All equipment will be removed to their recreation center—"New Mexico's most complete one, open for a year and a half, just one block off highway 66 at 512 Copper North east," Snelson said. Right-of-Way Clearing Almost Complete Now

The widening of highway 84, west, often referred to as Killer 84, is yet in the distant future, however, it has by no means been shelved, even for a moment.

Resident Highway Engineer Rhea Bradley said paper work on purchase of the right-of-way has been completed and virtually all the work connected with removing buildings, power line and gas line relocation was done. Some work of this nature remains to be done yet.

This is moving along according to schedules released in early March.

Bradley expresses hope that plans for the highway construction will be ready to be submitted to the Austin Office, Design Division and to the Bureau of Public Roads for approval by late November.

If the plans are approved as is, the entire process, obtaining bids and letting contracts would be complete by late November.

No one who wants to guard his sanity can overlook the role of prayer in mental health. One of the big factors contributing to illness is the lack of security. Only too often the neurotic individual finds himself trapped in the quicksand of doubt, fear and anxiety. There is no sure footing. He seems to be trapped and sinking. At every turn there is the torturing confront-

Summer Project Now Underway

Already a large number have completed their 12 books - and several are past the 30-odd mark in book completions, according to Mrs. Camp. At the rate the children go through their books, there is plenty of time for others to join in, and catch up with the earlier starters, adding their names to the Summer Honor Roll.

Mrs. Camp said that there was still need for more easy books for children and much demand for the Nancy Drew and other youth book series sets, for the demand is great for this type of book.

Donations the past ten days have been given by Aubrey and Beverly Heathington, one book in memory of Carl Neely and one book in memory of E. T. Bates; by Mildred Davis, three centennial issues of the Christian Science Monitor; 24 books given by Mrs. Ernest Ramm; most adult fiction; two books donated by the Rev. J. Frank Peery, Mrs. Camp announced.

The High Plains Library Bookmobile, with its home at the local library, has just received 100 new books from the Texas State Library in anticipation of the proven popular and successful reading program, Georgia Pena, bookmobile librarian announced this week.

The books are fiction and non-fiction and there are some to interest people of all ages, she said. Several new art books are in this collection. There is also an instruction book on baton twirling.

The subjects of books in the local library and bookmobile unit are so varied that it is impossible to list the types in detail - but just name it and it can be had at your library, both librarians suggest, as they continue to attend to the rush of customers flocking to the library and library bookmobile.

Sidewalk Sale Day Success

Costume-clad barkers sold merchandise from their sidewalk "counters" Friday as part of festivities for the Annual July 4 weekend celebration.

Merchants and store employees dressed as pioneers manned the sale table outside stores and offered a variety of merchandise...everything from neckties to old fashioned bathtubs.

Prizes were given for the most outstanding costumes worn by the sidewalk barkers. "I was nothing to see an old lady hobbling along with a cane, wearing a long, full dress and bonnet...then when you met her face to face...found her to be a young, charming sales clerk."

Men wore derbies, vest and sleeve garters. Odd sort of neckties added to the colorful assortment of attire seen on the city streets.

Sam and the Gringos played and sang along Main Street using a flat-bed wagon pulled by Dave Anders' mules, as a bandstand. Anders kept the two-stepping mules putting on a fair sized performance themselves. As the music rang out, reins tugged slightly and the mules actually did seem to be stepping to the music.

Prizes awarded were: St. Clair's was awarded a plaque for most employee participation. Employees participating were Roxie Barbee, Moyna Melson, Olan Burrows, Dorothy Mathiesen, Dennis Burrows, Eva Ashford, Elsie Goss, Lela Mae Sullivan, Alta Odum, Ellen Spence, Dovie Wagon and Clifton Finley.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hall and children, spent the weekend in Amarillo, Saturday and Sunday. Lauren Hall will return home with her parents following a week's camping. Her brother Perry began a week's outing at the same camp, at the Episcopal Conference Center, located north of Amarillo at the old Bivins Ranch.

Jerry and Clay Barnett, sons of Don Barnett who recently moved to Hanford, Calif., are returning home after a month's visit with grandparents here. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barnett, Barnett and the boys left Friday for California, where they will visit his sister "pete" Nichols and family in San Diego and his brother Carl in Lancaster, Calif. The boys will return to their parents, and Barnett plans to return to Muleshoe via Oregon, Washington and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Adams are spending the 4th of July weekend at Ruidosa, N.M.

Little misses Jamie and Eddie Wash, daughters of Mrs. and Mrs. Wayne Wash, have returned home after a two week's vacation visit with Mrs. Wash's mother and Mrs. Guy Harvick in Stanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Johnson and children left Thursday for a vacation trip to Fort Collins, Colo., where they are visiting his brother and family, the Jim Johnsons. They plan to return Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McGuire and Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Casey were in Ruidosa, N. M., last weekend for fishing and the races. The Caseys, upon their return home, drove to Kingsland for several day's visit with the Bill Thompsons. They returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. O. D. Ray and her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. C. Jackson, Houston, have returned from an 8-day vacation in Ruidosa. They spent their time sight-seeing and at the races.

The Business Activities meeting will be held at Royce's Cafe at 10 a.m., Tuesday.

Much work goes into the planning of a highway, Bradley points out. For instance, each culvert has to be designed for its particular terrain according to expected water flow it will catch, plus wheel load and construction sturdy enough to stand up and many other angles which must be considered in the planning stages.

The project will cover 9.8 miles and the highway department has budgeted $1,250,000 for construction of the road to the Parmer County line.

285 Attend Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Farmer's Cooperative Elevator was held Tuesday night at the High School Cafeteria with 285 members and guests present.

A barbeque supper was served to the guests, followed by a short business meeting.

Ralph Edwards and E. W. Gray were re-elected to the board of local cooperative.

Dividend checks were distributed amounting to $100,000, according to H. L. Ward, manager of the elevator.

Traffic Triangle Safety Outlined

Traffic safety, like a triangle has three sides; the vehicle, the person who drives it, and the road on which he drives. Safety experts are making progress at improving all three with much of the public's recent interest focused on the car itself. In the future you can expect to see more safety features in the next new car

But, as important as all this activity and progress is, the Texas Safety Association, reminds us that the main safety factor in any vehicle is the driver.

Forage Sorghum Clipping Test Results Announced

HALFWAY - Paymaster 3801 and Piper Sudan forage grain sorghum produced the highest dry matter of yield of 5,78 tons and 5.81 tons per acre in the 1965 forage sorghum clipping test at the High Plains Research Foundation according to Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist of the Foundation's staff.

Seventeen hybrid varieties were used in the clipping test experiment. Sorghurst, although the lowest in dry matter yield, was statistically better than all other hybrids tested in protein content expressed as percent dry matter. The 1965 research results were similar to the tests conducted in 1963 and 1964.

The seventeen forage hybrids were planted April 23, 1965. Four clippings at a height of four to five inches were made during the season. The first clipping was made on June 21, the second on July 19, the third on August 12 and the fourth on September 14. Research showed that an inverse relationship existed between the plant height and percent protein of the forage sorghum. The tall plants at clipping time had a low crude protein content, while the shorter plants showed a high percent of crude protein at clipping time.

The maximum green weight production occurred in late July and in August. This has been true in all tests conducted during the past three years.

The test included the evaluation of green and dry matter tons of forage and the plant heights at each clipping for each of the seventeen hybrid varieties. The dry matter weight forage production in the clipping test with the two top yielding forage sorghum varieties were: 143 tons on the June 21 clipping, 1.86 and 1.54 tons on July 19, .99 and 1.02 tons on Aug. 12 and 1.80 and 2 tons on the September 14 clipping. All the varieties received the same fertilization of one hundred twenty four of 11-48-0 at planting. A side dress application of eighty pounds of nitrogen from anhydrous ammonia was applied soon after each clipping.

All plots received a pre-plant irrigation of 5.05 inches on April 1, 1965. During the growing season, the plots received the following irrigations: June 25, 2.75 inches; July 22, 2.92 inches; August 13, 3.41 inches; a total of 12.83 inches of rainfall fell during the growing and clipping season.

Report No. 169 in the 1965 Research Report book of the High Plains Research Foundation for 1965 carries the full details on the forage sorghum clipping test.

FIVE MILLION TEXANS ARE LICENSED DRIVERS
AUSTIN - The population of Texas is over 10 million persons. Approximately one-half of this number are licensed drivers. So, the Texas Safety Association says, remember, you are not the only driver on the road. Drive the best you can and respect the rights of other drivers.

COTTON TALKS

FROM THE COTTON CONFERENCE

The board of directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., are meeting in Lubbock at 6 p.m. today (June 30) to adopt the organization's budget for the 1966-67 fiscal year, according to PGC President John D. Smith of Littlefield. The meeting is scheduled in the Johnson House, 4801 Ave. Q.

"The primary purpose of the meeting is to set up our 1966-67 budget, but other cotton-interest matters will also be discussed and all producers and cotton related businessmen are invited to attend," Smith said. The PGC finance committee, of which M. A. (Rip) Elms, also of Littlefield, is chairman, will meet in the PGC offices at 3 p.m. just prior to the board meeting. It is the job of this committee to work with the staff in outlining budgetary items and amounts and recommend an overall budget to the board.

PGC has two directors, one cotton producer and one businessman, from each of its 23 counties. Support for the organization is largely from cotton producers who pay 15 cents per bale dues through their ginner, and Smith is urging all directors to attend the meeting and represent their county's producers in the budget adoption.

Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has announced the probability of a new service to the cotton producer organization's 25,000 members.

Johnson says a personal newsletter, called "The PGC Cotton Review" will be mailed monthly to each of the members beginning in July. He refers to the service as a probability rather than a certainty because this item of expense is yet to be approved by the PGC finance committee and board of directors.

"However," Johnson said, "the lack of sufficient communications between the organization and its members has in the past been criticized by var-

An old hymn says "we'll understand it all by and bye." But sometimes we begin to doubt it when we study the actions of some on Capitol Hill. The Senate-House conference committee met in Washington June 21 on the cotton research and promotion bill (H. R. 12322) and agreed to disagree.

Senate conferees, for some reason completely beyond us, stubbornly refused to give up a Senate amendment which would require another act of Congress before the amount of the $1 per bale producer assessment would be changed.

House conferees were just as adamant in their position—that the amount should be subject to change by vote of the cotton producers who would be paying the bill.

That they didn't agree is not news. What is hard to comprehend is why the Senators on the committee, or for that matter the Senate itself, should want to require another Act of CONGRESS AND ALL congress and all the political wrangling that goes with it before the amount of the "check-off" could be changed. Passage of the bill by the Senate in the first place was tacit admission that cotton producers are capable of deciding for themselves whether they want the program, and more important, whether they want to pay for it.

And if they are capable of making this decision, why then is the Senate so reluctant to let them decide at some future date whether they want to increase or decrease the amount of the per bale self-assessment?

The committee has agreed on the Senate's version of the requirements for passage of the referendum that will be held once the act has passed Congress. It will require either (1) two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum or (2) two-thirds of the cotton volume represented by the voters plus a simple majority of growers voting.

no date has been set for further consideration of the measure by the conference committee. They are expected to get back together in the near future. What they'll do and how they'll break the apparently senseless

Tower Expresses Views on Viet Nam

We now have heard all the arguments about whether or not we should be in Vietnam. Whether we accept these arguments or not is, I believe, highly academic at this point. And, arguing over who is to blame for our being there strikes me both as petty and unimportant. The fact we must face today that we are committed to deter Communist aggression in Vietnam. The obvious solution is to successfully end this war at the earliest possible moment and to bring our boys home.

If we withdraw, Communism will overrun southeast Asia and I believe we must bomb targets of military significance wherever they are. We must close down the Ho Chi Minh supply trail at its origins.

We have been most patient so far. We have limited our efforts. We have pressed for peace. We have tried to cut the supply trail by destroying individual trucks on the road-way rather than destroying supply and petroleum storage. We have circumscribed circles of sanctuary around Hanoi and Haiphong and withheld pinpoint military bombing inside them while watching the Reds methodically move key facilities into the safe areas. We have destroyed bridges and watched coolies rebuild them. We attack us again nearer home. If we fight a long, hard war of attrition, accepting terrible losses of men and machines, we will be doing exactly as the Reds wish.

It seems to me that our only acceptable alternative is to resolve to achieve military victory so that a stable domestic situation will permit the construction of a popular South Vietnamese government which can take over its own affairs, freeing our troops to come home.

We have the military capability to win. We have yet to apply it.

deadlock, is anybody's guess. Probably no one seriously doubts that the committee will reach a compromise on the $1 per bale amendment. But timing is of the utmost importance, and the question is, when?

have watched the Soviet Union and Eastern European Communist Bloc nations send arms and missiles by sea in Haiphong. These restraints we hoped would lead to peace talks and maintain strictly limited war. There have been no peace feelers from Hanoi.

And, the war in the South has not diminished but has intensified, precisely because the Reds have been able to keep their Northern war factories going and have been able to transfer supplies to the south with which to kill both Americans and South Vietnamese.

I believe the time for drawing circles of sanctuary is rapidly coming to a close. It's time to replace circles with a straight line of demarcation. It's time to tell the Reds, "This far, and no farther." In short, it's time to win this war.

We are the Free World's defensive leader. The ultimate peace and security of Asia and of the world depend on our firm stand. We will not escalate the war to wider areas and more sophisticated weapons. But, we must intensify our resolve to win. We must destroy the enemy's capacity to wage war. We must persuade him that war is too costly an instrument of national policy. We can ultimately secure a lasting peace only if we insist on peace.

With Vietnam much on our minds, it may seem a little surprising that some in Washington have proposed in recent weeks that the United States extend trade favors to the Red Bloc nations of Europe and to the Soviet Union itself. It simply does not make sense to me to grant favors to nations actively supporting the forces which are killing American boys, disrupting the peace of Asia and threatening world order. I will vote against any such Red-trade treaty brought before the Senate.

I certainly also oppose extension of any sort of U. S. taxpayer foreign aid to Communist nation, and at least this year's Foreign Aid bill does not do that. But it does contain requests for some $3.5 billion, a great deal of which is excess to our needs. I expect the Senate to cut that total. And, the Senate has been asked to approve Foreign Aid for a five-year period. I expect that, too. Aid programs make it vitally to be cut back to one year necessary for the American people, through Congress, to take a close look at Foreign Aid each year—continuing what is working and eliminating what is wasteful and unproductive.

Quick Praise From CPI on Cotton Act Draws Senate- House Action

Action of Senate-House conferees in approving the Cotton Research and Promotion Act today drew quick praise from the chairman of trustees of the Cotton Producers Institute, Russell Giffen, Fresno, Calif., issued the following statement at a meeting here to review CPI's 1966 program.

"As we convened we were related to learn that action on the Cotton Research and Promotion Bill which was proposed by CPI has been successfully completed by House-Senate Conferees.

"As approved by the conferees and subsequently by the Senate today, the bill offers cotton producers a positive, practical approach for using their own money in developing a far bigger program of research and promotion to meet synthetic competition.

"It is anticipated that the conference report will be approved tomorrow by the House and will be on the president's desk before the end of the week.

"We are deeply indebted to leaders in the House, the Senate, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the support they have given to producers who proposed this legislation.

"Today, in reviewing CPI's 1966 program, we were tremendously encouraged by the results that are being achieved. These results from a small program show dramatically what can be accomplished for cotton if we have the much larger funds that are necessary for an adequate program.

"This year, for example, we have embarked for the first time on a limited program of cooperative retail store advertising. This cost-sharing technique has long been used against us by the man-made fiber producers for the simple reason that cotton has not had the money to use it. In 1966, we have tested this technique in cooperative advertising featuring cotton products in 20 metropolitan markets. The survey just completed shows that this initial effort was highly successful, both in terms of selling cotton and in the retail stores response to it. Retailers emphasize that this type of activity on an adequate scale will eliminate a major competitive handicap to increased sales of cotton products.

"It's the same situation in research. Our 1966 CPI program has put very heavy emphasis on development of improved all-cotton durable press -- an area where blends featuring synthetic fibers have been making very big gains at cotton's expense. At our meeting today we had a report on a major breakthrough in all-cotton durable press. A new technique developed by our research has made it possible to have all-cotton products with excellent durable press performance -- plus far greater abrasion resistance than with earlier treatments. This promises to make cotton a vigorous competitor in the fast-growing durable press market. It illustrates again what could be accomplished with and for cotton if adequate resources are available to mount an attack on all of our major problems and opportunities.

"This, of course, is the objective of the Cotton Research and Promotion Bill under which producers will have the chance to vote in a referendum on establishing a program of this kind.

"Obviously, it would be tragic for cotton to lose the momentum that has been generated by the present CPI program. The trustees agree that we urgently need to maintain and expand what we are now doing as the basis for the far bigger program of the future. We urge cotton producers and all other cotton interests involved in the present CPI program to redouble their efforts so that we may move into a new program without sacrificing any of the initiative and momentum of the present one."
