HEDLEY SENIORS

Biff! Jing! We're the thing,
We're the Class that push the ring!
Biff! Whack! Clear the track!
We're the Class that's got the knack!
Seniors! Seniors!

Without an exception, the Senior Class of '28 will prove to be the luckiest, peppiest, full of fun and hard working Class in the history of Hedley High School.

They were so full of enthusiasm and pep and so eager to feel the dignity of the "high and mighty" Senior, that they met the last week of last school term to elect their officers and make some plans for the following year. Officers elected were:

Sponsor, Miss Fanny McWhorter.

President, Sue McFarling.
Sec. and Treas., Marion Hicks.
Reporter, Grace Hickey.

The first meeting of the Class for this term was held Sept. 7. Mr. Maxwell was elected Assistant Sponsor. Class Mother, Mrs. Alva Simmons. Class Father, Mr. Hobart Moffitt.

A schedule is being made out for all the class activities of the school term, to avoid the rush of things the latter part of the year.

In the social calendar for this week is a "beef steak fry" for the Class Mother and Father, Faculty, Board members and their wives, and a representative of each class in High School. The beef steak fry will be at Parker Creek, where juicy loins of steak cooked in the open will be served with buns, pickles, back coffee, roasting ears and watermelons. You'll hear more of this later on.

Marion Hicks
Madge Richerson
Gladys Webb
Dovie Jefferies
Hazel Cooper
Sue McFarling
Ruby Moffitt
Morris Jefferies
L. J. Burdine
Floyd Long
Vera Laurence
Blanche Culwell
Grace Hickey.

You haven't got the pep,
You haven't got the jazz,
You haven't got the class
That our Class has!

BIDS FOR SEED HAULING

Farmers Equity Gin Co.

G. P. Folley, living on Route 1, brought the second bale of this season's cotton to Hedley last Saturday. The bale was ginned gratis by the Dishman & Beatty Gin, weighed about 500 pounds, and was bought by Z. T. Beatty at 25c a pound. Mr. Folley also collected the balance of the premium raised for the first two bales marketed here.

THE recent arrival in this country of Fraulein Thea Rasche, the foremost German aviatrix and stunt flyer, and her announcement that early next year, after doing some flying here, she will attempt to make a nonstop flight from New York to Germany, are a reminder that women are following closely in the footsteps of men, even in aviation. It has long been a popular idea that the so-called weaker sex have little or no interest in those hazardous occupations which are supposed to be reserved for the hardier male sex. Aviation, where unshakable nerves and coolness in an emergency are prime necessities, theoretically has no place for the women, at least in performing some of the daredevil feats which the aviators perform.

But like so many other popular ideas this one in regard to women's nonparticipation in aviation is an erroneous one and there have been in the past and are now enough fearless bird women to prove that fact. Fraulein Rasche is only the latest one to command public attention. During her first flight from American soil at Roosevelt field when she took up her little Flamingo for ten minutes of exhibition flying, army pilots from Mitchell field pronounced her "a skillful and graceful flyer." She is preparing to show that she is also a fearless flyer by exhibitions of stunt flying which she will give in various parts of the country and she intends to pit her skill as a racing pilot in the New York to Spokane, Wash., air derby this month.

Fraulein Rasche, however, is only one of several women pilots who have attained more than passing notice in aviation. There is Mrs. Charlotte Alexander, who organized the only women's aviation corps in this country some years ago; there is Maxine Dickes, who is probably the only woman aviation "camera man" now pursuing that occupation; there is Trehawke Davies, the first woman to loop the loop in a plane; and there is Mlle. Adrienne Bolland, the French aviatrix, who was the first woman to fly across the English channel back in the days when that was regarded as a feat of considerable magnitude, and who added to her laurels by being the first woman to fly across the Andes mountains in South America.

Other bird women who have been in the news lately are Miss Ruby Thompson of Dallas, Texas, who was the first woman pilot to enter the proposed air race from Dallas to Hongkong, China, for the prize of $25,000 that has been offered for that feat, who will be accompanied on the flight by a navigator as well as a co-pilot; Miss Mildred Dornan, a school teacher of Flint, Mich., who flew from her home in the Middle West to the Pacific coast within the last few weeks with the announced intention of attempting a flight to Honolulu with Augy Fedar as pilot; and Miss Gladys Roy, who together with Lieut. Delmar L. Snyder, a former army aviator, is planning to attempt a New York-to-Rome flight. Miss Roy is a well-known stunt flyer who, not satisfied with risking her neck on the wing of a plane, added a sensational touch by doing her work with her head encased in a black bag. Among the other well-known women stunt flyers are Miss Gladys Eagle, the California aviatrix whose favorite stunt was to jump from one plane to another, flying just overhead, and then, after making her flying leap, to hang by her heels from the upper wing of the plane on which she had just landed, and Miss Lillian Boyer, a girl of nineteen who, several years ago, gave the crowds a thrill by swinging from a cable beneath her aeroplane with only the grip of four slender fingers between her and the risk of a dash to the earth a thousand feet below.

Mention of Trehawke Davies' distinction of being the first to loop the loop recalls the feat of Laura Brownell, a twenty-three-year-old girl who on May 15, 1921, made a loop the loop record when she executed 199 successive loops in one hour and twenty minutes. It also recalls her tragic death when her plane fell a thousand feet at Mitchell field near Mineola, Long Island, the next month (June 5, 1921) and she was dashed to the earth. Miss Brownell was not the first bird woman to meet her fate in the air. Probably the first fatality among women aviators occurred in the early days of aeronautics when on June 5, 1912, Auguste Bernard and Mme. Rose Amiel, two French aviators, lost control of their machine near Buc, France, and came crashing to the earth where both were killed.

But stunt flying has not been the principal contribution of bird women to the progress of aviation. Mlle. Bolland's flight across the Andes, made in the infancy of aviation, was a practical demonstration of the possibilities of the aeroplane as a means of transportation to which high mountains could offer no barrier. She left Mendoza on the Argentine side at 6:32 on the morning of April 1, 1921, and soared high above the lofty peaks where an accident meant instant death on their rocky slopes, or possibly starvation in the wilderness even in case of a safe landing. However, the trip was made without mishap, and she landed at Santiago, Chile, at 10 o'clock, less than three and a half hours after she had set out from the Argentine city. To Miss Pioebe J. Fairgrave, an eighteen-year-old girl, goes the credit for making a parachute jump which was a record for women at that time and probably still stands. On July 11, 1921, at the Curtis flying field, near St. Paul, Minn., Miss Fairgrave stepped out into space at an altitude of 15,200 feet, shot down with terrific velocity, and then as the silken umbrella opened, she floated gracefully to the earth.

But of them all there is one who was acclaimed "Queen of the Air" some ten years ago and she still retains the major part of her claim to that title. For the altitude record for women aviators made on September 27, 1917, at Peoria, Ill., by Miss Ruth Law, still stands and that record is 14,701 feet. Establishing this record, however, was not Miss Law's first triumph. That had occurred the previous year when on November 19-20, 1916, she made what was then the longest nonstop flight record, from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y., a distance of 590 miles, thereby breaking the record of 452 miles, made by a man flyer earlier in the month. Her feat at that time was heralded as one of the greatest in the history of aviation, and it is interesting to read the following account of it which appeared in the columns of the Outlook Magazine for November 29, 1916:

THE HIGHEST MARK IN AMERICAN AVIATION

No less interesting than the scientific features of the record-breaking flight of Miss Ruth Law, from Chicago to New York, is the human significance of the accomplishment. Miss Law says the fact that she is a woman makes no difference, but it does. The fact that the new American nonstop record was made by a 129-pound woman of twenty-eight, in a rebuilt aeroplane of almost obsolete type, doubles the prominence of this achievement in the public mind. General Wood reflected the popular admiration for Miss Law, when as he helped her from her seat at the end of her flight, at Governor's Island, he said, "Little girl, you beat them all."

In a nutshell, this is what Miss Law did. In a 160-horsepower, two-year-old biplane she flew without a stop from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y., a distance of 590 miles, thereby breaking the record of 452 miles made by Victor Caristrom in the New York Times flight on November 2. Flying on to Governor's Island with a stop at Binghamton Miss

Law completed the entire trip of 584 miles, from Chicago to Governor's Island in 8 hours 56 minutes and 25 seconds. Caristrom's total time in the air from Chicago to New York was 8 hours 17 minutes. With true sportsmanship, Caristrom was one of the first to congratulate Miss Law, pronouncing her flight "the best performance to date in American aviation."

Few persons took Miss Law seriously when she announced her intentions of attempting the Chicago-New York flight. Although she holds the woman's record for altitude, she had never before flown more than 25 miles across country. Moreover, her machine is less than half as large as the one in which Caristrom made his record, and carried only 53 gallons of gasoline as against 299 gallons carried by Caristrom.

Miss Law's record has been stamped as official by the Aero Club of America.

The following contemporary account from the New York Sun is also worthy of reproduction because of the parallel in many respects between Miss Law's feat and the recent record-breaking one of Col. Charles Lindbergh. In it is reflected the same cool daring of the lone adventurer who set out almost casually on a great undertaking and the same modest wonder at all the popular acclaim which followed. The Sun article says:

Miss Law tried to buy a bigger machine such as Caristrom had used, but Mr. Curtis was afraid to sell her one for fear she would be killed. He thought it would be too powerful for her. But when he heard Sunday night of the record flight from Chicago to Hornell he called the Aero Club of America on the long-distance telephone and said she could have a new machine any time she wanted it, and she will likely want it for now she is going to try a nonstop flight from Chicago to Governor's Island.

Caristrom, whose nonstop record was bettered by Miss Law, had the best equipment that money and science could produce and back of him was the entire Curtis organization. His plane would carry 147 gallons more fuel than the machine Miss Law flew. He trained for weeks and waited day after day for favorable winds before making his start. Miss Law, who never had flown more than 25 miles in a single flight before, just had some new gas tanks put on her aeroplane, notified the Aero club to make the flight official, and started.

Miss Law was thoroughly chilled when she arrived, but seemed to be in the pink of condition, resourceful and not disposed to take herself seriously. She is slight, fair-haired, and weighs only about a hundred twenty pounds. She was openly pleased at the reception the army officers and Aero club officials gave her, but she was a little bashful at first and looked as though she was wondering just why they were all there. Although this woman has been flying since 1912, she is only twenty-eight. She has had an uphill fight without financial backing, risking her life in machines that were none too good and she seemed hardly to realize that she had at last attained a goal of popularity, publicity and official recognition of the Aero club and that she is the peer of any male flyer in America. Miss Law has always been in competition with men, flying in machines that were inferior to their's and this time she won out.

Faith
The Mississippi flood disaster led Robert Sharp, president emeritus of Tulane university, to say at a reception in Biloxi: "We had too much faith in our levees. Our faith in those weak levees was as boundless as the religious faith of the little girls."
Professor Sharp shook his head and smiled sadly.
"Is God watching me?" said the first little girl.
"Yes, He is," said the second.
"Is He watching me now?"
"Yes, He is."
"Oh, dear! Can He see me when I'm in the bathtub?"
"Yes—but He wouldn't look."

LAST STAND of the cockroach army

No use waving that white flag!

Peterman's will get him

EVERY cockroach in thousands of homes has been exterminated by Peterman's this season. You must have a powder for roaches. Peterman's Rouch Food is the right powder. It entices cockroaches from their nests. They get just a little on their legs. Back to their nests they go—behind baseboards, under floors, where no spray could reach them. Every cockroach they touch, their young, every egg is exterminated. Nothing is left but a little dry dust. No odor.

Here is the right insecticide for each insect:
PETERMAN'S ROACH FOOD—exterminates cockroaches.
PETERMAN'S ANT FOOD—exterminates ants.
PETERMAN'S DISCOVERY (Liquid)—exterminates bedbugs (used through spot on can).
FLYOSAN—kills flies and mosquitoes.
PETERMAN'S MOTH FOOD—protects against moths. You must have a specific insecticide for each insect. No single insecticide will exterminate them all. We have had nearly 50 years' experience. We know that is true.

Peterman's has the right insecticide for each insect. On sale wherever drugs are sold.

NEWS FROM BRAY

Editor Informer:

Would you let 'em hear from Bray through the columns of your paper?

Everybody well and seem to be enjoying life here just as well as if they were somewhere else.

Crops are fine here, as this sandy land is ideal for cotton just now and feed is good.

Some visiting, and some musical entertainments make the woods ring joyfully with echoes of delight.

Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Frost there came a crowd of about 200, young and old alike, to hear the grandest concert of expert musicians ever assembled in this community. Violins, mandolins, and guitars—such talented artists as Dave and Wimberly Spier, Jesse Stiles, Ralph and Vernon Davis, Mr. Simmons and two sons from McKnight, Walter Johnson, Sam Okley and Mr. Hickey from Hedley, rendered the latest music, and you missed something if you wasn't there. So come out next time and share your part of real stringed music.

Claud Hill was heard to remark while the music was under way that it just made him feel like he wanted to hug somebody, —but he didn't say who.

Several young people from Lelia Lake and Clarendon attended the party and musicale at Miss Fay Frost's home Saturday night.

Cotton picking is mentioned by some as billed to start next week.

We are glad that Jess Stiles has postponed the appointment of the committee for crop inspection in this community. It might have created enough influence to bring about a slump in cotton futures. Great is he who wisely counsels. You know, Jess, there was a statesman once who said "Be sure you are right and then go ahead."

Dink Barnes has been a Memphis visitor for several days.

We would like for every one who can to attend church service the evening of the first Sunday in October to hear the young Baptist preacher from Quail. He is only 19 years and has been in the service five years. You'll miss a great feast if you don't attend.

Well, if this does not hit the waste basket, we will send in others later.

Bandits Change Bus Routes
Marauding Bedouin bandits are interrupting auto bus service across the Syrian desert. Reports that they were active near Damascus caused the proprietors of the Beirut-Bagdad line to detour to Palmyra. Heavy snows in the Lebanon mountains caused another shift to the Beirut-Tripoli-Homs-Palmyra-Rutbah-Beirut route, a much longer distance. With the melting of the snows the route will be changed again, but the Bedouins still keep the buses from direct travel between Damascus and Iraq. Many travelers fear to venture on the route.

Minnesota Now Has Longest Concrete Road

The longest continuous stretch of concrete roadway in the world has just been completed between White Bear and Duluth, Minn. This pavement passes through 29 towns and villages over its 137-mile length.

Paving construction on this thoroughfare, State Trunk Highway No. 1, was begun in 1923. Highway authorities point out that the completed highway will save a great deal of money through low maintenance costs. Maintenance costs for gravel surfacing on this highway have been as much as $3,000 a mile, state highway records show.

The Minnesota pavement is two miles longer than the concrete pavement extending from Olympia to Vancouver, Wash. The third longest length of concrete rural pavement reaches from Kansas City to a point west of Columbia, Mo., a distance of 125 miles.

The Come-Back

Bliss Perry, editor and author, is one of the leading members of the American academy, and at a Cambridge garden party the other day he listened with a smile to a young jazz novelist's diatribe against the famous institution.

"The French academy is a bluff," the young novelist wound up, "and the American academy is only a poor imitation of it."

Mr. Perry's smile changed to a laugh, and then he said:

"Our American academy is like death. People only poke fun at it when they know there's no danger of its gathering them in."

WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman's economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

How Ceylonese Pearl Diver Gathers Oysters

The lot of the Ceylon pearl diver is not an easy one. Stones are suspended on a running rope over an outrigger projected from the boat's side in such a convenient position as to allow the diver to place one foot within a loop affixed to the stone.

The diver having placed himself with one foot on the stone, with a net around his neck to hold oysters, draws in his breath, closes the nostrils with one hand, and raises his body to give force to the descent. The manduck (or diver's attendant), in charge of the stone and nets, lets go, and the diver plunges into the bottom, leaves the stone, which the manduck instantly hauls up and refixes, throws himself on the ground, creeping along, and fills his net with oysters.

This done, he jerks the rope, which is pulled up by the manduck in charge, and the contents of the net are discharged into the boat; the diver meanwhile rises to the surface.

Zulus Like Western Films

When it comes to moving pictures the Zulu likes the Wild Western variety, and the wilder the better. Next in line of favor is the American comedy. Educational films are tolerated, but society dramas are zero in his estimation, according to Arthur I. Adams of the American Board mission at Rhodesia, South Africa, where picture shows are given out of doors to entertain the thousands of natives who work in the diamond mines.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas.
To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Donley County—Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon W. F. Marshall, by making publications of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Donley county, to be holden at the court house thereof, in Clarendon, Texas, on the third Monday in October, A. D. 1927, the same being the 17th day of October, A. D. 1927, and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 14th day of September, A. D. 1927, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1556, wherein Lillian Marshall is plaintiff and W. F. Marshall is defendant, and said petition alleging that she has been a bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas for more than one year, and of Donley county for more than six months before filing this petition; that she and defendant were lawfully married to each other about Dec. 13, 1914, in Aberdeen, Texas; that they separated about March 9th, 1927; that defendant was abusive toward plaintiff, and many times used vile and indecent language to and concerning her, and many times accused her of infidelity, which accusations were false and untrue; that plaintiff was a kind and affectionate wife to defendant during their married life, but his actions toward her are of such nature as to render their further living together insupportable; that plaintiff and defendant have three children, Hubert, age 12 years, John, age 7 years, and Laverne, age 2 years, which plaintiff has cared for during the time since she left defendant, having been forced to leave him by reason of his treatment to her, cursing and abusing her, and before separating that he whipped her with a shovel; that defendant's address is now unknown; plaintiff asks judgment for dissolution of marital relations existing, for custody of the three children named, for her costs of suit, and such other relief as she may show herself entitled to.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court at its aforesaid next regular term this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Clarendon, Texas, this the 14th day of September, A. D. 1927.

JAMES PRATT HARRIS

The mortal remains of Pratt Harris, who died at Lakeview, Oregon, on Sept 2nd, arrived in Hedley Tuesday night.

A huge crowd of sorrowing and sympathizing friends assembled at the B. E. Harris home at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, where the funeral services were held, conducted by Rev. Joseph E. Eldridge, under the direction of the American Legion. The American Legion boys of Charles E. Simmons Post of Memphis were here to assist the local boys in paying the last tribute to their comrade of the World War. Twelve shots were fired as a salute over the grave, after which "taps" were sounded. Mr. Harris served in the 348th Field Artillery, and he saw eighteen months of service.

The throng of friends attending these last solemn rites included a large number from out of town, and the floral offerings were profuse and beautiful.

James Pratt Harris was born November 18, 1892, at Sherman, Miss., the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Harris. He is survived by his parents, one sister, Miss Mary, and three brothers, Sid, of Clarendon, and John and Will, of McLean.

A host of friends offer loving sympathy to the family in their sad bereavement.

THE NAZARENE REVIVAL

The Nazarene revival closed Sunday night in a wave of glory, with about twenty new born souls in the Kingdom. This is one of the best revivals in many ways that we have ever had. A beautiful spirit of cooperation was manifested by our own and other denominations of the community. Bro and Sister Cagle are able, spirit filled, powerful preachers, and the seed sown in this revival will bring forth fruit in years to come.

We as a church thank every one who contributed to the meeting in any way. Thank you from the depths of our hearts. May the Father who rewards openly bestow His richest blessings on each of you.

The Nazarene Church.

J. F. Randall, former Hedley citizen now living at Claude, was a caller at this office Monday and has our thanks for a subscription order. He still owns his farm near here, and we look for him to come back some of these days. His daughter, Gladys, is attending the Hedley school and living with her grandfather, J. B. Grimsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McDaniel and children of Alanreed visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Fitzgerald.

Mrs. S. L. Adamson is recovering from an attack of pneumonia, and is able to sit up part of the time. She has rented her home and for the present will be with her son, Bob, and daughter, Mrs. O. R. Culwell. Later she will go to Amarillo to spend the winter. Her daughters, Mrs. E. B. Weber and Mrs. Raymond Storseth, who helped care for her during her illness, have returned to their home in Amarillo.

Claude Bain and family are occupying the Adamson house, having moved to town to get the benefit of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Adamson have the thanks of the Informer family for a bucket of choice tomatoes. The Adamsons are famous for their tomatoes, and these are among the finest we ever saw.

J. B. BONDS

J. B. Bonds, who has been critically ill for several weeks following a paralytic stroke, and who was taken to a Dallas hospital last week as a last hope that the hand of death might be stayed, died Tuesday, Sept 13 h.

Funeral services were held at the family residence Wednesday conducted by Rev. Joseph E. Eldridge. Interment in Citizens Cemetery at Clarendon.

Mr. Bonds was born in Prentiss county, Miss., in 1885, being 42 years old at the time of his death. He was highly esteemed in Hedley as a splendid citizen. For some time he has been the engineer at the Farmers Equity Gin, and was an expert in that business.

Surviving him are his widow, five children, his mother, three brothers and two sisters. Many friends mourn his death, and unite in deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.
