PASS SELECTIVE DRAFT BILL

The selective draft bill passed both houses last Saturday, but the details have not all been worked out yet. The age limit is likely to be compromised at about 21 to 35 years, Congress favoring 21 to 40 and the Senate from 21 to 27. The final details will soon be made public and then every one will know whether he is to go to the war or stay at home. All things point to the likelihood of farmers and farmer boys getting to stay on the farms and those not connected with any business allied with the farming industry stand good chances of going into the service. The final outcome is watched with interest by all.

Rules Governing American Flag

Rules governing the displaying of the United States flag have been issued by the War Department, as follows:

"The flag should never be hoisted at night.

"Raise the flag at sunrise or after.

"Lower the flag at sunset.

"The flag should never be allowed to touch the ground.

"The flag must not be used as a staff, whip or cover. Its position is aloft.

"When draping the flag against the side of a room or building, place the blue field always to the north or east.

"When displayed with other flags the national emblem should be placed at the right.

Good taste requires that bunting be draped or hung with the red at the top followed by the white and the blue in accordance with the heraldic colors of the flag. It is a mark of disrespect to allow the flag to fly throughout the night. A flag flown upside down is a signal of distress.

The flag, marred, should be burned and a new one hoisted in its place.

The flag should be hoisted from every public building, the court house for instance.

The Star Spangled Banner is the American national anthem. It should never be played unless the entire piece is rendered and the audience is expected to stand. At such a time as this it behooves the rules of our national banner and anthem.

JOIN OFFICERS' TRAINING CAMP

C. D. Akers, W. S. Sibley and R. Y. King went to Amarillo Monday and were enrolled for the officers training camp at Leon Springs to begin next week. They were accepted with sixty others that day. They will leave for Leon Springs about the first of next week and will go into training for three months at which time all who pass the final tests will be commissioned officers from the rank of second lieutenant up to major. The boys are to be congratulated upon their patriotism and upon their being able to pass the examination required to enter the officers' training camp.

Atty R. Y. King left Tuesday night for Wynnewood, Oklahoma, where he will visit his parents a few days before going to the officers training camp at Leon Springs, Texas.

Of the sixty-three applicants accepted at Amarillo Monday the recruiting officer, Captain Fitzhugh Lee (a grandson of Robert E. Lee) said "I will venture the assertion that 98 per cent of the men taken today will receive their commission when they have gone through their period of training."

Jesse Royall, who has been working on the Bond dray line for sometime, went to Fort Worth Monday to enlist in the navy.

John Lane writes back to his parents that he is in New York harbor on the U. S. Ship Southery, and is enjoying it.

Hedley is furnishing as many recruits as any other place in proportion to the population.

The Hedley patriotic honor roll thus far is as follows:

The B. W. M. W. will have a business meeting at the church Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Don't forget we do not have dues, but a free will offering every 1st Wednesday. If every member in this society would attend these meetings and work in proportion to the few who do attend, the results would be astonishing. Arouse yourselves, unconcerned members, and you who are not members, and meet with the Aid once in a while and it will benefit you as well as encourage the little band who are striving to carry on the work.

MRS. RAINS ENTERTAINS

Mrs. W. I. Rains and daughter, Mrs. W. C. Bridges, entertained the ladies of the Baptist church from 2:30 until 5 o'clock at the Rains home one and a half miles west of town Wednesday afternoon.

Those present were: Mesdames M. E. Bird, W. A. Brown, H. P. Hilbun, W. G. Brinson, W. R. McCarroll, Effie Dunn, J. L. Tims, Dallas Milner, Van Boone, Henry Tims, Grandma Boone, J. H. Cox, Chapman, J. G. McDougal, P. C. Johnson and J. C. Wells. Mrs. Dayton Shelton and daughter, Miss Mayme, of McKnight and Mrs. E. H. Watt and daughter, Miss Ruby, and Mrs. F. G. Watt of Giles were guests.

Before leaving all present were invited into the dining room and served delicious cream and cake.

It is needless to say that all present enjoyed every minute of the time and are always glad to accept the hospitality of Mrs. Rains.

ABANDON FOOD PREJUDICES

Be willing to try new foods. Certain plentiful and nourishing foods widely used and enjoyed in one section are practically unknown in other sections of the country. Learn to know all the good things; not a few only.

People too easily got into food ruts—insist on eating only the food they are used to and refuse to give a fair trial to others. This causes undue demand for certain staples, with resulting scarcity or high prices when crops are short. At the same time other valuable foods may be relatively cheap and available. A striking instance of this is failure fully to appreciate rice—a valuable source of starch—when potatoes are scarce and high. Another example is refusal in certain sections to use anything but wheat as a breadstuff when corn—a valuable cereal widely used elsewhere as a breadstuff—is plentiful and relatively cheap. Demonstrate thrift in your home: make saving, rather than spending, your social standard.

GRADUATES IN MUSIC

The Informer has received an invitation to attend the graduation pianoforte recital of Miss Grace Katherine Myers and others at Clarendon College May 7th. An interesting program is promised. Miss Myers is to be commended for her advancement in the musical realm, and we will be glad to attend her graduating recital.

MISSION NOTES

The W. M. Auxiliary had its 4th Bible study from Amos 7 and 8th chapters last Monday. These lessons are well attended, growing in interest and with Brother Hicks as leader each lesson is made so impressive as to be of lasting good.

Monday at 2:30 is our regular time of meeting. The 5th study is our lesson. Visitors welcome. New members solicited.

FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION

The Farm Loan Association of Hedley met last Saturday and finished electing the following officers: Frank Simmons, President; N. C. Duggins, Sec. Tres.; Directors: Frank Simmons, C. F. Doherty, D. W. Williams, J. T. Craddock, S. E. Harris, J. F. Randall; Appraisers: C. F. Doherty, C. A. Hicks, S. E. Harris, with three substitute appraisers as follows: S. E. Lyell, A. G. Davis, and J. Pickett.

Another meeting will be held Saturday May 12, at 2:30 and every man interested, and especially the members are requested and urged to be present.

Young Man, Young Lade, Prepare to serve your country and yourself. Will you give orders or only take them? Poverty is no barrier. You can succeed, and your country needs you.

The one thing absolutely necessary to success is the rugged determination that makes a fellow grit his teeth, clinch his fist, and say "I CAN BECAUSE I WILL." Your place in the world depends not upon circumstances, but upon YOU. Whether or not you will attain a high position in the work of your choice; whether you will give orders or take them; whether your pay will be "wages" or "salary"—all this depends upon your determination. First, last, and all the time, he wins that turns a resolute face to the grim old world of war, and answers its challenge with an unflinching, "I can serve my country and I WILL."

The supply of "average" workmen is usually greater than the demand. That is why even in times of peace the unskilled live so often in dread of idleness, with its specters of humiliation and discouragement. The market for uncertain help grows narrower with every invention of a labor-saving machine, and with every "examination" safeguard adopted by states or employers. The demand of today is for trained men and women. Men and women qualified, not only as soldiers but to help manage the business affairs of commerce and war. "What Can You Do?" Every office of business and war demands the keeping of books, the filling in of contracts and other legal documents, shorthand, typewriting or the operating of a telegraph key. Young man, young woman, can you do these things that are so much in demand in these trying times of war? Say to yourself, "I will prepare, I will succeed," and write for catalogue today, asking for credit plan if necessary. State confidently your financial condition, and the course you are interested in. Make the start, DO IT NOW. Girls this is your opportunity, your country needs you, prepare to serve it honorably and efficiently. Young ladies make the best of private secretaries. PROMINENT BANKERS COME OUT FOR TANLAC

Two Well-Known Bankers of the South Voluntarily Write Strong Letters of Indorsement to Tanlac Office at Atlanta on the Same Day Telling What It Had Done for Them.

ON MARCH 7th personal letters from prominent bankers in two southern states were received at the Tanlac office. These, like hundreds of thousands of other communications that have been pouring in with every delivery of the mail for the past year or more, express the writers' high appreciation of the merits of Tanlac, as proven by their own experience with it.

The first letter quoted comes through Eli W. Goode, druggist and local agent for Tanlac at Hawkinsville, Georgia, containing the statement of E. J. Henry, president of the Hawkinsville Bank and Trust company, which is one of the best known financial institutions in that part of the state. His letter follows, just as it was written:

"Hawkinsville, Georgia, March 5, 1917.
"Mr. G. F. Willis, Atlanta, Georgia.
"Dear Sir: Mr. E. J. Henry, president of the Hawkinsville Bank and Trust Company, came into my store a few days ago and said:

"Eli, sell me another bottle of Tanlac."

"I said 'All right, Mr. Henry. What do you really think of Tanlac?' His reply was so commendable to the virtues of the medicine, that I asked him if he would give me a signed statement about it. He said 'Yes, of course I will,' and this is his statement:

"Last spring I was all wrong some way or other, and couldn't get right. I came to you and bought a bottle of Tanlac and began to improve. Two more bottles put me all right, and I felt perfectly well. A few weeks ago I had the grippe and was beginning to get down and out again, and about a week ago I bought another bottle and have taken it and am perfectly well again.

"I unhesitatingly recommend Tanlac to anyone who is sick and worn-out, as I believe that if anybody will take Tanlac when they first begin to feel bad it will prevent and keep off sickness. It certainly is a great remedy.

(Signed)
"E. J. HENRY, President.

The other letter referred to comes from the cashier of the Hornbeck Branch of the West Louisiana Bank,

All in the Family.

"What has become of my toothbrush?" father asked.
"Oh, papa, Mary's father was here and he had the dirtiest teeth, and so I gave him your toothbrush. I thought he needed it more than you do."

"Well, don't you ever touch my toothbrush again," indignantly exclaimed father. "I don't see why your mother does not teach you better."

"Well, mama can't teach me as much as she would like to because she says I take so much after you."

"Glad to meet you," is what one man usually says, when introduced to another—but is he?

It is nothing unusual for men of prominence to endorse Tanlac, as over twenty-five thousand endorsements have been given Tanlac within the past year alone. These endorsements have come from people representing practically every walk of life, including Bankers, Lawyers, Judges, Doctors, prominent Government, State and County officials, prominent men of affairs, etc., but it is a noteworthy fact that in this particular instance two well-known bankers of the South have on the same day voluntarily written an expression of their gratitude for publication, telling what Tanlac has done for them.

In this connection one of the best known newspaper publishers of the South recently said:

"I know that there are at least a thousand people in this city who would be glad to endorse Tanlac," and what is true of that city is true of practically every other city of the South and West; in fact, throughout the entire country wherever this medicine has been sold.

The fame and popularity of Tanlac, as everyone knows, has swept over the whole country like wildfire and is now a household word from coast to coast.

Although placed on the market a little over two years ago over seven million bottles have already been sold, and the demand is constantly increasing.

Fads And Fancies Of Fashion

NEW ARRIVAL IN COAT-DRESS.

Just where and how far the designers of women's clothes are going in their strivings for something new, no one knows, but they are on their way. To prove it, here is a new coat-dress which we can easily forgive for keeping us guessing as to whether it is a dress or not, because it is so pretty and so full of style. There is provocation for a quarrel as to whether it is rightly called a dress or not, but its designers have so named it and we will take their word for it.

It is made of one of the new weaves in silk in a heavy crepe effect and hangs straight from shoulder to hem. There is no definition of the waist-line, but its lines depart from their straight and narrow way, a belt of the material holds them so that they cannot flow outward. The belt crosses at the front and fastens to the body of the dress at each side. All the way down the front pearl buttons attend strictly to the business of making the straightness of the frock emphatic.

Everything has real pockets this spring, and this dress is provided with one at each side in the style of a coat.

In shapes. They prove how much we owe to artists who transform the simplest and humblest headwear by interpretations of their own into hats of irresistible charm.

At the right the summery and flowery hat is made of fine black hair braid, set over a cap made also of a narrow black braid. The top crown is covered with tiny forget-me-nots in several colors and the brim edge is softened by little black silk balls, set close together about it. Narrow black velvet ribbon in two long ends have no particular reason for joining forces with the hat, except that the designer chose to put them where they are.

At the left a fascinating coolie shape is made of silk in deep orange color and black, set on a turban of black satin. Silk cords and twin tassels, original and splendid products of China, find themselves very much at home as a decoration for this model. About the edge small orange-colored steaks, make a finish that is unique.

The little turban is of black lisse and against its shiny surface Chinese characters in apple green are applied by means of black stitches. Each

BORROWING HAT STYLES FROM CHINA.

They are square and are buttoned down with a single button to the dress. A cape collar among many cape collars, becomes immediately interesting when its designer thinks of making slashes in it. This one is of soft pique and black velvet ribbon is run through the slashes, forming ties that hold the collar up about the neck. This idea is so good that it bears repetition in the turn-back cuffs also lined through slashes with ribbon.

It takes just these touches to make us concede that this new model is entitled to be called a dress. Taking it all in all it will prove very useful for wear instead of a suit.

Fashion is eliminating distances and the Chinese seem not remote since we have been borrowing hat styles from them. The war in Europe has brought the art of China and Japan, in rugs and furniture, in chinaware and in apparels, more forcibly to our notice than it has ever been before.

Two lovely models, inspired by the coolie hat, and a turban, shown in the group above are replicas of originals

HASHIMURA TOGO

DOMESTIC SCIENTIST
BY WALLACE IRWIN

TOGO RUNS A FURNACE

Dear Sir: Most recent job of employment I was impeached from was home of Mrs. and Mr. J. W. Humburg, Pondside, N. J. Perhaps you can tell me why, because I am disabled to understand the customary habits of some households.

Just a few days of yore I apply there in extreme coldness of snow. This Hon. Mrs. Humburg, dark hairs lady of muscular expression, approach to kitchen and observe me.

"You are a cook?" she ask it.
"Yes are!" I say it.
"Then you will be expected to feed the furnace while doing so," she negotiate harshly.

"Must I be an engineer because I am a hired girl?" I request.
"I guess supposedly," reing Hon. Mrs., while leading me to inferno of down-cellar where I was introduced to Hon. Furnace. This iron animal, Mr. Editor, lives like a very homely hermit in middle of low darkness. He set there in nest of ashes, with tin snakes growing from his forehead like zinc octopus. His teeth was full of blazes and he would of made a nice idol for Japanese to worship when feeling old-fashioned. I could not love his face which seem too hungry when open and too satisfied when closed.

"We never permit him to go out in winter," narrate Hon. Mrs.
"I shall watch see he do not escape," I promise with T. Roosevelt eyebrows.

Annexed to Hon. Furnace were a slight clock with one finger going around like taxicab. "This are the steam gag," explain Hon. Mrs. "He are now pointing 23."

"Do that tell age of Hon. Furnace?" I require educationally.
"No, not!" she enagger. "That indicate the number lbs. steam in boiler. You must be careful about that. If Hon. Steam Gag jump above 25 lbs. that will mean Hon. Furnace have got too much steam on his brain and might blow up with Billy Sunday noise. When Hon. Steam Gag get too ambitious, Oh, cool Hon. Furnace with immediate quickness before explode up!"
"A Samurai janitor fears no steam!" I reject proudly, while folding my elbows over coal shovel.

Mr. Editor, I did not stoke long in this situation of work, but I make very pleasant impression of it. Although I enjoy thumb-scorch, ash-eye, and janitorial pain of spine, yet I commence to love Hon. Furnace for his characteristic.

Pretty soon, while doing this, I begin to feel like engineers running ocean hound-dog. I decorate my complexion with smudges and imagine how 1,000 Newport passengers was on upstairs deck congratulating my intelligence. While thinking thusly I poke more coal into inflated mouth of Hon. Furnace. Yet I keep my scientific eyesight on Hon. Steam Gag for see he did not overjump 25 lbs., thusly causing mania to explode.

Hon. Furnace seem more depressed that afternoon p. m., so I sit beside him to shovel nourishment. Hon. Steam Gag say 14, which are very sick temperature. Hon. Furnace look dull-eye like fish, and more I coaled him the less he bet. I feed him slight soap-box for light foods, and by 4:11 he smile more pleasanter and commence eating coal. At 5:12 Hon. Steam Gag awake up to taxicab work.

Thusly I left him and go to kitchen for make food for rest of family. But my soul would not get into that kitchen work, Mr. Editor. It were similar to a janitor attempting to be a chef. It might be done, but can it? I almost nearly put shovel of coal in apple-pie, I was thinking so hard about what would tempt appetite of furnaces.

However, I finished fashionable foods for that Humburg family to eat, to include considerable potato and canned corn. Hon. Mrs. who went to Trenton for slight shop-buy, arrive back at 6:34 attached to her Husband.

I Poke in Oilcloth, Which Blaze Resembling July 4 and Smell More So. I observe that gentleman through door-hinge and notice his disagreeable Wall Street appearance. He look entirely bear-market. First thing he do when approaching inside was to sneeze while walking to Hon. Radiator and touching him with diamond fingers.

After dinner-eat he approach to kitchen and say: "Togo," he say with doggiak voice, "Furnaces are made for heats. Otherwise we would use ice-boxes, which is just as handsome. Any cook who cannot feed my furnace should be banished for cruelty."

"I understand this knowledge," I report chivalrously.
"Did you permit Hon. Furnace to go out?"
"Ah, no, not I did!" This I say. "I watch him entire day and give you my truthful insurance he did not leave that cellar."

"Tonight you must compel him to heat, no matter how desperado you act," he sharrel, departing off with bang-slam.

At hearing such adjectives, angry rages filled my hair with scorn. What is so ungrateful as ingratitude? Nothing!! Had I not sat by sick-bed of Hon. Furnace, feeding him what stomach would hold? Yes! And yet this crude gentleman reproach my firemanship with coolness.

Nextly I became determined. I would compel that heater to a hotter thermometer if I cooked my soul doing so, I declare!

So I ascend down to cellar. Hon. Furnace was still there doing the same. I shook him with considerable peev, but he merely answered by winking his dull coals. Hon. Steam Gag say 18 and act like he was intending to faint away. I have read in novel-book about bravery of engineer who save his ship by burning it up for steam. I shall do similar!

I burst up kitchen table, which should burn nice because covered with happy grease. Hon. Furnace love such foods and eat him with loudy roar. Hon. Steam Gag jump forward to 19. Afterwards I poke in oilcloth which blaze resembling July 4 and smell more so. At this sight Hon. Steam Gag leap onward to 21 and that cave where Furnace lived became quite sun-stroke. And when I fetch forth excelsior-shave quenched with kerosene, I ever observed Hon. Furnace chew more satisfaction. Coal I added in hodd—when—Oh, look!

Hon. Steam Gag had arrived at 27 and was pointing his reckless finger further up! This could not happen!!! I remember how Hon. Mrs. had cautiously warned me that Hon. Furnace would get steamed brain and explode from dementia if Hon. Gag stirpass 25 lbs. Yet there he was approaching 30 with mean taxi-click!

What should heroes do with such circumstances? I thought lightning. Too much fire make too much steam, too much steam make blow-off. Therefore fire must quit at once. With rapid coal-scuffle I make outrush to kitchen sink where I fill him with water and make back-rush to cellar. I open mouth of Hon. Furnace, and embracing my elbows, throw water with awful strength. What did that cruel furnace reply then?

WHOOSH!!!
Out-jump of steam, cooked coal & atmosphere suppress me backwards with such rapidity that I hurried through 2 doors and I window, arriving in outside snow-bank on the seat of my stomach.

"What deed have you done now?" scream Hon. Mrs. from topside porch.
"Your furnace just discharge me," I flop back disgustly.
"I congratulate him," she narrate. Then she make earnest close-downs to window, so there I sat surrounded by frost.

Hoping you are the same,
Yours truly,
HASHIMURA TOGO.

Famous California Trees

ONE of the first impressions the visitor receives when he enters California is the wide variety of palms to be found everywhere. You see them in the gardens of rich and poor, along the city streets and country lanes, in park conservatories, in private homes, in the theaters, the hotel lobbies, the shop windows.

Your interest is aroused and then you begin asking questions. You soon get so that you can pick out the most popular varieties and then you learn their history and origin, for palms from every section of the world grow in California.

From a historical standpoint, the most unusual palm tree in the state stands at the foot of the Presidio Hill, in San Diego. It was planted by Father Junipero Serra, who brought European civilization into California in 1769, and it is said that the only time the seedling bore fruit was in 1889, probably in honor of its one-hundredth anniversary.

For years, a group of these tall palms stood on this spot, much scarred and neglected. In April, 1887, a fence was built to protect them from further desecration. Six years later, one of them was taken up and displayed in the glass horticultural building of the Chicago Columbian exposition. It did not live long, however, probably because it suffered from the long journey across the continent or missed the salt breeze it had enjoyed for a century and a quarter.

Old Landmark Preserved. Several years ago, a severe wind-storm badly damaged another of these veteran sentinels and it, too, succumbed, leaving but one of the group standing. This impressed the authorities with the necessity of preserving this old landmark and so it has been braced and taken care of, and as a result it bids fair to live for many years.

But this reminder of California's mission days is not by any means the oldest or tallest palm in California. In Riverside county is Palm Canyon, located in the dry, barren hills forming the eastern slope of Mt. San Jacinto. There may be found thousands of native fan palms, many of them over a hundred feet tall, that are estimated by scientists to have been standing the famous landscape gardener, who has made Golden Gate Park, in San Francisco, one of the beauty spots of the world. His crowning achievement at the Panama-Pacific International exposition was the stately Avenue of Palms which he built by transplanting palms (soil, roots and all) from gardens in many near-by bay cities.

For half a mile, the avenue was bordered by a double row of California fan palms and Canary Island date palms, ranging in height from 18 to 25 feet. They were festooned with vines, and blossoming nasturtiums and geraniums and ferns were planted in the interstices of the roughened trunks and looked as if they had been there all ways. Some of the palms were 15 years old, and since the close of the great fair they have again been transplanted to permanent locations along the roadways in the Presidio, Uncle Sam's great military reservation.

One of the most remarkable collections of outdoor palms in California is to be found in the Gillespie garden at Santa Barbara. Mr. Gillespie is an enthusiastic collector. He has searched the deserts of Africa, the mountains of Mexico and the islands of the sea to add new specimens to his collection.

Extensive Variety of Trees. During a recent visit, I was told that more than 200 varieties have been planted in the extensive Persian garden. One of the most interesting trees to an enthusiast is a Gundalupa palm, a native of the island of Gundalupa, some 250 miles south of San Diego. In a sheltered arroyo, I saw a grand specimen of the Arcaea sapida from far-away New Zealand. Ivarfed Chamserops humilis, from the Mediterranean region, contrasted strongly with the stately Chamserops excelsa, from China. On the terraced hillside, I noted the Jubea spectabilis, or Wine Palm of Chile; the Erythrae armata, commonly called the Blue Palm, a native of Lower California; the Sabal Palmetto, or Cabbage Palm of Florida; and even the Scaevola, from Australia, one of the most elegant of the palm family.

But the most striking of all is the double row of feathery Cocos plumosa, natives of Southern Brazil, and the wide-spreading Phoenix canariensis that border the impressive roadway when Columbus discovered America. Dr. Wellwood Murray visited this unusual canyon about thirty years ago, and upon viewing these wonderful trees, was at once struck with the possibilities of using them for ornamental purposes. He gathered their seeds, shipped them to seedmen throughout the country, also to Europe, and today there are hundreds of thousands of these palms.

Visitors used to dig up the young palms and carry them away to adorn their gardens, but this was stopped about fifteen years ago, when this remarkable canyon and several minor palm groves immediately adjacent were set aside as a national reserve.

Visitors to Los Angeles marvel at the slender, towering palms that are to be found in private gardens. Some are still hale and hardy that were planted shortly after the founding of the pueblo in 1781. Many of them rise to a height of 100 feet and it is surprising how they weather the strong winter winds without being snapped in two or blown down, for their roots are neither deep nor wide-spreading. These palms belong to another species, native to Lower California, but those of lower growth and far greater girth are true Californians.

Pride of Los Angeles. The two oldest trees in Los Angeles stood near the River station of the Southern Pacific and when the railroad company decided to use the land for building purposes, they allowed a wide-awake real estate dealer to move the palms to a new subdivision near Santa Monica. The experiment was watched with great interest. Unfortunately, as they were being raised from the wagon on which they were being transported, the tackle parted and the veterans were broken.

The most notable and successful example of moving old palms, however, was accomplished by John McLaren, leading to Mr. Gillespie's Italian villa, which is surrounded by the most unusual water garden in California.

Resemble Marching Regiment. Thousands of these ornamental palms are used to advantage on the Hope ranch, on the outskirts of Santa Barbara. From an elevation we first beheld them in great numbers flanking the winding roadway in the valley below. They reminded me of a regiment of erect soldiers marching with precision, two abreast, carrying huge umbrellas over their heads to protect them from the intense heat. And as we watched them from a speeding automobile, there was the added optical illusion, owing to the regularity with which they had been planted in double rows, of the trees actually moving with long strides over the valley and disappearing over the rolling hills.

The city of Fresno boasts a palm-lined avenue that is without doubt one of the finest in the state, not excepting the famous Magnolia avenue of Riverside. It was graded, planted and improved in 1892 by the late Theodore Kearny at his own expense and donated to the county. Think of a smooth, dead-level road eleven miles long, 140 feet wide, bordered on both sides with fan palms, oleanders, eucalypti and pampas grass! The roadway runs through beautiful stretches of vineyards and fruit trees, and in places, along the grain fields, are masses of California's state flower, the poppy, of such vivid golden coloring as to suggest a flow of fiery lava in a sea of emerald.

Criminal Carelessness. "What brought you here, my policeman?" asked the prison visitor.

"Just a little bit of absent-mindedness," replied the prisoner.

"How was that?"

"I forgot to scratch the monogram off a watch before I pawned it."

DADDY DAIRY

PROFITS FROM FALL CALVES

Farmers Find It Most Profitable to Have Cows Freshen in Autumn—Needs Less Feeding.

Because more milk would be produced in the year and calves would be raised cheaper, farmers find it most profitable to have their cows freshen in the fall months.

The cow gives a large flow of milk at the beginning of the period of lactation. In the spring the milk yield, which gradually falls off, is suddenly increased when the cow is turned on fresh pasture.

Calves born in the fall need mainly milk and eat little grain during the period of winter feeding. When spring comes they are ready to be turned on pasture. Spring calves consume milk and grain during the cheap pasture season and require the same high-priced feeds during the following winter, when they are older and thus eat more. The fall-born calf at the same age needs only pasture.

At the Ohio experiment station some calves born in the fall were raised for about $5 less than others born in the spring. Under average farm conditions this difference would be even greater, as no grain would be fed to fall-born calves on pasture, while those at the station were given grain because of pasture shortage.

"GENTLE" BULL DOES INJURY

Few "Don'ts" Given by Expert of Missouri College to Be Followed in Handling Bulls.

By W. W. SWETT, Missouri College of Agriculture.

Following are a few "don'ts" which can be followed to advantage in handling a bull:

Don't underfeed him when young or keep him overfat when mature.

Don't abuse him. You can get better results by gentle but firm handling.

Don't tease him or allow children to play with him.

Don't let him get the upper hand at any time.

Don't let him realize his enormous strength.

Don't keep him confined. Give him plenty of exercise.

Don't trust any bull at any time. It is the "gentle" bull that does the damage.

CALF WEANER IS EFFECTIVE

Device Arranged With Sharp Point Which Pricks Youngster's Nose—Can Graze Freely.

When a calf, weaning this weaner, tries to get a meal from its mother, the sharp point pricks its nose, and the shield is curved at the sides and prevents side sucking. Since the device is suspended freely from the nostrils, grazing is not interfered with.

KEEP CORRECT MILK RECORDS

Note Production of Each Individual Cow and Save Heifer Calves From Large Producers.

You cannot always buy good cows, but another way to get a good herd together is by keeping records of the production of each individual cow in your herd and saving the heifer calves from the larger producers. These calves being from a good registered sire and from selected cows, it will not take many years to build up a first-class herd. You can only know your best cows by continuous weighing and testing of the milk, and keeping records of each individual, so that some information may be secured as to the cost of production, which is growing more important as the prices of feed stuffs and labor advance.

CALVES GROWN ON SKIM MILK

Cost Is Less Than Where Whole Milk Is Fed—Animals Make Better Gains in the Feed Lot.

The cost of growing calves on skim milk was less than where whole milk was fed, or where the calves ran with their dams, and the skim-milk calves made better gains when put into the feed lot than the others did, according to some experimental work at the Kansas station.

It cost $2.26 per 100 pounds gain on the calves fed on skim milk, $7.90 per 100 pounds gain on whole milk, and $4.41 per 100 pounds gain where the calves ran with their dams. When these same calves were put into the feed lot the skim-milk calves made the fastest gains and the whole-milk calves next.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once if bilious or constipated.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, fall of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR SICK STOMACH

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin ends all Stomach misery in five minutes.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or bad stomach. Adv.

CRISIS OF WOMAN'S LIFE

Change Safely Passed by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wagoner, Okla.—"I never get tired of praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because during Change of Life I was in bed two years and had two operations, but all the doctors and operations did me no good, and I would have been in my grave today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which brought me out of it all right, so I am now well and do all my housework, besides working in my garden. Several of my neighbors have got well by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. VIOLA FINICAL, Wagoner, Okla.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried many women safely through the crisis.

PATENTS

Knew What Dad Would Say.

Jack, the three-year-old brother of the new and historic Bellefontaine Avenue twins, has taken up his dad's burden in a remarkable manner, considering his years. A neighbor lady calling on the twins the other night expressed her approval of them, and then turned to Jack and asked: "Jack, may I have your little sister Betty?"

Jack consented readily. "And how about little brother Bob—may I have him, too?" Jack said sure.

"Well, what would papa say when he came home and found them gone?" "Oh," said Jack, "he'd say, 'You're very welcome.'"

Rats and Fires.

At a time when everyone is complaining of the high cost of living it will be well to see if we cannot eliminate two great sources of waste—fires and rats.

Most fires are needless. All rats are so. Some years ago a study of the rat problem in Philadelphia arrived at the conclusion that the rodents that city ate more than a million dollars' worth of food each year. At that rate, the disgusting creatures can hardly cost less than $100,000,000 per year to the whole country. This is a pretty high price to pay for the companionship of impish pests which, besides their other bad habits, undermine floors and carry the most dreaded of all diseases, bubonic plague.

Yet fires are more expensive than rats. In 1915—the last year for which figures are at hand—the American people paid out in premiums for fire insurance $419,301,346. Of this vast sum at least three-fourths could be saved by reducing our fire record to the rate prevailing in England, France or Germany; and even in our time and worth $900,000,000 per year is a saving worth noting, and one which would have a perceptible effect on the cost of living.

"There's a Reason"

ECONOMY OF FEEDING GRAIN ON PASTURE

Forage crops make cheap pork, because they permit cutting the grain allowance to the minimum. A system of management which will furnish forage through the entire grazing season should be planned early.

Rye and bluegrass will furnish pasture early in the spring, and may be followed by alfalfa or clover. Hogs have been turned onto alfalfa at the Missouri College of Agriculture as early as April 10, although it will usually be several weeks later before it is ready. Clover will usually be ready for pasture during the last half of May.

These crops must be seeded the year previous to that in which they are to be grazed. Perhaps the best spring-sown forage is dwarf Essex rape, or a mixture of rape and oats. Rape may be seeded for hog pasture as early as the ground can be worked half of May or the first of June, it should be ready for pasturing in six to eight weeks.

Hogs which have been pastured during the grazing season on crops already mentioned may be finished by allowing them to hog down corn and soy beans. These crops may be grown together or in separate fields. If grown in separate fields, they should be arranged so that the hogs can have the run of both fields at the same time, since the two crops make a better ration than either alone.

Experimental results at the Missouri agricultural experiment station show that, on forage, it required an average of 3.18 pounds of grain to produce one pound of pork, as compared with 5.11 pounds, the average from five dry-lot feeding trials conducted under similar conditions. This would mean a saving of 38 per cent in the amount of grain fed. With hogs worth 10 cents a pound, the average return per bushel of corn fed to hogs grazing on forage was $1.84. With hogs at the same price the average return per bushel of corn fed in dry lot was $1.10. These results emphasize the economy of feeding grain on pasture.

MINERAL MATTER IS ESSENTIAL FOR COWS

Ordinary Rations Do Not Contain Sufficient Amount of Material for Milk.

Dairy cows ordinarily cannot digest from rations of the usual character sufficient mineral matter to meet the demands made by heavy milk production. This conclusion has been reached by nutrition experts at the Ohio experiment station after two years' investigations with cows yielding large quantities of milk.

These specialists also say that even when the common practical rations are supplemented with large amounts of calcium carbonate and bone flour, the cows still give off more lime than they can digest from their rations. To meet this demand for heavy milk production the cows must draw upon the mineral substances of their skeletons.

Further attempt is being made, by the use of more readily soluble lime salts, to learn whether a cow can absorb as much lime as she gives off during heavy milk production.

The results obtained thus far emphasize the value of leguminous roughages in milk production. Without liberal allowance of such feeds the loss of minerals from the bones becomes excessive, and predisposes to disorders of nutrition.

CONSTRUCTION OF INDIVIDUAL HOGHOUSE

CLEAN, WELL-VENTILATED HOG SHELTER.

Farmers will find the individual hoghouse shown in the sketch practical, since it is easy to build, and can be moved from place to place readily on the skids provided, writes W. E. Friddle of Charles City, Ia., in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The frame is built up of 2 by 4 inch stuff, braced with 3/4-inch strips. Three A-frames give the main support to the house, and the cross brace is notched into them. It is 8 feet long and 6 feet wide, with a door at one end, and ventilating doors on the sides and the other end. The frame is covered with siding, shiplap, or plain 3/4-inch boards. The floor is of heavy planks. The construction provides for ventilation spaces at the eaves of the ends, as shown in the lower detail sketch. The side doors are hinged at the top and can be raised and set under props fastened to the ends of the house, permitting the air and sunlight to enter freely, and making it convenient to clean. Fenders should be built around the inside, about 8 inches above the floor to protect the young shoats.

STOP CALOMEL! TAKE DODSON'S LIVER TONE

New Discovery! Takes Place of Dangerous Calomel—It Puts Your Liver To Work Without Making You Sick—Eat Anything—It Can Not Salivate—Don't Lose a Day's Work!

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to try a bottle and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work. I want to see a bottle of this wonderful liver medicine in every home here.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

Get a bottle! Try it! If it doesn't do exactly what I say, tell your dealer to hand your money back. Every druggist and store keeper here knows me and knows of my wonderful discovery of a vegetable medicine that takes the place of dangerous calomel.—Adv.

Fantastic. A government official, condemning a suggested war economy of a rather fantastic nature, said at a Washington dinner: "This economy reminds me of the private who visited the canteen and asked for a pound of bacon. 'Yes, sir,' said the canteen keeper, 'and what kind of bacon do you prefer?' 'That there nice, long, streaky kind,' said the private. 'Then I can use the kind for shoe-laces.'"

WOMEN! IT IS MAGIC! LIFT OUT ANY CORN

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without pain or soreness. A Cincinnati man discovered this other compound and named it Freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of Freezone, like here shown, for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful. It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Hard, soft or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain here, or afterwards. If your druggist hasn't Freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.—adv.

Old Looks?

(BY DR. L. H. SMITH)
Persons suffering from too much uric acid in the system frequently look older than they should. They age faster and the appearance of gray hair or baldness in early years is, indeed, often a sign of uric acid. The face appears lean and haggard, lines and wrinkles appearing in young men or women.

The best way to combat this premature age and the obstruction to the arteries and faulty circulation is of the simplest: Drink copiously of pure water between meals. This will not make you fat, as it is only the water taken with the meals that fattens. Obtain at any drug store a package of Anuric, double strength, which is to be taken before meals, in order to expel the uric acid from the system. The painful effects of backache, lumbago, rheumatism, gout, due to uric acid in the blood should quickly disappear after treatment with Anuric.

IT'S THE SAME STORY EVERYWHERE

Irving, Tex.—"After using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets, I have found relief from being disturbed about three times at night; rheumatism in elbows is gone also; appetite and general health are good."—CARL EKRUET, Irving, Tex.

Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package of Anuric Tablets.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little Liver Pills. These tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules—the smallest and easiest to take. Made up of May apple, the dried juice of the leaves of aloe and the root of jalap. Almost every drug store in this country sells these vegetable pellets, as well as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the ever-famous friend to ailing women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, proven by years to be the greatest general reconstructer.

Published Every Friday.

$1.00 Per Year in Advance

Entered as second class matter October 28, 1910, at the postoffice at Hedley, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Four issues make a newspaper month.

Advertising locals run and are charged for until ordered out, unless specific arrangements are made when the ad is brought in.

All Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, Advertising Church or Society doings when admission is charged, will be treated as advertising and charged for accordingly.

We are still wondering if it wouldn't be a wise idea for Hedley to have a clean up day.

Some day we hope to see Hedley go through the cleaning process, but it seems so long, oh, so long.

Business is not altogether a question of dollars. It is equally a question of enlarged community life and co-operation,—what ever keeps your town on the map.

Whatever makes people think along higher lines, and whatever cultivates the desire for the acquisition of better things in life, is to be commended. The chautauqua does this.

What are the men of the land for if not to defend their country, and if this war is just and right, why are not they enlisting and their women urging them on, instead of mothers having to wage a war with the love in their hearts even before the battle begins.—Parwell Tribune.

Don't get excited over the possibility of an overproduction of food and feed crops this year. If it rains in time plant every foot of ground you have to something that will furnish food for man or feed for stock. It is not improbable that something will be raised on our soil before long. If it is not food it may be Sherman's war product.—Board County News.

The young people of any community supporting a chautauqua have such privileges and such opportunities as our forefathers never dreamed of. If our ancestors had an opportunity to hear and see one great man in a score of years they considered themselves lucky. Today the chautauqua offers a multitude of chances to hear, for little money, the foremost thinkers and musicians in the land.

During a recent discussion in the U. S. Senate, Senator Hitchcock said: "I have been a newspaper man for thirty years and I have never found in any community of any size the lack of some paper that would stand up for the public interest in an emergency. Today newspapers are giving thousands of dollars' worth of space gratuitously and enthusiastically. Ten million dollars would not suffice for the publicity which can be got free in the next six months."

We need prosperity in war time even more than when we are at peace. Business depressions are a ways bad, but doubly so when we have a fight on our hands. The declaration of war can have no real evil effect on business. What bad effects are apparent are purely psychologic and largely of our own foolish making. Our markets are the same in April that they were in March. We need more business, not less. There is real danger in hysteria. Indiscriminate economy will be ruinous. Now is the time to open the throttle. Let us make "Better Business" our watchword and keep our factory fires burning.—Howard E. Coffin.

DO YOUR "BIT"

It doesn't sound very patriotic to hear any one saying that the United States had no business to get into war and that it has no right to say what its citizens should do. You know there is a song being sung these days "If you don't like your Uncle Sam just go back to your home across the sea" that should be changed to "If you don't want to be a true citizen of the country that has always protected you, just go to some country that has no civilized government. In time of peace, every man is a free man, but in time of war every man is under military rule and owes something to his country. One may howl that the government is wrong, all wrong; but just let a band of outlaws begin to invade the country or the home and those self-same kickers would be the first to call upon the government to send troops to protect them and their families. The man who expects all kinds of help from his country and is not willing to give anything in return is a sorry citizen indeed. That reminds us that only a few months ago we heard some parties berating the President for not opening the seas so that we could have a market for our cotton. Now, that cotton is a good price they are well satisfied, and we needn't have war; but let the shipping be stopped again and the price go down those same fellows would go to cussing the government again for letting Germany run it over us. For pity's sake, what do such men want? What will satisfy them? A few years service in the army would make some folks appreciate their country more, and understand better what our flag stands for. Quit kicking, and get in line to do your bit for America in any way that may be asked of you.

Pressing Clothes is as Much an Art as Making Them

We claim that to properly and thoroughly press any kind of garment it must be done on a Hoffman sanitary steam clothes pressing machine. This method produces the natural body shape in clothes of every description, raises the nap, brings out the color, gives the garment an appearance of newness and causes it to last much longer. Let us convince you.

Got Something You Want to Sell?

Most people have a piece of furniture, a farm implement, or something else which they have discarded and which they no longer want.

These things are put in the attic, or stored away in the barn, or left lying about, getting of less and less value each year.

WHY NOT SELL THEM?

Somebody wants these very things which have become of no use to you. Why not try to find that somebody by putting a want advertisement in

Save Pennies—Waste Dollars

Some users of printing save pennies by getting inferior work and lose dollars through lack of advertising value in the work they get. Printers as a rule charge very reasonable prices, for none of them get rich although nearly all of them work hard.

THOUGHT HIM DOWN AND OUT

Old Friends Meant Well, But Real.
"Henry Brown" Was in No Need of Assistance.

A wealthy and middle-aged business man who requests that his name be not used in connection with this story, likes to do his own automobile repairing. His garage is some distance from his house, temporarily; that is, he is renting a garage about a block away from home. And one Sunday morning he put on his working clothes and went over to do some tinkering on his machine.

When he had finished puttering about, he was pretty dirty. His clothes were a mess, but that didn't make any difference, for they were regular working clothes. His hands were black, and he was sadly in need of a shave. So he hurried home to clean up. And on the sidewalk, a few doors from his home, he met a man whom he hadn't seen for 20 years.

"Why, isn't this Henry Brown?" asked the other man.

"Yes, it is," answered our friend. "And I guess you're Jim Jones. Glad to see you. What are you doing in Cleveland?"

"Just staying with friends for a few days," answered the old friend, looking our hero over with a puzzled expression. "Do you live in Cleveland—but, of course, you do."

"Yes, I've lived here for 20 years," answered Mr. Brown, who was totally unconscious of his appearance, and wondered at the plying and puzzled expression on the other's face. "I suppose I'm settled here for life—don't see any chance to get out of the everlasting grind I'm up against."

"Oh, cheer up," said Jones, clapping him on the shoulder. "Things are never too late to mend. I think I know an opening for a man who is sober and industrious—it would be better than the work you seem to be doing now. Here's my card—I'll be at the hotel for three days. You come around tomorrow at your noon hour and I'll see what I can do for old time's sake."

Brown stood staring at him as he hurried away. Then he grinned and entered his house.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cooky Drawer

Having hit upon such an excellent place for keeping drop cooking (or any others) I thought perhaps someone else might welcome the idea. It is a shallow box, three inches deep, three feet long, and as wide as the pantry shelf. I made it from a smooth wooden grocery box and painted it inside and out with white enamel paint. The cookies can be laid flat on sheets of waxed paper in the bottom. As the drawer is entirely concealed by the shelf paper it would be a good idea where it is thought necessary to conceal cookies from the small members of the household.—Aunt Jo.
