No wonder postage is going up every day, when most people are now using a government "Frank." The minority, of which we are a member, still kicks in and at increased rates, Franked mail is the kind that goes scot-free, with penalty for private use.

There was a time when the "franking" was used almost exclusively by Washington office holders during re-election campaigns. They would deliver an address for their constituents to members of the House and Senate to have it recorded in the Congressional Record, then they would have a few million extras printed for a nominal sum (say about half what it cost to print them) and then "Frank" them to the boys back home.

It's no wonder that the average congressman never leaves Washington, once he gets there. Should a new contender arise they have limited the amount he may spend, whereas the boys already up there, by doing scientific juggling, can show that he spent 30c of his own money during the entire campaign. The balance amounting to thousands—maybe millions, was horn-swaggled from Uncle Sam, and he does not have to show this when he makes his report. Dynamite and damnation doesn't move them one inch. They just give you a silly grin. When you mention hell-fire and brimstone, a kind of a sly smile covers their countenance and they go out for a fresh chaw of tobacco.

Someday, maybe after it's too late, we'll make it impossible for them to entrench for life. Let 'em have about six years and then retire them.

As much as we regret to admit it we are forced to say that we do have a few imperfections. We tried to be perfect, but like Pancho Villa, when they rubbed our hair the wrong way we went loco. We try to avoid mistakes, but at times they slip by. And brother when an editor makes a mistake, it is made. It is all neatly printed in black and white, and there is no chance to deny it. Otherwise we would wiggle out some way or other.

Our staff is somewhat smaller than that of the Dallas News or Star-Telegram. They have a specialist to head every department, and we have a lot of departments to head. We are editor, managing editor, news editor, sports editor, religious editor, and sometimes society editor. We are also city editor, reporter, telegraph editor, police reporter and cub reporter. Naturally we are not 100 percent good everywhere, but people don't seem to understand that. Alas, what shall we do!

Take sports, for instance. We wouldn't make a pimple on a sports editor's leg, and our fans and foes won't forget it. We know it, so there is not room for discussion. As a society editor we might marry some fellow off to his mother-in-law, if she happened to match the color scheme. And there are a lot of other things we don't know about society, though we hope we know enough to conduct ourselves in a mannerly fashion.

Maybe we are not an editor at all. We can't say. But until Dick fires us or tries to cut the $15 weekly salary we are going to hang on.

Reds Throw Allies Back In Attacks

8th ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Jan. 21 (UP) — Fierce Communist fire forced back United Nations raiders on the western front today.

The UN raiding patrol first attacked a hill northwest of Yonchon at 2 a. m., only to be thrown back by intense small arms and mortar fire.

After an artillery bombardment, the raiding party again assaulted the hill and this time got close enough to hurl hand grenades at the Reds. Once more, however, the enemy fire drove the Allies back to their own lines.

Slightly farther east, UN units repulsed a probing attack by 15 Communists near Chorwon. Another 15-man probe was thrown back south of Pyongyang on the central front.

On the eastern front, UN patrols fought four engagements with Communist units in bunkers west of the Mundung Valley. In one, the Allies surrounded four bunkers, killed 24 Reds and captured five others in a 20-minute fight.

Bad weather hampered air activity after another day of methodical destruction of Communist installations and supply routes Sunday. Patrolling American Sabrejets also shot down two Communist MIG-15 jet fighters during Sunday.

Flying through snow flurries and dense clouds, Sabrejets exchanged firing passes with 32 Communist jets over northwest Korea today, but no damage was claimed.

Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers cut Communist rail lines in 71 places and destroyed or damaged two railway cars, a railway bridge, a road bridge and two tunnels.

Mrs. Caton Has Heart Attack; Now In Hospital

Mrs. J. H. Caton, of Eastland, is still in a critical condition in a Ranger hospital, following a heart attack early Saturday morning. She was moved to the Ranger hospital early Saturday, and during Sunday her condition seemed to be improved.

However, word today indicates that she spent a very bad night last night. Her husband, Dr. J. H. Caton, remains at her bedside.

Hospital Workers Needed Tonight

Work will be resumed on the Eastland Hospital tonight according to M. H. Perry, construction chairman, who said that workers with experience in the placing of the sheetrock walls would be needed. Workers to assist them will also be needed he said.

Pat M. Neff, Former Governor, Baylor President Dies At Waco

WACO, Jan. 21 (UP)—Pat M. Neff, Governor of Texas during the turbulent twenties and president of Baylor University for 15 years, died yesterday at his Waco home. He was 80 years old.

Dr. W. R. White, Neff's successor as president of the Baptist University, will officiate at the funeral service, which is to be held at the First Baptist Church here. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Neff was born and grew up in McLennan County, near McGregor. He got his first glimpse of Baylor while still a boy, and turned his cotton proceeds into an education.

After leaving Baylor, he taught school in Arkansas, earning money to pay for his law education. He graduated from the University of Texas Law School, then returned to Waco to set up his practice.

McLennan County sent him to the legislature, then chose him for County Attorney. During his term as prosecutor he collected fines and fees amounting to almost $25,000 more than his salary.

In 1912 he left the attorney's post, and went into private law practice again. Not until 1921 did

CAPTAIN CARLSEN'S NEW SHIP—This is the freighter, the SS Halaula Victory, that Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen will command, replacing the ill-fated Flying Enterprise which he strove valiantly to bring to port in a two-week battle against the sea. As Skipper, Carlsen received a hero's ovation in New York City, his new ship, was in drydock at Hoboken, N. J., being readied to take to sea.

Dallas Man Dies In Wreck Near Ranger; 3 Accidents Reported

James L. Ott of 5501 Military Drive, Dallas, was killed when his 1949 Chrysler left the highway and overturned on Highway 80, 8.3 miles east of the Ranger city limits Sunday night about 8:30 p. m.

Ott was headed west at the time of the accident; he was believed to be headed for Sweetwater where he had been working. He is a nephew of Homer Packwood of Ranger.

Two Eastland men who witnessed the accident and who went back to the car as quickly as they could reported that Ott was still alive when they reached his side. He managed to say a few words before passing out.

Morris Funeral Home's ambulance answered the call to the scene of the accident and brought him to a Ranger hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The body was returned to Dallas last night.

Another accident that happened about 6:00 Sunday evening involving a 1949 Chevrolet driven by Miss Donna Carter of 1922 6th Street, Fort Worth occurred about 5.6 miles east of the Ranger city limits.

Miss Carter was thrown clear of the car as it left the highway and overturned twice. She was taken to the Ranger General Hospital where she was examined and released with only minor injuries and bruises.

Her uncle, ex-candidate for governor and VFW Commander, Roger Q. Evans came after Miss Carter and took her on to Fort Worth from Ranger.

A third accident about one mile east of Ranger was reported Sunday night involving a late model Oldsmobile. As far as is known no one was injured seriously in this accident.

Highway Patrolmen Lesley Strawn and Terry Barrett of Eastland investigated the mishaps.

The light rain making the driving conditions hazardous through this section was believed to be one of the main causes of the accidents.

The Committee members, which are the presidents of the girls' and boys' Club of the county received training on simple parliamentary procedure. Evelyn Bigby, Assis. Home Demonstration Agent and C. V. Whitaker, Assis. County Agent conducted the training meeting.

J. M. Cooper, County Agent was present at the meeting and made pictures of the officers in action.

Both Sides Refuse To Budge In Truce Talks

Princess Not Engaged After Earl's Visit

LONDON, Jan. 21 (UP)—The wealthy young Earl of Dalkeith was back today from a week with the Royal Family and everybody wondered whether he had asked King George VI for the hand of Princess Margaret.

However, to all outward appearances red-haired "Johnny" Dalkeith, 28-year-old heir to 500,000 acres and six castles, was still one of England's most eligible bachelors.

He came south from Scotland the weekend before last to join a house party at Sandringham, the King's country estate, as a guest of the pert 21-year-old Margaret and the Royal Family.

At the time reports flew thick and fast that Dalkeith was going to ask the ailing King for the hand of his daughter. Maybe he did.

But before he returned to London yesterday, newspapers were busy knocking down the speculation. Both the Sunday Dispatch and the Sunday Pictorial reported that the Princess and Dalkeith were only "good friends."

Population Of States Growing

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The natural increase in population—excess of births over deaths—in the United States last year was more than 2,800,000, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians estimate. This is close to the all-time record high of 2,431,000 in 1947.

With a moderate gain through immigration, the total increase in population for the year is estimated to exceed 2,650,000.

Since the end of World War II, this country has added about 15,800,000 to its population, which the statisticians point out is about equivalent to the present population of the three Pacific Coast states, or to that of New York State, or to the combined population of the three Scandinavian countries of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark.

"The rapid increase in our population during recent years bears witness to the great vitality of our nation," the statisticians comment.

Murder Result Of Hi-Speed Race

WACO, Jan. 21 (UP)—Murder charges were filed last night against Olen Karl Schwede, 29, of Mart, who police said was pursuing a speeding automobile which overturned, killing its driver.

Walter W. Dunlap died from injuries received in the accident near here, early yesterday.

Schwede told officers Dunlap first gave chase, as Schwede and a woman companion left a Waco nightclub and headed toward Mart.

He said both he and Dunlap then turned their automobiles around and started back toward Waco with Dunlap in the lead and traveling 80 or 90 miles per hour.

Schwede said he intended to bump Dunlap's car gently to force him to stop, but when the cars touched, Dunlap's vehicle flipped over, officers related.

Truman Wants The Social Security Limit Raised

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (UP)—President Truman said today that the Social Security tax should be applied to annual income up to $6000 instead of the present limit of $3600.

In his annual budget message to congress, Mr. Truman said it is possible to increase average primary benefit rates by about $5 a month to $47 "without in any way increasing the contribution rates in present laws."

He said these other "desirable improvements" should be made in the social security laws.

1—Extend social security coverage to members of the Armed Forces, public employes, farmers and other groups not covered by a publicly-sponsored insurance system.

2—Raise the present $3600 limit on taxable earnings "as soon as practicable."

3—make provision for permanent and total disability protection.

Mr. Truman was asked to an explanatory news conference how much he proposed to raise the social security taxable wage base. He replied that he hadn't given it much thought, but that it ought to go up to $6000.

Air Force Chief Praises Housing In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 21 (UP)—Air force secretary Thomas K. Finletter said today he has been "greatly encouraged by the progress" made under the defense housing act to provide suitable family housing for air force personnel.

He said the Air Force is grateful for the cooperation given by private enterprise and civic authorities in constructing housing in the 59 critical defense areas, where the air force has installations.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication of a 600-unit family housing project at Randolph Air Base, Finletter said in the San Antonio area alone, 2211 emergency homes either have been completed or are under construction, practically eliminating the housing shortage in the area.

The things that have been accomplished here in San Antonio must hold bright promise for any community where similar conditions prevail with respect to housing," he said.

Egypt Promises Full Probe Of Death Of Nun During Rioting

ISMAILIA, EGYPT, Jan. (UP)—Egypt has promised a full and immediate investigation into the killing of an American nun during Anglo-Egyptian fighting in this uneasy Suez Canal Zone town it was announced today.

The U. S. Embassy in Cairo said acting Egyptian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Farag Pasha made the pledge to American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery last night.

The announcement said Caffery had called on Farag to express his "grave concern over the tragic death of Sister Anthony" at the Sisters of Charity (St. Vincent De Paul Society) convent Saturday.

Both the U.S. Embassy and British military headquarters also have launched investigations into the first American death since Egypt began trying to expell British forces from the Canal Zone late last year.

The British and nuns said Egyptian terrorists murdered 52-year-old New York born Sister Anthony when she tried to prevent them from hurling their bombs in the convent grounds. The Egyptians said she was gilled

ALLIES DENY BOMBING OF COMMUNIST PEACE CONVOY

By Arnold Dibble
United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea, Jan. 21 (UP) — Korean armistice talks appeared to have reached a dead-end today with both sides refusing to budge.

Only a major policy change by the United Nations or the Communists can end the endurance contest and save the negotiations from final collapse.

Both subcommittees working on a truce agreed to meet again at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. today EST), but neither held out any hope for agreement.

Each side served notice in the two subcommittees today that it will not yield on the two main issues blocking an armistice—the UN demands for voluntary repatriation of war prisoners and for a ban on military airfield construction.

A Communist spokesman covering the truce talks told UN correspondents that full-scale fighting is "sure to begin" unless the UN drops its airfield ban demand.

At the same time, the UN denied Allied planes deliberately bombed and strafed a properly-marked Communist truce delegation convoy on the Pyongyang-Kaesong road last Friday.

It conceded that some UN Communist vehicles might have been hit during an Allied air attack at the spot—a bridge 40 miles north of Kaesong. However, the UN said, the four attacking planes did not see any vehicles in the vicinity.

UN liaison officer Col. James C. Murray moreover hinted that the Reds might have been trying to sneak through an extra convoy under protection of cease markers.

A southbound convoy had been spotted at the bridge three hours before the attack, Murray said, and the Allies have agreed to permit only one southbound convoy a day. The Reds said two of the three vehicles in the attacked convoy were destroyed and two men injured.

North-Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho delivered to representatives of the International Red Cross a Communist reply to a personal appeal from their president for a conference with North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

The contents of the message were not disclosed. However, it was believed Kim repeated the Communist stand that the Reds will not deal with the I.R.C. on war prisoner questions until an armistice has been signed.

Howard County Ordered Under Rent Control

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (UP) Rent stabilizer Tighe E. Woods announced today that rent control will be imposed in Howard County tomorrow, with the maximum rent date set at Dec. 1, 1951.

The action followed certification of Big Spring, as a critical defense housing area. Since none of Howard County is currently under rent control, Woods said, rents on virtually every type of housing will revert to the maximum rent date.

Unpopularity Of Truman Is Near Amazing

Harry Truman is president at this time, but if voters of the United States think no more of him than they do in Eastland, he is no doubt serving his last term. In the telegram's "Straw Vote" contest, the vote at 10 o'clock Monday was: Truman 7 and Eisenhower 75.

Many of the votes for Eisenhower do not represent the voter's choice for the presidency, but rather many of them are merely votes AGAINST Truman.

Every day people tell us they prefer Taft, Stassen and Warren over Eisenhower, and there are those who feel that maybe Democrats may be able to find an acceptable candidate.

The message they would put over is that they will not support Harry or any of his heirs, and will vote a Republican ticket if he or any of his kind get the democratic nomination.

THE SUDAN, object of an old tug-of-war between Egypt and Britain, became a rich jewel in the British Empire when cotton and irrigation were introduced to a 50-mile triangle of rich land at the junction of the White Nile and Blue Nile near Khartoum. The Sudan has long been the cross-roads of Africa for traders. On a continent still primitive in many aspects, the Sudan is crossed by ship, rail and bus routes to Cairo and Red Sea outlets to the world. Khartoum itself is the aerial cross-road of Africa. Nearly 8,000,000 people, most of them Arabs, mixed Arab-Negroes and black-skinned tribesmen, live in the Sudan. The country is supposed to be controlled equally by Britain and Egypt under a treaty dating back to 1899, when Lord Kitchener (with a young officer named Winston Churchill in his ranks) defeated the Mahdist fanatics and claimed the land jointly for the two nations. Since then, Britain has managed to keep the upper hand in the Sudan government, and Egypt's present rantings to "throw the British out" will probably never be backed by military force. Britain plans for the Sudanese eventually to choose their own form of government, but the people are widely divided on what kind of rule they want.

Chivalry Is Not Dead

THE STORY: Alma Conway, woman jewelry designer for the exclusive House of Trumbull, is excited because Tommy, her husband, after apparently being a failure, has suddenly obtained a promotion into confidential work with Brighton Muncie, son of the president of the firm. As she goes to work, her mind travels back to the day when Old Victor Blanchard, her grandfather, presented her to Mr. Muncie as an expert in the craft.

furs. Her grandfather had been impatient with her tolerance of Tommy, impatient with Tommy's apparent inability to share in that vicarious pride which bound most of the Trumbull employees together, and Alma for once, wanted Old Victor to stand corrected.

WHEN she crossed the street and went into the bright and dignified employe's entrance, Joe Denton came toward her, his fine, even teeth showing in an impulsive smile.

"Hiya, Jewels?" he said. "Where's Tommy?"

"He had to go out of town," she hoped Joe wouldn't question her further. Joe knew all about Tommy's occupations and none of them, up to now, had involved his being away. But Joe merely nodded vaguely. There was something else on his mind. He came nearer and lowered his voice.

"Say! Have you heard the latest?"

"Robbery!" said Joe. "There's been another. Inside job again, and as usual the stuff has apparently vanished into thin air."

"Small stones again?" Alma said it in the affirmative but with a furtive shudder. Everybody at The House had felt exquisitely uncomfortable since the first of these thefts had occurred. Not that there had been any embarrassing questioning, for The Head had a policy of trust.

It was this very attitude of Mr. Muncie's which made the situation so difficult, Alma thought. If only he'd have everybody examined and a big blow-up, it would clear the atmosphere and probably stop the pilfering. But the existing system of inspection and check-up of the personnel was so perfect that it was practically impossible for a thief to take anything off the premises without detection, a fact which Mr. Muncie relied on. There had, so far, been no publicity about the robberies though the police had been working in vain for some time. No trace of the missing jewels had been found anywhere.

"They say it's the first time in 50 years anything like it has happened here," said Joe.

For a moment Alma sensed that he was actually more concerned with her than with what he was saying. It was as though the mere fact of being with her ignited some highly inflammable spark in him. Then he closed off the betraying expression in his eyes quickly, deliberately. It was as if he had slammed the door to some private room, and he hastily reassumed his usual dry, quizzical manner.

"There goes my step-mother!" he said with an inclination of his head. "I'll catch a bigger bawling out from her than from the floor manager if I'm late! So long, see you later, Jewels!"

Joe opened the sliding door which led into the main floor of the store and Alma caught a fleeting glimpse of old Mrs. Denton, who sat in a chair propelling herself along rapidly in the direction of the appraisal department in which she worked. The elderly woman, for many years a helpless cripple, turned her sour-sweet smile on her step-son and said something which Alma could not hear.

Joe replied with his usual unfeeling courtesy but did not stop. The door closed upon the little incident and Alma turned away wondering for the thousandth time, how Joe managed to endure the strange woman whom his father's death had saddled him with.

The use of infra-red heat lamps, in place of brooders for baby chicks, was demonstrated recently to officials of the Ralston Purina Company. The demonstration unit, with three 250-watt lamps, was placed outdoors when the temperature was below the freezing point, without apparently harming the two-week-old chicks in the coop. When the chicks were only one day old, they were placed in the coop with the temperature recording 8 degrees above zero. The results indicated that the birds grew normally and produced good feathering. The lamps are ideal for persons raising as few as 100 chicks, it was pointed out, chiefly because no other heating equipment is required. Research has indicated one lamp can provide sufficient heat for as many as 70 baby chicks.

Five Teenagers Admit 21 Thrill Burglaries. OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 21 (UP)—County officers today held five teen-agers who admitted staging 21 "thrill" burglaries in five states in the past two months. Midwest City Police Chief Tom Denton, whose officers captured the five yesterday, said charges would be filed against them and possibly a sixth youth today. Officers said they confessed to burglaries in Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. Denton said all the boys are 18 or younger, and two come from "very respectable homes."

Police caught the boys in a grocery store in Midwest City near here yesterday. Denton said the youths took a nine-day trip to California early this month and admitted burglarizing several firms en route. Denton said burglaries were staged in Oklahoma City; Lawton, Okla.; Dallas; Albuquerque, N. M.; Flagstaff, Ariz.; and San Bernardino, Calif.

Churchill Will Leave Wed. For England

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (UP) — Winston Churchill stayed indoors at the home of financier Bernard Baruch today to catch up on his homework but he will come out tomorrow for a parade up Broadway to the city hall.

Britain's Prime Minister said he would spend the day reading state papers that have accumulated and greeting friends. Baruch said the visits would be of "no political significance."

Churchill's timetable called for him to leave Baruch's spacious E. 66th Street residence tomorrow at 12:20 p.m. EST for the parade in his honor, the city's second major procession in less than a week.

Capt. Henrik Kurt Carlsen of the Flying Enterprise was honored with a ticker tape parade last Thursday.

The Prime Minister's 10-car motorcade will be joined in lower Manhattan by some 400 policemen and firemen, an Air Force band and a mounted police escort.

After receiving the city's medal of honor from Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, Churchill will give his farewell address to the nation before radio microphones and television cameras.

Churchill will remain in the city as Baruch's guest until his departure to England on the Queen Mary, probably early Wednesday.

Flapping Wings May Be Next In Aviation Field

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21 (UP) — Bill Stout, who has been a jump ahead of pioneers for close to a half century, now is about to show the world how to build airplanes with flapping wings.

If their wings would flap, like those of birds and insects, private airplanes would need no airports and Mrs. Everyman would find flying as simple as driving a car. For proof, just watch a dragonfly.

"This is the next step in aviation and the one that all the people can use," says William Bushnell Stout, who built the first all-metal airplane and the historic Ford tri-motor passenger plane of 1925.

Now a youthful 71, Stout reached the point in the last few days where he is ready for wind tunnel tests and engineering work on flapping wings. This follows six years of study and experimentation with copies of bird and insect wings.

"There are 50,000,000 years of precedent in nature," Stout muses, as a scaled-up model of dragonfly's wings whirl around his modest research shop. "This airport stuff we've got to get rid of for the private flier."

As Stout envisions the future, man will climb into a dragonfly-special, whizz up and away to his destination, land straight down under full power—"which no airplane ever will do"—fold the wings and go about his business.

His most recent discovery—a secret—is a means of "auto-rotation" by which a landing can be made safely, wings flapping, even if the engine dies.

Local persons, not transients, cause more than half of California's forest fires, according to the State Division of Forestry.

Some Believe UMT Hurt By Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (UP) — Some Congressional supporters of Universal Military Training complained today that the Army has hurt UMT's chances.

They objected to testimony Friday by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chief of staff, that the Army will recommend that UMT be run on a volunteer basis for at least the first two or three years.

UMT opponents pounced on Collins' testimony as proof of their contention that there is no real need for enactment of compulsory training legislation at this time.

Both sides were reluctant to be quoted. However, Armed Services Committee Chairman Carl Vinson (D. Ga.), who supports the volunteer plan as the best way to get compulsory UMT started, praised Collins' statement.

He said Collins was right in wanting to get the UMT machinery into motion as soon as possible, calling volunteers only, so that it will be ready to throw into full-scale operation when the time comes.

Surgeon Saves Farmers Life; Revives Heart

ATLANTA, Jan. 21 (UP) — Howard S. Walker was in good condition at the Georgia Baptist Hospital here today after a fast-thinking surgeon cut into his chest and squeezed his heart like a "rubber bulb" until it started beating again.

An unidentified surgeon at the Baptist hospital saved the 47-year-old oil company employe's life after his heart stopped beating during a bronchoscopic examination.

The surgeon made a seven inch incision in Walker's chest, slipped his hand in and "squeezed the heart just like you would squeeze a rubber bulb. After the 12th or 13th time, the heart was beating again."

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—It's not every director who would be happy if the preview audience did not like one of his pictures.

But that is what happened recently to Jean Negulesco, and it pleased him.

"Because they were absolutely right," he said.

The incident in question occurred in connection with "Lydia Bailey," a film he directed recently for 20th Century-Fox. The film contains a long chase sequence in which Anne Francis, who plays the title role, wears ragged clothes and looks dirty and haggard—all of which Negulesco says is in keeping with the story situation.

Reality Loss Noted
"Despite the grime, she looked sexy and attractive," he said. "Then, for a love scene we had her cleaned up; we went Hollywood. The preview audience was gripped by the story until we came to this scene. At that point, we lost them."

"So we re-shot the scene, taking out the glamor, and at the next preview the audience remained interested throughout because the heroine looked believable and real."

What made Negulesco happy was that this made him think movie audiences are growing up.

"They demanded a more mature approach," he said. "We can deal more honestly with our material. The public understands that in certain situations de-glamorized accuracy is more effective than the typical Hollywood gloss."

Director of "The Mudlark"
Negulesco, who has to his credit such film successes as "Johnny Belinda," "Three Came Home," and "The Mudlark," is getting a chance to be honest again in his current film "Cry of the Swamp," at 20th Century-Fox.

"It is a simple story about everyday people," he said. "The girl (Jean Peters) is a true primitive and we are not trying to disguise the fact. And you won't find any well-dressed pants on the hero (Jeffery Hunter). They both should."

Place Emphasis on Texture

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Unlikely as it seems in the middle of winter, summer is really on its way. When designers create cottons that will be important hot weather fashions, summer must be considered.

In a season when silhouette is not drastically changed, the emphasis falls on fabric. This year, summer's cottons have a "three-dimensional" look created by the use of dobby dots, shadowed over-

Looking Back on 1951—

... the inventory shows that the scales weighed out a good portion of the better things for us to enjoy. While the mistakes we made stick out like a sore finger and our failures almost overwhelm us, yet these discouragements are small indeed compared to the unhappiness and tragic experiences of some who happen to live in other countries. We are glad we live here where we have had the opportunity to serve a host of loyal customers for more than a quarter century.

For Outperforming all other American Cars...

CHRYSLER SURPASSED ALL OTHERS WHEN MOTOR TREND TESTED FOR:

- ★ Average Braking Distance in Feet
- ★ Ton Miles per Gallon
- ★ Average Acceleration in Seconds
- ★ Acceleration Over Standing 1/4 Mile in Seconds
- ★ Average Top Speed in M.P.H.
- ★ Maximum Road Horsepower
- ★ Pounds per Road Horsepower
- ★ Maximum Torque in Lbs.-Ft.
- ★ Maximum Brake Mean Effective Pressure
- ★ First in Total Points

15 different American stock automobiles—equipped as you buy them—were driven by Motor Trend Magazine as hard as steel and rubber can be driven. In these actual road tests of efficiency and performance, measured by the most accurate instruments obtainable, Chrysler proved itself superior to all others. In 13 tests Chrysler was first in 7—tied in 2, making a total of 9 out of 13... and first in total points!

Only by taking an engine to the limit of its potential, only by turning the corners at high speeds, applying brakes for emergency stops, torturing body, springs and shock absorbers, can you learn just what performance you can expect from the make of car you drive. Results of the Motor Trend tests were conclusive... as Chrysler, again, proved itself the one best car in America.

The Motor Trend Award, like the numerous other honors today's Chrysler has won, is both a proof of and a tribute to Chrysler's magnificent FirePower engine and master engineering. Each demonstrates why, among men and women who know automobiles... Chrysler is always the first choice.
