UN Air Force Continues Its Korean Raids

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 8 (UP)—United Nations jet planes shot down three Communist MIG-15 jets Friday while B-26 Invaders blasted Red troop concentrations and supply areas at Sinchon after warning the Communists they were coming.

In Friday's jet battles, Capt. Clifford D. Jolley of Salt Lake City became the UN's 18th jet ace. He made his fifth kill in an afternoon fight between 12 Sabrejets and 14 MIGs.

Sinchon, about 45 miles southwest of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, is one of the 78 cities and towns marked for attack by UN warplanes. Before the B-26s appeared overseas, Radio Seoul warned civilians to clear out.

The warning was given in accordance with the Allied policy of trying to avoid needless destruction of civilian lives.

The B-26s attacked Sinchon twice, dropping more than 50 bomb loads. Pilots could not give a detailed description of the damage because of darkness and smoke.

Friday's three destroyed MIGs brought the August total to 44, including 22 destroyed and 22 damaged.

Jolley, 31, knocked down two of the Russian-built fighters Thursday, bringing his total to three. An examination of gun camera film then gave him belated credit for destroying a MIG in an air battle July 4. Thus he went into the air Friday with four MIGs officially to his credit.

Maj. Philip M. Vansickle, Lansing, Mich., shot down the second enemy fighter. The third plane was credited to Capt. James Pilon of Goldsboro, N.C.

Elsewhere in the war, UN planes blasted Red troop concentrations at Sinchon and the ground war came to an almost complete halt in 108-degree heat.

Killer Of Girl In Chicago Was Mental Patient

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (UP)—A man who killed a pretty 18-year-old girl in downtown Grant Park was a mental patient in two hospitals in less than a year and left one three weeks ago, it was learned Friday.

Bernard Richardson, Jr., 35, shot Miss Patricia Kahler and her escort, Herbert Hoffman, 17, while the pair were on a noontime visit to the park Wednesday.

After killing the girl and wounding Hoffman, Richardson killed himself. Police could find no connection between Richardson and his victims and believed it was a tragic case of mistaken identity.

At the time of the slaying Richardson was on a 90-day trial leave from a veterans hospital in Gulfport, Miss., where he was transferred from the Warren, Pa., state hospital for the insane last March 22.

A county court order in Erie, Pa., sent Richardson to the Pennsylvania institution after he was freed for an alleged attempt to attack a 15-year-old girl in a store entrance in downtown Erie.

Dr. W. K. Freeman, manager of the Gulfport VA hospital, said Richardson's release on leave to his home in Marrero, La., was based on his "getting along very well." And the wish of his father, Bernard A. Richardson, Sr.

In the files of the FBI, which identified him through fingerprints, young Richardson had a record for assault, carrying a concealed weapon and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The distraught elder Richardson said at his home in Marrero that he "likes girls, sure" but that he was harmless.

Civilian Worker Killed At Wolters Air Force Base

MINERAL WELLS, Aug. 8 (UP)—A 34-year-old civilian construction worker, T. D. Kanard of Grandbury, was killed Thursday at Wolters Air Force Base when he received an electric shock.

Kanard was working near a hoisting crane which struck a power line. Witnesses said he was holding a cable attached to the crane.

First aid teams from the base and Mineral Wells tried unsuccessfully to revive Kanard. He was survived by a wife and four children.

BULGARIAN REDS OUSTED FROM GREEK OWNED ISLE

By GEORGE ANDROULIDAKES

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 8 (UP)—

The Greek army warned Bulgarian forces massed across the Evros river, Friday that Greek troops will fire on them without warning if they try again to seize the disputed border island of Gamma.

The Greeks drove off Bulgarian Reds who had occupied the island July 23 with a concentrated mortar bombardment Thursday. There were unconfirmed reports the Bulgarians returned the fire as they fell back to the north bank of the Evros.

The Greek general staff backed up its warning to Bulgaria against any renewed attempt to take Gamma by sending large infantry forces, along with artillery, tanks and planes, to the scene.

The Greek general staff backed up its warning to Bulgaria against any renewed attempt to take Gamma by sending large infantry forces, along with artillery, tanks and planes, to the scene.

Although they insisted Gamma historically is Greek, the Greeks said they would not attempt to occupy the island until the UN Peace Commission formally decides its ownership.

By the same token, the Greeks said, they would not permit the Bulgarians to occupy the island while the UN is considering the dispute.

River Forms Boundary
Gamma lies in the Evros river in the northeast corner of Greece at a point where the river forms the frontier between Greece and Bulgaria.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (UP)—Texas led the nation Friday in the number of polio cases reported this year as the country's overall figure fell only 21 cases short of the record high set in 1949.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said 15,397 persons already had been stricken in 1952. Approximately 25 per cent of the victims have been paralyzed by bulbar polio.

A foundation analysis showed Texas was hit hardest with 20.8 per 100,000 persons infected. Other states showed: Iowa, 23.1; Nebraska, 22.8; New Mexico, 20.1; Louisiana, 17.6; Mississippi, 16.3; Oklahoma, 13.3; Kansas, 12.1; South Dakota, 11.3 and Idaho, 10.7.

The foundation said the outbreak in Chicago had mounted sharply with 146 cases reported up to Aug. 1.

Deceased was formerly in business here, but retired a number of years ago because of his age.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Vera Sherrill of Eastland, and two daughters, Mrs. Babbs Elane Marsh of Breckenridge, and Miss Gwen Sherrill of Eastland. Also a son and three daughters by a former marriage. They are Guy M. Sherrill and Mrs. Hazel D. Teadall of Eastland, Mrs. Edna Eric Carter of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Vess Nimitz of Phoenix, Ariz. One brother, Owen Sherrill, and two sisters, Mrs. Berdie Russell and Mrs. Louise Neal, all of Thomasville, Missouri.

Funeral services were given Parker, Earl Woody, Jack Muirhead, J. B. Johnson, Russell Hill and Orvel Wildman.

Without making a single error Eastland Yellow Jackets won a good game over Gorman, at the Cisco tournament Thursday evening. The score was 7-2: Tommy Edwards did the pitching and gave up only four hits. Able knocked a home run, and the game put the Jackets in the finals which will be played Saturday.

Tonight the Jackets meet the Eula team, and it is one of the best and strongest teams in this area. It will be a full 9-inning game and will start at 8 p.m., at ABC Field in Cisco.

One, and possibly two games, will be played tomorrow night.

Bulgaria. It is just west of the junction of the Bulgarian, Turkish and Greek borders.

Bulgarian troops touched off the current crisis by landing on Gamma July 23, killing two Greek gendarmes and wounding three, and occupying the islands.

Greek Foreign Minister Sophoclos Venizelos delivered an ultimatum to the Reds to get off Gamma. When the ultimatum was ignored, the Greek general staff ordered army forces on the south bank of the Evros to drive off the Bulgarians.

With The 25th Infantry Div. in Korea—Pfc. Willard D. Lewis, whose wife, Naomi, lives in Eastland, Texas, recently returned to the 25th Division in Korea after a five-day rest and recuperation leave in Japan.

He and hundreds of soldiers from other divisions in Korea, stayed in the finest hotels in Japan and enjoyed many luxuries unobtainable in Korea. The leaves are part of the Army's policy to give the fighting soldier a rest from the rigors of combat.

ANODE GLOWS?—Physicist Noel W. Scott believes the flying "things" people have been seeing may be "anode glows" caused by ionization of thin air in the upper atmosphere. Scott has produced objects in his Army lab at Ft. Belvoir, Va., that have all the characteristics of "flying saucers" spotted in recent weeks. For the record, Scott produces one of the "saucers" in a bell jar at his lab. (NEA Telephoto).

Gulf Pump Station To Use More Electricity Than Four Area Towns

Foundation work is underway at the site of the electric pump station the Pipeline Division of the Gulf Oil Company is installing northeast of Ranger. The station when completed will handle West Texas crude flowing through the recently constructed 26 inch line from Colorado City to Wortham, Texas.

Plans call for four main pumps of 2000 horsepower each to be installed in the station. The units will be housed in an 80 by 81 foot building of concrete block construction.

R. D. Berry at the station said that the prospective completion date had been set for October 1, but it would possibly be sometime in November before the plant could be ready for operation.

The Craver Construction Company of Houston is contractor for the job. No definite cost estimate has been set on construction for the mighty pump station.

Texas Electric Service Company of Eastland will supply power for the station by means of a special line they are in the process of having constructed to the station. The 60,000 volt high-line will originate from the Olden Power Plant and thence overland to the Gulf Station. Fourteen miles of line will be laid over the ten mile air route. The extra four miles push the line around the Tanager city limits, which will be more economical than to make provisions to pass that high voltage carrier through the city.

The electric pumps at the station will use more electricity than the entire cities of Eastland, Ranger, Orlan, and Gorman, when they are operating. Put should Ranger ever outgrow their present electrical supply the electric company could immediately tie onto this high-line and supply any foreseeable need for Ranger.

Charges by some city dwellers that farmers are responsible for high food prices are unjust, according to Representative Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina, (D.), chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

"In 'poor' condition Friday from the 'ground was Edward L. Fasnacht, storekeeper for a power company in Alice.

Watchman Lee Hughes, 63, said a stranger stepped up behind him as he sat at the soda fountain, and grabbed his gun from the holster.

"Before I could grab him he danced back a few steps, fired in to his left chest and fell face down on the floor," Hughes said.

A bus driver, Jack Loftice, 24, took the gun from Fasnacht. "He was trying to shoot himself again, but didn't have the strength," he said.

The bullet, after passing through Fasnacht, whizzed across the waiting room scattering the rush hour crowd.

Mrs. Neil Stebbins of Helena, Okla., lost a wallet containing $500 as she fled the waiting room.

Fasnacht told police he had come from California, and had been in town an hour.

More than 100 druggists representing every community in Texas will begin pouring into Fort Worth Sunday, August 10, for the four-day 71st annual convention and drug store merchandise buyers' market of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association. Registration begins at noon Sunday in the lobby of Hotel Texas, convention headquarters, and the convention will officially get underway at a 9:00 a.m. breakfast session Monday morning.

By convention time over 100 Texas and national manufacturers will have moved over $100,000 worth of fall and holiday display merchandise into Hotel Texas for the exclusive drug buyers' market sponsored by the association. First of its kind in the nation, the market will comprise four floors of Hotel Texas, and more than 800 manufacturers' representatives will be on hand to talk with delegates and buyers.

Given Lift By Friend; Steals Car As Payment

Ross Street, Brownwood used car dealer, knows how it feels to be robbed in broad open daylight. He has brought a new truck in Fort Worth and was trailing to Cisco. Shortly after leaving Fort Worth he picked up a soldier boy and was giving him a lift. Near the Ranger Hill the motor of his car became hot, so he decided to let the soldier drive the car and he was driving the truck.

The only thing bad was that when the soldier got to Cisco, he forgot to leave the car. A statewide pick up was ordered.

Mathes Thursday called the West Coast Communists before the bench and handed each of them the maximum sentence—five years in jail and a $10,000 fine—for violation of the Smith Act.

The Communists were convicted of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Mathes handed down the sentences after refusing to set aside the jury's guilty verdict as defense attorneys had asked. He then announced he would sentence Oleta O'Connor Yates, one of the 14, on 10 contempt of court convictions.

Mrs. Yates was found in contempt during the long trial for refusing to answer questions at the direction of the judge.

Defense attorneys' meanwhile, prepared to appeal the judge's ruling to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

In refusing to vacate the verdict, Mathes commented, "The jury's guilty verdict is apparently beyond reasonable doubt. I therefore deny the defense motion for a judgment of acquittal."

Under federal law, the judge considers such motions for directed verdicts of acquittal after the jury returns its decision.

Mathes also denied a motion for a new trial, which the defense sought on grounds that the release of an FBI report may have prejudiced the jury.

The report was released in Washington before the jury began deliberations. It said that Josef Stalin plotted to overthrow the U. S. government through the agency of the American Communist party.

Mathes refused to set bail, and ruled that the prisoners must remain in jail until their fines are paid.

Progress Made On Butler Home

With a couple of full fledged carpenters on hand, and quite a few helpers to aid them, the Butler home is beginning to look like a real building. Window and door jams have been set, the roof is going on, and work on floors and partitions will begin immediately.

There is still need for more carpenters, though this acute condition is better than it was a week ago.

Those working Thursday included W. A. Harris, Charlie Sims, Max Poyner, Chas. Butler, George Ford, Ray Pryor, Pearson Grimms, Jr., and H. H. Harleman. Construction Foreman Chas. Burkett reports splendid progress is being made.

Five Years And $10,000 In Fine Assessed All 14

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (UP)—The protracted six-month trial of 14 "second string" Communists draws to a close Friday when Federal Judge William C. Mathes pronounces sentence on one of the party leaders for contempt of court.

Mathes Thursday called the West Coast Communists before the bench and handed each of them the maximum sentence—five years in jail and a $10,000 fine—for violation of the Smith Act.

The Communists were convicted of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

Atomic Proving Site Cleared By British Officials

LONDON, Aug. 8 (UP)—Britain warned ships and planes Friday to stay away from a 60,000-square mile area of ocean north-west of Australia because she is about to test her new atomic weapons there.

The admiralty said an area roughly 200 by 300 miles around the coral reefs and windblown sandbanks that make up the Monte Bello group would be dangerous to aircraft and shipping "owing to the test of atomic weapons." The area may be extended later to include the channel between the islands and the Australian mainland, the admiralty said.

Personality Influenced By The Home

COLLEGE STATION, August 8th—All parents want their children to develop into healthy personalities. Eloise Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explains that personality is the term used to describe the way he reacts to outside influences and the way he thinks, feels and behaves. The specialist points out that this personality or whole person is made up of an inherited basic structure plus the efforts of training, knowledge, experience and information plus family and community relationships and experiences. The first factor in a healthy personality is the inherited basic structure. Physical, emotional and nervous systems and patterns can be changed very little. The big job is to realize this and help children to accept this fact. Lead them to live with themselves so they can grow into healthy personalities. Much can be done about the second factor in building personalities. Mrs. Johnson suggests that children be given wide opportunities in the home, school, church and community to get sound practical training, experience, knowledge and understanding for the real tasks of living. This leads into the third factor, relationship with others. This two-way relationship is first experienced in the home. Family members continue to be the most important group which influences personality.

used where the harvesting is to be done with the mechanical cotton stripper," says Ray. Ray's thesis is a sub-project of a program conducted by the Texas Agriculture Experiment station to determine the over-all stand for mechanical harvesting. This area is especially suited for mechanical harvesting, Ray says, because of the level ground. Small harvesting costs are necessary because the short growing season prohibits extra large yields and high quality fiber. The amount of mechanical harvesting has jumped from 10 per cent before the war to 50 per cent today. In thickly planted cotton the height of the stalk was reduced from 30 inches to 20 inches. The stalk at the base of the dense cotton was never more than the 3-4 inch wide prongs of the stripper. About 6 per cent of that thickly planted had a base too large to fit the stripper. Thickly planted cotton doesn't have more weeds, he says, but actually discourages weed growth because the ground is more shaded. "There is no significant difference in the yield," he added, and the "vegetative weight of the plant, the seed, lint and butter, remains the same."

Plant Cotton Closer When Picker Used

Cotton stripper efficiency has been shown higher when plants are close together, in experiments done for a master's thesis at Texas Tech by Levon L. Ray, assistant agronomist at the Lubbock Experiment Station. "We found losses in harvesting are less when cotton stalks are 3 inches apart than when they are 13 inches apart. In the lower cotton population the losses are 75 per cent higher, and 83 per cent more stems are found in the harvested cotton," he says. "The heavier planting rates, one bushel or more per acre, should be

Preserved Foods Help Stretch Family Income

COLLEGE STATION, August 8.—Two hundred seven thousand, five hundred fifty eight families were assisted in 1951 with food preservation problems, according to the annual report of the foods and nutrition specialists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This was the result of training and assistance given county home demonstration agents and local leaders. In all, 2,431,937 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats were canned and 25,523,409 pounds of food were frozen in accordance with practices recommended by the specialists. There were 331,440 quarts of food made into pickles and relishes. The work in food preservation was always accompanied with plans for storage, food budgets, meal preparation and service. The report states that the preserved products and 36,470 frozen food lockers; that 55,786 families followed the Texas Food Standard in planning meals and improving diets and 129,351 families were assisted with food preparation and improved table service. The specialists state that anyone may contact the local county home demonstration agent for specific information on food preservation methods. The bulletins

Bass Bruised In Food Rush

JASPER, August 7.—Shades of the old fishin' hole. Voracious bass strike so hard at food tossed into the Jasper State Fish Hatchery ponds that they often collide with harmful results. The big breed beauties compete for food particles as consistently that it's understandable why anglers sometimes nail two bass on one cast. An eye-popping demonstration provided by Bill Byerly and Joe Allen of the hatchery staff. "Watch this," suggested Byerly as he tossed in a handful of chopped rough fish. Dark streaks flashed from the depths to snatch the B-194, HOME CANNING OF FRUITS AND VEGETABLES and B-175, FROZEN FOODS, are free for the asking. morsels before they sank. Action was so furious by bass ranging up to nine pounds that water was splashed on visitors standing twelve feet away. "Listen to this," suggested Byerly, flipping in two pieces. Huge bass sliced the water. Spray flew. "Hear that bump," exclaimed Allen. There was definite sound of contact. "Hit so hard they sometimes rip their scales," said Allen. "Fungus may develop in the bruised areas and even prove fatal." Hungry bass, observed Allen, know no caution.

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. FRED EDER
United Press Outdoor Expert
A blistering sun and hot winds continue to keep the sport of angling in a category of from "fair to poor." The extreme heat and its effect on the angling population is evidenced by the continued decrease of attendance on Texas and Oklahoma lakes.

The "Coney islands" weather on the other hand has upped attendance at lake beaches and picnic grounds. Other than deep running lures artificial baits have bowed to live bait during the current hot weather.

Deep running lures trolling are producing a few black bass but conditions are far from being favorable. Top water lures, late evenings, early morning are also producing a few blacks.

Deep trailer trolling continues to hold its own as far as filling the stringer is concerned although still being far from a universally adopted tackle technique in Texas and Oklahoma.

Another hot weather tackle technique that has retained year-around popularity for the meter is the pork chunk or pork rind lure. A pork chunk or rind attached to a weedless hook is the only lure used by thousands of confirm-to their home in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Owens and little son Joe David of Abilene visited here over last week end in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Owen and Judge and Mrs. Milburn S. Long.

They also visited with Mrs. Charlie Joe Owen, who is a patient in a Ranger hospital, and Mr. Owen.

Mrs. James Snodgrass and sons of Waco are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Butler of Olden. Major Snodgrass was also a week-end visitor in the Butler home but is now in San Angelo for a 10 days stay at Goodfellow field.

ed bass fishermen. The chunk alone however is an exceptionally light lure, requiring light tackle to handle it, easily and effectively.

Most dyed in the wool pork rind and chunk anglers have their own way of fishing such lures. Many however, are inclined to retrieve their lures too fast. The pork rind or chunk combination is most effective when retrieved slowly. A retrieve beyond the action producing speed has a tendency to destroy the lure's action.

Remember Mr. Bass will be more inclined to attack or strike a slowly moving object that simulates a wounded minnow, frog or species of marine life.

Retrieve at the slowest speed possible and yet, have a good action. Don't overlook the deadly momentary pause on your retrieve, it is a combination that works very effectively on any type artificial lure.

With the pork rind spoon type lure the momentary pause produces a dipping, diving action, the declining touch to antagonize Mr. Bass into striking.

Teachers Back Wildlife Study

AUSTIN, August—The Director of Conservation Education and Departmental Publications for the Texas Game & Fish Commission reports that the conservation movement in Texas has received greater emphasis this summer.

He said teachers from all sections of Texas, and from all grade levels, attended conservation workshops and training courses in many senior colleges and universities.

These teacher training centers included the University of Texas Southern Methodist University, North Texas State, Texas State College for Women, East Texas State, Texas Arts & Industries, San Houston, Su Ross, McMurray.

Hardin Simmons, Abilene Christian, Prairie View and A & M. Many other educational institutions were actively engaged in training teachers to teach Texas youngsters how to conserve the natural resources.

The Director said many government agencies provided one or more conservation education consultants to assist in these teacher training programs. They included: State Soil Conservation Districts, the United States Soil Conservation Service, the Texas Forest Service, the Texas Health Department and the Department of Public Safety.

The Director said that, as a result of these training courses, hundreds more Texas teachers will be actually teaching boys and girls this fall the basic facts about our natural resources. They will emphasize, he explained, their present status, their value and proper use.

WEEKLY WILDLIFE WISDOM

Fishermen frequently move in on a lake or river, with shrinking shore line, to make a killing. When they fail, they cannot understand why having the fish in a smaller area is not conducive to better luck. The answer is that big fish which usually feed on the smaller fish, are not hungry because they are better able to corral their prey—Thus the eligible fish, and the fishermen, benefit from the reduced area.
