The prospect for a fine crop of broom weeds in the court house yard was never better. We don't like their looks, but we can endure them if the balance of our folks can.

Most of our people heeded the clean-up warning of the health board this week. Those who failed to take heed will be returned to the court unless they get busy. The present board will not stand for any foolishness.

While we are kicking about dust storms, we should remember the 8000 people who lost their lives in the floods of the Ohio valley, this week, and be thankful that we have nothing worse than dust of which to complain.

It is Huerta's time next, and Diaz will quickly follow. It is only a matter of time when some Mexican will shoot both of these gents. Those people down there are in the shooting business, and the higher up a man gets the better target he will make.

Governor Colquitt is sore over the way the legislature has neglected the platform demands of last summer. The Governor must remember that we had a prohibition campaign last summer and every mother's son of these fellows were mixed up in the scrimmage and have not gotten over their crazy spell. If there is anything in the world that will make a man get a fool and go crazy, it is when he gets mixed on either side of a prohibition fight.

A lengthy job of hard work will do more to stimulate a boy's desire to attend school than all the persuasive words in the dictionary. When the writer was in his teens, and was compelled to "hop off" ten hours a day, and chop wood, feed the stock and haul water while he was resting, year in and year out, he thought school was the sweetest place on earth. "In them times," there were no bun schools and bun teachers. They were all good and better. If your boy has formed a distaste for school, put him to hard work, and keep him at it. While he is resting, let him chop wood, feed the stock, and churn. In the meantime, allow him to clean out the stables and lots for recreation, and if his desire to go to school and learn does not return, you can make a note in your diary that you are the daddy of a failure.

Capt. Sterling

Sterling county was named for Capt. Sterling of whom we know little or nothing beyond the fact that he was a buffalo hunter and some time in the 60's pitched his camp on a creek in what is now known as Sterling county. Here he hunted buffalo for their hides. He shipped the hides to Fort Concho and engaged in the business as long as there were buffalo in the country. He left the country about 1861-2 and went Arizona. This is all the information we have as to him.—Dallas News.

We have been, for years, trying to find some one who knew something definite about this noted man; but, so far, we have failed. There are people who came here in 1876, and knew every person for fifty miles around, but they can tell us nothing about Capt. Sterling. If this should meet the eye of some old timer who knew Capt. Sterling we would take it as a favor if he would write us.

NOTICE—KEEP OUT.

Notice is hereby given that any person who shall hunt, fish, use or haul wood or otherwise trespass on any of the lands owned or controlled by me, will be prosecuted by the full power of the law.

M. E. Dagley Is Found Dead In The River

Last Tuesday afternoon, the people of this community were shocked by the news that M. E. Dagley had been found dead in the river, five miles west of here. Sheriff Dee Davis, Clerk Durham and Justice Patterson, accompanied by R. P. Brown and Pat Kellis quickly repaired to the place where the body of deceased had been taken out of the water.

The following is the circumstances which indicate the manner of his death:

Mr. Dagley was a tenant on Mr. Shipman's farm, near the Allard irrigated farm, just south of where the Garden City road crosses the river. He was tending a gasoline engine and pump, and putting water on the farm.

It seems the pump had been going until past the noon hour, when Mrs. Dagley became uneasy because her husband had not come home for dinner. She telephoned to her neighbors and inquired of his whereabouts. A. B. Stiles and B. Allen, in response to Mrs. Dagley's request, went to the pump where Mr. Dagley had been at work. On their arrival at the pump they found deceased's cap and glove lying on the bank of the river, and at once concluded that the body of the missing man was in the river. They then called in several neighbors, and upon their arrival, the body was soon located and taken from the water. On examination, it was found that deceased had received a blow on the ear, near the base of the skull, and a slight wound in the corner of the left eye. Some were of the opinion that the neck had been broken, and others not, but all were of the opinion that death must have resulted instantly after receiving the blow.

Justice Patterson held an inquest over the body, and his verdict was to the effect that deceased came to his death through some unknown accident.

Just how Mr. Dagley met his death will probably never be known, for he was alone, and only conclusions can be drawn from the circumstances. It has been suggested that he was caught in a belt, and after receiving his death wound, was thrown into the river by its rapid motion. Again, it has been suggested that the blow was delivered while cranking the engine, it "kicking" and the crank striking him; but this is thought not probable, because the engine was running after he was dead. The fact that the water in which he was found was only about three feet deep, precludes the theory of drowning, unless the wound rendered him helpless.

M. E. Dagley was a good citizen in every respect. His was perfectly honest and law-abiding. His industrious habits and good natured way rendered him dear to all his neighbors. If he had an enemy in the world, the fact was unknown to the people here. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of The World, and we learn that he carried a $1000 policy in that fraternity. He was buried Wednesday afternoon in the City cemetery, a large crowd attending.

To his bereaved wife and children we extend our most sincere sympathy in this sad hour.

CASINE

Warren, Pa., March 22.—Another substitute for gasoline which has wonderful possibilities as a fuel for motor cars has been discovered here, if the newspaper accounts are to be believed. It is called gasene, but, according to the newspapers, will sell wholesale at 3c to 4c a gallon as against 18c for 68 gravity gasoline. With the ridiculously low price, it is claimed that a mileage 25 per cent greater than that with gasoline is obtained from each gallon of the new fuel.

Gasene is the discovery of Henry B. Taylor, an employe of the Complanter Refining company here. For the last eight months, it is stated, the Complanter refinery has been experimenting with Taylor's formula. It is reported that Taylor and the officials of the refinery find that 60 per cent of a barrel of crude oil can be converted into gasene, as against 18 per cent of gasoline from the same quantity of crude.

According to officials of the company, the new fuel leaves no carbon deposit and can be used in any carburetor.

Coming so closely upon the heels of the recent announcement by Motor Spirits, the announcement of gasene is a coincidence in other ways. The latest gasoline substitute seems to be quite similar to motor spirits, so far as may be judged by the incomplete data given out by its backers.

The same advantage over gasoline in the matter of mileage is claimed for it, somewhere near the same per cent of distillate from the crude is said to be obtained and it seems to be similar in other respects. The most radical difference apparent at present is in the price. Whereas, motor spirit is offered at 3c less than gasoline, gasene, according to the newspaper reports, is to be offered at 3c wholesale. This figure is regarded as too good to be true by oil men, who state that 3c or 4c is less than the price of the crude.—El Paso Times.

A CHALLENGE

Every man has a legal right to trade where and with whom he pleases; but when a man is down and out, and in need of credit, he never goes to Chicago to get it; therefore, it is in line with square dealing to trade with home people, provided you can do as well.

A certain Chicago firm has its agents traveling over the country taking orders for groceries, and claim to be under sell the home merchant. I have nothing to say against these people, but I do have this to say: I will duplicate the prices on any and all goods, of whatsoever quality and kind they may offer to sell, provided, you pay me cash for the goods and allow me 30 days, as you do them, to get such goods as I may not happen to have in stock.

This offer is made to everyone. Bring in your bills, with the prices which these Chicago people have made to you, and see if I don't duplicate them in every item. Give me a chance, and I will show you that you don't have to go to Chicago for cheap and good groceries.

B. F. Roberts.

SUCH IS LIFE.

"Just joined a 'Doo's' 'Worry' club." "How are you getting along?" "Not so well. I'm worried now because I didn't ask my wife's permission."

"A TEXAS GALLANT OF 1830"

An Ancient Picture With Modern Trimmings

Perhaps Mrs. Anna Pennybacker, who wrote "A History For Texas Schools," knew more about Texas history in a minute than this writer will ever know. Perhaps the gentlemen who composed the Text Book Board that adopted this book for use in the public schools of Texas, have forgotten more history than we ever heard of, yet, on page 83, of Mrs. Pennybacker's "History For Texas Schools," is a picture that would make the angels weep in compassion for the ignorance of its author in matters of detail.

This picture is entitled, "A Texas gallant of 1830." It represents a gent, wearing a flat crowned hat and a costume that may have suited the fashion in those days. Leaning on his right knee, is a Winchester carbine, model 1830, but in his left hand is a Colt sixshooter of a model not earlier than 1842. In his left hand, is a double-barrel dagger, which may have been used by the dagoes centuries before 1830, but the favorite knife of the old time Texan of that day was a heavy, single-edged knife with a semi-crescent point, since famous as the "Bowie" knife.

The idea of teaching children by pictures that men in 1830 went about armed with Winchester and sixshooters, when such things had never been heard of, or perhaps thought of, is as preposterous as it would be to teach them that the Spartans defended the pass of Thermopole with Gatling guns or that Elijah was transported to heaven in an aeroplane.

The earliest possible model of a Winchester is that of 1866. It is true, the Henri rifle, which is the predecessor of the Winchester, was patented in 1838. Col. Samuel Colt invented the revolver in 1835; but he made only a few of them, for when the government gave an order for a 1000 of them to equip Taylor's army in 1842, not a single revolver of the original type could be found for a model, and Colonel Colt was obliged to make one from memory. All of the firearms used in 1830 were of the flint lock type, for percussion caps were yet to be invented.

A child gets his idea of things from the study of pictures as well as reading the text, and in our humble opinion the picture should be just as accurate in every detail as the text.

When this editor taught school, he made use of pictures to impress his pupils with the subject of the text, thus: "What does this picture represent?" (The class) "A gallant of 1830." "How is he dressed?" (The girls) "In high heel boots, coat and trousers trimmed with shaggy fur, ornamented with silver buttons, and a low-crown hat. He also has long hair and mustache." "How is he armed?" (The boys) "With a dagger in his left hand, a Colt's revolver in his belt and a Winchester carbine leaning on his knee." "Were there revolvers and Winchesters in those days?" (The class) "We suppose so." At this point the teacher would have to explain that this picture was an unintentional fake, which had crept past the author of the book and escaped the goose-eyed vigilance of the Text Book Board—like a score of other things had done.

We would respectfully suggest that Mrs. Pennybacker change this picture—especially in armament. Instead of a Winchester, if she would arm her "gallant of 1830" with a long flint lock rifle, powder horn and bullet pouch, backed up with a twelve-inch barrel flint lock pistol and a good, servicable butcher knife—just such things as were in use in 1830—we think the picture would not be so naked to the thrusts of a country editor.

This is a time of great events and you will want the news accurately and promptly. The Democrats, for the first time in sixteen years, will have the Presidency and they will also control both branches of Congress. The political news is sure to be of most absorbing interest. There is a great war in the Old World, and you may read of the extinction of the vast Turkish Empire in Europe, just as a few years ago you read how Spain lost her last foot of soil in America, after having ruled the empire of half the New World.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-A-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-A-Week World also contains other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first class daily. THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1 per year, and this pays for 153 papers. No. 3 320 acres, one mile north of town, all smooth level land, 160 acres in cultivation, good four-room house, $1,500 barn, 25 acres in alfalfa fenced hogproof—price $32.50 per acre. I can trade either of these propositions for rough unimproved land in Sterling. I consider this one of the best farming and stock raising countries in the Panhandle. I have been here six years and we have made good crops each year. This year our corn will make 50 bushels to the acre. We have mowed our alfalfa fields for the fifth and sixth time. Corn is selling at 35c per bushel, maize and kafir at $8 per ton headed, alfalfa at $10 per ton. If a Sterling man has something that he would like to trade for land in a good farming country, write. Yours for business, L. P. LOX, Mobeattie, Texas.

TERRIBLE AGONIES WORSE MISERY

Advices From Durant's Neck Tell of Mrs. Bazemore's Trying Ordeal, and Her Condition at Present.

Durant's Neck, N. C.—Mrs. Emma Bazemore, of this place, says: "Words fall to express my appreciation and gratitude for the benefit I received from Cardui, the woman's tonic. I suffered agonies from womanly troubles. I tried different doctors, but they didn't help. The last one I went to said I needed an operation, so I agreed to it, and bore those terrible pains. I felt better, but only for a short time, and soon the misery was worse than ever before. I began to use Cardui, and it made me feel entirely different. Now I am the picture of health, weighing 170 pounds. Before I started the treatment I could not do my housework. Now I can do my work, and I feel so much better."

Cardui, the woman's tonic, acting in its gentle, healing way, upon the womanly organs, helps to restore your natural vigor, and to build up the womanly constitution.

If you are tired, worn-out, weak, nervous, or suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, do what over a million other women have done—try Cardui. It cannot do you harm, and is almost sure to help you, just as it has them. Begin taking Cardui today.

SKIN TROUBLE ON LEG

618 W. Grace St., Richmond, Va.—"I had a running sore on my leg for from three to five years. It burst and blood came from it, then it got red around, and was as large as a dollar. It turned white in the middle of the sore and then began to itch and bleed. After washing it would bleed for hours at a time. Some nights I did not sleep through the whole night. I spent eighty dollars on the sore and it didn't get well. I got worse and fell off to eighty-nine pounds. This went on for four years. I was told it could not get well. One of my friends said I ought to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, so I did. After I had used them one month the sore was gone and the itching stopped, and I have never had any trouble since. That was five years ago."

"I had a fever and all my hair came out. I shampooed with a lather of Cuticura Soap and then rubbed the Cuticura Ointment over the scalp and my hair came back and now it is long and glossy." (Signed) Mrs. John Thomas, Mar. 12, 1912.

It Didn't Matter.

When Fred Kelly made a start in journalism, he was put on reporting. One night he was sent to a big fire down town. A reporter named Brown was sent with him. It was a large fire, and presently Brown disappeared. A wall had fallen, and Kelly was sure Brown was under it. He rushed to the telephone and called up his city editor.

"Say," he shouted into the telephone, "Brown is gone. He's burned up!"

"What's that?" asked the city editor.

"Brown is burned up, I tell you. He fell into the fire."

"All right," said the city editor, hanging up the telephone. "I'll send down another man."

"Improved" Bull Fight.

A bull fight in Tokio is quite as much excuse for a gala day as a bull fight in Madrid. Business men leave their offices, and women and children their homes, to hurry to the arena. Stripped of all the less exciting, or less horrible, preliminaries which characterize the Spanish bull fight, the animals are brought in and sent at each other at once. So the battle is shorter, and two or three more fights will follow in quick succession during the course of an afternoon's entertainment."

Desperate.

"What's that terrible fight going on over there?"

"Oh, that's just an alderman trying to prevent a corporation agent from crowding $1,000 into his pocket."—Fuck.

Circumstantial Evidence.

Directing Children Aright.

The young need to be taught that although there is sometimes a pleasure of the senses in committing sin, it is inevitably followed by remorse and punishment. Crime, remorse, punishment form an inseparable trio. On the other hand, while it is often hard to do right, the sense of satisfaction, self-respect and self-control that follows right action is worth all the effort made.

URGING GREAT SALE OF CANNED FOODS

Dealers, grocers, jobbers and manufacturers over the country are joining hands during the week of March 31st to April 5th in an effort to acquaint housewives with the economy and quality of canned foods.

It is now a well known fact that heat is the only preservative used in preparing these economical foods. The cans are sealed and sterilized at a temperature of 250 degrees, which prevents any contamination and keeps the contents fresh and wholesome as the day the tins were filled in the canneries.

National Canned Foods Week, during which dealers and grocers will make canned foods their sale-features, is for the purpose of demonstrating to housewives that the cost of living can be cut without sacrifice of quality. The sale will be served in hundreds of delightful ways, and thus served daily without monotony. The farmer's wife especially finds it advantageous to relieve herself of all the cooking possibilities of canned foods and able her to do this and at the same time improve the quality of her meals.

Women in every community should observe National Canned Foods Week by buying the domestic and foreign products. The saving and general satisfaction in the use of Canned Foods is entirely worth while.—Adv.

Real Economy.

"Tankerly says he gets drunk simply to save time."

"To save time?"

"Yes. You see, he says that when he goes to bed sober he has to bother to dress and put his shoes on again the next morning, whereas if he doesn't go to bed sober all he has to do next morning is to wash his face."

And Yet the Dance Halls Thrive.

Young Man (approaching a girl)—"E—e—may I have a dance?"

Girl—"You're too kind. You don't mind if I hum, do you? Do you know, I'm just dippy over this here dip. Teehee, joke. Floor's swell tonight, ain't it? Gee, but I like to dance with you! Tell that to every girl! Not on your life! Seems as if I must have met you somewhere before. Wish I had, though Well, I'll be; that's all short and sweet, yep—just like you. Teehee. See you later."

Was Much Impressed.

A little girl who had acted as ring bearer at a cousin's wedding was inclined to view her part of the impressive ceremony with great seriousness. One day some time afterward the child heard her grandmother talking of her possible future marriage.

"You know, I'm half married already," the child earnestly remarked.

"Half married already! What do you mean, child?" asked the surprised grandmother.

"Why, don't you remember when I carried Cousin Carrie's wedding ring?"

Modest.

A clerical-looking gentleman, in the hope of obtaining a contribution, entered the office of a newspaper and, finding the editor in, began:

"I am soliciting aid for a gentleman of refinement and intelligence who is in need of a little ready money, but is too proud to make known his sufferings."

"Why?" exclaimed the editor.

"The only man in town answering that description. What's the gentleman's name?"

"I'm sorry to say I am not at liberty to disclose it."

"It must be me, parson. Heaven prosper you in your good work," said the editor, wiping away a tear.

His Best Friend.

"Well, what did you do when the problem came up?"

"Wasted time. Went out and asked the advice of 17 friends."

"What did you get?"

"Seventeen different solutions."

"And then?"

"Then I took the advice of an eighteenth friend and won out."

"And who was your eighteenth friend?"

"Myself."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Thousands of Women

Have Been Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

There is no doubt about this fact. Why! during the last 30 years we have published in the newspapers of this country volumes of letters from women who have been relieved of all their suffering by the timely aid of this grand old medicine. Letters like the following, true, genuine and honest expressions of gratitude coming from grateful hearts. Surely you can believe these women.

Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Mich., says:—"Some time ago I was taken with a terrible pain in my right side, such sharp pains just like a knife sticking me. I tried hot applications but that did no good. I went to our family doctor (we were living in Fayette, Ohio, at that time) and he said it was organic inflammation. I doctored with him a while but kept getting worse. The pain was so terrible I could hardly stand on my feet. I would have that sharp pain in my right side, and a dull heavy pain the whole length of my limb. I realized that something had to be done quickly, so I looked up all of your advertisements I could find, and saw several that described my case. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first dose, and when I had taken two bottles my trouble was gone. Your medicine has done so much for me that I am willing you should publish this letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Michigan.

Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, Girard, Pa., says:—"I take pleasure in informing you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had a sick spell last February, and for some months after that I was not regular and had many bad feelings. I was tired all the time, had dull headaches, not much appetite, and also what the doctor called organic inflammation. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I feel that too much cannot be said in its praise as I am now able to do my own work. You are perfectly welcome to use my testimonial for the benefit of others."—Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, R.F.D. No. 1, Girard, Pa.

Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, Buffalo, N.Y., says:—"I feel that I must write to you about your wonderful remedies. About ten years ago I was troubled with female weakness and was all run down. I was tired all the time and could hardly walk without feeling dizzy. I heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it, and also used the Sanative Wash. I got stronger, and have not had those dizzy spells since. I feel that I owe my health to you, and hope your remedies will help others as they have me. I tried most everything I heard of, and yours are the best medicines for women's ailments."—Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, 26 Gior Street, Buffalo, New York.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

AWAKE this morning with devout thanksgiving for my friends, the old and the new.—Emerson.

CHAFING DISH DISHES.

Few people realize the convenience and comfort one may get from the woman without a maid. Especially for a late supper, or Sunday night lunch, there is nothing more inviting than a chafing dish and well stocked tray.

If one cares to have the service especially dainty, and who does not, have the first preparations made long before the meal. Measure the butter and make it into attractive balls, a table-spoonsful to a ball. Have the other ingredients in pretty dishes well arranged on the tray, to be easily found. Cut the meat or shred the fish, so that the mere putting together will be an entertainment for those who look on. Always keep certain things, as seasonings, in the same place.

When purchasing a chafing dish, see that the hot water pan, too, has handles, as well as the blazer, by which it may be lifted. This dish may be used on the table in many ways when the chafing dish is not in use.

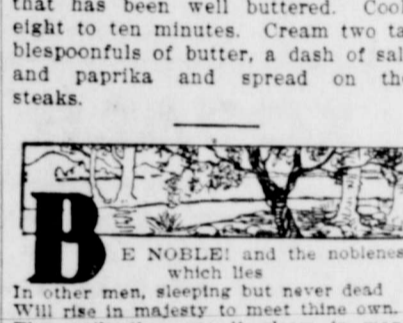

To Poach Eggs.—Break each egg separately in a saucer, and drop into the blazer of hot water; cover until the eggs are firm, remove from the pan to circular pieces of toast that have been prepared in the kitchen, and serve at once, after seasoning with salt, pepper and bits of butter.

Shaped and cooked until brown, are delicious served from the chafing dish.

Vienna Steaks.—Take a fourth of a pound each of lean beef and veal chopped. Season well with three-fourths of a teaspoonful of salt, paprika and nutmeg, a few drops of onion juice and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Add an egg well beaten; shape into small steaks, and let stand several hours. Cook in a hot blazer until the steaks are browned. Cook eight to ten minutes. Cream two table-spoonsful of butter, a dash of salt and paprika and spread on the steaks.
