to the motive in Mrs. Grenable's diary."

"We considered Miss Palmer as a suspect, but since she was not a relative and stood to gain absolutely nothing, we saw no motive for her. So, you see, we had narrowed the field to Court and Andrew."

Rita Hayworth Khan Interviewed By Reporters In Glenbrook, Nev.

GLENBROOK, Lake Tahoe, Nev., May 12 (UP)—Rita Hayworth says she would still marry Prince Aly Khan if she had it to do all over again.

But the titian-haired film star also said there was absolutely no chance of a reconciliation although she hasn't decided yet whether to sue him for a divorce or for a legal separation.

Mrs. Khan made the statement yesterday to reporters who interviewed her at her rented cottage here where she will spend the next six weeks establishing legal residence in Nevada.

She was dressed casually, in a pair of blue jeans and two sweaters, one of them a turtle-neck. On her finger was a plain platinum wedding band.

"Nothing has been decided about anything," she reported. But she said she was determined to raise her two daughters herself.

Yasmin, 16-month old child of her marriage to Prince Aly Khan, will be brought up a Moslem, Mrs. Khan said, "because she is a Moslem."

The star would not answer directly any questions on her reasons for leaving her husband. She said her attorney, Bartley Crum, had "explained all that" in New York.

Crum had said Rita felt Aly's extensive social obligations and far-flung interests prevented a happy home life for her children.

When asked if the separation might have been due to Aly's gambling 24-hours-a-day, Rita smiled and said "no comment."

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Sgt. R. P. Borkowski telephoned from Tokyo to his home in Milwaukee and talked to his mother and his sister, Christine.

Later the same evening a friend asked Christine what the sergeant had talked about.

"He was operated on tomorrow," Christine replied, "and just wanted to let us know that it came out all right."

The friend did a quick double take and began looking for an exit. She relaxed when Christine explained, "It's already noon to-

"What's wrong? What's the matter?" the men asked as officers took them from their car.

The officers wanted to know what the big hurry was.

"My mother's sick in Corsicana," the driver told them. But before the pair could be returned to the Haltom City jail, the story
