REFLECTIONS FROM LIFE

By R. E. M.

We are told in the Bible that all who say Lord! Lord! will not be saved, and this leads us to believe that all church members are not going to find the true meaning of eternal life. Just because your name is on some church roll, and your drop in an occasional dime, or even dollars, does not denote that you are a born-again Christian and that you have made peace with your God.

These things are good and it denotes that you are more or less religiously inclined, and that in a general way you have accepted the gift of eternal life, but there is something thou lackest. Without this, so far as the Bible is concerned your activities will avail you nothing.

You must go by the way of the cross; you must obey God's command, and this command is found in John 3:16. Here we find the work "whosoever" which means every living mortal. It means that whosoever believes shall reap everlasting life. That was God's plan when He sent His son into this world to die for the sin of man. God has requested that we pin our faith on this son. We are to believe in Him, and love Him.

We, as individuals, are unable to save ourselves no more than we might lift ourselves off the ground with our bootstraps. Saving comes under the head of God's business, and all our moral lives will avail us nothing if we fail to be saved according to His plan. It is good to be moral and generous, but neither will substitute for belief. "Believe on, the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved."

There may be some way many good people may escape damnation, but if this is true, the Bible fails to mention it.

A few days ago we had occasion to talk with a grand old lady, and she immediately told us how she had taken "salvation" in her own hands. She admits that she had never repented, and is not depending on Christ for salvation. She doesn't think little details like this will have anything to do with her salvation.

During this conversation she said: "If I think I will be saved I will be. I never do anything that I feel is wrong. I treat my neighbors as I should treat them, and am careful not to offend others."

But this dear lady put the cart before the horse when she failed to meet the requirements prescribed in John 3:16. It could mean eternal damnation. She has denied God's word, and failed to place her trust in Christ the son.

All her clean living is good, but the Bible does not imply that it will save her. The rich young man who went to Christ and made known the fact that he would appreciate eternal life, was as clean as a hound's tooth so far as moral law was concerned, and Jesus loved him for it. Yet when the Savior said "one thing thou lackest," the young man went away in sorrow. He was guilty of violating God's first commandment: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." He loved his money more than he loved God, and so far as the Bible is concerned, the young man was never concerned. At least there is no record of it.

If you are ever saved you must rest assured that Jesus will do the saving. It comes free to you, but your part of this great event will be limited to "believing", according to the plan of God. You believe and Jesus saves.

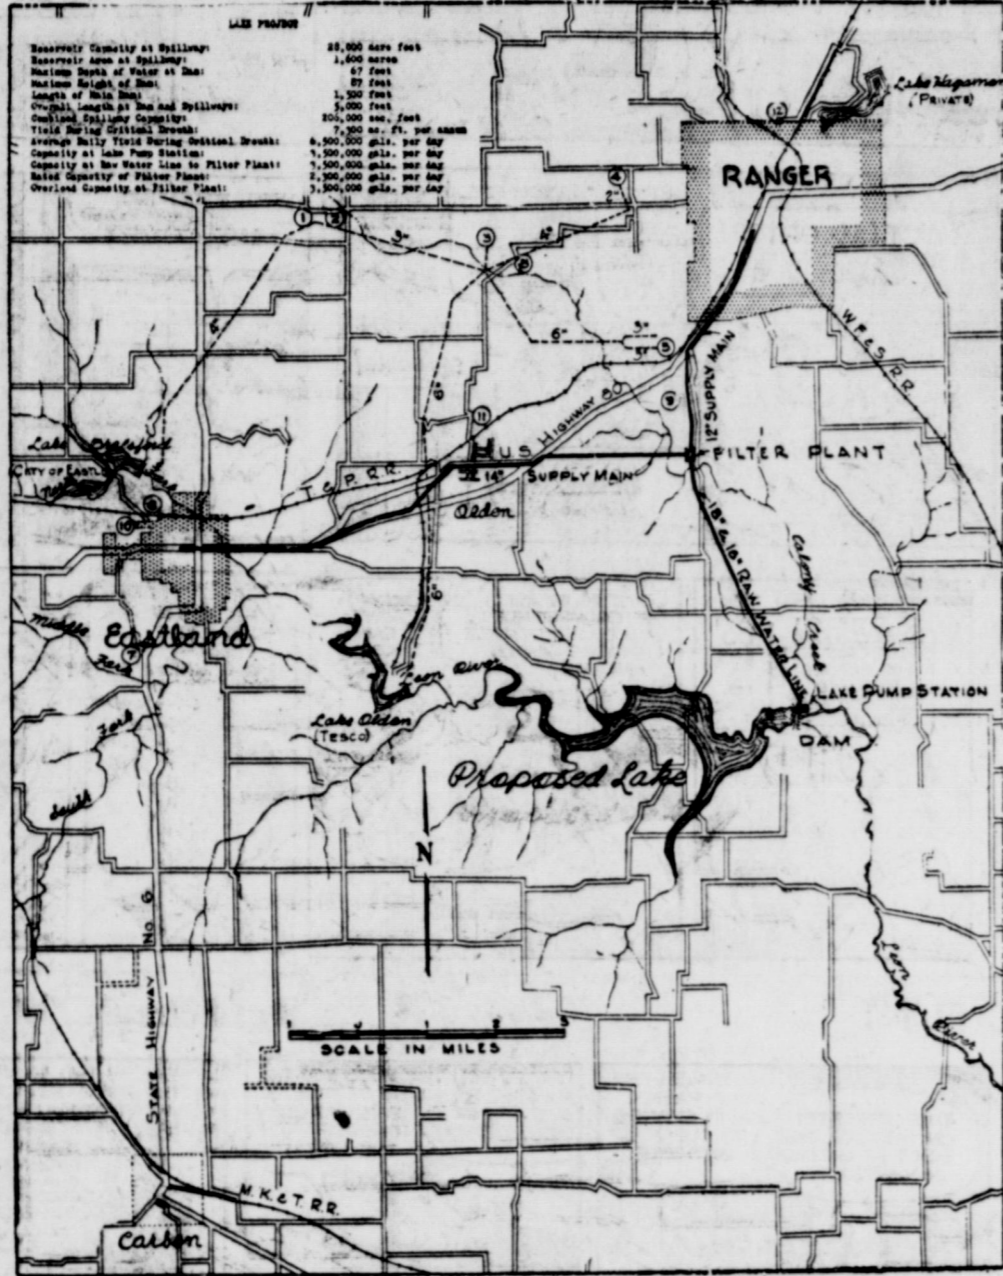

Jesus will not save us against our will, but he stands with outstretched arms to receive you at the first sign you have the desire to be saved.

And the beauty is that you will be saved with an everlasting salvation. There are those who will disagree with us, but so far as we are concerned when you are saved you are saved. You may backslide, but God will punish you right here on earth, but save you with that everlasting salvation. (No controversy needed.) We know how you feel and if you think we are wrong, come in privately and we will furnish you the scriptures that have convinced us.

We are not interested in "free" or "isms", but rather the salvation of lost men.

Over in the sixth chapter of John, Jesus tells us that "All that the Father giveth me shall come to me, and him that cometh to me, I will not cast out."

The morning sermon will be "Liberalism of the Early Christians."

The Young People's class is held each Sunday at 6 p.m. with evening services at 7 p.m. The sermon topic will be "The Last Beatitude."

Wednesday morning at 9:30 the Ladies Bible Class will meet at the church. The "Music" question, which was discussed last Wednesday will be continued Wednesday. Thirty-seven members were present for last Wednesday's meeting and "we hope that even more will be present next Wednesday," the minister said.

The regular mid-week service of devotion and Bible study will be Wednesday evening at 7:30.

A most hearty welcome to the services was assured each visitor by Austin Varner, minister of the church.

Pastor Will Conduct Both Sunday Services

Revi. D. D. Wilson, pastor, will fill his pulpit for both services Sunday at the Nazarene Church. Following Sunday school at 10 a.m. Mr. Wilson will use, as his 11 a.m. sermon topic, "Naaman, the Leper."

WEATHER
Eastland Countians shivered Saturday morning as a sudden cold front moved in and sent the mercury skidding.

Nippy northerly winds which accompanied the spring cool wave were expected to subside late Saturday, but the U. S. Weather Bureau forecast a chilly 35 to 40-degree low for Saturday night.

Saturday afternoon's high was slated for the 60s with the maximum reading for Sunday due in the same region.

Beginning Of "Grand Ole Opry" Is Scheduled For April 25th

The presentation of the first of Eastland's Grand Ole Opry is scheduled for Saturday night, April 25th, in the high school auditorium.

The two-hour show, which is sponsored by the Knights and Ladies of the Pythian lodges of Eastland, will be of a variety nature. There will be string bands, short orchestras, gospel quartets, western, hillbilly and popular songs and music of all kinds. Some of the finest talent to be found will be offered. Local talent as well as out of town entertainers will be on the show.

A good clean dignified show that any city would be proud to claim will be offered, with about 20 people in the cast. Some are teachers and composers of music. In addition to all of this the show is for a very worthy cause, as the proceeds will be used by the sponsoring organizations to help in their support of the Pythian Home in Weatherford. Eastland has six children in the Weatherford home which makes them strive even harder to do their part in supporting the home.

Admission price will be 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for all school children. Tickets may be bought in advance from any member of the Pythian Lodge.

Remember the date, April 25th, at 8 p.m. and watch for further notices of Eastland's Grand Ole Opry.

Former Cisco Dentist Passes

The body of Dr. Frank M. Oldham, 86, Cisco dentist who died Thursday night in a Fort Worth hospital, will be sent to Roanoke, Ala., for funeral services and burial.

Dr. Oldham, who came to Cisco from Roanoke, his birthplace, had practiced there for more than 60 years. He had never married.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Ethel Cauthen of Roanoke, Ala.

FINAL INSPECTION—Army doctor makes a final inspection of Communist prisoner's broken leg prior to moving him by boat from Kojedo to the mainland for the prisoner exchange beginning April 20. The trooper is one of several hundred other Communist prisoners who staged a sit-down strike on arriving in port at Fusan and refused to leave the ship until UN soldiers with rifles and bayonets arrived on the scene.

Pipkin Is New President Of ECWSD Board

Grady Pipkin of Eastland is the new president of the Eastland County Water Supply District, governing body of the new $1,500,000 dam and water supply which is being built to serve Eastland and Ranger.

Pipkin, head of the Piggy Wiggy food chain, was elected to the post during the first meeting of the new board Wednesday at the office of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce in Ranger.

Four directors—three incumbents and a new member—were elected by voters of Ranger and Eastland during an election held in both cities on April 7th.

M. H. Perry of Eastland is the new director. He succeeds Dr. Jim Whittington who recently resigned his post when called back to active duty with the U. S. Navy Medical Corps.

Three incumbent members re-elected were Wilson Guest of Ranger, Pipkin of Eastland, and F. P. (Felton) Brasher Sr. of Ranger.

New vice president of the Eastland County Water Supply District is C. P. Pruet of Ranger. He served as president of the group last year.

David D. Pickrell of Ranger will continue to serve as secretary of the board.

Guest, Ranger banker, is the board's new treasurer and tax collector.

Jack Frost, well known Eastland attorney, also has been retained to continue as the legal counsel for the water supply district.

Board Members Hope Big Dam And Reservoir Will Be Finished Before Start of Fall Rains

Eastland County's new $1,500,000 dam and water supply to end a long and acute shortage in Eastland and Ranger may be completed early next fall—in September or early October.

That was an optimistic guess from a member of the board of the Eastland County Water Supply District early Saturday.

One of the final phases of pre-construction details—letting the bid for the filtration plant to be erected on Colony Creek near the Merriman community—was wound up Wednesday. Low bidder, at a price of $154,800, was the J. C. Oliver Construction Company of Stephenville. Sixteen other firms submitted bids.

Yet to be let is a contract for the pumps. Five bids have been received and are now being carefully studied by the board members.

Construction work on the new filtration plant, the board said, is expected to get under way within the next 60 to 70 days. The contractor estimates the facility will be completed within 100 working days—roughly, five months.

Work on the dam on the Leor River has been in progress for some time now. McCoslin Construction Co., Fort Worth, is erecting the dam at a cost of $396,392.

Biggest construction item on the $1,500,000 dam and water supply project will be the laying of the water supply lines. Contract for this phase of construction was let to E. E. Farrow of Dallas. The low-bid was $477,186.

More equipment is arriving on the dam and lake site every week. Board members report, and, of course, early completion of the project depends on equipment as well as manpower.

It is hoped that the project may be completed before the period of usually heavy fall rains.

When completed sometime next fall, the new water supply for Ranger and Eastland, even during critical drought periods, will yield 6,500,000 gallons of water per day—roughly three times the present consumption of both cities.

The reservoir, according to Freese & Nichols, project engineer, will inundate more than 2,000 acres of land in the area.

Two-Thirds Goal Salvation Army Drive Reached

The Salvation Army drive has reached two thirds of its goal of $1,000, which was started with a kick-off breakfast Tuesday morning at the First Christian Church annex.

Hubert Westfall is chairman of the drive and has announced that it will close Saturday, April 25. Any workers that have not reported were asked to do so.

Anyone not having been reported, that would like to donate, are asked to send their contribution to Guy Parker at the Eastland National Bank.

Methodist Sunday Services Set

Rev. J. Morris Bailey, pastor, will preach at both worship services of the First Methodist Church on Sunday. At the 10:50 morning worship service he will preach on the subject "This is Christianity."

The choir under the direction of Mrs. Cyrus B. Frost, Jr., will sing the anthem "Create in Me a Clean Heart" by Mueller. Miss Florence Ashcraft will be at the organ and include in the organ music "Consider and Hear Me," by Pfeuffer and "Felicity" by Sellers.

Sunday evening at the 7:30 worship service the pastor will preach on the theme "Isn't it Wonderful." The youth choir will sing under the direction of Mr. Wendell T. Siebert. Miss Alice Joyce Cushman will play the organ.

Sunday School will meet at 9:45. The Sunday evening youth groups will meet at 6:30.

Ed Hooker, Eastland high school coach, is working with the boys.

Methodist Youth Will Attend Breck Meeting

Youth from the senior high and junior high departments of the First Methodist Church will attend the monthly subdistrict meeting Monday evening, 7:30 o'clock, at the First Methodist Church, in Breckenridge.

Officers for the new MYF year beginning June 1 will be elected. Sally Cooper is now vice president and Richard Jones is treasurer of the subdistrict.

Local Methodist youth will meet at the church at 6:30 before leaving for Breckenridge.

Little Items Of Local Interest

At a recent meeting of Grand Lodge held in Dallas, Robert E. Smith, member of the Eastland Odd Fellow lodge was appointed district deputy Grand Master for district 66, which is comprised of Eastland and Calahan Counties.

Baptist Revival Increasing In Interest

Revival services of First Baptist Church to continue through Sunday, April 19, with Mr. Norman Fromm directing the music and the pastor, C. Melvin Rathel, preaching.

The crowds and interest have increased with every service. The Sunday school has met each evening by departments with the superintendent, A. J. Blevins, Jr., leading. Also, the choir has met each night for the 30 minutes period with Mr. Fromm.

There have been 12 conversions, and 7 additions by letter (through Friday morning) and others have given indication of making decisions.

The church has felt a general quickening of spiritual fellowship and the gospel singing and preaching have been carried in the prayers and visitation of the people.

Everyone is welcome to these last services. For Sunday Morning the choir will sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and the pastor's subject will be "The Risen Christ." Sunday evening, the choir will repeat "Amazing Grace" and the sermon topic will be "The Command of Christ."

243 Men, Boys Attend Father, Son Banquet

What are you worth? was the question asked by Dr. Gaston Foote, Fort Worth pastor during an address at the Father-Son banquet held at First Methodist Church last evening. Following this question Mr. Foote gave the answer, but it was not what a majority of his hearers had suspected.

No less than 243 men and boys were present for the banquet and entertainment, which proved to be one of the best meetings ever held in this city. Homer Smith acted as master of ceremonies, and following the turkey dinner, several musical numbers were rendered. The dinner was excellent and was enjoyed by all present, as were the musician numbers rendered by Richard Jones and Miss Alice Cushman. Pop Gaines is president of the 9-39 class, sponsor of the banquet and entertainment.

A. C. Wimpee, magician, speaker and general entertainer was introduced, and far more than an hour he held his audience spellbound. It will be remembered that Mr. Wimpee was in charge of the program last year, and following his entertainment last evening, the master of ceremonies suggested that he will likely be here again next year.

Mr. Wimpee is a magician of considerable note and youngsters enjoy his tricks and wise-cracks. Yet all the time he is putting over a great message. He is with United Drys and Texas, and his mission is to educate our boys and girls against alcohol and its ravages. His message proved to be wonderful, and there was not a dull moment while he was on the stage.

At 9 p.m. Dr. Gaston Foote, pastor of First Methodist Church Ft. Worth was introduced, and those who had heard Dr. Foote on former occasions knew they were in for a treat.

Dr. Foote was born in Comanche county, but is today one of the outstanding Methodist ministers in the United States, and is an international character.

His subject: "What is a Man Worth," was instructive and entertaining. He is an orator, highly educated, and handles his subject, whatever it may be, in a masterful manner.

The message he delivered at the banquet went over with a bang, and there is not a man or boy who didn't get its full meaning. A man is not measured by his riches. You might be a millionaire, and yet so far as the world is concerned, you might not be "worth" anything. A number of illustrations were given to clinch the point.

His suggestions to younger boys, and men as well, was to "do your best with what you have." We can't all be top winners, but when we do our best we have succeeded. While the question discussed was a one of great importance, Dr. Foote delivered it in a kind of "sugar coated" fashion. From beginning to end it was filled with humor, and even the younger boys found it easy to remain awake. It was "fun and facts" all bound up in one package.

The banquet, the program, attendance and the food were all wonderful, and when the banquet is announced for next year, the Methodists may find it necessary to enlarge their building.

The Martha Dorcas class served the dinner.

me I will in no wise cast out. For I came down from heaven, not to do my own will, but the will of Him that sent me. And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that all of which He hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day. And this is the will of Him that sent me, that everyone that seeth the Son, and believes upon him, may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day."—John 6:37-40.

Be sure you have believed and according to God's plan. Then on the last day you have assurance that Jesus will raise you up, and you will have inherited eternal life. It's easy when you trust in Christ instead of yourself.

NEWS FROM CHEANEY Mrs. Bill Tucker

The sermon topic Sunday morning by Rev. Bill Grasham, of Abilene, was "Adam, the Type, Versus Adam, the Anti-Type", a lesson dealing with the physical and spiritual comparison of Adam, the created and Christ, the Creator.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Juanita Blackwell in the loss of her grandmother Mrs. McGaha, who had been ill a long time at Gorman.

Mrs. Layton Rogers has been called the past week with a serious back ailment but is now up and about again.

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shallit

THE STORY: Rocky Silone, a small-time racketeer, was bumped off at High Hill, a vacation resort, and the proprietor, Al Kemmer, tries to protect his place's good name by moving it to a rival summer lodge. Another complication is that Al's girl friend, Kitty Lane, is intensely jealous of Midge Burnett, a guest.

WHILE Al Kemmer went to talk to Kitty Lane, I captured Midge. She didn't seem over-anxious to dance with me and even after I told her Ritchie just wasn't her type, I hadn't softened up anything in her face. She said she had the next dance with Ritchie after we made a few half-hearted turns and the record spun to its end.

I didn't stay to watch her cross over to Ritchie. I went out on the cool, dark porch. I walked past the row of huddled nature-lovers.

Twenty yards away across the grass, the office window showed an oblong of light. Al was having himself a session with Kitty. I stepped off the porch. It didn't make sense for me to go over there. But there was a hard, vicious feeling in me—I wanted to see another man taking a lacing. From a woman, particularly.

Before I could hear what he was saying, another man's voice broke in. "Suppose you were in my position. . ."

I pushed through the partly open door—no inhibitions around High Hill. Seated beside the desk, his back to me, was Dave Fields. He swung me a look. His forehead was ruffled, a washboard.

Dave held out his hands, palms up, taking me into the gesture. "You people are his friends. Maybe he'd listen to you a lot sooner than to somebody in his own family."

"I'm sorry," Al said. "I got my own worries, with out getting mixed up with the Fields family."

"Just a word to him, just a reminder once in a while, that's all schmo was laying for me. I thought it's Kitty sitting in here, but it's this hard-luck Charley."

NEXT morning after breakfast, I went to the office. Al was lost in another subject. What it was startled me no end.

"That little Burnett—" he said, "she's an absolute dream."

His mouth drooped tenderly; his deep brown eyes were soft and liquid.

"You planning to marry her?" I growled.

His eyelids leaped. "No, no, don't be crazy." Then his eyes became reflective again. "But if I did get married, I'd more want it to be somebody like her than . . . I'll tell you, Morrison, I just discovered there's a difference between women."

"You're getting sophisticated."

"You don't understand what I'm talking about. What I mean is, they have a different effect on your nerves. This Burnett girl—I noticed when she was singing last night—she relaxes me. Like a phenobarbital. Now, Kitty—I didn't realize it before, but she actually makes me more nervous. She's a nice kid, but—"

"Kitty give you a hard time?" I inquired. He ripped open a stick of gum and put it in his mouth.

Al glanced up at me, then down at the gum wrapper he was crumpling. "Always headaches. . . In a way, I don't blame Kitty. She's been with me a long time, and. . . You know the way women are."

He flipped the wrapper across the room and leaned back wearily in his swivel chair. "Morrison, I'd like to do something for Kitty—something nice. All these years she's worked for me. . . Anyway, Kitty's young—only 37—she ought to get herself a nice fellow and take out a license."

Al was eyeing me weirdly. "I'd be willing to settle a nice piece of change on the right fellow," he said softly.

"That's swell. I'll look around for you. Sure. . . Say—I've got somebody for you. Leo Ritchie. Perfect."

"I said a nice fellow, not a jerk that can't pay his bills."

Christian Science

The Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon on "Doctrine of Atonement" to be given in Christian Science churches this Sunday is from I John 1:3: "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ." The lesson points out that Christ Jesus' mission on earth was to demonstrate for all people in every age that the understanding of man's at-onement with God overcomes sin and suffering of every sort. This Bible passage will be read: "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Cor. 5:18).

Further discussing the subject of atonement, this passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by home.

Murder she yelled

THE STORY: Rocky Silen, a small-time racketeer, met a kangaroo death near High Hill, a vacation resort owned by Al Kemmer. Al moved the body to protect the reputation of his place. Midge Burnett, the guest who found the body, said she saw the man alive when she was canoeing with Eddie Fields, an entertainer. Al has expressed fondness for Midge's charms, and his former girl friend Kitty Lane, the sister of Midge, Dan Morrison, the athletic director, also is fond of Midge. Others who seem to be getting themselves involved in the case include Eddie's wife, Roxie, and his brother Dave; Len Ritchie, a guest and a wolf; Sally Ann Prussick, another guest who has matrimonial designs on any unattached male; C. E. Garbouch, a neighbor, and Sam Stacey, Al's competitor.

CHRIS WITMER broke it up by coming in with Al's mail. I followed Chris out to the cage to see if by any chance there was anything for an orphan named Morrison. Not even a letter from Uncle Sam saying he was on the desk. "Morrison!" Al howled. "I went back in. Al flung a sheet of letter paper across the desk. "What kind of a joke is this?" "It was cheap pad paper. The message was printed in pencil. Big, crude letters, all capitals: TONITE AT 8 O'CLOCK BRING IN EVERY PART. FINALLY HE SAID, RELUCTANTLY, "NO, IT COULDN'T BE YOU. YOU'RE CRAZY, BUT YOU MAKE DIFFERENT KIND OF JOKE. IT MUST BE EDDIE FIELDS."

250-Lb. Clock Is Hobby Result

T. M. Bruce wanted something a little heavier in his hands than those tiny parts he worked with every day in his watchmaker's shop.

He decided to carve a few enlarge watch parts, for use as models to show his customers what was wrong with their timepieces. Now, 15 months later, Bruce has a plywood clock that weighs 250 pounds, is wound with a crank and rope and keeps the proper "hair-spring" tension with an 80-pound weight. Bruce said that he just decided to keep going, and ended up with the complete works for a clock. Only a few parts are not made of wood—such as "jewels" which once were glass watch crystals, a hairspring which was the mainspring of an eight-day clock, and a bottle on which the handshaft pivots. When he turns the crank and a rope and which lift the weight, Bruce gives the clock enough power to run for eight hours.

Barbed Wire Reel

It's easy to make this reel for barbed wire from an old automobile tire and five 18-inch two by fours. Just split the casing around the center so it is in two equal halves. Then, with the outside of the two halves towards the center, space the two by fours, and nail them to the casings through the concave sides, as shown. This reel, used by an Illinois farmer, will roll easily on the ground to wind, or unwind, barbed wire.

New Fungicides Aid Big Fight On Apple Rust

New types of fungicides now available promise to be a formidable ally to fruit growers to stamp out apple rust disease.

All three major rust diseases—cedar-apple rust, hawthorn rust, and quince rust—can be easily controlled by fungicides of the carbonyl group, such as ferimate. These fungicides can be combined with standard sprays for apple scrub, the major fungus disease of apple, in New York State.

That information was contained in a bulletin issued recently by the N. Y. Experiment Station.

Unlike most pasture grasses, Bermuda grass must be kept closely grazed to get the greatest value from it. The young, tender sprigs that spring up after rains make good grazing and put more profit in the farmer's purse whether it be from milk or meat. Bermuda is better adapted to lowlands and creek bottoms and to the more fertile and moist lands. To control soil erosion, Bermuda grass is good to use at terrace outlets, ditch banks and other places where water is concentrated. Don't risk your money hiding it about the home.
