SCHOOL NOTES

Hurrah! Hurrah! Mr. Biggers is back at school again. Of course, he isn't teaching yet, but it's real encouraging even to know that he is around. We hope that he will soon be able to resume his old duties.

Just think! Christmas is almost here! Old Santa will soon be scuttling down the chimney with presents for the boys and girls who have studied hard and obeyed their teachers, but I fear he will forget all who have been naughty. What do YOU expect?

Last Thursday was "Junior Day." All of the Junior girls came to school with their hair pulled straight back, and decorated with bows of ribbon of various shades and sizes. Bernice Bell would have, by unanimous vote, I believe, been chosen as the one using the most original style in arranging her coiffure. However, they all felt highly elated, for wherever they went they were met by wide eyed and open mouthed crowds of school pupils, who seemed to be trying to figure out just what kind of new "evil spirit" had come to our school.

Miss Trapp, to Juniors: "What is the difference in an organ and a bee hive?"

Juniors: "We give up."

Miss Trapp: "An organ makes notes, and a bank takes notes."

Juniors: "You didn't say 'bank,' you said 'bee hive.'"

Miss Trapp: "That's where you got stung."

Miss Cannedy, to J. R.: "What are the three words used most in our school?"

J. R.: "I don't know."

Miss Cannedy: "Correct."

Miss Cannedy in Civics class: "Rubye, who is our President?"

Rubye (dreamily): "Bill."

James, to Myrtella: "I got four letters today and they were all from girls."

Myrtella: "Hadn't you written to any of them?"

James: "Oh, yes, we used to write, but I stopped about a month ago."

Myrtella: "Yes, I see; just like all boys do about Christmas time."

OIL NEWS FROM THE BUCK CREEK WELL

The drilling on the Buck Creek well has been hampered by cold weather and a fishing job. A bit was lost in the hole last Friday night and was caught Monday.

Drilling has been resumed and the well is nearing the 3000 foot mark, and still drilling in lime.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Registered Duroc Jersey boar.
Ray Doherty

Last week we made a ridiculous error in the article about the nephew of Mrs. J. G. Mc Dougal—E. M. Ewen Jr., of Memphis. Among other things, we stated there was a new boy baby at his home, when as a matter of fact young Mr. Ewen is not married at all and is only seventeen years old. Just another case of getting our wires badly crossed, at which we have long been an expert. Our apologies are extended to all concerned.

RENTER WANTED

Have 150 acres old land and 100 acres new land. Will sell teams and machinery. You can plant some cotton and give me the rent. I will buy all the feed you can raise.

JUNIOR-SENIOR ENTERTAINMENT

On Saturday night, Dec. 9th, the Juniors entertained the Seniors at the home of Eula Curd.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with the Junior and Senior class colors, Christmas bells and glistening snow.

Interesting games were participated in with keen enjoyment and roars of laughter from the jolly pupils. Then invigorating refreshments were served daintily by the Juniors.

After a hearty thanks for such a pleasant evening, and a "good-night," the guests returned home to dream of snow flakes and Christmas bells.

Uncommon Sense . . .

By JOHN BLAKE

MANAGE YOURSELF

A GREAT singer, who has to spend about eighteen hours a day taking care of his health and his voice, which are his capital, needs a manager, and has one.

A great actor, whose every minute is required to continue being a great actor, also needs a manager.

We take it that you are neither a great singer nor a great actor, because you belong to the vast majority of human beings.

Therefore, while you need a manager, too, you don't need to hire one. You can be your own.

This is true, whether you are your own boss, or what the socialists call a wage slave.

If you are a wage slave you will to some extent have to submit to the management of the man who is set over you.

But he can only manage you in working hours, and he can't manage your mind at all. And it is your mind, and the way it is managed, that will make or break you before you get through.

Take over that job yourself. If it is an unruled mind, make it law-abiding. If it is a roaming mind, given to wandering over all sorts of subjects when it ought to be confined to one, discipline it.

Keep it on the job it ought to be doing. Teach it to concentrate and make it practice this new accomplishment.

If it is a lazy mind, force it to work and to work hard. If it objects and acts as if it might crack under the strain, don't worry about it. Keep it working and it will soon learn to do its work without getting fagged.

While you are managing your mind, manage your body, too. Make it control its appetites, and take cold baths, and tackle hard work without flinching.

Don't let it overeat or neglect to get plenty of sleep, or do any of the foolish things that bodies will do if they are permitted to have their own way.

Mind and body well managed will soon be worth more to your boss and, consequently, more to you. If your boss won't pay the extra value, get another boss; but be sure first that the extra value is there. It is easy to think you are worth more than you are, and to underestimate the boss' judgment in that respect.

After you have been managing yourself for a while you will know how to manage others. Then, when you get a chance, you will be able to improve it. You will find the job difficult at first, but pleasant and profitable afterward. Try it and see if this isn't true.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

THE GREATEST ART

IF YOU will look around you with undarkened vision, without prejudice in your heart, and with a mind bent upon getting at the truth quite regardless of the pang it may cause your pride, you will discover that the greatest art of all arts is the art of pleasing others.

And this art, though simple as it may appear on the surface, is the most difficult art in the whole world of human practice.

It means at the very beginning of its acceptance the subjugation of spirit and passion, the conformation of will, talent and effort to the free reception of others who shall eventually pass upon your work and give it approval.

Like you, the judges are human, but their judgment, however it may affect your purse or temper, is final, inasmuch as it opens the door to hope or imprisons you with despair.

ABSENCE

By WILL M. MAUPIN

HOW big a little house can be When all have gone away And left no one at home but me; How dreary, grim and gray The shadows are at eventide, When lone and tired I come And have no one to sit beside Me when at last I'm home.

The hall seems leagues of distance wide, Each room a vast estate; Dark ferns in dusky corners hide And terrors lie in wait. Deep silence reigns, and over all The lonesome shadows creep; I list to hear a soft footfall From out the silence deep.

No welcome laugh, no smiling face, No enger, running feet To meet me as I near the place; No kiss from lips so sweet. A barren isle in wilderness sea; A rock in desert wide; No hands that beckon unto me Near home at eventide.

And yet, ere morning sun awakes I feel a presence sweet; Dream faces dreary fancy breaks And bring a joy complete. I feel the touch of little hands, See smiles of childish glee; And as from far-off Fairyland My children come to me.

O'er low-flung hills and valleys wide, Far from the city's strife, Midst country scenes where joys abide Are children dear and wife. So what care I if dark and drear The cottage seems to be, If brown and strong my kiddies dear Soon hasten home to me!

MOTHER! BREAK CHILD'S COLD

Hurry! Move Little Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Whatever else you give your child to relieve a bad cold, sore throat or congestion, be sure to first open the little one's bowels with "California Fig Syrup" to get rid of the poisons and waste which are causing the cold and congestion. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out.

COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks a Cold in Few Hours

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken. The first dose opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages of head; stops nose running; relieves headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing. The second and third doses usually break up the cold completely and end all gripe misery.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist upon Pape's.

Good luck's principal ingredients are prudence and industry.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT NEXT DOSE MAY SALIVATE

It Is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones.

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug; besides, it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.—Advertisement.

Neither money nor brains has enabled any one to get "in the swim" at the north pole.

DYED HER BABY'S COAT, A SKIRT AND CURTAINS WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a new, rich color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run.—Advertisement.

Curiosity is merely something that is inspired by things that are none of our business.

If you use Red Cross Ball Blue in your laundry, you will not be troubled by those tiny rust spots, often caused by inferior bluing. Try it and see.—Advertisement.

WHAT TO EAT

DELICIOUS breakfast fish is backered; with a nicely seasoned sauce it may be served for a luncheon dish. Soak the fish over night skin side up, adding one tablespoonful of vinegar to the water. In the morning remove the fish, rinse well, remove the backbone and cut the fish into filets. Parboil five minutes before cutting up, drain and cook in a hot frying pan with a little fat until a golden brown. Arrange on a warm platter, garnish with parsley and pour around the filets.

Oatmeal Rolls.

Take one-half cupful of hot mashed potatoes, add one cupful of scalded milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm add one-half of a yeast cake, four cupfuls of flour, one and one-half cupfuls of rolled oats which have been scalded with one-half cupful of boiling water. Knead to a smooth dough

Perfection Fruit Cake.

Take the following ingredients: two cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful of butter, one and one-fourth cupfuls of buttermilk, four cupfuls of flour, three eggs, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, soda and nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful of cloves, one and one-half pounds of raisins, one pound of currants, one fourth pound of citron, one half cupful of good fruit juice, one-half cupful of New Orleans molasses.

Wash and dry the raisins and currants and slice the citron very fine. Mix the fruit and flour well. Cream the butter and the sugar a little at a time, beat the egg yolks and add them to the creamed butter, then the beaten whites. Add the molasses, buttermilk and flour mixed with the spices and soda. Beat well; now add the fruit, stirring it in well, but do not beat. Bake in two large loaves in a slow oven for one and one-half hours.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas,
To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Donley County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon W. H. Greer by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Donley county, to be holden at the court house thereof, in Clarendon, on the 2nd Monday in January, A. D. 1923, the same being the 8th day of January, A. D. 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 17th day of July, A. D. 1922, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1211, wherein J. T. Warren is plaintiff, and C. W. Meador, W. H. Greer and P. M. Woodring are defendants, and said petition alleging:

That on January 17th, 1918, W. A. Rice and his wife, Charity Rice, conveyed to the defendant, C. W. Meador, by warranty deed of that date which is recorded in Vol. 37, page 377, deed records of Donley county, Texas, the land hereinafter described, and as part consideration for said land said defendant Meador assumed the payment of five notes, executed by the said W. A. Rice. Said notes being for amounts as follows: Note No. 2 for $300.00, No. 3 for $350.00, No. 4 for $400.00, No. 5 for $450.00, and No. 6 for $500.00, and becoming due January 1st, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1922 and 1923 respectively, all payable to J. Marion Williams and W. F. White, and as a further consideration for said land the defendant Meador executed five vendor's lien notes for $310.00 each, described in above mentioned deed and of even date therewith, due January 1st, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924 respectively, and in consideration of money advanced by plaintiff to defendant Meador in part payment for said land said notes were made payable to plaintiff or his order; that said last mentioned notes bear interest from their date to maturity at 6 per cent per annum, and 10 per cent per annum after maturity on principle and accrued interest and further provide that if said notes are not paid when due or any installment of interest when due, shall at the election of the owner of said notes mature all of them, and they further provide that in case of default of payment as aforesaid ten per cent additional shall be added to principal and interest then due as attorneys fees. That the vendor's lien is retained in said notes and in said deed to secure their payment.

Plaintiff further alleges that on or about the 26th day of August, 1918, the defendant, C. W. Meador, joined by his wife, conveyed said land to defendant W. H. Greer by deed of that date which deed is recorded in Vol. 37 page 407, Donley county, Texas, deed records and as part consideration for said land the defendant Greer executed four vendor's lien notes for $312.50 each, payable to defendant Meador, or, or order, and due July 1st, 1925, 1926, 1927 and 1928 respectively, with interest at 8 per cent per annum, and assumed and agreed to pay plaintiff's said five notes for $310.00 each, above described, with interest and attorneys fees as therein provided; that said five notes payable to J. Marion Williams and W. F. White retain a first and superior lien securing their payment to plaintiff's five notes for $310.00 each, and that said four notes for $312.50 each, payable to defendant Meador, retain a second and inferior lien securing their payment to plaintiff's said notes; that by the execution of said notes for $310.00 each by the defendant Meador and the assumption of the payment of the same by the defendant Greer they and each of said defendants became liable and promised to pay plaintiff the sum of money in said notes specified, together with interest and attorneys fees therein provided.

Plaintiff further alleges that the defendant C. W. Meador for a consideration to him paid endorsed and delivered to the defendant P. M. Woodring Note No. 1 of said series of four notes for $312.50 each and that said Woodring is claiming some interest in said land by his ownership of said note. Plaintiff further alleges that at the January term of this Court, 1922, a judgment was rendered against the defendant C. W. Meador, for closing the vendor's lien on said land, but said judgment was defective by reason of the failure of plaintiff to make said Woodring a party to said suit and the failure to properly dispose of the interest of the defendant W. H. Greer by the judgment rendered in said suit.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that the aforesaid judgment be reformed and amended that the rights of all said defendants may be properly adjudicated in conformity with law and the facts herein set forth.

Though often requested, the defendants Meador and Greer have failed and refused to pay plaintiff said matured notes and interest on all of said notes, or any part thereof, except the interest thereon to January 1st, 1920, and by reason of such failure plaintiff has elected to declare and does declare all of said notes for $310.00 each due and payable with interest and attorneys fees thereon; that said notes for $310.00 each were executed by the defendant Meador in part payment for the following described land situated in Donley county, Texas, to wit: The S E 1/4 of Section 103 in Block C6, Certificate 128 issued to Hooper and Wade, Patented to L. H. Carhart assignee, containing 160 acres.

Wherefore plaintiff prays the Court that defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition, that he have judgment against each of said defendants C. W. Meador and W. H. Greer for his debt, principal, interest and attorneys fees and costs of suit and the foreclosure of his lien on above described land, that the same be decreed to be sold according to law, that order of sale issue for the sale of said land, to the Sheriff or any Constable of Donley county, Texas, that said land be sold subject to the lien securing the payment of said notes payable to J. Marion Williams and W. F. White, that the proceeds of such sale be applied to the payment of plaintiff's said debt, principal, interest, attorneys fees and costs of suit, and should there be any excess after the payment of said amounts the same to be paid to the defendant C. W. Meador under further orders and directions of this Court and that the equity of redemption of the defendant P. M. Woodring in said note held by him be forever barred. That the Sheriff or other officer executing said order of sale place the purchaser of said property in possession thereof within 30 days after the day of sale subject to the lien securing said notes payable to Williams and White.

Plaintiff prays for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that he may be justly entitled to.

All of plaintiff's allegations, demands and prayer are set forth in his original petition on file in the office of the District Clerk of Donley county, and is here referred to and made part hereof.

Herein fail not, and have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Clarendon, Texas, this the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1922.

W. E. Bray, Clerk District Court, Donley County.

Jacket-Blouse New Garment; Many Novelties Now Seen

SOME people call them "jaquettes," others name them "jacket-blouses," and this latter term describes them exactly, for they are a combination of blouse and jacket that play two roles with equal success. Matelasse printed velvets, blistered silks and similar fabrics, now fashionable, are responsible, more than anything else, for this and other new developments in the mode, which insists that designs must accommodate themselves to materials. The jacket-blouses are all much alike, but they is united to an up-to-date jacket-blouse.

To the list of unessential but beautiful feminine belongings many novelties have been added and the long story of dress accessories grows longer and more thrilling. From top to toe—speaking literally—new trappings add brilliant points to the costume.

Beginning with decorative hat and hair ornaments they end with slipper buckles, and the success of a costume is measured by the discrimination shown in using these telling finishing are varied in small details as in the length of the waist, the shape and length of the sleeve, treatment of the neck line and decorations. Few of them require anything for trimming, but some of them are entirely covered with braiding or embroidery.

The pretty jacket-blouse, shown in the picture, is made on very simple lines, of matelasse and is a typical garment of its kind. It has a surplice front opening and a wide, fitted hip band fastened with three buttons of cut jet. Fancy buttons are being featured on blouses and jackets, some of the handsomest imports using them in front fastenings from neck to girdle. They are brilliant affairs, likely to create a vogue for ornamental buttons, which have been somewhat in the background for a long period. Combination of jet and rhinestones make jewel-like buttons that set off all sorts of fabrics and colors.

Some of the smartest jacket-blouses have long sleeves, wide at the arm's eye as well as at the wrist. Often a

Besides earrings, necklaces and girdles we must consider the importance this season of bracelets, ornamental combs, clasps for girdles, ornaments for draperies, shoe buckles and fastenings for coats and other garments. Bags demand attention, fans are engagingly novel and the shops are full of tempting costume jewelry which is even more fashionable than that of precious stones and metals. "Art in Industry" gives these pretty trinkets a precious quality.

In the illustration a turban and scarf made of black velvet lined with white and silver brocade are artfully emphasized by earrings of black onyx set with tiny rhinestones. The turban is wreathed with petals and the long, narrow scarf falls from it at the back and ends in a rosette of the tails. A pair of petals find themselves effectively placed on the sleeves of the georgette bodice and at the girdle.

Hip bands may be very narrow or replaced by snug-fitting peplums, and this is a favorite way of developing the jacket-blouse made of canton or other crepe. The plain coat sleeve and the long, narrow, shawl collar are well adapted to this new garment and they appear in conjunction with the surplice front in smart models. All-over braiding is an important item in their decoration and suggests that a last season's frock may begin its career anew if it

MISS LULU BETT

By ZONA GALE
Copyright by D. Appleton & Company

"D—N SHAME!"

SYNOPSIS—General factotum in the house of her sister Ina, wife of Herbert Deacon, in the small town of Warbleton, Lulu Bett leads a dull, cramped existence, with which she is constantly at enmity, though apparently satisfied with her lot. To Mr. Deacon comes Bobby Larkin, recently graduated high-school youth, secretly enamored of Deacon's elder daughter, Diana, an applicant for a "job" around the Deacon house. He is engaged. The family is excited over the news of an approaching visit from Deacon's brother Ninian, whom he had not seen for many years. Deacon jokes with Lulu, with subtle meaning concerning the coming meeting. Lulu is interested and speculative, meanwhile watching with some little envy the boy-and-girl love-making of Bobby and Diana. Unexpectedly, Ninian arrives. Thus he becomes acquainted with Lulu first and in a measure understands her position in the house. To Lulu, Ninian is a much-traveled man of the world, and even the slight interest which he takes in her is appreciated, because it is something new in her life. And Ninian appears to like Lulu. The family takes an outing, with important results.

"Those who disregard the comfort of other people," he enunciated, "cannot expect consideration for themselves in the future."
He did not say on what ethical tenet this dictum was based, but he delivered it with extreme authority. Ina caught her lower lip with her teeth, dipped her head and looked at Di. And Monona laughed like a little demon.
As soon as Lulu had all in readiness, and cold corned beef and salad had begun their orderly progression, Dwight became the immemorial dweller in green fastnesses. He began:
"This is ideal. I tell you, people don't half know life if they don't get out and eat in the open. It's better than any tonic at a dollar the bottle. Nature's tonic—oh? Free as the air. Look at that sky. See that water. Could anything be more pleasant?"
He smiled at his wife. This man's face was glowing with simple pleasure. He loved the out-of-doors with a love which could not explain itself. But he now lost a definite climax when his wife's comment was heard to be:
"Monona! Now it's all over both ruffles. And mamma does try so hard."
After supper some boys arrived with a boat which they beached, and Dwight, with enthusiasm, gave the boys ten cents for a half hour's use of that boat and invited to the waters his wife, his brother and his younger daughter. Ina was timid—not because she was afraid, but because she was congenitally timid—with her this was not a belief or an emotion, it was a disease.
"Dwight, darling, are you sure there's no danger?"
"Why, none. None in the world. Whoever heard of drowning in a river?"
"But you're not so very used—"
"Oh, wasn't he? Who was it that had lived in a boat throughout youth, if not he?"
Ninian refused out-of-hand, lighted a cigar, and sat on a log in a permanent fashion. Ina's plump figure was fitted in the stern, the child Monona affixed, and the boat put off, bow well out of water. On this pleasure ride the face of the wife was as the face of the damned. It was true that she revered her husband's opinions above those of all other men. In politics, in science, in religion, in dentistry, she looked up to his dicta as to revelation. And was he not a magistrate? But let him take oars in hand, or shake lines or a whip above the back of any horse, and this woman would trust any other woman's husband by preference. It was a phenomenon.
Lulu was making the work last, so that she should be out of everybody's way. When the boat put off without Ninian, she felt a kind of terror and wished that he had gone. He had sat down near her, and she pretended not to see. At last Lulu understood that Ninian was deliberately choosing to remain with her. The languor of his bulk after the evening meal made no explanation for Lulu. She asked for no explanation. He had stayed. And they were alone. For Di, on a pretext of examining the flocks and herds, was leading Bobby away to the pastures, a little at a time.
The sun, now fallen, had left an even, waxen sky. Leaves and ferns appeared drenched with the light just withdrawn. The hush, the warmth, the color, were charged with some influence. The air of the time communicated itself to Lulu as intense and quiet happiness. She had not yet felt quiet with Ninian. For the first time her blind excitement in his presence ceased, and she felt curiously accustomed to him. To him the air of the time imparted itself in a deepening of his facile sympathy.
"Do you know something?" he began. "I think you have it pretty hard around here."
"I?" Lulu was genuinely astonished.
"Yes, str. Do you have to work like this all the time? I guess you won't mind my asking."
"Well, I ought to work. I have a home with them. Mother, too."
"Yes, but glory! You ought to have some kind of a life of your own. You want it, too. You told me you did—that first day."
She was silent. Again he was inviting her with a languor which she had never really had, until he had planted that longing. She had wanted she knew not what. Now she accepted the dim, the romantic interest of this role.

"I guess you don't see how it seems," he said, "to me, coming along—a stranger so. I don't like it."
He frowned, regarded the river, flicked away ashes, his diamond obediently shining. Lulu's look, her head drooping, had the liquid air of the look of a young girl. For the first time in her life she was feeling her helplessness. It intoxicated her.
"They're very good to me," she said.
He turned. "Do you know why you think that? Because you've never had anybody really good to you. That's why."
"But they treat me good."
"They make a slave of you. Regular slave." He puffed, frowning.
"D—n shame, I call it," he said.
Her loyalty stirred Lulu. "We have our whole living—"
"And you earn it. I been watching you since I been here. Don't you ever go anywhere?"
She said: "This is the first place in—years."
"Lord! Don't you want to? Of course you do!"
"Not so much places like this—"
"I see. What you want is to get away—like you'd ought to." He regarded her. "You've been a blamed fine-looking woman," he said.
She did not flush, but the faint, unsuspected Lulu spoke for her:
"You must have been a good-looking man once yourself."
His laugh went ringing across the water. "You're pretty good," he said. He regarded her approvingly. "I don't see how you do it," he mused, "blamed if I do."
"How I do what?"
"Why come back, quick like that, with what you say."
Lulu's heart was beating painfully. The effort to hold her own in talk like this was terrifying. She had never talked in this fashion to anyone. It was as if some matter of life or death hung on her ability to speak an alien tongue. And yet, when she was most at loss, that other Lulu, whom she had never known anything about, seemed suddenly to speak for her. As now:
"It's my grand education," she said. She sat humped on the log, her beautiful hair shining in the light of the warm sky. She had thrown off her hat and the linen duster, and was in her blue gingham gown against the sky and leaves. But she sat stilly.

pressed upon by overpowering personalities. Frogs were chorusing in the near swamp, and Bobby wanted one. He was off after it. But Di eventually drew him back, reluctant, frogless. He entered upon an exhaustive account of the use of frogs for bait, and as he talked he constantly flung stones. Di grew restless. There was, she had found, a certain amount of this to be gone through before Bobby would focus on the personal. At length she was obliged to say, "Like me today?" And then he entered upon personal talk with the same zest with which he had discussed bait.
"Bobby," said Di, "sometimes I think we might be married, and not wait for any old money."
They had now come that far. It was partly an authentic attraction, grown from out the old population, and partly it was that they both—and especially Di—so much wanted the experiences of attraction that they assumed its ways. And then each cared enough to assume the pretty role required by the other, and by the occasion, and by the air of the time.
"Would you?" asked Bobby—but in the subjunctive.
"She said: 'Yes, I will.'"
"It would mean running away, wouldn't it?" said Bobby, still subjunctive.
"I suppose so. Mamma and papa are so unreasonable."
"Di," said Bobby, "I don't believe you could ever be happy with me."
"The idea! I can, too. You're going to be a great man—do you know you are?"
Bobby was silent. Of course he knew it—but he passed it over.
"Wouldn't it be fun to elope and surprise the whole school?" said Di, sparkling.
Bobby grinned appreciatively. He was good to look at, with his big frame, his head of rough, dark hair, the sky warm upon his clear skin and full mouth. Di suddenly announced that she would be willing to elope now.
"I've planned eloping lots of times," she said ambiguously.
It flashed across the mind of Bobby that in these plans of hers he may not always have been the principal, and he could not be sure . . . But she talked in nothings, and he answered her so.
Soft cries sounded in the center of the stream. The boat, well out of the strong current, was seen to have its oars shipped; and there sat Dwight Herbert, gently rocking the boat.
"Bertie, Bertie—please!" you heard his Ina say.
Monona began to cry, and her father was irritated, felt that it would be ignominious to desist, and did not know that he felt this. But he knew that he was annoyed, and he took refuge in this, and picked up the oars with: "Some folks never can enjoy anything without spoiling it."
"That's what I was thinking," said Ina, with a flash of anger.
They glided toward the shore in a huff. Monona found that she enjoyed crying across the water and kept it up. It was almost as good as an echo. Ina, stepping safe to the sands, cried ungratefully that this was the last time that she would ever, ever go with her husband anywhere. Ever, Dwight Herbert, recovering, gauged the moment to require of him humor and observed that his wedded wife was as skittish as a colt. Ina kept silence, head poised so that her full little chin showed double. Monona, who had previously hidden a cookie in her frock, now remembered it and crunched sidewise, the eyes ruminant.
Motive toward them, with Di, Bobby was suddenly overtaken by the sense of disliking them all. He never had liked Dwight Herbert, his employer. Mrs. Deacon seemed to him so overwhelmingly mature that he had no idea how to treat her. And the child Monona he would like to roll in the river. Even Di . . . He fell silent, was silent on the walk home, which was the signal for Di to tease him steadily. The little being was afraid of silence. It was too vast for her. She was like a butterfly in a dome.
But against that background of ruined occasion, Lulu walked homeward beside Ninian. And all that night, beside her mother who groaned in her sleep, Lulu lay tense and awake. He had walked home with her. He had told Ina and Herbert about going to the city. What did it mean? Suppose . . . oh no; oh no!
"Either lay still or get up and set up," Mrs. Bett directed her at length.

"Why not say the wedding service?" asked Ninian.

"Owls" Gave Gay Parties.

"The Owls" were a group of brilliant young men who in the sixties, attracted much attention in the West end of London by their lively eccentricities. For instance, they gave dinners to which some of the most beautiful young ladies of the day were invited. Lady Wharncliffe acting as chaperone. At one of them an ivy serpent decorated the table, forming a coil opposite each lady's plate. In the center of the table, which were handed around, each lady being asked to take what she liked. Once all "The Owls" went to Paris and spent the day in woods near the city. They sang songs and crowned themselves with ivy garlands, and finally dined up a huge old tree, into whose branches they were hauled by ropes, ladies and all, singing ballads the while.

Influence of Breed

The breed of a dairy cow has a distinct influence on the water content of her milk. For example, Jersey milk as an average contains 14.7 per cent total solids, of which 5.35 per cent is fat, while Holstein milk contains, on the average, 11.85 per cent total solids, of which 3.42 per cent is butterfat. In other words every 100 pounds of Jersey milk contains 85 pounds of water, while every 100 pounds of Holstein milk contains 88 pounds of water. The difference in feeding value amounts to 2.61 pounds of milk solids per 100 pounds of milk in favor of Jersey milk.

There's Money in Milking.

The greatness of the dairy industry is more appreciated now than for several years past. Dairying actually shows a gain during the past year of several hundred million dollars, while most of the other farm branches show losses into the billions.

Dairy Improvement.

Replacing the low producing cows with better ones and later with pure-breds is only one of the ways in which a dairy-improvement association helps a community.

Proper Feed for Cows.

After a calf is four weeks old it must have bulk in its ration, skim milk and grain will not nourish it properly. At this age the calves should have all the clover or alfalfa hay they want.
Weed Out Unprofitable Cows. Even in the leading dairy states, probably one-fourth or more of the dairy cows fail to pay for their care and feed, due chiefly to the fact that the owners do not know which returns a profit and which are "boarders."

BUTTER RATED FOR QUALITY

Producers Lose Much Money Because of Imperfect Conditions and Methods in Making.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
If you are a producer or manufacturer of butter, were you disappointed in the price you received for that last shipment? Quality is the chief factor in determining butter prices, and according to United States Department of Agriculture circular 236, just issued, even small defects in quality may result in the loss of a sale or a cut in price.
Several million dollars annually are lost to producers and manufacturers because of imperfect conditions and methods in production, manufacture and marketing of dairy products, the circular states. During 1929 the marginal difference in the prices of high and low quality butter amounted at times to as much as 15 cents between 37 score and 92 score. Lack of proper attention or care in the creamery in grading the cream, or in churning, working, salting or packing the butter are stated to be mainly responsible for this condition.

The circular enumerates and describes the various factors such as flavor, body, color, salt and package that influence price. These factors are given specific ratings by local and federal butter inspectors, and receivers, in determining the final score of the product, and the ratings are governed by the absence or presence of certain defects described in the circular.
It is stated that there has never before been a time in the history of American butter making when it paid so well to produce high-quality butter as during recent years. But to secure an active demand and the largest net return not only high quality and uniformity of the product are necessary, but a knowledge of market requirements and good marketing methods are required.

Circular 236, entitled "Defects in the Quality of Butter," has been prepared so that producers and manufacturers may know precisely how butter is rated for quality in the markets, and how the defects which lower the price may be obviated. Copies of the circular can be obtained free upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

D. 1922, against the said W. B. Webb, Wade H. Rucker and E. A. Alexander and alleging in substance as follows, to-wit:

Plaintiff Mrs. M. E. Holland asks to foreclose six $500.00 vendors lien notes executed by W. B. Webb and payable to the plaintiff Mrs. M. E. Holland, each retaining a lien against the North one-half of Section No. 128 Block C6 G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. Survey, Abstract No. 1181, certificate 1160, Donley county, Texas. Plaintiff alleges that said notes were issued only to the balance, any there may be, due on the $4000.00 deed of trust note given against the land above described by plaintiff to the Western and Hawaiian Investment Company, and also one $3000.00 deed of trust note given to the company last named by W. B. Webb. Plaintiff alleges that Webb purchased said land and gave six $500.00 notes as part of the purchase price, and later sold the same to the defendant Rucker, and that defendant Alexander is a tenant on said land claiming some kind of an interest therein. Plaintiff asks judgment for the amount of the notes and for a foreclosure of her lien, subject to said deed of trust notes.

D. 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 1257, wherein Geo. S. Slover, J. W. Gordon and O. A. Barrett are plaintiffs and C. M. Blanton is defendant, said petition alleging that on or about July 3rd, A. D. 1920, defendant C. M. Blanton, for a valuable consideration, made, executed and delivered his one certain promissory vendor's lien note, to plaintiffs, for the sum of $1020.00, to be due in one year after date, to draw interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum from date till paid, said note carried the usual ten per cent attorneys fee clause, the acceleration clause, and a vendors lien was reserved on the following described land, to-wit: Being all of lots number 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and the south half of lot number 11, in Block number 21, of the Wasson Subdivision of the McLean Addition to the town of Clarendon, Texas; that certain portions of said land has been deeded back to plaintiffs by defendant and wife, the same being of record Vol. 45, page 550, deed records of Donley county, Texas; that said note is past due, the interest unpaid, and that to enforce the payment of same it has been placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, that the usual ten per cent attorneys fees has been contracted to be paid, and that the same is reasonable; that defendant has heretofore refused to pay principal or interest, and still refuses to pay either prin-

CHILDREN HELP SUGGEST FOODS WHICH GIVE NECESSARY VARIETY

School Children at Lunch—Waiting for the Hot Dish.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If the children are interested in their own school lunches and are taught how to pack them properly, they will not only take this task off the mother's hands, but help to suggest foods which give the necessary variety for a well-balanced diet. Children should be taught to prepare sandwiches well and to pack them neatly in waxed paper so they will neither fall to pieces nor dry out before they are to be eaten. An occasional discussion of foods suitable for the school lunch will lead to surprisingly good suggestions from the children themselves, as to what they like to have or what other children bring.

When hot cocoa, milk, or soup can be obtained at school the children are better off. Efforts should be made by groups of parents to establish the serving of at least one hot dish with the school lunch.

Sandwiches Most Substantial.
 Sandwiches, because of their convenience, are usually the substantial part of the basket lunch. By varying the bread occasionally, using whole wheat, graham, Boston brown bread, raisin, date or nut bread, or split buttered rolls or biscuit, cinnamon or other buns, the lunches will not seem so monotonous. In addition to sliced roast or boiled meat, bacon, chicken or rabbit may be used. Chopped meat or ground meats of any kind, chopped hard-boiled eggs, moistened with salad dressing, cottage-cheese, peanut butter, nut meats, or cooked fish are good fillings for sandwiches and also supply small amounts of protein for the mid-day meal; lettuce, tomatoes, and other salad materials with dressing make palatable moist sandwiches and introduce some vegetables into the lunch; while sweets may be supplied by a jam, jelly, or fruit butter sandwich, honey, brown sugar or maple sugar filling, or by cookies, cakes, dates, raisins, figs, sweet chocolate, or other sweets easily carried. Fruit should be included as often as possible.

Children sometimes have a prejudice against salads. This may be because the first salad tasted was not just right. If they have been accustomed at home from an early age to salads with dressings containing very little vinegar or acid, and made with good oil in perfect condition, they will cultivate a liking for them and enable the mother to provide both salad vegetables and salad oil, two valuable foods in their diet.

Prepare Lunch Carefully.
 In packing the lunch basket every precaution should be taken to keep the foods clean and in good condition. Foods that spoil easily should be avoided in warm weather. Paper napkins or towels and thin waxed or parchment wrapping paper are inexpensive, especially if bought in large quantities. These not only protect the lunch but the children's clothing. Washable napkins may be used instead, but they are more troublesome and are likely to be lost.

Sandwiches, sweet foods and fruits should be wrapped separately and the heaviest things put at the bottom of the lunch box. Cup custards, apple sauce, jelly and other soft foods can be carried in paper cups or cartons. In small screw-top jars or covered jelly glasses. Milk from home is desirable whenever it can be carried, if no provision can be made for serving it at school.

Matters of Delicacy.
 "Why is Paris permitted to dictate the fashions?" "Because of our American sense of propriety," replied Miss Cayenne. "Fashions have occasionally been such that no one would want to discuss them in plain English."

SALLIE'S ADVICE WAS GOOD

Pekinese Dog Was Due for Rude Awakening if He Went Too Far With That Cat.

As a present to their first baby Mad. Henry Vaughn and Mrs. Vaughn, who moved to New York from Spartanburg, S. C., were given a fancybred Pekinese dog. They moved out to the country for the summer, and sent for Sallie, the old negro cook, to come up and look after the baby and Ming Toy, the dog.

Ming Toy had never seen a cat before. So, when a big tomcat came to the back porch Ming Toy, in the strongest bark he knew, promptly bayed the cat, showing great bravery for such a foolish-looking dog. Sallie looked out the back door.

"Ming Toy," she advised, "lemme tell you projerkin' wid dat tomcat. Fust thing you know, 'at cat's gwine to git mad and 'at ain't gwine to be no place for no dog lak you. Ef'n 'at ole cat gits started he's gwine turn you ever' way—but loose!"—Saturday Evening Post.

"Mistus" Day.
 It was the 11th of November and a dark down South was asked if he knew what was being celebrated that day.
 "Suttinly, suh," he replied; "Mistus day, suh."
 "Armistice day, Sam," he was corrected.

"No, suh—mistus day, suh. You see, we were ordered tuh go over the top dat mornin' when along comes de news dat de war was over, so de Germans done mistus, suh; dey done mistus."—Everybody's Magazine.

"JUST JOFFRE"—THAT'S ALL. POISONED GLUE FOR BIBLES

Evidently Great French Soldier is Also Gifted With a Certain Sense of Humor.

Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, arriving in Paris, found the passenger elevator at the Qual d'Orsay station out of order and cheerfully adopted the suggestion of the station master that he might use the freight elevator. Just as the elevator boy was slamming the gates shut, there came rushing toward the lift a thick-set, elderly man, breathing heavily. He nudged as if to enter the elevator, but the attendants waved him off.

"I am just as heavy and as old as your lone passenger," the man declared, "why should you refuse to take me up?"
 "Because this is Lord Curzon," responded the railroad man impressively.
 "Oh, well, that's all right," replied the stranger, making for the stairs, "I'm only Joffre."
 He was given a lift.

Particular Protection Necessary for Books Intended for Circulation in the Gilbert Islands.

Not only must Bibles be attractively bound and well printed, but some of them must be perfumed, peppered and poisoned as well. Bibles going to the Gilbert Islands contain in the binding glue and the paste which fastens the cover a mixture of oil of cloves, cayenne pepper and corrosive sublimate. This is to ward off a certain worm, peculiar to these islands, which destroys the bindings of books. Twelve hundred such Bibles have been sent recently by the United States Bible society on their 15,000-mile journey to Ocean island by way of Sydney, Australia. Rev. D. Hiram Bingham, the famous missionary translator, gave his life to the preparation of the Bible in the Gilbertese language.

Do you hear the clock strike the night hours?

HOW often you have heard people say, "I can't drink coffee; it keeps me awake nights!" They've learned from experience; have you?

If you are a coffee drinker and fail to get sound restful sleep, it means that your nerves are over-stimulated and that health needs protection from coffee's drug, caffeine.

There's no sacrifice in making health safe, as so many thousands have found who have turned from coffee to Postum. It has a delightful coffee-like flavor, and is free from any element that can harm you. As many cups as you like, and no regrets.

Your grocer has Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

The two forms of Postum are equally delicious; and the cost is only about 1/2c per cup.

RECIPE FOR MAKING PURE PORK SAUSAGE

Suggestions Made by Department of Agriculture.

To 65 Pounds of Fresh, Lean Meat Add 35 Pounds of Fat—Spices Should Be Mixed and Added Before Meat is Ground.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Good pork sausage is always in demand. The following recipes for making it are recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture: Take 65 pounds of fresh, lean meat and 35 pounds of fat. Add to this 1 1/2 ounces salt, 2 ounces fine sage, 1 ounce ground nutmeg, and 4 ounces black pepper. The spices should be mixed together and added to the meat before it goes through the grinder. Cut the meat into small pieces and put through the grinder, using the small plate. After it is well ground, mix thoroughly, to be sure that it is uniformly seasoned. No water should be added if the sausage is to be stored away in bulk. If it is to be stuffed in casings, a little water may be necessary to soften the meat, so that it will slip easily into the casings.

Smoked Sausage.

The following ingredients are used in making smoked or country sausage:
 85 pounds lean pork, 4 ounces red pepper.
 15 pounds beef, 1 ounce sweet marjoram.
 1 1/2 to 2 pounds salt, 4 ounces black pepper, 1 ounce mace.

Cut the meat into small pieces and sprinkle seasoning over it, then run it through the grinder, using the small plate. Put it away in a cool place for 24 to 36 hours, then add a little water, and stuff into hog casings and smoke in a very cool smoke until a dark mahogany color is obtained.

Corn Meal Mush With Pork.

1 pound lean pork, 1 teaspoonful salt, part meat and part 1/2 teaspoonful pork-bone, 1/2 cup corn meal, 1/2 cup water.

Cook the pork in water until the meat can be removed easily from the bone. Remove the meat, cool the broth, and remove the fat. Reduce the broth to about a quart, or add water enough to bring it up to this amount, and cook the corn meal in it. Add the meat finely chopped and the seasonings. Pack in granite bread tins. Cut into slices and fry. Beef may be used in the same way, the United States Department of Agriculture suggests.

RIGHT CREAM FOR WHIPPING

Should Be From 24 to 48 Hours Old and Contain at Least 30 Per Cent of Butterfat.

The best cream to whip is good, rich cream, from 24 to 48 hours old, says the United States Department of Agriculture. It should contain at least 30 per cent butterfat to produce ideal results, and be kept very cool. Pasteurization tends to lower the whipping quality of the cream, and homogenization is very harmful to it. Combined they practically destroy the value of cream for whipping.

Use for Breadcrumbs.

Breadcrumbs may be used instead of flour in many dishes, the United States Department suggests. Bakers often use stale bread and dried, finely ground cake in place of part of the flour in making fancy breads, cakes, and cookies, and the housekeeper can often avoid waste by using them in this way in griddlecakes, cakes, cookies, gingerbread, brown bread, etc.

Washington Oilcloth.

Wash oilcloth with warm water and milk. Use one cupful of skim milk to one gallon of water. Wipe dry with a clean cloth.

Folding wardrobes made of chintz or cretonne can be secured ready made, but any woman can make one for herself.

Children who are inclined to be constipated should be allowed to eat five or six figs a day. This helps a great deal.

If plain clothes are folded immediately after being taken from the line, they can be ironed twice as quickly and need little sprinkling.

Clotheslines should never be left out of doors when not in use; they should be carefully dried and put away, otherwise they will soil and mark the linen.

Woolen stockings that are past repair can be put to many uses. Cut off the feet, draw one stocking over the other, fold and sew up one end, and you have an excellent glove for polishing anything.

HANDKERCHIEF SHOWER

Mrs. L. Mobley was hostess to members of the Dorcas Class and several other guests last Saturday afternoon, the occasion being a handkerchief shower given in honor of Mrs. U. E. Kelley. The home was beautiful in Yuletide decorations, tastefully arranged. A number of interesting contests proved highly enjoyable, and several vocal numbers were much appreciated. Then the honoree was asked to "follow a string" which carried her through several rooms and ended at a bag which contained quite a number of beautiful handkerchiefs. Delightful refreshments were served, the favors being home-made candy in dainty baskets. The Class expressed great regret that they were to lose Mrs. Kelley, who is moving with her family to Wallington.

The entertainment which was given to the Sunday School last Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, in their home, was a great pleasure to all who were present. Nearly everyone in the community is helping Santa Claus to make the holidays merry, by making gifts and by taking a part in the program arranged for Christmas eve night. Santa has given orders to have a tree at the school house; so, to entertain the crowd while waiting St. Nick's arrival, the program has been planned. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cooper went to Clarendon one day this week. Mrs. Bannister is visiting her son in Tidas, Texas, this week. Bro. DeBord will preach here Saturday at 11 o'clock, Saturday night, Sunday at 11, and Sunday night.
