WHITTLIN'

By DOLPH MOTEN

More sidewalks is one of the things this town needs, suggests Willie Williams, the weatherman. In addition to accurately predicting future weather, Willie has also been known to point out needs for his community and work on improving situations.

The suggestion is a valid one. If any town ever needed sidewalks, Bovina does. There probably isn't four blocks of concrete poured with the primary purpose of being walked on in the whole town... and that includes all the sidewalks on Main Street.

We don't know at whose expense sidewalks should be constructed. Probably the city should pay because individual property owners have little reason to want the general public trooping across their yards.

We do know that the city controls the property 10 feet or so back from the curb. Possibly this space, or a part of it, is designed to be used for sidewalks if and when they're installed.

Sidewalks would, of course, have to be designed to blend in with driveways into businesses and homes.

We've heard that a certain percentage of sidewalked streets are necessary before home delivery of mail can be made available. That could be one of the major advantages for installing the walks.

The disadvantage would include, like most other projects, the cost. On the negative side, too, is the fact that hardly anybody walks anymore, so to speak.

On the other hand, a lot of children walk to school. They would be safer if they could walk on sidewalks than they are walking in the streets as they have to do now. It's possible, too, that more average citizens would walk if inviting walkways were provided and the chances of getting run down by a carelessly-driven automobile or grain truck were lessened.

It's a safe bet that more Main Street businesspeople would walk the two blocks to the post office if sidewalks were provided for a couple of different routes. This would be especially true in nice weather and that's about the only kind we have in this country.

If enough people are interested in more sidewalks, some research into how and how much and when could be done. It could develop into still another project to make this community better.

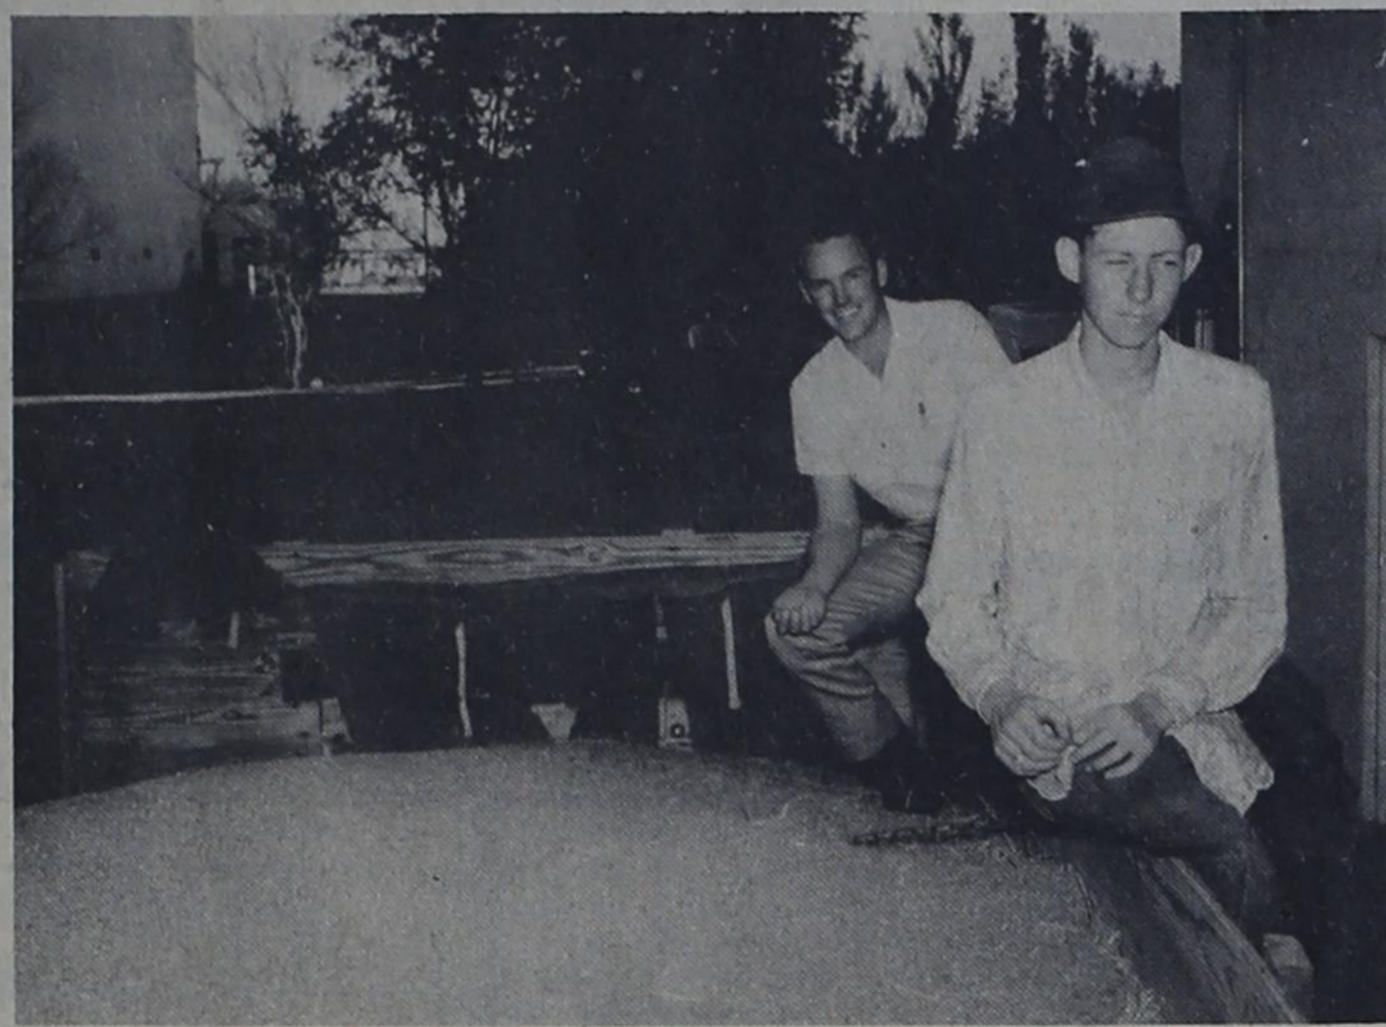

Come November and the general election, Texans will have an opportunity to replace Republican Senator John Tower with a Democrat. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock earned the Demo nomination in the first primary last month and is attempting to unseat Tower and advance himself from the state attorney general's post.

For Carr and Texas Democrats, the fight is expected to be a hard one. The Senate seat now occupied by Tower is a highly-prized one by Republicans of the state as well as GOP leaders on the national level.

The Repus, you can bet your last 15 cents, will be doing everything they can to help Tower retain the post. They're apt to be successful, too, if there's a light turnout at the polls in November. Democrats outnumber Republicans in Texas, of course. But that's not what counts in an election. Only the votes are counted, not the eligible voters.

Unless the Democrats of the state do their share of campaigning, and voting, the Republicans could get Tower re-elected. Already Tower has the advantage of being in office. Everything else being equal, that's worth a certain percentage of votes and will make the Demos' job even harder.

You can count on the Tower forces to conduct a vote-winning campaign. We noticed in a recent issue of The Amarillo daily a magazine-type insert on Tower and the forthcoming campaign. It was an impressive piece of campaign literature. We didn't go through the pub-

DRYLAND LOAD -- Bobby Stowers, right, delivered the first load of 1966 wheat to Sherley Grain Co. here Saturday morning. With Stowers is Tommy Scaff of the elevator staff. The wheat, which was grown on dryland, was cut on the farm of J. C. Stowers, northeast of town. Stowers received a $25 premium for delivering the first load of wheat to the elevator this year.

For 1966 --

First Wheat Arrives In Bovina Saturday

Wheat harvest for 1966 is underway.

Premium first loads were delivered to Bovina's two elevators Saturday and Monday. Weather permitting, combines are expected to be rolling in several fields across the area by the end of this week.

Delivering the first load of 1966 wheat to Bovina was Stan Hall, who farms 13 miles northwest of town. The grain was brought to Bovina Wheat Growers Saturday afternoon.

Variety of Hall's wheat was Early Triumph. It was watered one time and was making an estimated yield of 30 bushels per acre.

Moisture content of the 16,380 pound load was 14 per cent. Testweight was 58 pounds per bushel.

For delivering the first load of new wheat to the elevator, Hall received a $25 premium check. He will also be entitled to a $25 check from Bovina Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture for having Bovina's first load.

A load of dryland wheat cut from the J. C. Stowers farm eight miles northeast of Bovina was the first to arrive this year at Sherley Grain Co.

Delivered by Bobby Stowers, the load, weighting 7960 pounds, was delivered early Monday morning.

It was cut from a 40-acre field which was yielding some 10 to 15 bushels per acre.

Moisture content on the Stowers' wheat was 15 per cent. Testweight was 60 pounds per bushel.

Stowers' was presented a check for $25 from the elevator for the first load.

This year's first load was five days ahead of last year. J. D. Kirkpatrick and Ray Verner delivered first loads of 1965 wheat here on June 16.

Cole, Fowler Reappointed

Rev. Hardy Cole, pastor of Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church, and Rev. J. B. Fowler, Jr., pastor of Bovina Methodist Church, were reappointed at the annual conference of the Methodist Church held in Dallas last week.

More than 10,000 Methodists from over the state of Texas gathered for the joint meeting of the five annual conferences of the state. This gathering is the first in 30 years; the last one being in 1936.

Observance of the 50th anniversary of Southern Methodist University, the 100th anniversary of three of the five annual conferences, the 150th anniversary of Methodism in the state of Texas, and the 200th anniversary of Methodism in America was the occasion of the meeting.

Highlighting the assemblage were special services held each evening in Moody Memorial Coliseum on the SMU campus to standing room only crowds. Official delegates attending from Bovina were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beauchamp and Rev. and Mrs. Fowler, Rev. and Mrs. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Wendol Christian attended from Oklahoma Lane.

Work Begins On Center At Church

Work has started on the Baptist Recreation Center to be located across the street from the First Baptist Church. A. L. Glasscock has donated a building which will be moved in Friday and renovated. All work will be done by members of the church.

All age groups will benefit from the center, especially young people. Features will be a miniature golf course, volleyball net, barbeque grill, game room, crafts center, and other activities.

According to Mrs. Betty Hawkins, the center will provide a supervised place for youngsters to go and have fun. No definite date of completion has been set, this will depend upon how many people help to complete the project, Mrs. Hawkins says.

Weather

by Willie

A new front is bringing moisture by the latter part of the week.

Nuf sed about the weather this week.

It was so dry before the June 1 rain that we couldn't make a stamp stick on an envelope. I bought a stamp at the post office here and Flossie handed me a stapler! --Willie

Caldwell Breaks Tie Vote --

Mayor's Salary Cut In Half

The salary for the mayor of Bovina was cut in half at this month's city council meeting. The pay drop was from $100 to $50 per month.

Ironically, Mayor Bedford Caldwell cast the deciding vote. The mayor doesn't vote except in the case of a tie vote and when all five councilmen are present, there is never a tie.

However, Councilman Owen Patton was absent at the meeting when the motion was made to decrease the mayor's pay. Councilmen C. E. Trimble and Ed Isaac voted for the cut while Councilmen Charles Corn and Billie Sudderth were against it.

Caldwell then cast the tie-breaking vote in favor of the decrease. Councilmen are paid $25 per month.

Norman Jones was hired to work for the city. His primary duties will be to handle city trash gathering and hauling.

At the June meeting, the council voted to pay the expenses of two members of the board to attend the Fourth Institute for Mayors, Councilmen and Commissioners in Austin June 19-21.

Caldwell said early this week that it is not yet definite which members of the council will attend.

A total of 11 new blocks of water mains are being installed in the west and southwest part of town. The pipe will be tied in with the city's new well and

Mrs. Burnett Resigns --

7 Vacancies Exist On School Faculty

Seven vacancies now exist on the faculty of Bovina Schools.

The vacancies were a topic of discussion at a regular monthly meeting of the board of trustees Monday night.

Mrs. Jerry Burnett, teacher of a first grade section, submitted her resignation, making two vacancies on the three-teacher first grade staff. One new teacher was hired at the Monday night session. She is Mrs. Marie Smith, who lives here and served as a substitute teacher during the past school year. Mrs. Smith has a masters degree from McMurry College in Abilene and has four years teaching experience. She will probably be assigned to a third grade section, announces Otis Spears, superintendent. Mrs. Smith received her bachelor's degree from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Vacancies on the staff, other than the two first grade teaching positions, are for special education, fifth grade, a high school Spanish and social studies teacher who will also coach high school English and high school science.

The board considered applications for the positions Monday night and some of the vacancies are expected to be filled soon.

The school calendar for '66-'67 was approved. School will begin Tuesday, September 6, and will end Friday, May 26, with the normal holiday periods including Christmas, Thanksgiving (two days) and Easter (three days).

Approved was the purchase of a large, three-tiered, two-pan electric oven for the school cafeteria.

The board approved purchase of a used tractor from Bovina Implement Co. for use by the school.

Discussed was the present federal government-financed programs now being used by the school and the possibility of others being started here.

Board members discussed paving school-owned property on Ninth Street, but no action was taken.

Reception Sunday For Don Stones

Minister and Mrs. Don Stone and daughter, Larva, will be honored at a farewell openhouse Sunday afternoon from 1 to 4 at Bovina Church of Christ.

Friends of the Stones are invited to attend, a spokesman for the church announces. The reception will be come-and-go. Refreshments will be served.

The Stones are moving to Las Cruces, N.M. Monday where he will be student director of the Church of Christ student center at New Mexico State University. He will teach Bible and religion courses and direct activities of the student center. He has served as minister of the church here since July of 1961.

Stone was named Bovina's Man of the Year for 1964 by Bovina Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. He was president of the chamber in '65.

Named to replace Stone as minister of the church here is Lavern Stewart of Joplin, Mo. Stewart will begin his duties here July 17.

Headstart Gains 7

Project Headstart enrollment has increased to 30 with seven new students enrolled in the second week of the program.

Medical examinations are scheduled soon -- probably next week. Parents of the children will accompany them for these examinations. The children will go for the examinations by school bus and parents may ride the bus if they wish.

Mrs. Floy Burnett, one of the

Half An Inch --

Area Receives More Moisture

This area received more rain Friday afternoon and night. The moisture totaled varied from .2 to half an inch across the area.

Some high winds accompanied the slow, gentle shower but did no serious damage. Wheat, nearing the harvest stage, was blown over and damaged to some extent. However, this isn't expected to cut down on the overall yield. It will possibly make combining of parts of some fields more difficult.

Farmers in this area considered themselves fortunate that no hail accompanied the rain. Hail at this time of year isn't considered unusual.

There are prospects for more rain by this weekend, according to reports.

More rain now will possibly delay wheat harvest, which is just getting underway, to some extent. Evenso, the moisture will be welcomed by the majority of farmers if there is no hail with it.

In last week's story concerning the Justice of the Peace election here, The Blade incorrectly reported that Lucille Killough was appointed to the post in 1962 and elected then in the general election of '62.

The year of the appointment and her election was 1964 instead of 1962.

She was elected in the general election of 1964 to serve the remaining two years of the unexpired four-year term of W. J. Parker.

Dedication ceremonies for First Baptist Church's new building will begin Sunday afternoon, climaxing several years of effort by the congregation. Dr. Neil Record of Tulsa will deliver the dedicatory message. First meeting in the structure will be held Wednesday.

Turbulent black clouds dropped a cloudburst of almost four inches of rain, mixed with hail north of Bovina Friday and set off a tornado alert in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kirkpatrick were honored with a housewarming Friday evening at their new home, east of town. Hosting were Sam Sudderth, Ed Hutto, Don Murphy, Truman Gaines, A. M. Wilson, Connie Obrien, Warren Embree, Lawrence Jamerson, Grady Sorley, John Ferguson, and T. C. Wiseman.

Donna Jean Hobby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hobby, received a B. S. Degree from Texas Women's University Sunday.

Sears Roebuck Foundation has notified Roy Whisler, who has led efforts to get a doctor here, that it does not encourage communities to build a clinic and then not be able to get a physician. The foundation encouraged Bovina to continue their efforts to find a doctor for the town, however.

L. M. Grissom and M. H. Carson were elected to the board of directors of the Bovina Wheat Growers at the annual meeting held in the school auditorium Monday night.

An average daily attendance of 423,19 students during '59-'60 entitles Bovina school system to an additional teacher next year.

Stormy Hartwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hartwell, celebrated her fifth birthday Friday afternoon with a party in her home. Attending were Honey and Buzzy Mast, Angela and Larry Ezell, Chris and Kathy Mast, Barbara Griffith, and Johnny and Carla Joe Hartwell.

In a regular meeting in the city hall Monday night, Bovina's city commission discussed making plans for paving in Bovina and the curbing and guttering that will begin on Highway 60 in Bovina next month. Mayor J. E. Sherrill, Commissioners Paul Jones and Emmett Tabor, City Secretary Henry Minter, and Water Superintendent Roy Fuller also examined and discussed the city's audit for the past year.

Aided by the shoutout pitching of Robert and Darrel Read, the Bovina Bulls roared to their fourth Central Plains League win Sunday afternoon on the local diamond, Umbarger was the victim of the Bull onslaught. The score was 11-0.

Miss June Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Christian, became the bride of Benny Darnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Darnell of Clarendon, Sunday, May 27, at the Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ware and son are at home on their farm west of Bovina for the summer. He has been attending school at Texas Tech.

Dear Fellow Texan;

This week I want to talk about the problems of production and the problem of marketing in Texas.

Something is wrong when the Texas housewife is asked to pay more for Texas meat products just because of the unjust freight rates the Texas poultry and livestock industries are forced to pay on food grains that fatten poultry and livestock.

These industries are in grave danger in Texas because of the unequal, unjust railroad freight rates on coarse grain shipments. The freight rates on a ton of feed grains are three times as high per ton mile from Kansas City to Texas as they are on a ton mile of feed grain shipped from Kansas City to areas east of the Mississippi River that compete with Texas.

It means that a Texas housewife, if this keeps up, would have to pay more for locally-Texas produced broilers and beef than she did for the same items shipped in from east of the Mississippi River. These freight rates on feed grains must be reduced or the Texas chicken and beef producers will lose their markets.

This situation has come about because of the action of the Southern Railroad, serving the southeastern states, in lowering shipments to the southeastern states of the Mississippi River. It now costs only $4.23 per ton to haul a ton of feed grain from St. Louis, Missouri, to states east of the Mississippi River -- Mississippi and Alabama -- while it costs $10.60 a ton to haul the feed grains the same distance to Bronson, Texas.

So, a broiler producer east of the Mississippi can get his feed grains at about a third the cost per ton mile insofar as freight rates are concerned. He can sell his products in Houston -- including the cost of transportation -- for one-half cent a pound less than a broiler producer can produce those broilers for right there near Houston in Harris County, itself.

The reason is obvious. The southeastern producer pays less than half what the Texas producer has to pay per ton mile. Agriculture has always been one of the most important factors in the economy of Texas and the Southwest. We cannot afford to let it suffer unjustly from outside competition.

With the cost of living of constant concern to the meat-buying housewife, anything that can be done to help lower the final cost to her -- while keeping a fair price for the producer, the farmer -- must be done.

The Texas members of the poultry and livestock industries are keenly aware of this; they want fair freight rates so that they can sell meat more cheaply. Recently a delegation of them, led by Steele Wright of Nacogdoches, went over this problem with me.

They want fair freight rates so that they can furnish meat more cheaply in the Texas markets than producers in distant states -- east of the Mississippi River -- can.

I have requested Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to file an official complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission for fair freight rates on feed grain from the Midwest into the Southwest. The Secretary can do this under the law of 1938, passed to help farmers in cases like this where a farmer doesn't have the money to spend to correct freight rates by himself. The Secretary of Agriculture is ordered to do it for all the farmers and that is what we requested.

Whittlin'--

lication with a fine-toothed comb, but we did read through it and we couldn't help but notice that Tower was never referred to as a Republican. The implication was that the junior senator has no party ties.

Don't you believe it!

There's been some talk in recent weeks about another men's slow-pitch softball league in Bovina this summer. The sport was played here for the first time last summer under the sponsorship of the Lions Club and attracted its share of interest.

As far as we know, no plans have been made for such a league again this year, but that situation could be quickly and easily remedied.

Last season, eight teams played a month-long schedule -- seven games each.

With the Little League season slated to end in mid-July, the slow-pitch league could start about July 18 and be completed by mid-August, in time for football season to begin.

If we're going to have the league again, we need a sponsoring organization and a hard-working committee to get it planned.

Then, all it will take is 120 people foolish enough to participate divided into eight teams.

The ton mile rate on grain from Lubbock to Temple is still more than five times the rate paid for the same mileage east of the Mississippi. The Texas farmer is unjustly treated on these freight rates and he deserves an even break on them.

The Texas housewife should get the break of lower competitive prices when she goes to the market to buy meat, poultry, and eggs. These higher freight rates for feed grains mean higher prices for meat for the housewife. The farmer and the rancher get blamed for the higher prices, but they don't get the profit. That goes into the freight rate.

NITEY-NITE!

A small girl was taken to church knelt to pray, she asked what they were doing.

"They are going to say their prayers," whispered her mother.

"With all their clothes on?" she inquired in a loud voice.

Never praise a woman too highly. If you stop, she'll think you don't love her anymore. If you keep it up, she'll soon think she's too good for you.

"I just got out of prison this morning," a traveler told a man on the train. "It's going to be tough, facing old friends."

"I can sympathize with you," replied the other; "I'm just getting home from Congress."

Being Remodeled-

Former Post Office Sold

Bovina's former post office building, located on the north side of Main Street, has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Estes.

The building will house offices for Inman Insurance Agency, which is operated by Mrs. Estes.

Remodeling of the glass-fronted building is presently underway, Mrs. Estes says remodeling is expected to be complete by July 1. The insurance office is expected to be moved into the building about that date. The insurance business is presently quartered in the Isaac Office Building, two doors west of the former post office building.

Former owner of the building which is now being remodeled was purchased from Charlie Steelman. The post office moved into a new structure at Second Street and Avenue B earlier this year, leaving the former location vacant.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR
County HD Agent

Two new 4-H project leaders were added to the list this week. Mrs. Dale Hart of Friona and Mrs. Kidd of Bovina. They will work with an assist girls in clothing projects.

Some groups have already started work, Mrs. Earl Hise and Mrs. Robert Read of Bovina have started and have a lot of enthusiasm to pass on to some eager 4-H'ers.

HOME DEMONSTRATION Clubs leaders attended training on "quick meals" in Bovina recently and these leaders will be giving the demonstration to clubs in June.

The bulletin "Quick Meals" is available and will be distributed at club meetings, Mrs. Estes Bass of Northside said they were especially going to stress nutritious quick meals as well as planning meals in advance as these are the greatest time saver and insurance against unbalanced meals. It will be interesting to note results of those who will be carrying through on these tried practices.

PROGRAM PLANNING - the Family Living Committee will meet with specialists in the field of management, June 20, 2 p.m. in the homemaking department at Bovina to assist in developing action programs for 1967 that will be made available to all organizations and homemakers who want to take advantage of the information.

Any interested in this planning process are welcome to attend this meeting.

FOR SUMMER MEALS

Add time saving treats to summer meals with casseroles. Casserole dishes can be inexpensive or expensive, simple or complicated. Many of them can be prepared on the spur of the moment from ingredients found on most kitchen shelves.

They can be prepared well ahead of serving time and some actually improve the flavor by "resting" before final heating for the meal. Hot dishes keep hot for second servings.

Once the casserole is in the oven, the cook can sit down and enjoy the pre-dinner hour until it is time to whisk the casserole to the table and remove the salad from the refrigerator.

Casseroles can be served right in their cooking containers. The varying sizes, unusual shapes, and gay colors of the baking dishes add interest and decoration to a buffet or dinner table.

If the casserole is a hearty main dish, keep the rest of the menu simple. When the main dish is simple, an attractive vegetable or a fancy dessert casserole can add interest and good nutrition.

A covered casserole keeps the moisture in, and the liquid will be thinner in consistency than that cooked in an uncovered casserole. Uncovering the casserole causes more rapid loss of moisture and a thicker, richer sauce will result. If more liquid must be added during the cooking, use a stock or juice, like bouillon or vegetable water, which contributes to the flavor. Always be sure that liquids added to hot casseroles are hot.

Getting Enough Milk?

June is traditionally the "Dairy Month," and this is a good time to consider daily needs from this important source of food.

Why do we need milk? Well in the first place it is especially important for these three nutrients:

Calcium - needed throughout life for healthy bones. Riboflavin - a B vitamin, one of the essential nutrients for healthy skin and nerves. Protein - the main material needed for building and repairing body tissue.

Many people get too little of these three nutrients for their best nutritional health. It's very difficult to get enough calcium and riboflavin, in particular, without a good deal of milk.

One reason why milk is so excellent a food is that it contains many different nutrients in favorable proportions that can readily form efficient work teams for your body's nutrition.

How much milk is enough? Nutritionists consider mainly the calcium needs when they figure the amount of milk for good daily nutritional needs. Here they are:

- Children under 9 yrs. - 2 to 3 cups
- Children 9 - 12 yrs. 3 or more cups
- Teenagers - 4 or more cups
- Adults all ages - 2 or more cups
- Expectant mothers - 3 or more cups

With summer weather ahead and with picnics and many other activities where other beverages are being served (that contribute nothing but calories) the wise homemaker will need to plan carefully to see that this important milk food is not neglected when providing nutritious meals for each family member. An 8 oz. glass of milk costs only 2 cents more than other beverages. It's such a waste, nutritionally speaking, to neglect this very important food, milk.

Here is a good way to get some milk into the meals, try this recipe:

APPLE CUSTARD
 1 cup canned apple slices, drained
 3 tablespoons sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 beaten eggs
 1 1/2 cups hot milk
 Nutmeg
 Arrange apples in bottom of four custard cups. Combine sugar, salt, and eggs. Add milk slowly. Pour over apples, sprinkle with nutmeg.
 Set cups in a pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) for 30 to 40 minutes, or until custard is set. 4 servings. Over 1/3 cup milk per serving.

Also that long popular "Banana Pudding" is a good source of milk too. Another recipe that's full of good nutrition is:

Of Interest To THE WOMEN

Johnston Student At Lubbock Christian

Dennis Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Johnston, Bovina, has enrolled for the first session of summer school at Lubbock Christian College.

Johnston is a 1964 graduate of Bovina High School, where he was a class officer and was awarded a citizenship medal. He is a Bible major. LCC was founded in 1957.

It offers degrees in 12 different fields leading to a bachelor's degree. In addition, it has special terminal courses in technical-vocational and secretarial science.

A record of 224 students enrolled for this session, breaking the old mark of 190 set last year. Final exams are slated for July 8.

Off DiCuffa

By Pat

On returning to Bovina from the west on Highway 60 last week, we passed a car from Illinois. We tried to look at Bovina through the eyes of a tourist to see if the town would present a favorable impression. Our town is quite attractive from any entering road.

We remember our first impression of the town. A windy, sandy, November day is hardly the best for projecting a favorable image in any West Texas town. We drove around Bovina and snickered at some of the sights we saw because coming from a larger town, we felt a little superior. In fact, we were amused by some things until we moved. However, we learned a profound lesson upon moving here. People are so friendly and hospitable. There is a spirit here that larger places just don't have. This spirit is so infectious that after living here only a year, we are ready to fight anyone who snickers or degrades the town in any way. Now the very things that we first scoffed at don't even appear unusual to us. We look with pride at this whole area and thank the Lord that we live here.

Watch for the big bash at Fourth Street and Dimmitt Highway on Sunday, June 26, at 3:00 p.m.

With the rains last week came millions of weeds. At the present time, we are watching a race between the bluegrass, the bunch grass, the goatheads, and the dandelions in our yard. In moments of energy we advance, knife in hand, to eliminate the pests; however, after digging an hour or two and leaving only a square yard of dirt, we decide that a green, weedy lawn is better than no lawn at all.

Mrs. Buck Ellison has been kind enough to send us her recipe for almond squash. We understand that this is quite a favorite among Mrs. Ellison's neighbors.

ALMOND SQUASH

Cook 2 lb. of yellow squash in water with 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. Drain well.

Make a white sauce of butter, flour, and 2 cups sweet milk; add 1 small jar of cheese whiz. Put a layer of squash into a baking dish; cover with dry toasted bread crumbs; sprinkle with slivered almonds; cover with one half of the cheese sauce. Add the remainder of squash, dry bread crumbs, almonds, and cheese sauce on top. Bake in slow oven until cheese browns.

You can use yellow or real tender white squash. This will serve 8 or 10 people.

BASICS FOR BARBECUING

Summertime is as great as all outdoors when the whole family moves to porch and patio, beach and backyard, to enjoy every possible moment of sun and fun.

Even mother has a chance to leave the kitchen to join the family antics and, for a change, she'll find the family willing and eager to partake in the meal time "chores" when they center around a grill or brazier.

As essential to outdoor barbecues as food and fire, are the small pieces of equipment that facilitate the preparation and serving of the "camp style" meal.

According to Mary Ann March, home economist for the Ekco Housewares Company, the following items are among the "essential accessories" for casual cookery:

Skewers in a variety of sizes, ideal for shish kabobs, hors d'oeuvres, indoor or hibachi style barbecuing, family picnics, etc.

Tongs are needed for turning and lifting grilled foods. Be sure to get a strong one with a natural angle to keep hands away from heat and spatter. One extremely versatile item now available offers a long handled turner and a fork that can be put together to form handy tongs.

Basting brush with a long handle is absolutely essential for basting with butter, oil or barbecue sauce. Brush should be of a fiber that will not deform in hot grease or liquids, and one that will clean easily.

Wire broilers, two-sided broilers with long handles are a real necessity. It's a good idea to have at least two of these, one for grilling food in small pieces and one for grilling steak, making it much easier to turn the meat. Expansion hinges help to accommodate large steaks.

Also recommended are long-handled forks and knives, a sturdy well balanced sauce pan for melting oils, and a hearty appetite!

LET US LIVE FOR LIBERTY

Through the centuries men have been willing to die for liberty and all that liberty means in terms of personal freedom and national independence. While we usually think of their sacrifice as taking place as a result of war, many have risked and lost their lives in the struggle against tyranny and oppression in times that most men call peace. Today, with nuclear weapons a threat to man's future, the search for liberty has grown more complicated. Science and technology are advancing so rapidly that men have found it ever more difficult to adjust to the rapid and drastic changes they bring. It is becoming more and more important to shape our social institutions, including government, so that these changes benefit mankind without diminishing his freedom. Christians have experiences and insights which can be of value to the world around them. For instance, Christians know that all men are part of God's great and continuing creation. Since God sent his son into the world to save all men, Christians understand it is his will that respect, goodwill, and freedom be accorded every human being. Christians are a world fellowship that rises above nation, race, class, and age. They know that God's purposes include all mankind and that their task is to advance values, like liberty, which are in accord with their faith, rather than to seek immediate material advantages for their own nation. Finally, Christians see life as a whole. They know that liberty must permeate men's lives and institutions; men's thinking, writing, and speaking. It grows and flourishes as it is practiced by those who seek it.

Stathams In Topeka Tornado

Victims of the tornado in Topeka, Kansas, were Mr. and Mrs. Barry Statham, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Estes.

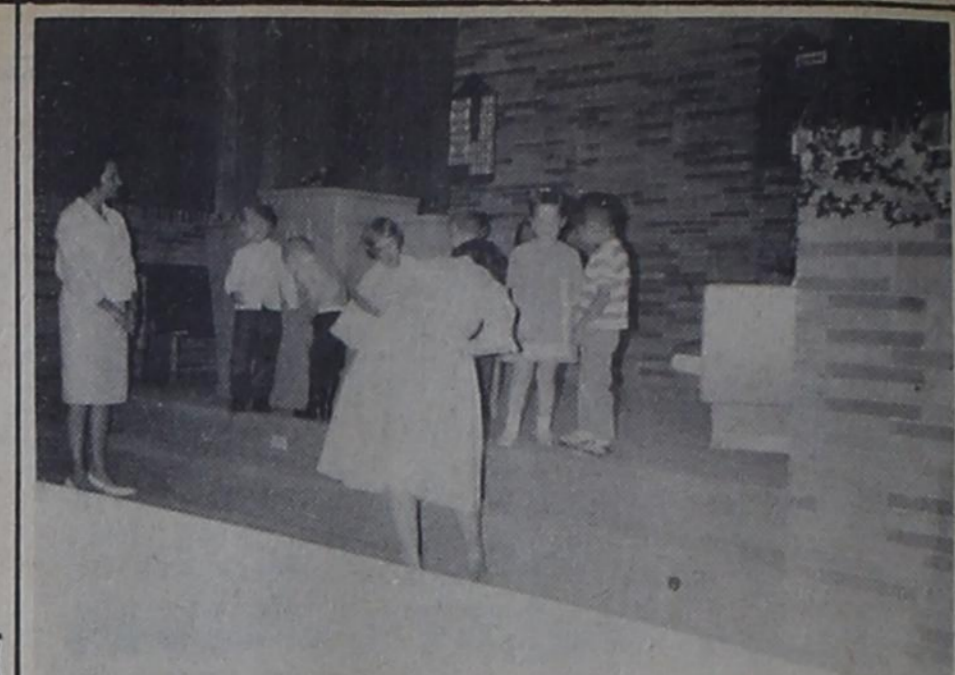

The Stathams, who lived near Washburn College, heard the warning and went to shelter at Forbes Air Force Base. Upon returning to their apartment, they found their living room gone and debris in the rest of the apartment. Darkness prevented them from knowing what they lost; the next morning they discovered that other than the living room, bedding, paintings, and some other small articles, most of their belongings were intact. Closets remained untouched; all of their dishes and silverware were safe; their furniture was slightly damaged, but still good; wedding gifts, stored under the bed, were all right.

Both are graduates of Washburn College. Statham had received his degree a week before the tornado. They plan to leave on a tour of Europe July 25.

On The Farm In Palmer County

By JOE VANZANDT
County Agent

The rains have been nice and were just about what the doctor ordered. Weeds and grass are starting to take off now along with our crops.

We want to discuss two chief enemies of profitable farming—bindweed and Johnsongrass. Now is the time to really get after these two profit robbers if you have any of either.

For eradication of small patches of bindweed, we recommend any one of the following at the rate listed per acre: Sodium chlorate at 90 lbs; Benzac 354, Zobar, Trysben 200, Benzac 1281 or Tritac at 10 gallons per acre. Also Tritac 10G or Fenac granular at 200 pounds and Fenac at 13.5 gallons per acre.

Other chemicals recommended are Benzabar at 250 pounds or No Vine at 240 pounds/acre. The newest chemical recommended in Tordon 22K at 1.5 gallons and Tordon Beads or Borolin at 150 pounds per acre.

Large acres can be controlled with intensive cultivation and proper crop rotations. Call at the county agents office for a leaflet on bindweed control. This leaflet summarizes the latest recommended control practices and contains valuable information for anyone planning to control some bindweed.

Johnsongrass is another problem we notice in more fields each year and along a lot of ditches. Here again small areas are a lot easier to control before Johnsongrass spreads to larger areas, which is sure will if left alone.

Many farmers are beginning to do a lot of work on grass in their ditches and roadways. Probably the best all around chemical for this type of situation, considering cost, is a methyl arsonate (DSMA, MSMA) sold under several different trade names. Apply 5 pounds per acre active Methyl arsonate in 40 to 100 gallons of water per acre plus a surfactant when grass is 8 to 12 inches high and actively growing. Three sprays may be required during a year to eradicate grass.

Dalapon, TCA, Hyvar X and sodium chlorate are also effective killers of Johnsongrass but control based on these herbicides is more expensive than previously described.

Very small patches of Johnsongrass can be sterilized with sodium chlorate or Hyvar X. With these herbicides the soil will be barren for 2 to 3 years. TCA and Dalapon can be used on small areas and will not sterilize the soil over 2 months. TCA and Dalapon will take 2 to 3 treatments to eradicate Johnsongrass.

Herbicides oils can also eradicate Johnsongrass with 3 to 5 sprays in a year and will not sterilize the soil.

These chemical controls already listed can be used in cotton to control Johnsongrass. The main precaution is to use them as a directed spray and not spray over the top of the cotton plants.

We also have prepared a summary of the latest information on Johnsongrass control for all areas of crop production and fallow land. We think this booklet is worth your reading if you have much of a Johnsongrass problem and plan to control it. Call the county agents office in Farwell for a copy.

"What price are you willing to take for your irrigation water?" Farmers need to consider this question to determine the amount of water they apply to a crop, says Economist John Shipley, with the Bushland Experiment Station.

Shipley is studying the yield difference from various amounts of irrigation applied on wheat in one of his projects. Water applications at the tillering and boot stages are varied. Applications to water-up the crop and the dough stage are kept constant.

Larger irrigations naturally produce the best yields. For instance, Shipley says seven inches applied at tillering and eight inches at the boot stage produced 74.5 bushels of wheat per acre.

Irrigations of four inches at tillering and five inches at the boot produced 64.7 bushels per acre.

Both plots received a six-inch irrigation at the dough stage, according to the Texas A&M University researcher.

"These results aren't conclusive," Shipley said, "but I figure we netted less than six dollars for the extra six inches of water we used in the heavier irrigation schedule."

"Some fellows believe the extra water is justified by the added yield," he said. "My question is: Would you sell the water to me for one dollar per acre-inch if I paid the pumping cost?"

Water Table Changes Outdated Many Pumping Systems

The decline of the water table has produced a situation in which High Plains farmers need to re-evaluate the efficiency of their irrigation pumps, says Extension Irrigation Specialist Bill Lyles, of Lubbock.

Most pumping plants in the area were originally designed for greater discharge and shorter pumping lift, he says. The water situation has changed so the cost per unit of water pumped is often unnecessarily high.

Old, worn pump bowls contribute to the problem. In some instances, Lyle says pumps were improperly matched to the wells when they were first installed.

Efficiency Discussed

Seventy to 80 per cent operating efficiency is about the maximum attainable with deep-well turbine pumps even when they are carefully selected and matched to the well, according to the irrigation engineer.

Studies by the agricultural engineering department at Texas Tech. indicate only a small percentage of the pumps on the High Plains operate in the 70 to 80 per cent efficiency range.

Their studies show some pumps are operating at only 20 per cent efficiency Lyle said.

Farmers Can Check Pumps

Farmers who would like to get a rough idea of their pump's efficiency can use a performance criteria developed by Nebraska engineers which relates fuel consumption of the plant to water horsepower at the discharge pipe.

The Nebraskans used the average fuel consumption of engines as obtained from their well-known tractor tests and from engine manufacturers to get average power plant efficiencies for each common fuel, Lyle said.

This fuel-use data was combined with an average pump efficiency of 75 per cent to create a table showing the water-horsepower-per-hour developed at the discharge pipe by a unit of fuel or electricity.

Formula Explained

They figure one gallon gasoline should produce 8.66 water-horsepower per-hour (whp-hr.).

The whp-hr from other sources is as follows: Diesel, 10.94 per gallon; butane, 7.65 per gallon; propane, 6.89 per gallon; natural gas, 66.7 per 1,000 cubic feet; and electricity, .885 per kilowatt hour.

Lyle says water-horsepower produced by a pumping plant is found by multiplying gallons per minute time total pumping head in feet and then dividing the product by a conversion factor of 3,960.

whp-gpm x total head (ft) / 3960

(He says the total pumping head, neglecting friction loss, may be assumed to be pumping lift in feet plus discharge pressure in feet. You can change pressure expressed pounds per square inch to pumping head expressed in feet by multiplying by 2.31)

Example Developed

For example, Lyle said a pump discharging 400 gallons per minute with a total pumping head of 130 feet would produce 13.1 water horsepower. (400 x 130 = 52,000/3,960 = 13.1 water horsepower)

If the fuel used is natural gas and the pumping plant is 75 per cent efficient, Lyle says the fuel consumption for one hour should be about 197 cubic feet. (Nebraska says 1,000 cubic feet of gas produces 66.7 whp-hr. 13.1/66.7 x 1000 = 197 cubic feet)

If the actual fuel consumption is 400 cubic feet per hour, the plant is about half as efficient as it should be or about 37 per cent efficient, Lyle said. "In a case like this," he says, "you would be losing about 50 cents of every dollar to wasted fuel."

The farmer with a highly inefficient pump should consult his pump dealer, Lyle says. The dealer may suggest replacing or modifying the pumping plant so it will be better matched to the situation.

After visiting the dealer, the farmer can decide if the investment will be justified in the long run by decreased pumping cost.

Lyle believes many farmers will find that they can lower their overall irrigation expenses with better designed pumping systems.

If you desire further information or assistance on figuring your operating efficiency, contact your County Agent in Farwell.

At Hereford--

Latin Americans Visiting Co-Op

Arriving Friday in Amarillo were seven Latin American men on their way to a one week visit at the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative in Hereford.

Leo Forrest, manager of the Electric Cooperative, explained that the purpose of the visit is to familiarize the Latin American representatives with the organizational and operational procedures of the Rural Electric Cooperatives.

The training program for these Latin Americans is sponsored by the Agency for International Development and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

By observing Electric Cooperatives in operation and participating in on-the-job training, the Rural Electric Leaders from Latin America hope to return to their home countries better prepared to handle the job of electrifying the rural areas.

During the past three years, management and technical assistance should be especially helpful to the visitors since Forrest returned last week from an assignment in Chile. Forrest spent a month there as a technical advisor to personnel planning Electric Cooperatives in that country. He also was on a three-month assignment in the same capacity during the latter part of 1962.

Existing Co-ops in Chile are being assisted.

Bindweed and Johnsongrass:

Both of these crops are doing quite well in certain spots over the county. Neither of them will make you anything—that is for sure. Why not start trying to control both of them on your farm? Almost everyone has a little of one or the other. This office can assist you with the cost of controlling bindweed. If you have a bindweed problem—come see us. We will sure try to help you.

Farm Program Yields For 1967

—This Is Very Important—
Your county and community committees will be called upon to set normal yields for 1967 program purposes in the near future. As a rather large part of a farm's income is derived from one or more of these programs, it is extremely important that the normal yield for a farm reflect as nearly as possible the actual yield for the farm. In view of this, we respectfully request that each of you furnish us with the production records for your farm(s) for the crop years 1963, 1964, and 1965 at the earliest possible date. With this information, your committeemen can do a much better job of setting a fair and equitable yield for each and every farm in the county. They will appreciate your assistance in helping them to complete a tough and "thankless" task.

Knickers Are Back for '66 In New Slim Version

Knickers are back on the men's fashion scene—but unlike the baggy "plus fours" of the Roaring Twenties—the '66 versions are slim, trim and tailored with a new "action look" for today's modern man.

Knickers have a historic past which dates back to the Byzantine Empire when a nobleman had his tailor design a pair of knickers. He liked them so much more than skirts and togas that he issued an edict that all men would henceforth wear knickers.

Centuries later, while busily dismembering the Roman Empire, a clan of barbarians spotted an adaptation of knickers popular with common men. They literally stripped their hapless victim of the fashion idea, and rough hewn knickers made of animal skins came into vogue.

Not until the dazzling era of Louis XIV of France did fashionable knickers regain their popularity, loose fitting variations which were all the rage in the Far East.

The English introduced knickers to North America. Patrick Henry wore them when he offered his life for liberty; Washington wore them in the bitter cold of Valley Forge; and Andrew Jackson wore knickers at the Battle of New Orleans.

Knickers were the official garb of early football golems and are still the official uniform of baseball teams.

Spearheading the comeback of knickers is Jaymar-Ruby, Inc., with Knick-A-Bouts—a highly styled knicker with exclusive features, including an adjustable Velcro strip which closes below the knee to permit the knickers to blouse, and the Sansabelt waistline which insures perfect fit.

The young mother was taking every precaution to insure a sanitary surrounding for her infant son. Up to the time he was four months old, visitors were required to wear surgical masks. One day the mother turned to the father and said: "Alexander seems to be cutting a tooth and I suppose I should find out about it somehow."

"Well," suggested her husband, "my mother used to put her finger in the baby's mouth and..."

Noticing the horrified expression on his wife's face, he quickly added "Oh, of course, you boil the finger first."

Bank-Lawlis On Top In Little League

First State Bank-Lawlis Gin is in top slot in Bovina's Little League following the third week of play.

Bovina Wheat Growers-Bovina Insurance, in first at the end of the second week, slipped to second, Bank-Lawlis is 4-1 through five games while BWG-BI was 3-2 through Monday night's games.

Bank-Lawlis got two wins during the past week of play, beating Oklahoma Lane, 20-5, Tuesday night and taking the measure of BWG-BI Thursday night, 17-5.

they clipped BWG-BI, 8-5, in a makeup game for a rainout May 31.

Oklahoma Lane exploded for 14 runs in the last inning Friday for a 27-16 win over Bovina Gin-Generalgas. The score was tied 13-13 going into the final frame. Oklahoma Lane continued its winning streak Monday with a 12-9 decision over Rhea.

The schedule for the next four playing dates:

Thursday -- Bovina Gin-Generalgas vs. Bank-Lawlis; Friday -- BWG-BI vs. Rhea; Monday -- BWG-BI vs. Oklahoma Lane; Tuesday -- Rhea vs. Bank-Lawlis.

In the peewee division, Cicero Smith continues to be the team to beat and none of the other teams were able to do so during the past week as the Cats pushed their record to 6-1.

The Cats outlasted Big Nick's Machines, 13-11, Thursday night and earned a win over the Oklahoma Lane Eaglets Monday night, 11-5.

Oklahoma Lane won over Big Nick, 10-7, Tuesday of last week. Friday's game between Bovina Blade-Bovina Welding and Oklahoma Lane was postponed because of wet grounds.

Schedule for the peewees for the next four playing dates:

Thursday -- Big Nick vs. Oklahoma Lane; Friday -- Cicero vs. Blade-Welding; Monday -- Blade-Welding vs. Oklahoma Lane; Tuesday -- Big Nick vs. Cicero.

The following standings do not include Tuesday night's games:

100 YEARS OLD -- Elton Venable sits in one of the antique buggies that he brought back from Winkler, Manitoba, Canada earlier this month.

Venable Finds Antique Buggies

By Pat DiCuffa

Elton Venable's recent trip to Winkler, Manitoba, Canada, brought a harvest of antique buggies and cutters (sleighs) to Bovina.

Venable, who has feelers out over the country for antiques of any kind, heard of the "prizes" in Winkler and went to investigate. He found six buggies and three cutters at different places around Winkler. Most of them were in barns where farmers had kept them after the advent of automobiles.

After bringing the vehicles-home, Mr. Venable sold all but three of them to antique buffs in the Bovina area. He still has two buggies and one cutter left.

One of the buggies is over 100 years old.

Some modern cars are more worn than it is. Evidently a luxury in its day, the buggy has leather top, fenders, and seat. All of it is still in good condition except the top, which needs some work on the inside.

Mrs. Venable has made arrangements for a team of horses to pull the buggy in the Bulltown Days parade.

Comment On Sports

BASEBALL * * *

BY PETE FRITCHE

Washington, D. C.—One of the intriguing questions of 1966 baseball is whether Sam Mele's Minnesota Twins will be as steamed up as they were last year. It is still a mystery to some how the club that drooped in 1964 won a pennant in 1965 with Pascual and Killebrew hurt much of the time.

But they did, and the official line was that it was more Mele than anything else. He was, it was said, out of a job if the Twins didn't go—and he was certainly more rugged on the umpires in 1965 than ever before.

The great leveler in baseball will be working against the Twins this year—the other clubs will know what to expect. They will be lying in wait, so to speak. And Mele will probably get a fight from at least four or five of them.

Chicago under a new manager may be tougher, but that is at best a fifty-fifty chance. Baltimore will be strong again, but that is nothing new, though the Orioles have found plate power. Detroit is likely to be strong in pitching; the Tigers may have the best staff in the league.

New York should certainly be stronger, and if not, one would expect a new manager in 1967. Los Angeles, in a new home, might be. Cleveland, which faded only late in 1965, which Cleveland does often, is a question mark, but the Indians are strong and young and could be very much in it. Thus Minnesota will not have an easy path.

Home Demonstration--

SOFT CUSTARD
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
3 cups hot milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cinnamon or nutmeg
Add sugar and salt to beaten eggs. Gradually add the milk to the eggs mixture.

Cook over hot, not boiling water and stir constantly until the mixture coats the spoon. Remove from the hot water at once. Strain. Cool; add the vanilla and sprinkle a little cinnamon or nutmeg on each serving. 6 servings. 1/2 cup milk per serving.

As a sauce. For thinner custard to serve as a sauce, follow the recipe, using 2 eggs or 4 yolks instead of 3 eggs. Good with many kinds of fruit, gelatin desserts, cakes, and puddings.

Kansas City, Washington and Boston aren't likely to figure in the pennant race, probably not the Angels. Thus there might be five at Minnesota's heels, if indeed the Twins get out front. Of the five, the best guess is that Detroit or Baltimore will be the greatest threat.

Al Lopez's departure at Chicago can't be analyzed as a gain. And Charlie Dressen won't be sitting out a heart attack at the beginning of the season this year.

By E. H. Sims

What are the ingredients which cause tornadoes? Do they sometimes occur in clear weather, in a cloudless sky? Does dry or moist air prove more conducive to tornado development?

If the day is clear, especially clear with dry air, you need worry little about tornadoes—as long as this condition holds. Even without the dry air, a clear day indicates the danger of tornadoes is nil.

The weather condition which should give cause for concern is one in which squalls or thunderstorms are frequent—especially when the approach of a cold front is expected. If the air is moist and conditions unsettled, in spring or early summer, these weather signs should be seriously heeded as possible breeders of a tornado, or tornadoes.

Tornadoes—contrary to the popular belief—sometimes occur out of season. But in the winter they are rare. Late March, April, May and June, and possibly August are months to be on watch. Because stronger updrafts occur in their skies during daylight hours, tornadoes must often develop then, but they can and do form at night.
