PRICE FIVE CENTS

AROUND THE SQUARE

A few days ago we gave our readers a few suggestions in the art of making coffee. Since that time we have been busy hearing complaints and accepting congratulations. These have been on a fifty-fifty basis. The fifty per cent who were loud in their praise, have about recovered, and the complaining group will never know just what they missed.

Verbally we told a few of our readers that we ranked high as a chef — admitted that cooking is our hobby. And being gluttons for punishment, some of them asked that we give them the low down on the art of making chili, pot-roasts and cakes. Usually we make a charge for this information, but this time, out of the generosity of our heart, we are going to comply with their wishes, free of charge.

First we will consider chili. This is a very popular dish in Mexico, for there are no less than two thousand ways to make it. It is better to use some meat (beef preferred) if you have it, though this is not absolutely necessary—especially if you don't have the meat. You may substitute rice, cornmeal or most any vegetable that will stand a little boiling. Macaroni is excellent.

To the vegetable you use, add a little salt, cummin seed, garlic and chili powders—any known brand. This will make chili in a fashion, but not the best chili. For the good kind which some Mexicans and practically no white cooks can make, you go about it in this fashion: Take two pounds ground beef (not ground to fine) and place in a skillet with about 3 ounces of beef suet or plain beef fat. Fry and stir until almost brown, then add hot water to cover. Add salt, black pepper, and chili powder to suit. Chop three garlic buttons and mix with half teaspoon parched minis (cummin) seed, and add to the mixture, along with just a little more water and chili powder.

Let this boil about ten minutes and then add another cup of boiling water and another teaspoonful of chili powder. (All together you should use about two tablespoons of chili powder.) If this is not hot enough add more chili powder. This is good and we recommend it.

For pot-roast read the ads for week-end specials in your local paper. Then buy cheap cuts of meat—pork, beef or mutton and boil until meat is near done. Then add carrots, Irish potatoes, one quartered onion and a small head of cabbage, also quartered. Cover and boil slowly for 20 minutes. This is as good as it is economical, and it affords a one-dish meal. For dessert you may fish out the carrots and sprinkle a little sugar over them.

Cakes may afford some worry, but not if you make it like we tell you. Get a box or two of prepared cake mix, and if you can read, the box will tell you how much water or milk to add, and how long to stir the mixture. Place in a greased pan and bake—and you can't fail. You may also buy prepared "icing" which you will smear on with a knife, spatula or stick. When it is cold and looks appetizing show it to your husband. Groan a few times and tell him how tired you are from baking it in that hot old kitchen.

He will eat and brag about the good cakes his wife makes, unless you fail to remove the coupon in the flour, and it gets baked in the cake. Then he may start investigating.

There really isn't anything to cooking, yet some people seem to have better luck than others. We have eaten biscuits in our life, that looked and tasted like rat poison. General appearance showed them to be victims of yellow jaundice. Yet the makers of these "sinkers" had had 50 years experience—just slow learners—that's all.

Modern biscuits come in a can, and most of them are good.

New Laundry To Be Opened September 21

Barren unforeseen delays, Eastland's new steam laundry will be open for business Monday, Sept. 21, according to a statement made today by A. E. Jacobs, owner.

Plans had been made for the opening on Monday of next week, but delays in material and equipment shipments made it necessary to postpone the opening date.

The White Star Laundry, as it will be known, will be modern in every respect, and the management will be able to turn out all services offered by other modern steam laundries. It will also be an Eastland institution, and so as is possible only local help will be employed.

Trucks will be used to pick up and deliver bundles, for those who wish this type service, while others may take advantage of the cash and carry plan.

At the beginning there will be approximately ten employees, though others are to be added later, if necessary.

Mr. Jacobs is an experienced laundry operator and chose Eastland over other cities, when he was seeking a location.

After Sept. 21, call 174, and let your laundry worries pass to the White Star.

1953 State Fair To Open Oct. 10; Many Free Shows

The 16 days of the 1953 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 10-25, will be jam-packed with special activities to make the fair fun for the whole family. General Manager James H. Stewart has predicted in announcing the tentative daily program.

The mammoth Cotton Bowl will be the scene of a unique "Battle of Songs," Sunday, Oct. 11, pitting the best gospel singer groups in the nation; a gala playing, singing, marching exhibition by 4,000 high school musicians Music Festival Day, Tuesday, Oct. 13; a big free show starring Movie Star Gordon MacRae and the famous Tyler Junior College Apache Belles East Texas Day, Tuesday, Oct. 20; and the fair's third annual Religious Festival Sunday, Oct. 25, with Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, the President's pastor, as the speaker.

Free fireworks are scheduled five nights: Oct. 13 (Music Festival), Oct. 14 (Dallas Day), Oct. 16 (Elementary School Day), Oct. 18 (second Sunday), and Oct. 20 (East Texas Day).

The big Magnolia Midway Stage will be the setting for a daily round of interesting free shows and special programs.

They will include the crowning of the Mexico Day queen Monday, Oct. 12; finals of a statewide talent contest on Negro Achievement Day, Monday, Oct. 19; a High School Day talent contest Friday, Oct. 23 and the second annual State Baton-Twirling Championships Saturday, Oct. 24.

More than 200 special days will honor cities and regions, civic and fraternal organizations, livestock and agriculture groups.

Opening Saturday is Press-Radio-TV Day. The second Saturday, Oct. 17, is Rural Youth Day, largest gathering of its kind in the world.

Quarter Back Club To Meet At 6:30 P.M.

A meeting of the Quarterback Club has been called at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the high school gym to plan the lay-out for the year's work. H. C. Westfall, president, said today and urged all members to attend.

Little Items Of Local Interest

Sam and Nina Gamble have sold their home at 801 South Daugherty to Mr. and Mrs. Norris Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gamble left today for Donna and McAllen for a visit and Sam stated he would tell us more about their plans when they return, within the next few days.

Sam and Nina are valued citizens and will be greatly missed in civic and social circles in Eastland.

Up until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning 193 students had registered in Eastland high school. This is considerably better than last year. In tomorrow's Telegram we will give complete reports for all Eastland schools.

HOT DAYS, BUT COOL NIGHTS DUE EASTLAND COUNTY AREA

Hot days and cool nights.

That's the new weather trend for the Eastland County vicinity, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Current forecast for the area calls for generally fair with continued hot daytime temperatures today and Thursday. The high mercury reading both days—in the mid 90s.

But the nightly low will be in the coolish upper 60s.

For North Central and West Texas: Generally fair Wednesday and Thursday. Not much change in temperature.

Hotter weather is due for the Eastland County area through Sunday, according to a five-day forecast released late Tuesday by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The five-day outlook: East and Central Texas: Temperature normal, minimum 66 to 75, maximum, 87 to 94. No important changes. Light rain in the south with a scattering of showers late in the week. Little or none elsewhere.

West Texas: Temperatures above normal, minimums 54 to 72, maximum, 80 to 94. No important changes and little or no rain.

Sheriff Tucker Drives New Car

Sheriff Tucker is driving a new Mercury today, and if you have reason to think you may be in the toils of the law, better start moving now, or he will sure run you down.

County Commissioners, at a recent meeting, instructed the purchase of the new car, which will be used by the sheriff's department in apprehending criminals. It is a late model Mercury equipped with various gadgets used by peace officers.

Mavericks Are Winners, View of Coach Hooker

Edd Hooker supplied as a pinch hitter at the Lions Club Tuesday, owing to sickness in the home of the regular program chairman on that day.

Edd, as usual, talked about football, and especially the Maverick group who will be in the starting line for the first game Friday night of this week. He feels that the line-up this year is quite superior to that of last year, as the boys are heavier. Average weight this year is 154 pounds. Of course there are a few light fellows, but also the team has two or three players of the "block buster" type.

They have had very little practice since last spring, but are being whipped into shape very rapidly. And while their first game comes this week, they may be able to cope with most anything Cisco has to offer.

The "T" formation with a wing or some other kind of spread formation will be used this year, he stated.

Lions in attendance, and attendance was good, gave Edd a good hearing.

Several matters of business were brought up, and were referred to the board of directors who will report back to the club next week.

T-P Magazine Gives Eastland Good Publicity

T&P Topics, a monthly magazine published by the Texas and Pacific Railway Co., is to give Eastland some worthwhile publicity in the September issue of this magazine.

It all stemmed from the Old Rip Derby, when writers and photographers were in Eastland to get first hand information. And working in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce and the Telegram, these men gave the entire city a once over. Old Rip wasn't the only subject mentioned, for they visited numerous business houses while here. Special attention was given our manufacturing plants, particularly the Haydick plant, Hollywood Garment Factory, and Horton's Ceramic plant.

Proofs of all these pictures are now in possession of H. J. Tanner at the chamber of commerce, and may be seen by Eastlanders for the mere asking. Some of the better pictures will be used as cuts and will appear not only in T&P Topics, but in many newspapers, as well.

Mr. Tanner considers this as some of the best publicity this or others could want.

Fort Worth Show Premiums For '54 Set New Record

Premiums totaling $173,235, highest in the show's history, will be offered by the 1954 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, in Fort Worth, Jan. 29 through Feb. 7.

The nation's oldest major livestock exposition has increased the awards to Polled Herefords by $1,000 over last year, the new figure being $5,000. Other best breeds: Herefords, $13,800; Short-horns, $6,000; Aberdeen-Angus, $10,000 and Brahmins, $2,000.

Open steers will compete for $9,745 and the junior show premiums aggregate $8,998. As was the case in 1953, the junior show will be open to girls as well as boys. Carlot-and-pen division of bulls, a department which has had a remarkable growth since it was instituted four years ago, will receive $3,335.

Other divisions include: dairy cattle $5,637; sheep and goats, $5,533; poultry, $2,000; swine $10,401 (the vesicular exanthema situation, nationally, may be such however that this division will be suspended); judging contests, $1,500 and herdsman's awards $280.

The balance of the $173,235 represents the rodeo and horse show awards. The divided schedule, originated by the Fort Worth show, will again be followed, with both show horses and Western type horses being presented.

The '53 edition was the most successful the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show has ever had.

New Wildcat Is Spotted In Cisco Area Tuesday

Only one location announced in the Eastland County vicinity was reported Tuesday by W. W. Sawyer of Cisco who has spotted his No. 1 Travis & Miller, a 1,000-foot wildcat, six miles southwest of Cisco.

The project will be put down with cable tools.

Location is 150 from south and 1,890 feet from west line of Section 6, Block E, BB&C Survey.

More oil and gas leases in the Texas tidelands will go on sale Dec. 1.

The State School Land Board scheduled its second recent sale after realizing $329,300 in bonuses in the first since return of the area to the state.

A new procedure will be followed in deciding which tracts to offer.

Final Rites for Miss Frasier Set Thursday

Funeral services for Miss Reva E. Frasier, 46, killed Sunday in an automobile crash in Virginia, will be held at the Killingsworth Funeral Chapel in Ranger Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Rev. Troy Frasier, nephew of the deceased and pastor of the Assembly of God Church at Brownwood, will officiate during the rites. Killingsworth Funeral Home, Ranger, is in charge of arrangements.

Interment will be in the Acker Cemetery, 10 miles north of Ranger, beside the resting place of her late father.

Miss Frasier, a resident of the Acker community for many years prior to moving to Washington, D. C., several years ago was killed at Luray, Va. Her body is due to arrive in Ranger Thursday morning.

The accident victim was born in Stephens County on Oct. 26, 1906 and had resided in this area most of her life.

Miss Frasier was a resident of the nation's capital where she had been employed by the U. S. Army in the Pentagon Bldg. for the past nine years.

Miss Frasier is survived by her mother, Mary E. Frasier of Cisco; three sisters, Val's Mae Frasier of Post, Otis Frasier of Olney and Ola Frasier Stuart of Throckmorton; two brothers, Terrance Frasier of Eureka, Calif., and Bart Frasier of Cisco; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Social Security will start digging another one-half per cent out of thousands of Eastland County pay checks on January 1, 1954.

Levy on individual employees will go up to two per cent from the one and one-half per cent set in 1950.

This means that if you earn $200 a month, you ante up $4 each month or $48 a year into Social Security funds, rather than $3 or $36 as previously. Your employer also contributes $4 a month to the retirement and insurance fund.

Self-employed people will find their levy raised to three per cent or one and one-half times the employ rate but not quite as much as the employer-employee rates combined, according to Ralph Fisher, manager of the Social Security Administration in Abilene.

Next rise in rates will come in 1960; Fisher said, when employ rates will go up to two and one-half per cent. In 1965, they will rise to three per cent, and in 1970 to three and one-fourth per cent, where they will presumably remain stable.

That will boost self-employed people's salaries to three and three-fourths in 1960, four and one-half in 1965, and approximately five per cent in 1970.

Translated into salaries, this means that if you are self-employed and earn $300 a month—the maximum on which Social Security is paid—you will pay $9 a month come next January or $108 a year. By 1970 you will be paying $14.62 a month or $175.50 a year.

Employees will be paying $6.50 a month on $200 salaries or $78 a year by 1970.

Employees earning $200 a month or more will pay $72 next year and $117 in 1970.

All this will eventually level off payments and benefits in the Social Security set-up, Fisher pointed out. Actually, when the agency was first legislated back in 1937, levies were to increase to three per cent by 1949.

Later revisions of the law slowed down the percentage increases, though.

At present, he explained, the ratio of benefits now being paid out 60 per cent. In the next 20 or 25 years, though, the system will probably level off to the point where to levies being taken in is about as much will be paid out in benefits as is being taken in by the levies on salaries.

Paid Out One-Third
For example: Since the agency was first set up, the fund, which is designed to be entirely self-supporting, has taken in $24,779,000, 000 through May, 1953, plus interest.

In that same time, only $8,728,000,000 has been paid out in benefits, but these are increasing every year.

"These figures include the early years when not many people were receiving payments, and the payments were smaller," Fisher noted.

Many payments have been doubled by the 1950 revisions. Minimum monthly individual is now $25, regardless of salary. Maximum is $85.

Families of retired or deceased workers may now get as much as $168.80, with a minimum of $18.80 to the widow or dependent of a deceased worker, $37.60 to the widow and one child, or $45 to a family.

The worker making $200 a month will get $70 a month in retirement pay for his present levy. He may get up to $140 for himself, his wife, and a child under 18.

Or, on the other hand, he may have up to $160 in survivors benefits for his family.

Benefits Climb
The maximum survivors benefits for families have been raised from $85 before 1950, and $150 after 1950, to $168.75. That, of course, is figured from the maximum salary of $3,600.

"The main thing that determines the amount of retirement payments is the average wage before retirement," Fisher said. "In most cases it is figured from Jan. 1, 1937, when Social Security first went into effect on Jan. 1, 1951, when it was revised."

The new raise in the tax levy will not count on the 1953 income tax report, he reminded self-employed persons.

To figure the amount of your retirement payment, just bring a little arithmetic into play.

Add your wages and self-employment income covered by the law after 1950—not over $3600 for any one year—then divide by the number of months after 1950.

Take 55 per cent of the first $100 of your monthly wage, add 15 per cent of the remainder up to $200, and you have the amount of your old-age pay.

If, for instance, you will be 65 in 1955 and your total wages between January 1, 1951, and December 1954, were $11,040, by this method you would arrive at $74.50 a month retirement pay.

Or if that arithmetic is too much for you, you can get a handy little booklet at the Social Security office which does it for you.

574 KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Labor Day weekend accidents killed at least 574 Americans.

A survey showed that 405 died in traffic mishaps, 70 were drowned, and 99 succumbed from other accidents.

The figures get no records. The highest toll for a Labor Day holiday was 658 from all accidents, and 461 in traffic, in 1951.

The 1953 holiday's traffic toll was considerably lower than the 440 deaths estimated by engineers of the National Safety Council.

With fine weather prevalent throughout most of the country during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday, when deaths were tallied, the council estimated that 40 million autos used the highways.

"In view of the fact that the traffic volume is up and this Labor Day toll is the lowest in three years," said Ned H. Dearborn, council president, "some progress has been made."

Set Texas 1953 Lint Crop At 3,850,000 Bales

A 1953 Texas cotton crop of 3,850,000 bales was predicted today by the Agriculture Department.

This would be 325,000 bales more than last month's estimate and 100,000 bales above last year's production.

The department estimated national cotton production at 16,159,000 bales, or 554,000 more than last month's forecast.

Officials have said a crop of 12 million bales or more would create a surplus and require Agriculture Secretary Benson to invoke "aid" production and marketing controls on the 1954 crop. He has until Oct. 15 to act.

The estimated Texas cotton crop compares with a 1942-1 average of 3,020,000 bales. The national forecast compares with a 10-year average of 12,215,000 and a 1952 crop of 15,136,000.

The average yield of cotton per harvested acre was forecast at 306.6 pounds. The yield was 282.7 pounds last year and 271.4 for the 10-year average.

The department estimated that 3.6 per cent of the acreage in cultivation July 1 has been or will be abandoned for harvest.

Necessary Break-down

BUFFALO, N. Y. Unlike almost any other product manufactured, a grinding wheel is made to break down in use. That's because as the abrasive grits dull, the bond that holds them together must break down to present new cutting surfaces, says researchers of Electro Refractories & Abrasives Corp. The wheel that doesn't wear down becomes glazed and smooth on the face. Then it doesn't cut.

HOW TO FIX A TICKET

NEW YORK — A "pre-fix" on traffic tickets operated in many states by troopers and local police is the latest racket exposed in the September issue of Cars, national automotive magazine now on the newsstands.

In cities where officials have tightened up their traffic violation fee collections through installment of efficient record-keeping systems, Cars magazine reports the appearance of "courtesy clubs" operated by the patrolmen to help violators circumvent the law and at the same time earn the cops money. Club members give business cards which traffic patrolmen recognize and collect from the violators. Later the harried businessmen are visited at their offices and homes by "friends" of the cops who collect payment for the courtesy, pleading saving of time, labor and avoidance of license endorsement.

Cars magazine editor Arthur Unger reports cities which have brought ticket-fixing to a halt have slashed accident rates and increased local revenue. After ticket-fixing was halted in Syracuse, N.Y., accidents dropped nearly 40 per cent in six months. In Lansing, Michigan, traffic accidents took a heavier toll of lives and property damage than all crime and fire losses in a seven year period. Then Lansing became anti-fix conscious and recently received the National Safety Council award for being the "safest traffic city in America." In another Mid-western city, when traffic tickets were being fixed the annual income of the traffic court was about $50,000. After most of the fixing was abolished that yearly income was increased to $500,000! The magazine lists five fundamental points which must be gained to wipe out ticket-fixings.
