JULY 4 CELEBRATION--

WHITTLIN'

BY DOLPH MOTEN

Texas political fires are burning, but low, now and since the second Democratic primary.

Burner will be left on low until mid-September or so when Democrats and Republicans will blast off loud and serious fireworks from that time until the November general election.

We failed to support a single winner in Democratic primaries.

However, we are in full support of all nominees of the party in the campaign against the Republicans.

There's been some talk that some supporters of Yarborough for governor will jump completely across the fence and vote for Republican Jack Cox in his bid for governorship of Texas against John Connally, who edged Yarborough for the Democratic nomination.

We did support Yarborough, but just because he was defeated we're not going to leave the party in an attempt to get Connally defeated.

Such action, and there will be some people who will practice it, would be absurd and ridiculous.

We still hold to the theory that if you're a Republican you should be proud of it. And if you're a Democrat the same should be true and you shouldn't be hunting an excuse to cross the political fence just because you're dissatisfied.

We don't like to lose any better than the next voter. When we do lose, though, we don't believe in changing parties.

Connally is deserving of all Democrats' votes in Texas. He won the nomination and we feel that it's our duty as members of the party to support him in the general election.

To do otherwise would tend to hurt the Democratic party in Texas.

Republicans would like nothing better than to have Texas Democrats divided down the middle. That would give them a fine chance of getting their men elected.

Since John Tower was elected senator two years ago, Republicans figure their stock has been going up in Texas. Though Tower's election was a good thing for Texas Republicans, it was a fluke which could only be matched this fall by complete lack of unity among Democrats.

Yarborough, we understand, has said that he would vote for Connally, but that he wasn't going to tell his supporters how they should vote.

We think he should have asked his followers to stay with the party . . . as he is going to do.

With no religious issue involved "as there was in presidential election in '60" -- in the upcoming race for governor, we expect this area to vote overwhelmingly for Connally, in spite of fact that Yarborough was big leader here in second primary.

During past few years, a host of new post office buildings have been constructed and put into use across the area.

Time is coming when Bovina will need, and be deserving of, a new post office.

That time may or may not be here now. If it isn't, it's not in the too-far-distant future.

Certainly we feel that this community is as well qualified for such a nice new government facility as are some of the other towns we've heard about that are getting them.

With Bovina's proposed paving project about to get off the ground, it would be a good idea for people who believe a paving "loop" should be constructed downtown to express their opinions to city aldermen.

We think it would be a good idea to pave, curb, and gutter Second Street from North Street south to Avenue A and then improve Avenue A between Second and Third Streets.

That would be worth a lot to the town from a growth standpoint and it would also help eliminate heavy traffic problem which now exists on North Street.

Picnic, All-Star Game Slated Here Tonight

Things were quiet in Bovina today--Wednesday, July 4--from a celebration standpoint. Activity in observance of Independence Day is scheduled to begin this evening at 6 p. m.

That's time set for community-wide picnic which will be in outfield of ballpark.

Featured event of the day will be boys baseball league all-star game. It begins at 8 p. m., immediately after the picnic. All-stars from Bovina Implement, Parmer County Farm Supply, and Red Tops of Texico-Farwell will make up a team which will compete against most outstanding players from Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply, Charles Oil and Lions of Texico-Farwell.

Don Cumpton and Harold Carpenter will serve as managers of the teams. They will be assisted by their regular assistants as well as managers of other teams.

Each team will be composed of 15 players, with all boys on the all-star roster expected to see action. Each manager selected three players from his own team as all-stars with all-star team manager naming the remaining six with understanding that at least one additional player would be named from each team.

Probable starting line-up for Cumpton's team has J. B. Taylor, Red Tops, pitching; Roy Stowers, Bovina Implement, first base; Alan Carson, Parmer County Farm Supply, second base; Lynn Murphy, Bovina Implement, shortstop; R. B. Riley, Parmer County Farm Supply, third base; Roy McDaniel, Red Tops, right field; Kent Stanberry, Parmer County Farm Supply, left field; Douglas Harriman, Red Tops, center field; and Daryl Kirkpatrick, Bovina Implement, catching.

Starters for Carpenter's team will be Ricky Stewart, Randy Robertson, and Wade Norton, Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply; Tim Crume, Robin Mahaney and Jim Webb, Lions; and Larry Mitchell, Mike Grissom, and Rodney Murphy, Charles Oil.

Pitchers may stay on the mound only two innings during the game.

Other members of Cumpton's team are Tommy Beavers, Red Tops; Lowell Taylor and Billy Smith, PCFS; and Wes Harris, Bill Caldwell and Rex Cumpton, Bovina Implement.

Other players on Carpenter's roster are Johnnie Hugh Horn and Randy Hutto, Charles Oil; Ricky Stanley and Ardell Autry, Lions; and Dennis Ensor and James Symcox, Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply.

An honor admission charge of $1 for adults and 5 cents for children will be made by Bovina Lions Club for the all-star game.

The picnic, to which each family is invited to bring a basket dinner, will feature free lemonade furnished by Lions. Proceeds from ball game admissions will be used to pay indebtedness on the field.

Planners of the picnic-ball game are hoping to escape rain, which has become almost a tradition in Bovina on Fourth of July.

Farmers Welcome Shower

Bovina farmers welcomed an almost area-wide rain Sunday afternoon.

Total amount of moisture received varied from tenth of an inch to an inch depending on location.

The rain fell with no washing, damaging effects and no hail was reported in the vicinity.

Following on completion of wheat harvest, the rain was considered by most farmers as coming at an opportune time. Farming operations were halted temporarily, but most were resumed by Tuesday of this week.

WEATHER BY WILLIE

Looks like more good showers this week.

ALMOST COMPLETE -- Finishing touches are now being applied to new building of Bovina Church of Christ. The new brick structure is scheduled to be in use during first part of August. Shown here is south end of the L-shaped building.

City to Read Paving Bids

Letting of bids for proposed street improvements in Bovina will be conducted tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon at 2 in city hall.

This will be second time for bids to be accepted for the project. First time, contract was awarded to Pioneer Paver, Inc. of Lubbock.

That action was disregarded, however, when it was discovered that no arrangements had been made by city to pay its portion of the cost or to

Sudderth Wins Amarillo Shoot

Sam Sudderth, current champion trap shooter in Bovina, took in more territory Sunday.

Sudderth dominated a registered trap shoot at Amarillo Gun Club.

At the Amarillo shoot, he broke 285 of 300 targets in three events.

Sudderth scored 94 in singles, 97 in the handicap and 94 in doubles. He won the handicap trophy in a shoot-off with a Plainview marksman after they had tied for first place with 97 each.

Two weekends ago, Sudderth took top honors in two-month average for members of Bovina Gun Club.

WATCH OUT, SKEETERS! -- Things were rough all over for Bovina's heavy mosquito population Monday evening. Louis Murrietta and Paul Holcomb, city employees, are shown spraying the insects on a block on east side of town. It is hoped that the spraying will help rid the town of the insects and that they will be little or no trouble at community's July 4 picnic.

SPLLED CEREAL -- Hubert Tally, who lives north and west of Pleasant Hill, escaped serious injury in this accident seven miles west of Bovina late Monday afternoon. Tally was bringing a load of wheat to Bovina when the truck, a new international, went out of control. Part of the wheat is shown spilled at right. The truck left the road, jumped the ditch and landed as shown in a milo field.

Bank Deposits Show Increase

To Make Children's Pictures

Bank deposits in Bovina are up more than $400,000.00 as compared with same time a year ago.

The increase in deposits was announced this week by Alfred Moody, cashier of First National Bank of Bovina, following release of bank's June 30 statement of condition.

Deposits at end of June totaled $1,786,158.09. Total on June 30, 1961 was $1,371,194.47. Total for '60 was $1,168,459.43.

Loans, too, showed an increase over past 12 months. This year's loan figured totaled $806,783.52 as compared with $635,974.84 of a year ago. Moody pointed out that a portion of the increase in deposits could be contributed to fact that wheat harvest was earlier than usual this year and that a majority of wheat money had been deposited. Wheat harvest was later last year than this.

Another reason given for increased deposits was that the area produced a good crop last fall and received a good price for it.

The bank's official statement of condition is scheduled to be published in near future.

Pictures of area children will be made in office of The Blade Saturday, July 14.

Pictures made at that time will be published in future editions of the newspaper.

In addition to having their pictures printed in the paper, the children will be competing for $20 in prizes, which are being offered for the three best photographs made during the day.

The photographs will be made absolutely free of charge and there is no charge for their publication in the Blade. Pictures will be made by Winston (Continued on page 2)

IN BOYS BASEBALL--

Yanks, OLFS Tied for First

Except for all-star game tonight (Wednesday) at 8, boys baseball league takes a July 4th week rest as no games are scheduled for this week.

Thursday night action, however, saw Oklahoma Lane Farm Supply topple the league-leading Bovina Implement Yanks, 3-2. The game's outcome put the two teams in a tie for first place for the all-star game rest period.

OLFS built up its winning margin in first two innings--scoring two runs in first and one in the second.

Bovina Implement scored one in second and another in fourth but couldn't muster the tying run.

Randy Robertson was winning pitcher. He struck out three, walked two and allowed five hits. Roy Stowers took the loss.

He struck out 11, walked three, hit one and gave up only two hits. Robertson's team gave him better defensive support than did Stowers'.

Bovina Implement and Oklahoma Lane each have identical 6-2 records and are enjoying a comfortable lead over the league's other four teams.

Thursday's action was significant for another reason, too. Red Tops of Texico-Farwell won their first game in eight starts as they slapped Lions from same community 11-1. Tim Crume was losing pitcher and McLeod was the winner.

The win-hungry Red Tops erupted for seven runs in first inning to salt the game away. In peewee action Thursday, Bovina Auto Parts and Dairy Freeze battled out a 6-6 tie in three innings. Following the July 4 recess, the league goes back on its regular schedule next week. Monday night, Parmer County Farm Supply meets Oklahoma Lane at 7 with Red Tops playing Bovina Implement in nightcap.

Tuesday night's first game sends Charles Oil against Bovina Implement and PCFS against Lions.

Peewee teams play each other Monday and Thursday. Game time is 5:30.

With July 4 holiday coming right smack in middle of this week, it has given entire week an atmosphere of one big holiday.

Either that's true or we're getting tired. Either way, if our plans hold together for two more days, we're going to mountains in New Mexico and temporarily forget all about ads, news, columns, deadlines, and the people we owe.

The shock of coming back to reality will probably be worse than being tired in first place, but we're going to try it . . .

Let's Go Fishin'
 BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor, Arizona Outboards

The largemouth bass has other names. He is sometimes, and in some places, called Micropterus salmoides. Large-mouth, black bass, green bass and Oswego bass. And actually he is a member of the sunfish family, so he really isn't a bass at all.

But for an angler who has spent any time attempting to capture one that is not of primary importance. Of infinitely more concern is what he eats, where he lives, and how he plays.

For instance, it is a known fact, according to the fishing men at Mercury outboards, that a largemouth bass will bite on anything that moves. He delights in feeding on worms, minnows, frogs, insect larvae, crayfish, mice, young birds and slightly smaller bass.

Laboratory experiments have shown that the largemouth is able to distinguish colors quite readily and that colors will stimulate a bass to strike. Red is the preferred color and is easily and readily distinguished from everything else with the exception of violet. Red, white, silver and black are listed in the order of their attractiveness, in casting and spinning baits, but any color will work as long as it is in the water and moving.

This is no secret to those who troll, often or occasionally. They hang the lure over the transom, throttle their Mercury motor down to a purr and present the lure to more fish in less time than in any other way.

Are bass popular? A survey of vacationists in Wisconsin showed that 28 percent of them preferred bass over other species, giving the bass a higher popularity rating than any other species.

How about a bass fishing trip right now?

Wheat Growers' attack was paced by Catcher Mike Barraza who had a perfect four-for-four night at the plate including two homers, Darrell Read, who relieved Ray Carter on mound in third inning, also had a four-bagger.

Boyd Gilreath hit a four-base blow for the losers.

Glenden Sudderth was losing pitcher.

Firemen and OLFS battled on near even terms for two innings in their game, but then Big Don McMahan, pitching for the winners, found his stuff and blanked the fireboys rest of the way.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

If you can find some land for Harry Hamilton to rent or buy, it will simplify things in the fall. He is looking around all over the state of Texas and other states, and we are afraid he will have to move out of the county to find what he needs.

This would necessitate your finding a new president for next year. We hope he gets to stay, but just in case he moves, think of someone you think would make a good president so that you can help the nominating committee in their nomination in October.

All Farm Bureau officers and directors devote a great deal of time to executing policies the membership develops each year, but the president has more responsibility as the leader, and spends a lot of time and money working for you.

The Weed Committee has its work completed for the year with one exception. That is the walking of the railroad and highway 60 from Friona to Bovina. We have flags here in the office, and if you would like to volunteer for the job, please let us know. The idea is to locate bindweed plots on these right of ways and mark them with a small yellow flag.

Then the maps, showing locations of weeds will be turned over to the respective departments and they will poison the weeds. Any farmer living in this area should be interested in getting this done, and we hope someone will respond to the call right away. J. T. Jones, committee chairman and his committee and the county agent, ASC Office Manager, and SCS personnel have done a great deal of work to continue this program of eradication.

The Louisiana Farm Bureau added 1,629 farmers to its membership about a month ago with this question and proposition: "Do you agree with Farm Bureau's opposition to the Administration's farm proposal? If you do, will you join and pay your dues?" As we said, over sixteen hundred farmers responded. You would be welcomed as a new member in Parmer County. We have a few less than five hundred fifty members, and would like to have a hundred or more, says membership chairman Calvin Meissner.

We are sure all that know about the Gilbert Kaltwasser family's son, Steve, are prayerfully concerned for his welfare. He fell from a tall tree and sustained a serious skull fracture. At last report he was showing improvement, and we hope he recovers fully. CONSIDER THIS: The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing. Proverbs 20:4

AN EXCELLENT means of curbing tallwater waste is the "low profile" tank, such as the one shown, which is located on the A. L. Hartzog farm south of Bovina. The tank is low in cost, takes up very little space, and does not create an eyesore.

Water District Says Parmer Farmers 'Very Cooperative'

The cooperation we have received from farmers in Parmer County has been very gratifying," says T. J. McFarland of Lubbock, office manager of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District Number One.

McFarland said there had been "in the neighborhood of 30" subpoenas served to Parmer County farmers by the District for flagrant waste of irrigation water.

"So far, we've been able to work out something without having to go to court," McFarland stated. One such hearing, which had been set for Wednesday, June 27, was cancelled when the farmer in question promised to take care of his situation before he irrigates again.

But the District has not dismissed any of the injunctions, until reasonable proof has been established that the situation has been corrected.

McFarland admitted that his office was "picking on Parmer County." He cited the water decline in this area as the reason.

He said that most farmers see the sense in a program of water conservation. He quoted one man who had farmed in Lubbock County as saying "When you're accustomed to setting 20 to 30 tubes per set and it goes down to six or eight in a few years, this matter of conservation hits home."

Another county farmer made the statement "I've known for years that this (water waste) wasn't right, and just wondered how long it would hold out."

McFarland says that when he shows farmers a map and points out the water table decline in his area, it usually makes an impression. He said the farmers in Parmer County had also been very cooperative in taking care of open wells. Only one case involving water waste has ever reached court, in Lubbock County four years ago. That case was settled by the judge and lawyers without calling the court to order.

In all cases, the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District issues a warning to a farmer when it considers that "flagrant waste" is being committed.

If the farmers fails to do something about the situation, then a subpoena is issued. In the subpoena, the High Plains Water Conservation District Number One charges that the defendant (s) --

"Is (are) producing water from underground water strata and within boundaries of Plaintiff's district, and is willfully causing, suffering and permitting underground water produced for irrigation and agricultural purposes to escape into highways, roads, road ditches and upon lands of persons other than the owner of such well, and is thus committing waste, as defined by Article 788-3c and particularly the Amendment thereto of the 54th Legislature of the State of Texas.

(The amendment, passed by the state legislature in 1955, defines waste as "Willfully causing, suffering or permitting underground water produced for irrigation or agricultural purposes to escape into any river, creek, or other natural water course, depression or lake, reservoir, drain, or into any sewer, street, highway, road, road ditch or upon land of any other person than the owner of such well or upon public land.)

The subpoena further states that acts of the defendant are in violation of Rules 1 and 2 of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, which have been duly passed and published.

ASC Begins Land Measurement In County This Week

Prentice Mills, office manager of the Parmer County ASC, said this week that official government measurements of cotton and maize acreage was begun on Monday, and asked the farmers' cooperation.

Mills said that the ASC had hired and trained 27 men to measure cotton and feed grain diverted acreage in Parmer County. The "reporters" will visit every farmer in the county.

"It is very important that the farm operator go with these men and show them his operations and be with them during the measurements. It's very important dollar-wise to the farmers that these measurements be correct," Mills stated.

"Me, a billion-dollar Cinderella?"
This isn't a fairy tale. Our Cinderella is a modern farmer's wife. Instead of a fairy godmother, she and her neighbors depend upon their own rural electric system for "magic" power.
Now, with countless new electric helpers working to free her from the water-pumping, stove-feeding drudgeries of only a few years ago, "Cindy'll live happier ever after!" And so will thousands of other Americans who make the electric appliances that help her dream of a richer, fuller life come true.
For every dollar invested by the locally-owned rural electric in system facilities, the people they serve spend four dollars for wiring, appliances, and electrically-powered equipment. In fact, rural electric consumers spend a billion dollars annually for electric appliances alone. And this is only the beginning as they find new ways to use electricity.
This big new market creates business activity and job opportunities across the nation. In the form of wages, payments for goods, and tax revenue, this great new market benefits all Americans. We're proud that a sound rural electrification program, pioneered by nearly 1,000 rural electric systems and financed by Rural Electrification Administration loans, has created this tremendous market.

HD Agent's Notes

BY MISS ETTIE MUSIL

During these summer months is a good time for grandmother and mother to encourage pre-school children to dress themselves. Children of all ages look forward to spending a few days with grandmother and grandfather during the summer months.

The pre-school child has a big adjustment during his first year in school. We can help him a little now to learn a few rules of safety in walking to school or to the school bus, as well as taking care of his clothing needs.

If he has not learned to dress himself before this age, we cannot expect him to learn to dress in a few short days before school. Do not be surprised if he gets the garments on backward in his first attempts at dressing. This is just part of the process of learning to dress. We'll need to give him much patience while we watch or help him just a little.

When he first tries, let him try as soon as he is interested. Then we can offer him help only if he needs it and seems to want it. Of course, praise his every effort, no matter how small it may be. When the pre-school child is just learning, do not ever rush him. As he progresses, he will get a little faster each time. He will be so proud later when he can dress himself in the morning, and come up to you "showing off" how nice he looks.

Here's another tip for those small toddlers visiting grandmother and granddad. Better check your household products and insecticides to see if they are out of reach of the toddlers and pre-school children.

Remember that the youngsters can't read the warning labels. Parents and grandparents often group such things as lye, ammonia and strong acids and put them away where the youngsters cannot have access to them.

If the visitor you have or will have is under five, it is a good idea to put away such products as drugs, kerosene, household disinfectants, turpentine and cosmetics, insecticides including moth balls or crystals, furniture polishes and waxes, laundry bleaches, and cosmetics are dangerous to have within reach of children.

Check your kitchens, bathrooms, garages, attics, yards, and basements where children might play. Children can get any of these household products in split seconds even while you answer the telephone or the door bell. We can never be too safe.

If you are interested in buying gifts for the toddler or small child, keep a motto in mind. Remember "Caution -- Babies Learning" when you select a gift for the young child. If your visitor doesn't have a toy to play with at your house remember the motto when selecting a gift or souvenir. Key-winding toys should have the amount of water being wasted is affecting so many people who own the Ogallala formation that it is impossible to determine the exact amount of money damage at this time and that withdrawal of underground water from underground water reservoirs for non-beneficial purposes is depleting the reservoir generally and damaging various and sundry people. In particular this plaintiff (the District)."

It is pointed out that since there is no way of determining the monetary value of water wasted, the Plaintiff is not trying to recover monetary damages, but is seeking to curb the waste.

strong springs enclosed in a cylinder which is adequate to withstand the shock from the spring if it should break. Likewise, horns, whistles, bubble blowers, mouth harps, or any other type of toy which requires use of the mouth should be made strong enough to prevent the user from sucking parts of it into his throat. If lodged objects cannot be removed quickly the child may suffocate.

A toy for a baby or toddler should be washable, large enough not to be put in the mouth, ear or nose. But it should be light enough in weight not to cause injury if dropped. Remember the space that is available for storage of the toy. Toys should be stored after use and this can be a learning process.

A few of these hints may save your child an accident, and make your visit with your toddler this summer a happier one.

Farmer Suggests Government Aid In Water Waste Battle

A. L. Hartzog, who farms three miles south of Bovina is a good example of farmers trying to curb their irrigation tail-water waste.

Hartzog has a total of four dams or tanks on his land, strategically placed to catch excess runoff water. He has one such tank on the low corner of his farm. He and County Agent Deryl Coker call this a "low profile tank." The dam is of simple construction, was low in cost, took up very little farm land, and does not produce an "eyesore."

The tank was built by having a bulldozer push a wall of dirt to the south extreme of the field corner, repeat the procedure on the east border, then scoop out a hole in the corner.

The results are a small tank with a good capacity, without a high terrace.

"We spread the wings out a little wider than ordinary, so as not to create an eyesore, but still do the job," says Hartzog.

The tank was built on the corner of a wheat field, and took up about 1/10 of an acre. The construction cost $50, according to Hartzog. He has other tanks on his pastureland.

Hartzog says he believes the government should aid farmers in the building of such tanks, so the tenant farmers could make such installations without having to bear the brunt of the cost.

He advocates a program through the ASC, such as the aid available for concrete pipe and other such improvements. "There is a segment of the farmers who can't spend any more money on tile, but would like to build some sort of tail-water tank."

"It would sure save a lot of wasting of water by farmers who don't own the land they farm," he concluded.

Does Foot Trouble Cause Other Body Ailments?

In 1946 the late Steven J. Brouwer, nationally known Milwaukee shoe merchant, set up a fund at the University of Wisconsin to finance the study of the subject.

Mr. Brouwer, like most shoe enthusiasts believed that deformed feet could cause body ailments that seem totally unrelated to foot health.

There is evidence. Frequently a headache is the first indication of fallen arches. Knee pains sometimes disappear when ill-fitting shoes are replaced with proper ones. The posture of Chinese women improved with the abolition of foot-binding. (Foot-binding is still practiced here. 3 out of 4 school children wear ill-fitting shoes.) Poor posture could cause trouble in any of the internal organs, the spine and even the brain because the same central nervous system serves the entire body.

Medical science would not be a science, however, if it accepted enthusiastic conjecturing instead of proven facts.

The Brouwer fellowship ($500 a year for five years) might open a new frontier in preventive medicine.

Until very recently there were no takers. If you know a premed who has read "Acres of Diamonds" tell him about this fellowship.

4TH OF JULY ★ 1962

Man-made accomplishments are far different on this July 4th than they were 186 years ago on our first Independence Day.

But the day still belongs to America — and Americans. For it was 186 years ago that 13 States United took their places as the world's newest nation with a unanimous Declaration of Independence.

It was based on a simple precept — "Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Space-age rockets don't change principles — YOU are the government's master in this nation — let's keep it that way!

As a whole, cotton is really growing and looking good. Early cotton is beginning to fruit or put on squares and thus fleahopper damage is something to start looking for. Fleahopper populations should begin to increase at a more rapid rate from now on. Cotton growers should check their fields closely as fruiting begins to prevent the loss of the early forms or "bottom crop." This is especially important where cotton is a little late. Flea-hopper control, when needed is also important from the standpoint of taking advantage of the higher prices and better quality of cotton during the early fall.

Cotton fields shouldn't be sprayed if there is not enough harmful insects and enough damage to warrant treatment, but if cotton is being damaged it will certainly pay to apply an insecticide. Cotton gins, farmers, or anyone who should need an insect guide can come by our office and get one. James Mabry, Bill Buchanan, Carl Schlenker, Franklin Bauer, and Roy Miller and several 4-H club members met last week to make plans for the 4-H summer camp to be held in Holy Ghost Canyon. The group set the camp dates for July 30, 31, and August 1 and 2. Without adult leader support it would be impossible to hold such an event. We will still need more adult leaders and transportation so if anyone can help, it would be appreciated by all the Farmer County 4-H Club Members. Our youth are our most important asset, and we have everything to gain by helping and working with them. A lot of farmers were disappointed in their wheat yields, but we in Texas were not the only people who lowered yields. Below is the Santa Fe winter wheat report that gives the major producing states and their yields in 1961 and 1962. I thought this might be of interest to you.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Someone once stated "Grass is nature's forgiveness for man's misuse of land." This in no way means there is one grass that is a cure-all for every type of soil. Grass is a crop and should be managed as such. Each particular soil is better, adapted to certain grasses.

However, this may be changed to some extent by the use of fertilizers and irrigation. The most productive grasses, with proper management, including fertilization, irrigation, and the most important grazing loads, will provide a farmer with a net income favorably comparable with his other so-called "cash-crops."

Grass will not only prove very favorable from the net income per acre, but will provide ample soil protection from wind and water erosion. It also will greatly add to the fertility of the soil through the addition of needed organic matter. Organic matter in the soil is the most important factor in making it productive. The addition of fertilizers will have a temporary effect on crops, but for a long term improvement, organic matter is essential. Many farmers are using perennial grasses in their conservation cropping system. Grasses such as Switch grass, Sideoats Grama, Midland Bermuda grass, Sand Bluestem, and Western Wheat grass are some of the ones that have been seeded, or sodded, as the case may be. Other plantings are planned for later seeding as in the case of the cool season species.

There are a number of farms on which steep land has been placed under cultivation. This land should be returned to a permanent type grass for the most beneficial and permanent good to the land as well as the farmer.

The establishment of these grasses will require time and effort but for lasting productive use of the land, there is nothing better.

Farmers establishing or planning to establish some of these grasses include Joe Frank, A. L. Hartzog, Delbert Garner, Gilbert Wenner, Billy John Thorn, Dean McCallum, Jack McCracken, Leonard Grissom, John Gammon, and Harold Wilson. Many more could be included in this group, but these indicate the interest which is being shown.

The Great Plains Conservation Program offers a cost-share payment on the establishment of these grasses, as well as the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office. Further information may be acquired by contacting the Soil Conservation Service Office in Friona, or the A.S.C.S. Office in Farwell.

Girls Win District 4-H Club Honors

District 4-H Favorite Foods Show had 36 girls participating in the annual event in Canyon, Tuesday, June 26. Girls entered displays of their favorite foods in four different food groups. These food groups included meat, milk, vegetable-fruit, and bread-cereal.

Representing Parmer County were Reba Lesly and Katie Blackstone in the senior division. Reba made and displayed werner sandwiches according to recipes in the Unit 1, Favorite Foods member guide. Katie Blackstone made and displayed peach delight also in the same member guide. Jill Mimms and Janis Billingsley were junior division winners in the county show and entered the district show. Jill made and displayed fluffy mashed potatoes, and Janis made and displayed butter sandwiches and banana milk shake.

Not only did the girls make the foods themselves, but they had to know the nutritive value of each of the four food groups. Judges asked several questions on how they prepared the foods and why the food made a difference in their daily food needs.

Each girl had to choose attractive luncheon clothes, center pieces, dishes, and silverware to set a place setting for service of one. Judges scored proper setting of the table and also neatness of the girls as well as her poise in answering the nutritive value questions. Record books rated one-half of the total score.

Reba Lesly, Katie Blackstone, and Jill Mimms received red ribbons. Janis Billingsley

Carole Jean Hastings Makes Hobby An Asset

Petite Carol Jean Hastings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hastings, has turned an interesting hobby, sewing, into a mother's dream.

Clothing a teenage daughter in the mode of fashion depicted by today's teenagers is no small item in the family budget, but Carole Jean has helped solve the budget problem by making most of her own clothes.

Carole Jean started sewing while still in grade school and won second place in a 4-H dress review when in the sixth grade. This vast interest carried over into high school and matured in home economics classes. Her junior year in high school she was presented the Crisco home-making award.

She has become quite adept in making any type of garment from jamica shorts to lined suits and skirts. She made her entire school wardrobe last year with the exception of a coat and a few separates.

Accessories being of chief importance in a girls wardrobe she tried her hand at these. She has covered shoes, made bags and covered hats and belts. For her Easter ensemble this year she made a floral chiffon over taffeta with matching jacket and pixie hat.

Recently she ventured into designing and cutting her own patterns. One of her latest creations was taken from a picture and made by cutting her pattern to match the picture. The finished product is quite nice.

Alterations are another aspect of sewing she has learned. Another way to economize on her wardrobe is to take her mothers cast offs and remake them for herself. This in itself is no mean feat since altering anything to a size 5 would be rather difficult.

Carole Jean has also projected her hobby further by making gifts. This year she made applique aprons for her classmates at Christmas.

Occasionally her younger sister, Lajuana, profits from her sisters hobby by receiving a new outfit.

17-year-old Carole plans to major in home economics in college and has tentative plans to enter Texas Tech following her graduation from high school next year.

SUE MOTEN

If you ever have one of those days when nothing, absolutely nothing, seems to go right and your problems seem to loom larger than anyone elses, just try viewing one of the soap operas on T. V.

Man, if you think you have it bad just look at their messed up lives. They have approximately 360 bad days a year with five left over for climaxes of happiness which come at extremely acute moments. If one woman has had it up to her ears, her husband is an alcoholic, compulsive gambler and has deserted her, just as she is about to take the fatal leap, along comes a completely overhauled husband, complete with clean shirt and lots of money and everything is rosy again. This is one of the five days, the others are devoted to working up to this terrible climax. The only factor different in real day life is we can't be sure things will work out so lovely. However, most of us don't have to spend the other 360 days working up to a day of bliss.

Have decided that the reason women drivers are considered to be such hazards is the fact that there are usually children riding with them. You can almost spot a woman with a car full of kids. She will be on the wrong side of the road and the radio will be extremely loud and her mouth will be working quite actively trying to make junior behave.

After about a half hour of such hectic activity she decides to make a left hand turn, gives a right hand signal and along comes a male superior giving her the proverbial "go to" look. Wonder how many men would be expert drivers if they encountered all the activities of children in a car each time they had to go on an outing?

Mrs. Murphy Conducts WMU Plans for W, M, U, camp and youth camps were discussed at W, M, U, Tuesday morning during a business session conducted by Mrs. Don Murphy, at First Baptist Church. Those attending business meeting were Mrs. Ovid Lawlis, Mrs. P. A. Adams, Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Evelyn Burchel, Mrs. J. O. Combs, Mrs. R. N. Williford, Mrs. Keith Garner and Mrs. Murphy.

Miss Hastings has become quite adapt at her hobby, sewing. She is shown here working on a sport costume.

Carole Jean Hastings is shown modeling her matching Easter ensemble and displaying several other articles of clothing she has made.
