In some of the offices it is not possible for one man to do all the work himself; consequently, he must have deputies if his duties are properly performed. The only way we can think of to keep officials from building "fences around their jobs," is to give them to understand that they cannot hold the office over one term, and let that term be four years. This plan, is open to criticism, but it would give the official time to look after his official duties instead of "building a fence around bis job."

With a view to giving every one of our readers an opportunity to enjoy the reading of the stirring life story of our famous Ranger Captain—"Bill" McDonald we have made a contract with Pearson's Magazine by which we can offer a full year's subscription to that famous periodical in combination with a year's subscription to our own paper for $

G Pearson's is one of the best monthly magazines in America In addition to the special Captain "Bill" McDonald feature, it has just cemmenged a spirite i series of articles attacking Spiritualism, written in an easy-to-read and entertaining manner by Rupert Hughes; and its regular monthly contribution by James Greenas upon the leading man or topic of national importance at the moment makes the magazine almost indispensable to the thinking people of the country. The fiction is all of the "romantic action" school—the kind of steries that you don't lay down until you come to the end. Louis Tracy (author of The Wings of the Morning, The Pillar of Light, The Captain of the Kansas, etc.) begins a new novel, The Message, in the October number.

'Then let's be married and get out of the way. It will make such a lot of talk," pleaded Vance.

He found when he left the girl that he had not exaggerated. Already the news that David Greenway had disowned his son had spread through the village, and the circumstantial reports of the row which had terminated in the dismissal had gained a wealth of detail in its rapid travel.

David Greenway was the richest man in Greenvale, and Vance had already made rapid advancement in the local bank; an advancement not altogether unconnected with his father's influence as the largest stockholder.

He had resigned his position that morning, and the following day, after a quiet wedding ceremony in the parsonage of the church, he and Carol set out for the city where Vance would

"We shall have much to be thankful for this first Thanksgiving," he said tenderly. "But most of all I am thankful that you are my wife, dear." She smiled her answer, too close to strength to endure the most trivial tears to speak, but as they turned in at a driveway she found her voice.

"Surely we are," he said with a happy laugh. "Do you suppose that any other Thanksgiving dinner would tempt me from our own home?"

"But-you have made up?" she

'We never feally quarreled," he explained. "I was dissatisfied at the bank. I wanted to be sure of myself; to know that on my own effort I could make my way. Father and I planned the dramatic scene for the benefit of the public. I did not tell you, for I wanted him to see that it was for myself and not my money that you cared. I was to have a trial for six months.

The probation ended last week." "And you are coming back home to live?" she asked. Vance nodded.

"There is my father waiting to welcome us to our new home," he said. "The honeymoon ends with our Thanksgiving, and dad has a new daughter-the best that ever was-to make him thankful, too."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

thing, either work or fun. "There was scarcely anything I could eat that would agree with me. The little I did eat seemed to give me more trouble than it was worth. I finally quit coffee and drank hot water, but there was so little food I could digest, I was literally starving; was so weak I could not sit up long at a time.

"It was then a friend brought me a hot cup of Postum. I drank part of it and after an hour I felt as though I had had something to eat - felt strengthened. That was about five years ago, and after continuing Postum in place of coffee and gradually getting stronger, to-day I can eat and digest anything I want, walk as much as I want. My nerves are steady.
