Hoyt Mulkey Is Entertainer At Rotary Meet

Everything from religion to politics was mentioned at Monday's Rotary luncheon, and with almost 100 per cent attendance the meeting proved to be one of the best for some time.

Dr. Whittington took a poll something like this: All who think Eisenhower will carry Texas, raise your right hand. Thirty-six hands went up, with some few opposers. They were then asked to state who would carry the United States. The votes was similar, even though Geo. Lane was present, voted for Stevenson and wanted to make a speech.

After the poll President White told of the coming Rotary conference to be held in Fort Worth on November 16-17.

It was Dr. Treadwell's program, and he introduced Hoyt Mulkey, singer and entertainer, from First Baptist Church, who sang two beautiful numbers. He was accompanied by Mrs. D. L. Kinnaid.

Before the musical numbers, he gave a pantomime exhibition which was well done and highly entertaining.

The first number was "Danny Boy," of World War I fame, and he sang the "Let's Frayer." It took him just ten minutes to prove that he could sing, and barring accidents, he might get an opportunity for a return engagement.

ADVISES HANDWRITING AS MARRIAGE TEST

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—A handwriting expert says that if couples had their handwriting analyzed before marriage "nine out of 10 divorces could be prevented."

Ralph B. Stevenson, Lincoln, said analysis of handwriting "shows a person's true character. If a couple understood each other's problems, a marriage could often be saved."

"People write with their brains—not just their hands," he contended.

Ranger Special To Run

The big football special train to Arlington next Saturday for the Pioneer Conference grid clash between the Ranger Junior College Rangers and the Arlington State College Rebels will be run, it was announced early today.

Status of the train had been in serious doubt up until Monday afternoon when it was assured during a meeting of directors of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce and members of the board of regents of Ranger Junior College.

The train is scheduled to depart from Ranger at 12:45 noon. And aboard will be a large entourage of football fans, the Ranger Junior College and Ranger High bands, and members of the 1952 Rangers grid squad.

The special will pull into Fort Worth at 3:00 p.m., will depart at 3:30 and is scheduled to arrive in Arlington at 3:50 p.m. well in advance of the 8 p.m. kickoff time for the Rangers-Rebels battle.

A limited number of round-trip tickets are still available although more than 200 already have been sold. H. C. Henderson, general chairman of the special train, reported at noon today. The tickets may be purchased at the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office in downtown Ranger, at Ranger Junior College, or from the following individuals:

The tickets will be on sale at the T&P depot in Ranger Friday and Saturday only.

NEGROES ROB RANGER FIRM SATURDAY

A pair of Negro men, believed to have been transients, cleverly robbed Bell's Young Moderns Shop, 203-A Main Street, Ranger, of between $60 and $70 late Saturday afternoon and thus far have successfully eluded the law.

Mrs. Aaron Bell, proprietor of the firm, gave a description of the pair to city police.

No firearms or weapons were involved in the smooth hi-jacking operation. The Negroes simply filched the money out of the cash register while visiting the store on the pretense of making a purchase of baby clothing.

Loss of the money was discovered a short time later—about 5:30 p.m.—and City Patrolman J. L. Shock visited the store and checked on the robbery after having been summoned by Mrs. Bell.

Several other merchants in the Main Street area also reported that a pair of Negro men of identical description visited their stores about the same time Saturday afternoon and acted suspiciously. However, no other losses were reported.

Democrat Raps Eisenhower In County Blasts

A fervent plea on behalf of the candidacy of Democrat Gov. Adlai Stevenson for President of the United States was voiced in Ranger and Cisco Saturday afternoon during addresses delivered by G. Ray Lee, Dallas attorney and Democratic leader.

In Ranger where a crowd of about 1,000 turned out to hear the Dallas speaker, was introduced by Hall Walker.

The Ranger speech was delivered shortly after the weekly drawing was held downtown at 3 p.m.

Two hours later—at 5 p.m.—Lee spoke to a "fair crowd" in Cisco. In Cisco the Dallas Democrat was introduced by Odell Hipp, first vice-president of Union 478, Oil Workers International Union, CIO.

Mr. Lee declared "How a man can vote against his wife and children is more than I can understand. To vote Republican means a return to want, misery and poverty. A vote for the Democratic party means prosperity and progress."

The Dallas attorney launched a vicious attack on the Republican nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and charged that the General "is qualified by experience or training to hold the high position of the nation's presidency, and that if elected he will have to depend upon others not responsible to the people." Lee also asserted that "a man must be trained for his job. The General had to be trained for his job, but his military skill does not fit him for duty in the affairs of state."

Miss Green Hurt In Auto Accident

Miss Lila B. Green of Ranger is receiving treatment in a Ranger hospital as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident near Comanche early Sunday morning.

Miss Green, it was reported, was brought to the hospital Sunday morning at 6 a.m. and is suffering with a number of bruises, cuts and lacerations. She resides on Brockbridge Road, Eastland Hill.

Record Vote Is Due Today

7,500 Citizens May Ballot In Eastland County

Bright and early this morning scores of Eastland Countians joined other citizens over the state and nation in trekking to the polls to begin the vote in what may be the biggest presidential balloting ever in the history of the United States.

By the time the polls close tonight at 7 o'clock, it is very possible that between 7,000 and 7,500 ballots will have been cast in the county's 25 precincts, county officials predicted at mid-morning.

The county's anticipated record vote coincides with reports that a record number of Texans—as many as 1,800,000—may vote today in one of the most important presidential elections in the history of the Lone Star domain.

There was more than a remote possibility that the usually solidly Democratic Texas might see a Republican when ballots are tabulated tonight.

Texas has voted Republican only one other time in presidential election history—and that was back in 1928 when Texas gave Republican Herbert Hoover a majority over the Democratic candidate, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Despite the fact that the state went Republican in 1928, however, Eastland County did not. Voters of the county's precincts, in a close count, gave Smith a majority.

Political fervor, believed highest in the annals of U. S. history, was at a sizzling pitch today all over the nation as citizens trekked to the polls to decide between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Republican, or Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Democrat, as the next President of the United States.

In Austin Gov. Allan Shivers, who is supporting Gen. Eisenhower's candidacy and who has been at odds with the national Democratic party on the party loyalty and tideland issues, urged each qualified Texas voter to "vote his honest convictions" during today's balloting.

"November 4 is a day of decision—a day on which we decide the destiny of our country, and in a large sense the world, for the next four years," Shivers observed.

"The character and ability of public officials mean much more than glamour or glibness of tongue. The people must exercise their best judgment in making their choice . . ."

"We subject ourselves to just criticism by neglecting to vote, but not for how or for whom we cast our ballot."

"No one should complain against bad government unless he has participated in the election that determines the kind of government under which he lives. Voting to some may appear a little thing. But it is the bedrock upon which the foundations of our nation rest."

"Let us all be sure that on election day we do not weaken this foundation by indifference and neglect."

Duck Proves Ideal As Baby Sitter

LINCOLN, Neb.—Mrs. H. R. Pierce has an inexpensive baby sitter—a duck.

She said the duck not only keeps watch on her one-year-old child but won't let anyone near the infant but the mother.

"The duck," Mrs. Pierce said, "has an imaginary boundary which is outlined in the front yard in which it keeps the baby confined. If the child tries to wander beyond the boundary, the duck jumps in front of him and quacks loudly until baby turns the other way."

The duck, named Deacon, won't even let the baby near the front porch steps since the one-year-old toddled off them.

WORTH CELEBRATING

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss. (UP)—D. L. Lewis has seen many vehicles plastered with "I've married" signs but now he's seen everything. A truck came by with big "just divorced" signs on it and with ribbons decorating the cab.

ARLINGTON AND TARLETON STATE POWERHOUSES LEADING PIONEER LOOP TITLE DERBY

Inzer Chosen As New Member School Board

At a quarterly meeting of the County Board of Education which met in Eastland Monday, I. C. Inzer, of this city was named to fill the unexpired term of John W. Turner, made vacant by his recent death.

After business matters had been completed, the body passed a resolution in memory of John W. Turner. One copy to be placed on the minutes, another to be presented to the family, while the third was to be furnished to the Eastland Telegram.

Sheriff Has Busy Weekend

The sheriff's department in Eastland was busy over the weekend, judging from the number of arrests, and the new county jail population.

Three individuals were arrested for disturbing the peace, one for burglary, two D.W.I. charges, with a third defendant having his case reduced to drunkenness. Three car thefts were reported and arrests made.

This, together with their regular routine business kept the forces on its toes, reports Sheriff Frank Tucker.

NEVER GOT ANYWHERE

SAUGERTIES, N.Y. (UP)—When John Lowther retired after 31 years as a letter carrier, he estimated he had walked 160,000 miles within the limits of this Hudson Valley village, equivalent to six and one-half times around the world.

IVY MOVES IN

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Ivy is growing out of the mantle of Mrs. J. W. Richardson's home. The ivy came in from the outside, through the house wall, through the wall bookcase and over a shelf of books.

REPORT SUPPRESSED—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American troops in China in World War II, speaking over a nation-wide radio network said he "will not stand silently by" and permit President Truman blame the joint Chiefs of Staff or Dwight Eisenhower for the withdrawing of American troops from Korea in 1947. The General claimed the administration "suppressed" Wedemeyer's 1947 report on China and Korea.

As the Pioneer Conference title chase settles into the November stretch the Arlington State College Rebels and the Tarleton State College Ploewboys, both members of the Texas A&M College system, have pulled well ahead of the field and two weeks hence will fight it out for the championship if each can leap over its schedule hurdle this weekend.

The explosive Rebels, boasting a devastating offense, rolled to their second straight conference victory last Saturday by trimming San Angelo, 14-7.

The Ploewboys also won their second league victory by downing Schreiner, 9-6.

Both enter the semi-finals this Saturday with the Rebs entertaining the stout Ranger Junior College Rangers at Arlington and the Ploewboys traveling to San Angelo for a tilt with the twice-beaten but still potent Rams.

Neither the Rebs nor the Ploewboys can breathe easily in their favored roles this week since the cold facts show that all league games this season have been as close as a Scotchman's tip.

ASC's margin over Schreiner and San Angelo has been six and seven points respectively, and Tarleton's edge over Ranger and Schreiner has been one and three points.

Tarleton has the disadvantage of having to play away from home this weekend. But if the Ploewboys can preserve their record, they will have the homefield advantage over ASC in the final game of the season on November 22.

Thus this appears to be the crucial week for the surprising Ploewboys and their fine coach, H. A. "Sandy" Sandford. Tarleton has rolled over six opponents including such stalwarts as Kilgore and Little Rock by sheer spirit as well as considerable smartness.

Against the Rams, the Stephenville team will require all its finesse and every break it can get. The San Angelo offense is considerably less impressive than it was earlier in the season, but it's still something to reckon with and its defense is also potent. Playing ASC last week, the Ram forward wall stopped the finest Rebel backfield in years several times within the ten-yard line. It was good enough to chill several touchdown threats and make 342 Rebel offensive yards worth only 14 points.

The Rebels also will have a major hurdle to leap when they square off against Ranger. The West Texans have the finest defensive record in Texas Junior College football circles. They have allowed seven opponents a total of 39 points, and an average net gain from scrimmage of less than 150 yards per game.

The Rangers further have a bewildering offense featuring triple-threat Bud Hamrick, leading conference rusher, and an excellent passer and punter. They shift from a basic Dutch Meyer spread into other formations in a baffling manner.

Against them, Coach Willie Zagala's colorful Rebels will counter with the league's top offensive record. In eight games the Rebels have scored 243 points and have a total scrimmage gain of 2,773 yards. They also have the league's leading passer in Sam Howard and a host of excellent running backs.

Schreiner, nudged by Tarleton last Saturday, is unscheduled this weekend. The Mountaineers' next game is with San Angelo on Nov. 15.

COLD CASH—Police Chief R. R. Howerton of Ft. Worth counts $128,000 taken from two Cubans by machine-gun bandits in a sensational robbery at swanky hotel October 3. Police found the money sealed in a thermos jug buried in a wooded area about 12 miles northwest of Ft. Worth. Also found in the thermos was $4,250 in Government bonds taken in a holdup at Kilgore last August 9. Police arrested a 40-year-old ex-convict identified as Floyd Allen Hill, as he stepped from his automobile with a garden hoe and headed for the buried jug.

Around The Square

With Mack

Some of our readers are asking what we will have to write about now that the election is over? That's easy, for all we will have to do is forge politics, turn back and begin publishing local news that has so long been neglected. And these goes regardless of who may be elected president.

As you read these lines veering will likely be in progress. Barring weather conditions or some national catastrophe, America will likely cast more votes today, than on any other day since her birth. And may we add that this is a good omen. People should be aroused and learn that after all they are the government themselves. If you don't like the way things are going, you have it within your power to change the situation.

Election News Be Given Over Loud Speaker

Election returns will be available at the Court House tonight, although there will not be a score board. As results come in they will be carried to the office of the County Commissioners where they will be checked in and then relayed over a public address system to the crowds below.

Only election officials and newspaper representatives will be permitted to enter the room, it is said. However, when a box comes in a report will be given in just a few moments. Also it may be accessible to give some bulletins on results over the state and nation.

GORMAN MAN, HURT IN CRASH AFTER RACE WITH PURSUING LAW, IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Ray Burns of Gorman was in critical condition in a Fort Worth hospital today as a result of an accident which climaxed his attempted get-away from a State Highway Patrol car on the Desdemona Highway around midnight Saturday.

Burns overturned his 1950 Mercury, loaded with half a dozen cases of whiskey, on a sharp curve about 13 miles from the junction of State Highway 16 and U. S. Highway 80. The Highway Patrol pursuing vehicle, occupied by State Highway Patrolman Ray Hatten and Sheriff Frank Tucker of Eastland, was a short distance behind the Burns car which was traveling at an excessive speed.

Hatten and Sheriff Tucker spotted the speeding vehicle as it turned off Highway 80 onto State Highway 16 and gave chase. At the pavement's end clouds of blinding dust from Burns' automobile hampered officers' efforts to catch the Gorman man who was accompanied by a boy, Jerry Yates, 11, who also suffered injuries when the Mercury skidded and overturned on the sharp curve.

A wrecker and two ambulances from Ranger were rushed to the scene. It was necessary for Burns to be extricated from the wreckage. He was in a semi-conscious state, suffered a crushed chest, severe head injuries, and a compound fracture of the left leg. He received emergency treatment in a Ranger hospital and was then rushed to Fort Worth.

The boy, who received head and knee injuries in the crash, is still confined in a Ranger hospital and will not be released for several days, doctors said.

Sheriff Tucker reports that much of the Mercury's cargo—an estimated six cases of whiskey—was broken in the crash. Sixty-five pints were unbroken and salvage, however.

RANGER COPS PLENTY BUSY OVER WEEKEND

After a lull of two weeks, business really picked up at the Ranger Police Department over the weekend.

Late Saturday afternoon city officers picked up an inebriated passenger of a Greyhound bus at the Paramount. The man, C. D. Waters of Chattanooga, Tenn., was jailed Saturday night and released early Sunday morning upon payment of the usual $15.70 fine for drunkenness, Police Chief W. G. Pounds reported.

An habitual woman drinker, a Ranger resident about 35 years of age, was jailed on the same charge about 9 p.m.

Early Sunday morning, city officers went to Weatherford to pick up three Fort Worth youths held there for car theft. The trio—Charles V. Fredell,

'OPEN AIR GARAGE' IS NEWEST TREND

Porch Doubles as Carport

Two modern trends in home building, each combining economy and good design, are illustrated in the houses pictured above. One is the inclusion under an extended roof line of a porch that is also a carport, an arrangement that eliminates the cost of a garage and adds spaciousness to the house. The other is the use of asbestos-cement siding shingles as the exterior sidewall finish. Increasingly popular for new home construction, asbestos siding is economical in cost, attractive in appearance and completely incombustible. It is rotproof and wearproof and will last the life of the house without requiring preservative aids. Asbestos siding now is made in many harmonious new colors. In the house in the lower picture colored siding is combined with white for added distinction. The houses, built to sell for around $11,000, are two of 850 in a new Denver, Colo., development.

17, Floyd Kelley, 16, and Prentice McDowell, 16—were arrested by Weatherford officers at the request of the Ranger police after they had abandoned a late model gray Ford stolen from a Ranger resident. The youths, who had wired around the ignition of the vehicle, deserted the car in an alley near the Ranger Transfer & Storage Company and fled in an old model auto.

Officer Ed Freeman discovered the stolen car and notified the Parker County officers.

The youths were transferred to the Eastland County jail at Eastland Sunday morning.

A 28-year-old Cleason, who either jumped or fell or was pushed from a speeding vehicle on Highway 80 near Ranger was picked up in a dazed state by a pair of motorists from Big Spring Sunday morning about 2:30 a.m. He was badly scratched and bruised.

He was taken to the Ranger police headquarters and held a very short time for investigation, and later released. He had been drinking heavily, officers said.

Father Banner Native Texan

The Rev. K. Banner, S.S.I.E., who is conducting the Preaching Mission or Revival at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Eastland, is a native Texan. He was born in Ft. Worth and graduated from Paschal High School. He is the son of Mrs. W. R. Banner of El Paso and the late Mr. Banner, former superintendent of mails in the Ft. Worth Post Office. He has three brothers, Rawley, Knox and H. M. Banner who reside in Ft. Worth.

Fr. Banner graduated from Georgia Tech, receiving the degree of P.S. in Civil Engineering. Then for several years he taught at St. John's University in China. Returning to this country he entered the General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church in New York City. After graduation he became a postulant of the Society of St. John the Evangelist, Cambridge, Mass., at the Mother House of the Society in this country. Some three years later he was professed in Holy Religion working as a priest Religious ever since. He has conducted Missions and Retreats in various parts of the country and has been engaged in pastoral work at the Church of

Repair Lakes, Tanks During Present Drouth

The Assistant Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission suggested that Texans utilize the drouth to improve tanks, ponds or lakes that have dried up.

St. Mary the Virgin in New York City and the Church of St. John the Evangelist, Boston, Mass. Currently at the request of the Bishop of Chicago he is serving as Vicar of St. Francis' Church in Chicago.

In the Society he has been Vice Master and Deputy Assistant Superior and in recent years Assistant Superior of the American Congregation. His work in Chicago permits him to be available for talks on the Religious Life and to advise and help persons in the Middle West who are interested in that subject.

Everyone is most cordially invited to hear and to meet with Father Banner while in Eastland. The Mission Services are at 7:30 each evening Sunday Nov. 2 through Friday, Nov. 7. Father Banner will also be available for consultation by appointment.

He said that the tanks and ponds could be deepened and enlarged and silt removed from the bottom since, contrary to popular belief, silt is harmful rather than beneficial to water bodies.

The Assistant Chief also pointed out that the enlargement will increase the surfaces and thus benefit fish life since most fish bodies are produced in the upper one foot of water.

Future food facilities also may be improved, he said, by planting legumes in the dried-up bottom areas.

Farmers and ranchers also were advised to capitalize on the opportunity by planning to restock their tanks and ponds with desirable species and thus keep down the rough fish which prey on the game fish.

The Game and Fish Commission cooperates with persons with tank or pond or small lakes since they provide increased facilities for the fishing public and since private waters oftentimes supply such as brood bass for state hatcheries.

The Assistant Chief reminded persons who have ordered fish from state hatcheries to notify hatchery if their tanks or ponds have dried up or are about to. Such persons, he said, will be given priority when wet weather returns and deliveries are resumed.

The geographic center of the United States is Smith County, Kansas.

FARM NEWS

Drought problems face virtually every farmer in Oklahoma and Texas and many city dwellers as well. How well they are met will determine how long it will take the area recover economically after the rains come.

An unusual drought problem is being tackled in southwestern Oklahoma, where federal agencies are working on a set of regulations governing the grazing of cattle on the Fort Sill artillery ranges.

The grazing program on the military reservation may involve so much red tape that farmers will find they can better afford to buy hay and keep their cattle at home where they can give the stock personal attention.

The Army has set aside 11,000 acres for the grazing program. Nine thousand acres will be available until next June 1, and the remainder until March 1.

The Corps of Engineers district office at Tulsa must decide how many head of livestock can subsist on the acreage, and how the grazing rights should be divided among stockmen of Cotton, Tillman, Kiowa, Caddo, Grady and Comanche counties.

PMA officials at Lawton are trying to organize some sort of cooperative herding program. Water will have to be hauled to the herds.

Dr. D. H. Ricks, head of the Oklahoma Board of Agriculture veterinary division, said Thursday livestock parasites are due to take a heavy toll during the next year or five months because of the shortage of good winter pastures.

"A good many livestock owners blame death losses and weight losses, as well as lower milk production, on disease when the source of the trouble actually is external and internal parasites and malnutrition," Ricks said. "In periods when good feed is scarce and our pastures are poor, losses from parasites increased to a marked degree."

Summer Dream

By Irene Ernhart

THE STORY: Laurie French...
 "I'd rather be a courtesan than a frustrated—small-town—"
 "Frustrated what?" Steve asked, and when she didn't answer, he said, "Most of us are frustrated to a certain extent, aren't we? Some of us can't have what we want, some of us grab at something in a great hurry and then find out later we didn't want it at all."
 Laurie was still feeling irritated. "I know exactly what I want!" she said defiantly.
 She was aware of Steve's hand tightening on hers. "I don't believe you do know," he said, "or you wouldn't be here now."
 "If that do you mean?"
 "If you were sure you wanted to marry that—Fletcher Sturdevant, you'd be in New York and married by now, instead of feeling away the summer here while he waits."
 She was aware of Steve's hand tightening on hers. "I don't believe you do know," he said, "or you wouldn't be here now."
 "If that do you mean?"
 "If you were sure you wanted to marry that—Fletcher Sturdevant, you'd be in New York and married by now, instead of feeling away the summer here while he waits."
 "I just don't want to make a mistake," Laurie said lamely. "My mother did, you know. It isn't that I'm not sure Fletcher and I would be happy, except—"
 "What she was saying some—"
 "Fletcher!" He laughed shortly and then she saw what he was about he pulled her against him, and kissed her slowly on the mouth. Laurie struggled against his lips for a moment and then suddenly gave way to his insistence and surrendered. A warm flood of longing arose in her, and when he let her go again she was breathless.
 "You don't know what you want any more than I do," he got out of the car and came around and opened her door for her. They walked to the porch silently in the darkness. Steve's hand on her arm, Laurie was too shaken to be able to think of anything to say.
 "Goodnight, Laurie," his voice was still gruff.
 STEVE had already run his lines and was starting to prepare breakfast when Laurie knocked on the screen door of his cabin.

 Surprise flickered briefly in his eyes when he turned and saw her. "Why hello, Laurie. Come in. Had breakfast yet?"
 "No."
 "How about sharing mine then?" He gave her a grin. And Laurie was sorry now that she had given way to that overwhelming impulse she'd had to see him.
 "I'll have breakfast with you if you'll let me help prepare it," she said.
 "And what could you cook?" He was laughing at her now.
 "I could learn," she said and she could feel a wave of crimson creeping up her throat. She picked up the granite ware coffee pot and went over to the sink and began to run water into it. The room was still, as Steve watched her.
 "Where's the coffee?"
 He got down a can out of the cupboard and put it on the counter, and stood watching as she took the lid off the can and hesitated because she didn't know what to do next.
 "I know it's silly but I never made coffee before and you'll have to tell me how."
 STEVE chuckled. "First dump all that water out and start over again. Measure six cups of water and then add six tablespoons of coffee. There is to it. And don't be mad. You're such fun to see."
 He showed her how to light the small oilstove, admitting that it was a tricky contrivance. He showed her how it had to be adjusted so that it wouldn't smoke. SIL set the table as he went about putting on the skillet, filling it with neat slices of bacon and breaking eggs into another pan.
 It wasn't until breakfast was ready and they were seated at the table that he mentioned the night before. "I'm sorry, Laurie, about last night." He poured coffee into her cup.
 "Sorry?"
 "I shouldn't have talked to you the way I did, about your engagement. And—I shouldn't have kissed you."
 (To Be Continued)

AROUND—

 settled for we have not, as a nation confessed his name or turned from sin. Until we do this we are in no position to pray, with that blessed assurance that our prayers will be answered.
 For in H. Chron, 7:14, we learn the requirements, "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." Now the question comes—have we done these things?
 We fear not, and if this is true our first job will be to find one who is qualified to pray. In a general way, we are lukewarm Christians, but can we meet this test: Whatsoever you ask believing, I will give you?
 Here we fall short of our goal. We do not believe—that strong. Most any of us who have suffered from the ravages of drought, are willing to get down on our knees and in a more or less pious manner, say, "O Lord we are suffering—give us a rain." But when we went on our knees we merely assumed the station of the Pharisee—we never thought for a moment our prayer would produce rain. Had it thundered about the time we said "Amen," we would have been so badly scared we would have run faster than a jet plane.
 We need rain, and the Lord knows we need rain, but if our prayers are answered we must get ourselves right with God. At least there must be at least one prayerful soul close enough to God to speak to Him. We must be

Chesters Hope To End Drive For $6,800 Soon

Volunteer workers rolled up their sleeves early Monday and vigorously dove into the third week of Ranger's Community Chest campaign.
 With the drive now $435 past the halfway mark of the $6,800 quota, Chest leaders, headed by President W. C. Whittle, hoped that activity this week might bring the fund-raising drive to a successful end "within a few days."
 Miss Marjorie Maddocks, secretary of the organization which is purely local and voluntary in leadership, reported early Monday that a total of $3,955 had been collected during the initial two weeks for the fund-raising effort. Of this total, $3,148 is in cash and $817 is in pledges.
 "Many people in Ranger and the surrounding territory haven't been contacted as yet," Miss Maddocks said.
 At times it appears that we are to surmount all difficulties. We reach that point where we are in view of that celestial throne, and for the moment are tempted to speak. Then that yellow streak we inherited from Jonah pops up and we fail.
 God has told us that the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man would do—he didn't say men, but man. And when we find him we are going to ask him to help increase our faith, or at least the faith of some of us, and then we may consider praying for rain. In the meantime we shall be content to accept the past portion of Matt. 5:45—"sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust." And we know for sure which group we are in.

said later Monday. "We have not received reports from a number of volunteer workers and we understand that some of them have not been able to make their contacts."
 All team captains and their solicitors were urged to get into action this week to wind up the current drive as quickly as possible.
 Proceeds from the fund-raising campaign will be split among 8 very worthy charity and civic groups—the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army, U.S.O., Ranger Child Welfare Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Teen Canteen and the Community Public Library.
 "The Community Chest way is the easy and the simple and the convenient way to give," President Whittle said early today. "By giving once for all the necessity of eight drives is obviated. We make one generous and liberal contribution—and we give to all."
 "Also," the Chest president went on, "we have devised a convenient method of pledging and paying—through installments tailored to fit any budget—which makes it possible for every family to participate and thereby to assure our worthy organizations of the finances which are necessary for their operation during 1953."
 President Whittle urges every family to give the equivalent of a day's pay.

SPARE PART FOR HEARTS—Nurse La Reine Spain, of the Georgetown University Medical Center, in Washington, D. C., displays a plastic valve of a type which has been successfully used in heart surgery. The valve was placed in the aorta of the heart, to perform the duties of a defective exhaust valve leading from the chamber. The device stops any back-flow of blood, and relieves the heart of most of the strain of a leaking valve.

More Scrap Today—More Steel Tomorrow

SCRAP IRON IS ESSENTIAL

At an annual production rate of 104,000,000 tons, one day's production is more than enough steel for all the following:

|                    |                                |

What Is Steel Made From?

Steel is made from approximately one-half scrap and one-half pig iron.

Why Is Scrap Iron Used?

Scrap is used to make new steel and foundry castings, because it adds to the quality of steel and foundry castings and helps to keep the cost down. Because scrap is composed of iron and steel, the refining process is shortened and perhaps made more complete. For every ton of scrap used we conserve approximately 2 tons of iron ore, 1 ton of coal, nearly 1 ton of limestone, and other materials.

PLUG 'N TRIGGER

By J. FRED EDER

With the coming of fall and a new hunting season thousands of landowners are tacking up fresh "no hunting" signs and voicing a familiar fall complaint against vandals with dog and gun that attempt to hide their vandalism under the title of "sportsman."

These so called "sportsmen" often shoot up and take home livestock. They tear down or deliberately cut fences, they throw beer cans and trash around the farmers' property and toss lighted cigarettes into his dry fields.

Then they proceed to help themselves to wild game that has been feeding and taking care of all year. They take such game with the attitude that it belongs to them and the farmer has no right to stop them from hunting just because he is a landowner.

Few hunters bother to introduce themselves, when actually the farmers is a host who has no equal. That same so called sportsman thinks nothing of paying several dollars for entertainment in the city, yet he considers the farmer under obligation to let him hunt because the quarry happens to be wild game.

The problem of breaking down a long standing and growing feud between farmer and sportsman is serious and this minority group of hoodlum hunters each year makes the task more difficult.

Most sportsmen respect the farmers' rights and are banding together in various organizations or clubs to combat hoodlum hunters.

The sooner we realize that the day of becoming friendly with Mr. Farmer in the fall during hunting season only is over, the quicker farmer-sportsman relations will improve.

A true sportsman will cultivate the farmers' friendship and establish the acquaintance on a year around basis.

No longer can we expect to drive out on opening day, slap the farmer on the back, stick a cigar in his mouth and then expect to hunt all we like. Such tactics only tend to make a bad situation worse.

Simple courtesies and genuine year around friendship, coupled with good sportsmanship and an earnest desire to do the right thing, can and will break down the growing barrier between farmer and sportsman.

Your correspondent has for years encouraged year around friendship and cooperation with the farmer.

No matter how sincere a group of sportsmen are, the farmer will know there will always be some hoodlum along to damage property or kill his livestock and leave him holding the bag.

We might as well face this fact for the quicker we realize that we definitely must provide protection for the farmer against such hoodlums, or we cannot expect to continue to enjoy the sports of hunting and fishing.

The Wayne county sportsman's club of Michigan has come up with one of the most effective and novel plans ever devised to improve farmer-sportsman relations and at the same time give the farmer adequate protection against the careless or hoodlum hunter.

This progressive sportsman club has for its slogan "ask the farmers first," and the club's plan hinges on a card of introduction issued to each member that guarantees protection to you a member... dedicated to the cause of conservation and sportsmanship.

"We ask you to allow him to hunt... with the understanding that he will observe all laws and conduct himself as a gentleman and a sportsman.

"If after he has finished hunting you find that he has injured your property or livestock in any way, upon proper showing of proof you will be compensated for the damage done... not to exceed $100.

"As a member of the WCSC he has the good name of his fellow sportsmen in his hands and we do not contemplate that he will dishonor it."

The effectiveness of this plan is emphasized by the fact that the club has handed out over 30,000 cards, the plan is in its seventh season and not one farmer has ever lodged a damage claim!

Here truly is a remarkable plan that can perpetuate the sports of hunting and fishing by cultivating a spirit of friendliness and cooperation between farmer and sportsman resulting in conversation and game management that actually staggers the imagination when one stops to think of the possibilities under this plan.

quired by law to inquire into the "surroundings and circumstances" of each such child.

Having considered all the pertinent facts and circumstances, the court in granting a divorce may give the custody and education of the child to either the father or mother. The governing factor here is the judge's belief and findings with regard to the best interests of the child himself.

Either parent may be required to make periodical payments for the benefit of the child, and may be punished for contempt of court in event of failure to comply with the support order.

In the past some trouble has been experienced in enforcing support orders against parents who move out of the state, as a person cannot ordinarily be extradited for the purpose of answering a contempt of court charge. However, many states (including Texas) have recently passed laws providing for the reciprocal enforcement of such orders, which is bringing some relief in support cases.

A public service of the State Bar of Texas

Notices of the filing of suits for divorce appear daily in our newspapers. Something has gone wrong with the marriage, and one of the spouses is asking the court to end the marriage by granting a divorce.

Occasionally, however, we read that someone is suing for an annulment of their marriage. The average reader may be inclined to say, "What is the difference?" Obviously the marriage is terminated if the court grants the petition, whether for divorce or annulment.

In the case of a divorce, the plaintiff (the person asking for an end to the marriage, whether the husband or wife) recognizes that the two parties involved were validly married and that there is an existing valid marriage.

The plaintiff alleges, though, that the other spouse has been guilty of some act which the law says constitutes a ground for divorce. If the divorce is granted, a marriage that actually exists is terminated legally by the court.

In effect, the court tells the couple that they were validly and legally married at one time, but no longer are.

Annulment Differs

In the case of an annulment, however, the plaintiff alleges that there never was a valid marriage in the first place because of some impediment of the parties or because of some fraud in its inception.

In this case the court must determine whether there ever was a valid marriage. If the court agrees with the plaintiff, the decree says in effect that the couple never was legally and validly married, and is not now.

Such a decree of annulment establishes for the public record the fact that the marriage was and is invalid according to law.

Children Protected

Whether the action takes the form of a divorce or an annulment, the decree will have no effect on the legitimacy of the couple's children. Our statutes provide that the children of couples whose marriages have been declared null shall nevertheless be legitimate.

Every divorce petition must set out the name, age, sex and residence of each child under 16 years of age born of the marriage involved. Then, before a divorce may be granted, the trial judge is re-
