INSURRECTION NEWS VAGUELY CONFLICTING

CAPTURE OF JUAREZ NOT ABANDONED DECLARE INSURGENTS.

NAVARRO MANY DAYS AWAY

Arrival at Juarez Indefinitely Postponed—Way is Beseet with Danger and Difficulties.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 12.—Contrary to all expectation and all predictions, Orozco's forces have made no attack on Juarez, and yet the force of the Federalists increases day by day. Can it be that Orozco is playing a wily waiting game, permitting all the easily available forces of the Mexican government to assemble in Juarez, when he will bottle them up, clean up Northern Mexico and set up housekeeping for a new government? This is the only theory consonant with his permitting Federal re-enforcements to go into the city, when it was easily within his grasp to do this fact within his knowledge. A week ago attack seemed to be imminent, in fact, the city prepared for the event, and waited day by day, but nothing came of it.

Gen. Navarro has been expected to arrive in Juarez for several days, bringing a good sized force, but he is said to be practically cut off. A dispatch from the Dallas News' correspondent, from a station some forty miles south of Juarez, dated Sunday, says:

"The country hereabouts is dead and deserted. There being no trains, the water supply of some of the section houses is cut off. Railway bridges have been burned on both lines south of Juarez and telegraph wires cut and poles burned. A large body of insurgents passed to the southeast last night. Navarro is reported to be twenty miles south of here."

El Paso: Jefe Politico Martinez's public reception to Gen. Navarro set for Sunday has been indefinitely postponed, as Gen. Navarro did not arrive. An insurgent courier definitely located the Federal leader at a lake a few miles southwest of Ahumada, a station on the Mexican Central, about eighty miles south. The insurgent forces are scattered between Ahumada and Juarez, wherever they can find pasture and water. The country for a hundred miles south of here is practically deserted.

SECRETARY WILSON APPROVES

A Commendatory Letter Regarding Special Prizes.

The offer of the Texas Industrial Congress of $10,000 in gold prizes to the farmers of the State for the best yields of corn and cotton raised this year is attracting wide attention throughout the country. In a letter to Col. Henry Exall, president of the congress, Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, indorses the movement as follows: "I have read with a very great deal of pleasure of the prizes that are to be given to the farmers of Texas for the best yields of corn and cotton. Every intelligent citizen is aware that the rapid increase of our population calls upon producers from the soil to double their diligence and make the acre yield more. The steps that the good people of the Texas Industrial Congress have taken to stir up the people of the State and induce them to use all improved methods to prove the capacities of the soil of your great State are highly commendable. This action will have a fine effect. It will show what your soil and your people can do. It will bring to the attention of your State that the farmers' days work can be made to produce more, and the average Texas acre can be made to yield infinitely more. You have my best wishes and deepest sympathy in your efforts."

U. S. Territorial Trade Doubled.

Washington: Within the last seven years the trade of the United States with its non-contiguous territories doubled in value. In a statement dealing with this trade it is shown that in 1910 the trade with Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Philippines, Guam, Tutuila and the Midway Islands amounted to $202,496,343. In 1903 it amounted to $101,248,171. This shows that the increase was 82 per cent in the value of merchandise shipped from the territories to the United States and 139 per cent in the value of merchandise shipped from the United States to the territories. The principal articles shipped to the territories during last year were manufactures of foodstuffs. Hawaii alone invested $750,000 in automobiles.

Philadelphia, Pa.: The Most Reverend John Patrick Ryan, D. D., LL. D., archbishop of Philadelphia and metropolitan of Pennsylvania, died Saturday afternoon. For weeks the distinguished prelate, who would have been 80 years old had he lived until the 20th of this month, fought off death, but a weak heart, enfeebled by the arduous duties of his office, could not stand the strain, and he passed away, breathing the benediction, "God bless you," upon those who stood about the bedside.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system.

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most precious possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

"I Am Cured"

"The future looks bright to me," writes Mrs. Helena Gabriel, from Lisbon, Ohio, "now that I have found Cardui, the woman's tonic. I am cured of my many female ailments, and have regained my good health, by using Cardui. It is the only remedy I care to have in my house. I would not be without it. Cardui is building me up, and helps me whenever I take it."

Try Cardui. It will help you. It acts on the weak, worn-out, womanly organs, and helps them back to health.

Cardui is a good tonic for women who are well—to prevent them from feeling sick.

The Modern Woodmen Entertain

On last Tuesday night, February 14th, about forty members of the Modern Woodmen of America met at their hall in the Masonic building.

After spending several pleasant hours in speeded games, with much good cheer and fraternal happy hurrah and have-a-good-time, mingled with sweet strains of music and the curling smoke from many a fine cigar, then the tables were laden with such that would make a king's appetite rage with hunger.

The good things that suit the Modern Woodmen taste were in abundance in the Modern Woodmen of America way, such as sandwiches of many kinds, pickles, chicken, pies, custards, cakes, coffee, etc., all of which was done in the Modern Woodmen style, and each member feeling "tis well, 'tis better to be a Modern Woodman of America."

After the spread, some special side degrees were given that spoke forth the great pleasure that it is to be a Modern Woodman of America.

At a late hour of the night, when each member knew well that he was a Modern Woodman and of the real Modern Woodman type, the ax was laid down, but with regret that the pleasure could no longer continue, but wishing that many such happy and enjoyable occasions would be the pleasure of our Sterling City camp.

No services at China Valley at 3 p. m. because of the funeral of Mrs. Kirkland at the Montvale cemetery.

On February 22, there will be a canvass of the town by a committee from the Sunday schools for the purpose of getting a complete census of the town as to church relation. This is to be done on the same day all over the state. It is co-operative church work.

A TEXAN THE GREATEST LIVING ORATOR

Texas bears the distinction of having the greatest orator in the United States Senate since the days of Webster, Clay and Calhoun. This week, Senator Bailey's speech in defense of Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, who is charged with bribery, is said to have been the most magnificent effort ever heard in the Senate. Senators Borah, Root and Cummins, who are world-famed orators, and who were opposed to Senator Bailey, proved themselves no match for the man from Texas. Their thrusts of wit were parried with the skill of a master by our dauntless Senator, and in turn he sent home thrusts that made them writhe with surprise at his mastery of the situation.

The galleries of the Senate were packed with thousands of eager listeners, and for one time the President of the Senate made no attempt to suppress the applause that was for Senator Bailey. It is said the scene was beyond description, and nothing like it was ever heard since the days when Webster, Clay and Hayne electrified the world with their matchless oratory.

LOOK FOR THE HUMOR.

If you have a good, sound, perfectly healthy laugh tucked up your sleeve, it doesn't particularly matter how crazily the world goes round. The most tragic moment usually has a second or two of humor. Some day, when humanity is enlightened, all troubles will be adjusted with a smile. One would think the individual of most amazing account, considering the tremendous amount of consideration we give our own affairs. Be like the canary bird. When he is happy he sings, when he is wretched he keeps still. We can learn a great deal from those who don't know anything.

A GARDEN CITY IN RUSSIA.

Owing to the great increase in house rent in Warsaw people are beginning to build cottages some miles from the capital, taking the Howard Garden City type as their model. The settlement of Wolomun, ten miles from Warsaw, has already 1,000 cottages, a school, church, chemist's shop and market. The place is managed by a committee chosen by the inhabitants, who are employed in Warsaw during the day. In order to popularize the idea, literary men give lectures in Warsaw on English garden cities.

THE QUALITY OF MERCY.

I confess I am vindictive enough to hope and trust, as the young king of Italy said in his first speech from the throne, "with my whole strength and soul," that those who have so cruelly oppressed and tortured God's dumb creatures in this world may in the next sphere change places with the creature and be themselves the beasts of burden, that in some way in the future it may be, so to say, made up to the animals for all they have suffered in this mortal life.—From "In a Tuscan Garden."

Time for Stillness.

Mrs. MacLachlan was kind to her American boarder, but she did not propose to allow her to overstep the limits of a boarder's privileges, and she made it very clear.

One Sunday the boarder, returning from a walk, found the windows of her room, which she had left wide open, tightly closed.

"Oh, Mrs. MacLachlan, I don't like my room to get stuffy," she said, when she went downstairs again. "I like plenty of fresh air."

"Your room will get stuffy in one day," said her landlady firmly. "I was never out custom, miss, to have fresh air rosin' about the house on the Sawbath"—Youth's Companion.

Plain as Day.

A man recently visited the art museum in Chicago and wandered about, looking at the paintings with more or less interest. He finally stopped in front of a portrait which showed a man sitting in a high-backed chair. There was a small white card on the picture, reading:

"A portrait of E. H. Smith, by himself."

The man read the card and then chuckled to himself.

"What fools these city folks are!" he said. "Anybody who looks at that picture would know Smith's by himself. There ain't any one else in the picture!"—Chicago Tribune.

Granite of the South.

When one speaks of granite the mind naturally reverts to Vermont. It is difficult to associate granite with any section of North America outside New England, yet it must now be acknowledged to the credit of the South that Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland and Virginia are producing large quantities of stone of good quality which insures the South a place in the market at any rate.

The annual output is now worth about $3,000,000 and the industry is growing. It may be of comparative interest to know that New England's output is about $9,000,000 worth of stone annually.

HEREDITY
Can Be Overcome in Cases.

The influence of heredity cannot, of course, be successfully disputed, but it can be minimized or entirely overcome in some cases by correct food and drink. A Conn. lady says:

"For years while I was a coffee drinker I suffered from bilious attacks of great severity, from which I used to emerge as white as a ghost and very weak. Our family physician gave me the various prescriptions for improving the digestion and stimulating the liver, which I tried faithfully but without perceptible result."

"He was acquainted with my family history for several generations back, and once when I visited him he said: 'If you have inherited one of those torpid livers you may always suffer more or less from its inaction. We can't dodge our inheritance, you know.'"

"I was not so strong a believer in heredity as he was, however, and, beginning to think for myself, I concluded to stop drinking coffee, and see what effect that would have. I feared it would be a severe trial to give it up, but when I took Postum and had it well made, it completely filled my need for a hot beverage and I grew very fond of it."

"I have used Postum for three years, using no medicine. During all that time I have had absolutely none of the bilious attacks that I used to suffer from, and I have been entirely free from the pain and debilitating effects that used to result from them."

"The change is surely very great, and I am compelled to give Postum the exclusive credit for it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Your Boy's Life Work
What Shall It Be?

quize a year or so, he will be gratified at receiving a promotion to a sort of junior clerkship at a salary of $8 or $10 a week.

In a year or so more, then a vacancy occurring, or one being made for the ambitious clerk, there will be another promotion to a more important position at $12 a week, and so on he advances, till he is finally head bookkeeper at anywhere from $20 to $40 a week, according to the extent of the firm's business. This will come, probably, by the time he is thirty.

Long before this, however, your boy will have seen the necessity of possessing still greater technical education, if he is to reach the high position of certified public accountant, which leads straight into the more involved and more important phases of modern business. The complete collegiate course bringing a degree requires, generally speaking, an hour at school every day (or evening) for three years, and takes him into the advanced analysis of accounting, finance, and business. And he should add to this a course in advanced commercial law, which he can pursue at the same time.

Now, he needs more experience, which he can best get, probably, under the direction of an established public accountant. He enlists, therefore, as junior clerk at $20 or $25 a week, and after a year or so is advanced to senior clerk at a salary ranging up to as much as $60 weekly a year or two more, and your boy will probably be known as a thoroughly competent accountant and business analyst.

From here on his advancement may be along any of many lines. If he chooses to remain in independent accounting, he will probably organize a firm of his own, either with or without partners and hang out his shingle, depending entirely upon commissions from business firms and municipal and legislative work. There is no end of revenue in this class of business, as you will readily see by recalling the frequent analysis and "expediting" of various state and municipal departments and bureaus that are required. It is almost the custom—in official places it is required—for public accountants to be called in to audit the work of their departments, "certified" by public accountants, which means big fees and when special investigations of large public enterprises are made these fees sometimes amount to thousands of dollars. From $25,000 to $50,000 is by no means unusual payment for such work.

Another lucrative specialty that has grown up in this line during the last decade has been that of business reorganizer, or "developers of earning power," as some of these specialists are called. Their services are sought by business houses that are confronted by disaster or embarrassment, or for some reason beyond their resources to prevent are not getting the results they believe they should. Enter the "developer," at a stipulated fee, which is generally pretty high, and makes a profound and analytical investigation of the business, which may require several months' work of himself and an assistant or two,—at the end of which time he makes a long and complete report on every phase of the establishment, from the ordering and receipt of raw material, to the cost of manufacture, including wages and machinery, and the sale and final shipment of the finished product. This report frequently recommends the complete reversal of methods of operation the firm has followed and requires its entire reorganization, and generally results in the company's entering upon a new era of prosperity.

If your boy owns the firm that has done this reorganizing, he will probably remain in the business "financed" by one of the big institutions of his community; but if he is one of the assistants and takes an important part in the investigation, you can readily see the importance he has assumed in the estimation of the firm after its business has reached a prosperous condition. What more likely than that he should be offered the position of auditor or manager or other responsible place? This frequently happens, as the writer herself knows. I recall one young man who was given a position in just this way which pays $15,000 a year.

CURED HER BABY OF ECZEMA

"I can't tell in words how happy the word 'Cuticura' sounds to me, for it cured my baby of itching, torturing eczema. It first came when she was between three and four weeks old, appearing on her head. I used everything imaginable and had one doctor's bill after another, but nothing cured it. Then the eczema broke out so badly behind her ear that I really thought her ear would come off. For months I doctored it but to no avail. Then it began at her nose and her eyes were nothing but sores. I had to keep her in a dark room for two weeks. The doctor did no good, so I stopped him coming."

"For about two weeks I had used Cuticura Soap for her every day, and I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and began to use that. In a week there was a marked improvement. In all I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and my baby was cured of the sores. This was last November; now her hair is growing out nicely and she has not a scar on her. I can not praise Cuticura enough, I can take my child anywhere and people are amazed to see her without a sore. From the time she was four weeks old until she was three years she was never without the terrible eruption, but now, thanks to Cuticura, I have a well child." (Signed) Mrs. H. E. Runs on the Bank of England.

Even the Bank of England has not been entirely free from runs nor from the necessity of saving itself by strategy. In 1745, for instance, it was forced to employ agents to present notes, which were paid as slowly as possible in stipend, the cash being immediately brought in by another door and paid in again, while anxious holders of notes vainly tried to secure attention. In 1825, too, only the accidental discovery of 700,000 £1 notes saved the bank from stopping payment.—London Chronicle.

Simplicity of Expression.

A story was told on Martin Lomasney at the Cape Cod commercial travelers' dinner by Representative Pope of Leominster. "Last season Lomasney was seen talking to someone in one of the corridors, and as I passed I heard these words: 'Shall I write him?' 'No,' said Lomasney; 'never write a thing when you can talk, and never talk when you can nod your head.'"—Boston Record.

The Mother's Duty.

A good woman knows the power she has of shaping the lives of her children, and she endeavors to use that power wisely and well. She teaches her boys and girls that they must be brave in doing their duty, truthful in speech and action, honest and honorable, kind, cheerful, and unselfish. By her own good example she inforces and illustrates what she teaches.

Too Much So.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT OF GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY IS SOON REALIZED

According to my experience I do not consider there is anything to equal Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for kidney affection. Twice it relieved me when I was completely helpless.

The last time I was traveling in Texas, when my kidneys became affected, and for ten days I suffered excruciating pain, accompanied with severe chills. Several years previous, having been relieved of a similar attack, I naturally sought relief as before, from Swamp-Root.

After using four of the large size bottles, I was completely restored and went on my way rejoicing and praising Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. This was three years ago, and I have had no indication of the return of the affliction.
