

Muleshoe Travelers Discover There Are No Fat Folk In The Netherlands. So They Live A Long, Long Time

(Editor's Note: Last month, 48 Texans, including two couples from Muleshoe, made a tour of Europe and England, seeking market outlets for American products. The tour was sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau and was headed by TFB President C. H. DeVaney. This is the first in a series of stories on the trip.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Little and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schuster, two Muleshoe couples who visited the Netherlands last month, came back with a deep respect for the noble Dutch people. And they came back with a lot of newly-acquired facts. For instance: They found that there are no fat people in the Netherlands, so they live a long time - 73 years or longer. They found that the Dutch are happy, prosperous, busy people, and well-dressed. And they found that Sunday closing means just that - everything closes.

Everybody rides bicycles - which may account for the fact that everybody is slim (and this is not intended as a free advertisement for the bicycle makers.) They love flowers, the live crops, and Friday evenings when Papa goes home from work he stops by one of the myriad street flower stands and tucks a bunch on his bicycle. There are no artificial flowers in all the Netherlands, so far as they were able to discover.

And they found that if somebody operates a dairy he lives with his work - literally. The cows and people are housed in the same well-scrubbed building. Everybody dresses up; there are no sports clothes in the Netherlands. Schuster swears that he saw fertilizer workers wearing white shirts, ties and coats, the ensemble topped off with cover-alls. When work-time comes, everybody puts on his best bib and tucker, climbs on his bicycle and peddles off to work. Women in fancy dresses who work in the big cities tuck their pretty skirts around them carefully, take their bicycles in hand, and wheel right off to work.

The Schusters and Littles also found that flowers are a way of life. Just as in Bailey county folk grow cotton and grain sorghum, in the Netherlands, flowers are a big crop.

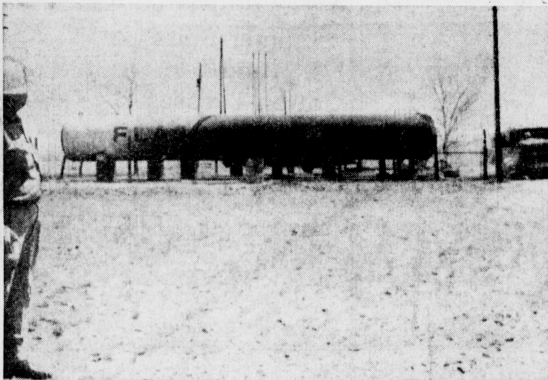

In fact they landed in Amsterdam smack in the middle of the flower market. It's a huge industry, a co-operative enterprise that covers literally hundreds of acres. The market itself is operated in much the same manner as an American auction sale. Only it's silent, and instead of beginning at the bottom and working up, it begins at the top and works down, triggered by a giant hand-clock - like device running in reverse.

Each buyer has a little stall all his own, and a button which stops the bidding needle when it reaches a price which the buyer thinks is right for the particular cartful of flowers he

County To File 15 Condemnation Suits As Right-Of-Way Buying For U.S. 84 Nears Final Stage

Land-buying of right-of-way for widening U. S. 84 from here to the Parmer county line has reached the condemnation stage, and from all indications, county-hired attorneys will have to file 15 such suits before final cash can be written to the project.

This was the situation Saturday as viewed by County Judge Glen Williams who said that "several small parcels, including town lots in Progress, will have to go through the condemnation stage before the buying project can be written off as finished."

The county will be asked to get stern with its delinquent equipment rental "customers" when the county commissioners meet June 2, it was learned Saturday.

County Attorney Roger Gurrell will appear before the commissioners to give a report on collections, and at that time it is expected the court will take a "get tough" view of the delinquencies.

Gurrell, the commissioners themselves and others in the official family have been attempting to collect the delinquent rental fees for several months, and with "fair success," Judge Glen Williams said Saturday.

"The commissioners themselves called on persons who had not paid for equipment use," Judge Williams said, "and many have paid off. Then the county attorney also sent notices to many more, urging them to pay their delinquent."

"The results generally have been satisfactory."

The county judge said several "snags" had been encountered in attempting to collect money for use of county equipment.

He said many persons who had rented county equipment had moved away and they could not be located. A few had died and still others claimed they were only renters and that it was the landlord's place to pay the rental fees. Judge Williams said he would see that they pay the rental fees. Judge Williams said he would see that they pay the rental fees.

Completed, 15 are in the law suit stage and the others in the process of closing. Some six agreements were reached this past week to speed progress.

The judge explained that various faults in titles are found. In some cases failure to reach agreement has also been due to title faults.

Butane Tank Blaze Threatens Bula, Community Evacuated

Residents of the little community of Bula in southeastern Bailey county left town for several hours Thursday after a butane blaze threatened to destroy the community.

But they returned four hours later after "foam" had snuffed out the blaze which started at 7:50 Thursday morning when a butane tank truck caught fire.

Leonard Clevenger, a driver for Flash - O - Gas, climbed into his truck and started the engine. Flames flared up inside the cab and quickly spread to nearby storage tanks.

Five fire-fighting units from three towns, including Muleshoe, managed to extinguish the blaze and cut off the escaping gas.

Clevenger was slightly burned about the face but did not require medical treatment.

A full 10,000 gallon tank filled to capacity, was the first storage tank to catch fire. Later the flames destroyed safety valves on two other tanks, causing them to ignite. Then, for some four hours, three storage tanks and the double-unit truck burned while firemen fought by uneasily. The town was quickly evacuated.

Two of the tanks had 5000-gallon storage and another held 3000 gallons.

Houses and business firms in Bula, a town of about 150, are less than 100 yards from the blaze area, but no property damage or injuries resulted from the fire - except for the truck and two adjacent utility sheds.

It's Cotton Week Here

This is National Cotton Week and this is cotton territory. Accordingly, Muleshoe merchants are putting their best cotton foot forward to offer special buys in cotton.

Not only are cotton clothes being stressed (and priced correspondingly low) but all type of cotton products are being emphasized during the week.

Muleshoe area is a natural for cotton week; cotton is the area's biggest cash crop, with 100,000 acres planted to the crop this year.

Rainmaker Will Have It Rain - For A Fee

Recent rains in the Muleshoe area were "created" for his east central Colorado by F. Neal Bosco and his associates after they scouted the atmosphere in that area two days before the West Texas rains.

This is the opinion of Bosco, a Springfield, Colo. rainmaker, who says an analysis of rain-water which fell in this area shows strong traces of the seeding chemicals used.

"For this reason," Bosco said here this past week, "we feel certain that the rains were a result of our seedings."

Bosco was in Muleshoe to see if anybody would like for him to do a bit of seeding here. "We don't even have to have clouds to seed," he explained. "We seed simply into the clear atmosphere, and it will rain soon afterward." Chemicals used are

Old Locomotive Bell Now Calling Folk To Worship

Back in 1903, the Santa Fe railroad proudly trotted out a shiny new steam engine, No. 2, 905 which set the railroad coffers back $12,730.31.

Part of that fee was for a big brass bell that scoted cows, horses, buggies and wagons off the railroad tracks as No. 2905 chugged down the right-of-way.

No. 2905 was a coal burner and was used for a switch engine in the Clovis yards, in case you are interested in figures, it weighed 144,000 pounds, and had a 10,000-gallon water tank and its tender held 15 tons of coal. That was in 1906.

But the switcher went modern in 1944; it converted its coal burners to oil and was renumbered 9005.

Bosco believes that man can control the elements, and cites Genesis 2:26 as his authority: "The Lord gave man dominion over the air..."

This means, he says, that man can control the weather "if we just use our intelligence."

Anyone who is interested can get in touch with Bosco at Hotel Hamilton in Springfield, Colo.

Now old 9005 has long gone the way of all steam locomotives; it's been replaced by a more efficient but less glamorous diesel job.

And the big bell has been replaced system-wide by a much softer-voiced bell. Which means that the big brass bell was just gathering dust.

Spray new Caparol after cotton is 6 inches high to control weeds.

Control most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses in cotton with new Caparol® herbicide. Simply apply as a directed spray to the base of your cotton when it is six inches or higher.

You'll get good knockdown of weeds and grasses that are less than two inches high... plus some killing action through the roots of later-germinating weeds.

The cost of this treatment, when Caparol is applied in a 10 inch band, can be as little as 85 cents per acre. Compare this with the $2-3 per acre it would cost you for hoe hands.

Later on in the season, you can go in and make a layby application of new Caparol to control weeds until the cotton is high enough to shade them out.

Youths May Take Braceros' Field Jobs This Year

High school youths may do the work formerly done by braceros in the fields this summer, says Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz. Federal officials said there is a need for some 10,000 workers to take up the gap caused by the cutback in migratory labor from Mexico. At this time last year, Wirtz said, there were 3,000 to 4,000 braceros in Texas. This year there are none. The program is called "A Team" and stands for Athletes in Temporary Employment as Agricultural Manpower. Pay Level

The plan calls for healthy youths to form teams of 20 to 30 under the supervision of a teacher or coach. They will be employed during their summer vacation to work on farms and ranches. Wirtz said their pay will be at a level which will not adversely affect wages of regular farm workers. The idea is for the boys and the pay rate with the farmer or their supervisors to work out rancher.

The program is designed to take up the slack in farm employment but also to provide healthy exercise for the youngsters. Unemployed Youths Wirtz said 550,000 youths between 16 and 21 were listed as unemployed last June in states where 70,000 foreign workers jobs. About 200,000 of the boys were on summer vacation from high school or college. The secretary said they can do the harvesting and are entitled to a chance at it.

Bill Would Give Farmers a Break in Tax Payment

The constitutional amendment designed to give a tax break to farmers living near cities moved within one step of submission Thursday. The House-passed resolution was engrossed in the Senate, but failed, 19 to 9, to get the necessary four-fifths majority to suspend rules for final approval. Twenty-one votes will be necessary to take it up next week, and to submit it to the general election in 1966.

Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, sponsor, said the amendment will limit tax valuations on farm land near cities to its value as farm land - provided it is used for agricultural purposes and makes up the principal source of income for the owner. It is so worded, he said, that an owner who sells the land at prices which prevail for surrounding land, would have to pay back taxes for three years on the valuations, the land would have received had it not been used for agriculture.

Hall beat off four attempts to amend the resolution - one to cut out the requirements that farming be the owner's principal source of income; one to allow school districts to continue to use prevailing valuations in the area; one to give similar consideration to single family homesteads surrounded by city commercial property; and one to prohibit any other use in any year for which agricultural housing and the fed Agricultural Department approved meals.

Federal officials said there is a need in Texas for about 2,400 farm workers in the Edwards Plateau this summer, 1,000 in the Trans-Pecos area, 4,000 in the High Plains, 400 in the Rio Grande Plains and 1,500 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. SHOP MULESHOE FIRST preference was claimed. In other action, the Senate passed and sent the governor bills to: Legalize passenger car speed limits for pickup trucks. Allow counties to set up countywide vocational school districts with authority to tax up to 20 cents per $100 valuation. Allow the Parks and Wildlife Commission to utilize $85,000 in Interior Department funds for operation of a marine research unit on the Gulf Coast. Authorize state loans to cities for airports and navigational facilities.

Everywhere they went in the Amsterdam area, there were greenhouses sprawling over the countryside. And the products go to every part of the world. Then too, there's a big tulip business. The bulbs, famous world over, are shipped everywhere; the Muleshoe folk bought some bulbs to be shipped home.

Amsterdam lies 13 feet below sea level on land reclaimed from lakes, and in that city alone, there are 766 miles of canals, many of them crossing and re-crossing at varying levels. The water for the canals comes from the Rhine river, and plant pumps keep the city from being flooded. Originally the pumps were operated by the famous Dutch windmills, but diesel power has replaced most of the wind-driven pumps. In fact, the canal system in the Netherlands is so complete that barges operate 800 miles inland from the coast, the barges ranging from 100 to 300 feet.

They are operated by families who live on the barges the year around.

Amsterdam is literally built on stilts - pilings that were driven into the ground centuries ago that are still standing. However, many of the buildings have "settled" until they are leaning slightly. Of course concrete is now replacing many of the old wooden supports.

That city suffered no damage from the war, but the land was occupied by the Nazis for five years after the Netherlands army was overpowered in just three days after the war was started. However, as the economy of Germany was pinched by the war, the Germans began draining the Netherlands of food stuff, and as a result, the last two years of the war the Dutch existed on tulip bulbs, stock beets, cats and dogs.

Among the spots visited in Amsterdam was the world-famous "Five Flies" restaurant, a 300-year-old institution. The group had lunch at the restaurant, tucked away in a basement.

There are no billboards in the Netherlands except for small, circular boards, and TV and radio operate only part time - and without advertising.

At Rotterdam, the war hit much harder, and some of the buildings still show war scars. However, much of this beautiful city has been rebuilt with ultra moderna buildings.

The visitors, whose purpose in making the trip in the first markets in Europe, found that the Dutch are eager to buy American products since they produce only about 50 percent of the products consumed each year.

"This makes the Netherlands a natural for our products," Little explained, "and we are doing all within our power to develop those markets." They discovered that Texas carrots were arriving in the famous Rotterdam port, and a load of grain from Goodpasture elevators was being unloaded.

One of the interesting spots visited was a 30 - head dairy which was housed in a building which also served as living quarters for the family. All the land, 200 acres, was devoted to pasture for the cattle.

Land, incidentally, is virtually all reclaimed lake land, which is pumped dry by the government. Then farmers are permitted to rent the land with an option to buy. Usually it takes around five years to reclaim such land.

Ferns are considered huge if they contain as much as 100 acres. The Netherlands was aided by the Marshall plan, and all money has been repaid.

Farm Bureau has set up a marketing headquarters in Rotterdam, headed by a Mr. Apt, who has already managed to open many new channels for American products.

The travelers were told, however, that American products must be top quality only. "We don't want your culls," they were told.

Next Sunday: The travelers visit England.

County

(Continued from Page One) owners' refusal to accept state approved valuations, which will mean such tracts will have to go through the courts before land can be acquired.

In closing deals, the county accepts the deed and transfers it to the state highway department through the Lubbock office. If that office accepts the deeds, then the state reimburses the county for the amount spent in acquiring each parcel of land.

Another problem faced is clearing land for the right-away is the matter of improvements and then advertising the structures for sale by posting signs on the property.

Prospective buyers submit sealed bids on the improvements desired, and these are forwarded to the Lubbock office. Highest bid is accepted.

Judge Williams explained that many such bids have been accepted, but others are yet to be sold.

"These improvements run a wide range," Judge Williams explained. "Not only are houses and barns included in the improvements, which must be sold off, but frequently there are such things as fences, garages, out-buildings and concrete walks. Even shrubs and TV antennas are offered for sale. Underground water lines, gas lines and batane tanks also are included. In every case, the state puts up a sign on the property showing just what is to be sold by bids.

The blanks for submitting bids are available at the judge's office.

One fairly large structure, the old Nigh grocery, at Progress, was sold and the structure has been moved off. The Progress Baptist Church is to be offered soon, but the state and county have agreed to let the present church building be used until July 1 in order that the congregation may complete a new structure north of the tracks.

However, the church retained its parsonage and the pews which are now in use. They are to be moved to the new location. The church building itself will

Farm Road 54, which runs through the community, was closed and traffic detoured around the town while the fire burned.

Emergency and highway patrol units waited at safe distance during the morning until the fire began to burn down as pressure in the tanks went down from the escaping gas.

Then, shortly after 1 p. m. fire-fighting units - three from Muleshoe, one from Maple and one from Littlefield - moved in on the blaze.

One of the Muleshoe units poured about 1,000 gallons of foam on the tanks, said Earl Ladd Sr., Bailey County Fire Department chief, as the other four units pumped water across the tanks cooling them and guarding against flashback from the flames to the still-escaping gas.

The fire units had to carry their own water supplies as there was no water available in Bula for fire-fighting purposes.

Once the flames had been extinguished and the tanks cooled, the safety valves were closed to stop as much of the leaking gas as possible.

Chief Ladd said the gas still remaining in the storage tanks was transferred to a tank truck and removed. He estimated total loss at $17,000 to $18,000, including loss of the truck and repair to the storage tanks.

A spokesman for Flash - O - Gas said that possibly as much as 5,000 gallons, combined total of butane and propane, was salvaged.

A fire unit from Morton was also at the scene of the fire, as was a Civil Defense truck equipped with first aid supplies from Lubbock.

Youth Tells How To Lick 'Danger' Years, 16 and 17

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Sophomorphs" may be the most serious ailment afflicting American youth, because it may make him or break him, says Edwin Bassemier, 17, of Evansville, Ind.

The handsome high school senior is this year's "finest example of juvenile decency" among members of the 635 Boys Clubs of America.

Ed pleads for understanding of the growing-up malaise that hits fellows in their sophomore 15 or 16.

"The symptoms? Rebellion in one form or another that makes him resentful of everyone but his own crowd. What he needs most is understanding coupled with patience and discipline," Ed says.

He Listened

In beating the "danger year," Ed managed to win the organizations coveted "Boy of the Year" title over 600,000 boys. But the 6-foot, blond youth wasn't always a star-studded type, he says. He frustrated teachers and his mother.

"But they didn't give up on me. The main thing was they kept telling me I could be better. They didn't think I was listening. But was."

And that's the key to the improvement plan, he says. A boy should know he isn't really bad just because he wants to goof off from everything in that sophomore year. He'll wind up thinking the whole thing out some day.

That's the way it happened with Ed.

At 12 he had become an enigma after the death of his father, a fireman. He was ripe for being a chip-on-the-shoulder sophomore. He became a real smart aleck.

"I managed to roll up 29 demerits in 9 weeks — causing class disturbances, goofing off whenever I felt like it, talking back, chewing gum. I just didn't care. . . ."

Makes Break

He had one more demerit to go before being expelled when he began to realize the score — if he didn't put out, he'd be shut out of baseball, football, basketball, sports he loved. Suddenly he realized those things were more important than sassing teachers and showing off.

"I decided the boys I hung around with were just trying to see how much they could get away with in every way they could, and they were wasting time doing it," he explains. "I made a clean break of it. I gave

Jazz, Rock 'n Roll Unnerving To Reds

American jazz, rock 'n roll and Twist music is jangling Russian nerves.

Not the nerves of its youth, who defy "music patrols" tune out some 2,000 state-approved radio programs, shun official dance classes which do not include Western dance instruction and pay less than 3 rubles ($3.30) for black-market jazz records and tape recordings.

But the nerves of Soviet authorities, who deplore its "blatant poisoning of Soviet youth," calling jazz a "Western banality that spoils and perverts the musical taste of young people."

In a recent study by former Russian scholars at the Munich-based Institute for the Study of the U. S. S. R. for Radio Liberty, researchers found evidence that the penetration of American music, chiefly by foreign radio, is causing officials considerable pain.

Radio Liberty broadcasts 24 hours a day from 17 transmitters in West Germany, Spain and Formosa, in 17 languages spoken within the borders of the U. S. S. R. Radio Free Europe broadcasts are aimed at satellite nations.

World Looks Big

"I didn't get to the drop-out stage, really, but lots of fellows did. Then they'd get involved with girls and some of them would get married," he says.

That kind of marriage can't work, he comments, because "most times they just marry because school isn't working out right."

After earning a degree in mechanical engineering, Ed hopes also to be a sports coach to help other boys understand. Last summer he worked with retarded children at a Police Athletic League (PAL) camp. He might also like to play big league ball some day.

Until he was installed as Boy of the Year by President Johnson recently in Washington, the farthest he'd been from Evansville was about 150 miles, he says. Now that he has sat in the President's chair, visited with Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, been to the United Nations and attended a major league baseball game, the world looks pretty big and his plans are expanding.

"There really is so much more to life than a fellow realizes when he is a sophomore," says Ed.

Sometimes uniformed police watch dance halls. "The Twist has arrived at the Salykov Dance Hall in Moscow Oblast," reports a recent issue of Soviet magazine "Mura." "It is danced in cars and in secret with furtive glances at the shoulder. Aleksandr Kashirin, senior police inspector, preserves order here. People know and fear him. Kashirin ruthlessly ejects people for violations of 'dance norms.'"

Contract Is Let For New Building At Foundation

An important addition to the physical facilities of the High Plains Research Foundation, made possible through a generous grant by the Moody Foundation, has been announced by the board of trustees of the Foundation. The Moody Education and Communication Building will soon be under construction on the premises at Halfway.

In a meeting of the executive board a contract was awarded to Lampe Construction Co., Lubbock, the low bidder.

The proposed building will be of modern design, as outlined by Kerr & Kerr, architects of Plainview, with outside dimensions 60' X 73'. Contained in the building will be facilities for radio, newspaper, and television work, along with an eventual agricultural library and office space. The addition of this plant will release badly needed space for scientific agricultural research.

According to Harold Hinn, chairman of the board, the Moody Memorial Education and Communication Building is a giant step forward for the High Plains Research Foundation. Attending the meeting were Frank Moore, President of the Board, Dr. Earl H. Collier, Director of the Foundation, Grady Tunnel, Virgil Payne, Steve Taylor, and Ewald Quebe, members of the Board.

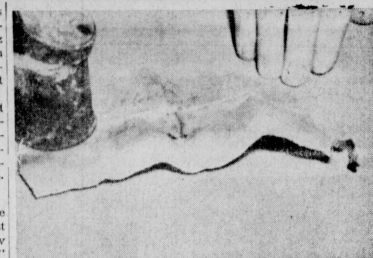

life nations. Radio Liberty is jammed by some 200 Soviet radio stations — but enough jazz is swarming through to spark an aggressive "Musical Propaganda" campaign in the Soviet press.

While the U. S. S. R. does not officially ban American dances, Soviet officials go far beyond indoctrination and propaganda in their efforts to suppress the "product of the decadent West."

In Leningrad the Komsomolskaya Pravda deplored, "Many couples danced steps from the Charleston instead of doing a fast foxtrot." Twelve dancing couples were scolded by eight volunteer policemen. The young "morality breakers" jeered that it was most unpleasant to listen to lectures on the moral code of a builder of Communism while they were dancing.

The Kiev Conservatory of Music, according to Sovetskaya Kultura, formed a music patrol of nearly 100 students and teachers who control the work of artistic amateur talent collectives, struggle against inartistic music in clubs, on dance floors and in restaurants.

When a recipe calls for "green ginger," use fresh ginger root.

REMINDER FROM '35 - When workmen dug up a sidewalk at St. Clair's Department store in a remodeling project, they uncovered a rusty snuff can which contained a weathered scrap of paper. The paper bore this message: "This walk was run by Harris & Williams, March 14, 1935." (Journal Photo)

Wheat Supplies Down Slightly, Economist Says

The total supply of wheat in the U. S. for the 1964-65, July 1, 1964 to June 30, 1965, marketing year is now estimated at 2,195 million bushels, the smallest since the 1957-58 season, says John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University.

Total disappearance of wheat — food, seed, industrial, feed and exports — in 1964-65 is estimated at 1,290 million bushels or the same as the 1964 production but 150,000 bushels less than the 1963-64 disappearance. McHaney said this could mean a carryover on June 30, 1965, about equal to the 961 million bushels of a year ago, or it could go as high as 905 million bushels.

In discussing the export picture, McHaney said estimates place the 1964-65 exports at 675 million bushels, a drop of 185 million bushels from 1963-64. Because of the recent dock strike, the economist says there is a possibility that the estimated export total may not be reached. And too, he adds, good crops in many exporting as well as in importing countries sharply restricted U. S. commercial exports from July 1964 to January 1965. Shipments under government-financed programs comprised about 82 percent of the total wheat exports during that period, compared with 70 percent for the long time average, he said.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

From the sponsors' point of view the Muleshoe High School Band and Chorus trip to Enid was a tremendous success, great fun and it was like plunging into the fountain of youth with benefits for four whole days.

At Enid, they do not give ratings on behavior and appearance but if they did, Muleshoe would have rated as did the chorus. Very superior. It was a unanimous opinion of the sponsors that we must have the best bunch of high school people in the whole world.

Rules of conduct, etc. were printed and given to each pupil before the trip and there was little deviation from the standards set by our very able directors, Mr. Bradley, Mr. Breckenridge and Mr. Richardson.

There was lots of teasing, horse play (two boys had to steal the girls' mattresses) pillow snatching and even the sponsor's room was reported after "lights out" for being so noisy but everyone was so pleasant and good-humored and the students were so busy that it was time to come home before we realized it. Returning home, Dorothy Humison took good naturedly lots of ribbing because she developed laryngitis and couldn't talk.

Our motel was not elite in any sense of the word but it was adequate. Our lovely lady-like girls drew boys like honey draws bees to our motel but that was no problem and did wonders for our morale.

Thursday was such a busy hectic day for the three cars with all the sales and ensembles needing to be at different places at the same time! At four o'clock, though the task had been completed successfully.

The highlight of the trip was the presentation of a lovely corsage in school colors to each of the speechless sponsors just before grand concert on Saturday night. It was such a delightful surprise.

It was wonderful, if the opportunity comes your way, go with the kids on a trip. Its terrific.

Mrs. Horace Hutton
Enid was a great experience for everyone. It was fun but along with the fun there came a problem or two. When we went into our room for the first time we were a little shocked to find only one bed for the four of us. But, after we pulled off the top mattress and had two on it and two on the bottom mattress it wasn't too bad.

Our room just happened to be in the kitchen of the motel restaurant. They carried out garbage every night until about 2 in the morning. When we finally got to sleep, it seemed like only minutes later until Mr. Bradley was hanging on our door telling us to get up.

We didn't always have to go to where we wanted to go. Some walked as much as three miles trying to get to town. Then there was the time we were stranded out at a church or an hour and a half before they remembered to come pick us up.

It was hard to get along with everyone for five whole days. We made new friends which we really needed because everyone was mad at everyone else.

We really enjoyed the sponsors. They were very nice and understanding. Mrs. Lancaster made quite a few friends with the band. She really had that Muleshoe spirit.

All in all, the trip was really worth all the getting up and all the waking and everything. I'm sure everyone just had a "peachy" time.

100% durable

When the going gets tough, cotton has a ruggedness no other fiber can match. Cotton work clothes stay right on the job with you—all the time. Cotton never becomes clammy or sticky because it "breathes"; absorbs and evaporates moisture. Wash it in the hottest water, cotton comes out truly clean. Dry it any way you please and iron it without worry. Even after repeated launderings cotton bounces back looking fresh and new without dinginess or odor buildup. When you buy work clothes, buy 100% comfort and durability. Insist on 100% cotton.

BOYS' DECLAMATION - These were the best in boys' declamation events at the recent Muleshoe elementary meet. Left-right are Dava Cockrell, first, Richland Hills; Jimmy Duncan, second, Richland Hills; C.L. Myers, third, sixth, grade, and Ronnie Wolfe, DeShazo, fourth.

Letter...

(Continued from Page One) from regular class periods. This relationship proved the dependability of the students. There were more than 12,000 students from 115 schools taking part in the four day festival. The Million Dollar Parade was great, but to me the Tri - State Grand Concert was the greatest.

This concert featured 1000 students from five states. From Muleshoe we had 38 either in the band, symphony, or chorus. This proved that our group had received some good training in preparation for the festival. It was very gratifying as a teacher to sit, admire, and listen to my own group along with other qualified musicians. This thrill can only be obtained by being present in person. Indeed seeing is believing!

Our three chartered buses, filled with students, directors, and sponsors, stopped for our last meal together at the Silver Grill Cafeteria in Amarillo. When Mrs. Seymour and I brought up the end of the line, I was asked from where our group came. After telling this kind lady that we were from Muleshoe, she said, "This is the nicest group that I have ever served since I have been here."

Another lady, helping to serve, agreed and said that she knew that we were very proud of them. This pleased us very much for she looked as if she were a grandmother too. I will always consider this trip to Enid, Oklahoma, as one of the highlights of my 13 years of teaching in Muleshoe High School.

Mrs. D. B. Lancaster

It was an exciting and eager bunch of kids that boarded three chartered buses Wednesday morning, April 28. The kids were members of the Muleshoe High School Band Choir, and as far as we were concerned, it was "Enid, here we come!"

We were traveling to Enid, Oklahoma to participate, along with 12,000 other music students, from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana, and Mississippi, in the 33rd Annual Tri - State Music Festival. The contest is sponsored by Phillips University, and is the largest of its kind in the United States.

HOSPITAL Notes

Admitted: Mrs. Eudora Allen, Mrs. Charles Isaac, Mr. P. W. Walker, Mrs. Wayne Hall, Mr. Mentia Lewis, Mr. B. G. Hall, Mrs. R. H. Sneed, Clara Truelock, Mrs. Baldie (John) Gummet, Daisy Jean Thomas, I. S. Smith, C. McMahan, Mrs. Robert Orozco, Nancy Rubalcaba, Johnny Galvon, Mrs. W. M. Vinson.

Dismissed: Brady Healy, Mrs. J. T. Henderson, Mike Jones, Mrs. Ernest Martin, Mr. P. W. Walker, Mrs. G. L. Morrow, Mrs. R. H. Sneed, Clara Truelock, I. S. Smith, Berta Hawkins.

We reached Enid at about 4:00 where we stayed at a motel just outside the city limits. Also staying there was the band from Troup, Texas and some students from Clovis, New Mexico. We made many new friends with them.

The festival lasted Wednesday through Saturday, during which most of the band and choir were on the go constantly, playing solos and ensembles, going to concert and marching contests, choir and stage band contests, clinics and concerts given by professionals, and participating in the Tri - State Band, Symphony, Choir, and Stage Band. These are organizations made up of members from each of the bands participating in Tri - State events. Combining all of these groups this year, there were about 1,000 students, Muleshoe placed 40 students, which is well over average.

For individual events, we did very well, too. The band made a I (which is considered "Superior") in concert playing, sightreading, and in street marching in Saturday's Parade. The stage band made II (which is considered "Excellent") and also the choir made a II and received the award of outstanding choir in their class.

We were especially proud of these last two organizations, for they were just organized in M. H. S. this year. We feel that Mr. Breenbridge, the stage band director, and Mr. Richardson the choir director, have done tremendous jobs in leading and promoting these groups.

As a spokesman for the band, I'd like to thank Mr. Bradley, our director, and the band boosters, both of whom we rarely get a chance to thank, for making our trip possible, and helping us to maintain the reputation of being the best band in West Texas.

"Just one way to bake bread... ELECTRICALLY!"

says Mrs. DON L. HANDLIN 2011 71st ST., LUBBOCK, TEXAS

This attractive, energetic young homemaker and mother of two young sons has cooked electrically for nine years. "I wouldn't cook any other way," says Mrs. Handlin. "It's so simple to have the exact temperature you want and this is especially important in baking. Home-baked bread is just one of the many treats my family enjoys from our electric range." And remember, you cook electrically for just 2¢ a meal.
