Mrs. G. R. Cash Dies

Sarah Matilda Cash was born January 31, 1866, in New Cambria, Macon county, Missouri; departed this life October 5, 1937 at the age of 71 years, 8 months, 5 days.

She professed faith in Christ as her Savior in her eighteenth year and three years later united with the Missionary Baptist Church of which church she remained a member until called above.

She was united in marriage with George R. Cash, June 24, 1883. To this union were born four children: Mrs. Bessie M. Day, Albuquerque, N. Mex.; Mrs. Flossie A. Williams, Hedley, Tex.; Mrs. Daisy J. Darnell, and Roy S. Cash, Springtown, Ark. Mr. Cash passed away October 14th, 1932; the children all live, and mourn the loss of their dearest earthly friend, Mother.

Brother and Sister Cash spent the greater part of their wedded life in Texas, where they settled as pioneers, near what is now the town of Hedley. There they lived a life and left an influence that will not be forgotten. They were charter members of the church at McKnight; later were members of the church at Hedley; always placing their Lord's cause first in their lives.

Faithful in her home, to her family, in her church and to her God, Sister Cash has heard the Master's welcome, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."—The Journal Advance, Gentry, Ark.

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, putting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

By VIRGINIA VALE

WHILE all the important motion-picture producers were trying to interest Ronald Colman in big, serious dramas, he slipped over to the Hal Roach studio and agreed to star in a goofy comedy called "Fancy Free." No one else even suspected that Ronnie wanted to join the parade of serious players who have scored in light offerings.

His best friend, Bill Powell, is suspected of selling him the idea. Bill has such fun making comedies, and so do Myrna Loy and Carole Lombard, and the newest recruit, Constance Bennett. I would not be at all surprised if Constance were to play the lead opposite Colman.

Now that Bill Powell is wandering around Europe, Myrna Loy is going to stray over to the Twentieth Century-Fox studio to make a picture with Warner Baxter, her second-best leading man. The story is "Career in C Major," and is all about a woman with a not-so-good voice who is absolutely determined to get into grand opera. Her husband views the whole project with distaste, until he finds that his barber-shop chord barytone is just what the opera scouts have been looking for.

Just as soon as a radio performer makes an outstanding hit, the motion picture scouts grab him, so now it is Professor Quiz who is going to step before the camera. He and James Wallington, the ever-popular announcer, are going to be in Columbia Pictures' "Freshman Follies."

The tremendous popularity of "The Prisoner of Zenda" has revived interest in swashbuckling mythical kingdom romances, so Sam Goldwyn has decided it is high time to film "Graustark" again. It has been made twice before, but not in the gorgeous way that Sam will make it. He plans to have Merle Oberon play the beautiful princess and Gary Cooper the American newspaper man who rescues and marries her.

Since he subbed for Don Ameche on the Charlie-McCarthy-Nelson Eddy program, Herbert Marshall is the most-sought-after actor in Hollywood for radio programs. If any sponsor could persuade him and Claudette Colbert to appear regularly together, the program's popularity rating would be sure to start near the top. But just wait until you hear Brian Aherne's voice in the Warner Brother's picture, "The Great Garrick." He is going to give Mr. Marshall some competition.

Phil Spitalny is being ribbed by his friends, and all because he ran into difficulties while filming a Paramount short film featuring his Hour of Charm All-Girl orchestra. They all worked hard, finished the film on schedule and went home satisfied that they had done their best. But the studio called up next day to protest that a man's voice could be heard in the midst of the all-female chorus. Spitalny went to hear the sound-track played, pretty indignant that their work had been spoiled. Only to find that it was his own voice on the film.

Motion-picture fans who have been lamenting because so many of their Hollywood favorites have abandoned the screen for a fling on the stage can just stop worrying. So far the plays have not been good enough to hold the players for long. Sylvia Sidney, Henry Fonda, and Ellsa Landi will probably be back at Hollywood at work in pictures before very long. But Frederic March, undisputedly by their so-so success, is headed for New York with his wife to do a stage play.

ODDS AND ENDS—Walt Disney has finally vetoed the plan to put Mickey and Minnie Mouse on a weekly radio program. Can't spare the time to see that it is done right, and won't let his little darling Minnie and Mickey be directed by anyone else. . . . Alice Faye did not like the dressing room Universal studio provided for her, so she got a moving van to bring her own dressing room bungalow over from the 20th Century-Fox lot. . . . Olivia de Havilland has eliminated all the other candidates for the lead in "Robin Hood" opposite Errol Flynn. Each figure that the other brings back to a picture. . . . Paul Muni and his wife are on a six-months' world cruise to the deep regret of all the companies who wanted him to make another picture right away.

The Sourdough Hotel

IF YOU'VE ever been to Alaska you probably thought it was a good joke on your friends to write a letter to them on the stationery of the Sourdough hotel.

The Sourdough hotel is located at 1333 Iceicle avenue and among the house rules are these: towels changed weekly; spiked shoes must be removed at night; anyone troubled with nightmares will find a halter on the bedpost; don't worry about paying your bill—the house is supported by its foundation.

This hotel was the creation of a young newspaper man named E. J. White who went to Alaska during the gold rush of 1898. The primitive living conditions in the boom camp of Dawson appealed to his sense of humor so he had printed several hundred sheets of stationery for his Sourdough hotel.

The gold seekers, seeing in this a chance to play a joke on the folks back home, eagerly bought his stationery at $2 a dozen sheets. White's clever foolery landed him a job on the Klondike Nugget and started him on the career which has made the name of "Stroller" White famous. He's still a newspaper man, publisher of the Juneau Stroller's Weekly, and tourists in Alaska are still writing letters back home on the stationery of the Sourdough hotel.

"Enigmatical Prophecies"

WHEN purchasers of "Poor Richard's Almanac" for the year 1736 opened their copies of that household necessity, some of them, no doubt, were considerably alarmed when they read in it certain "enigmatical prophecies." For "Poor Richard" (otherwise known as Benjamin Franklin) solemnly predicted that during the coming year many of America's greatest cities would soon be under water, that a certain power with which the country was not at war would take great numbers of vessels fully laden out of the seaports of the country, and that an army of musketeers would land in this country to annoy the inhabitants. Furthermore he promised to reveal in the next issue of his "almanac" the proof of these statements if his readers were not aware of these events when they happened.

So they had to wait patiently for a whole year to learn the answers to these enigmas. But, true to "Poor Richard's" promise, the 1737 issue of the almanac did contain the answers.

The water which had covered the great cities was that of the sea and the rivers, raised by the sun in the form of vapor, then descending upon the cities as rain. The power with which the country was not at war was the wind which did indeed "take great numbers of vessels fully laden out of the seaports of the country."

As for the army of musketeers which would land to annoy this country's inhabitants, they were mosquitoes. For "everyone knows they are fish before they fly, being bred in the water; and therefore may properly be said to land before they become generally troublesome."

"Exaltation," nee "Yes, We Have No Bananas"

WHEN Mrs. Sarah Smith exhibited one of her paintings at Claremont, Calif., and the art critics dismissed it from consideration as being "distinctly of the old school," her husband, Paul Jordan Smith, an author and minister who considered his wife an accomplished painter, resolved to get back at those supercilious "experts."

Several months later an art exhibit in Boston included four paintings by "Paval Jerdanovitch," who was called the "supreme master of the disubmationist school of painting." They were named "Aspiration," "Adoration," "Exaltation" and "Illumination." In the catalogue was this statement by their painter: "To those that realize that real art depicts not what we see, but what we feel, hear and smell, these soul-revealing creations will be sources of ecstatic, moronic rapture."

The ultra-modernist critics looked at his paintings, nodded sagely and uttered many laudatory comments on "the rise of a new star in the art firmament." Critics in New York and Chicago, where the paintings were later exhibited, agreed with them, until. . . .

"Paval Jerdanovitch" was revealed as Paul Jordan Smith of California who said that he had borrowed some of his wife's canvases and "just slopped on a lot of paint." For instance, "Exaltation," the most famous of the four, had been called "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and had been used as a fire screen in his home. Smith had produced these ultra-impressionistic pictures, he said, "without the slightest knowledge of painting, just to prove that most art critics don't know what they're talking about." Apparently some of them also didn't know the meaning of the word "moronic!"

"No fooling, I certainly am."

"Very well, when? Couldn't we—"

he looked at his watch—"no, it's too late to go to City hall today. How about tomorrow morning? Then we'd take an airplane and along about teatime we could walk in on my mother and say: 'Here we are. Now go your wonton way, we'll take over the house and the paper and—'"

"Nothing doing with this mad rush stuff. You're forgetting about my mother. I wouldn't be married without her. I couldn't, Curt."

"No, I suppose not." He drooped pathetically.

"And I ought to finish up a lot more work for Vinco. And I certainly want some new clothes."

"I'll tell you—in ten years or so, when you're quite ready, send me a telegram, I'd like to know about it. But honestly, darling, do I have to wait very long? I've already marked time for nearly six months, remember."

"Oh tush, it hasn't been six months since you dashed down to Rockboro to snatch me from Bob Eddis."

"But I've known you six months and been in love with you all the time."

"Have you really, Curt?"

"The first day you came into Vinco's with that strange fellow—who was he, by the way? You've never told me."

"Oh, he's named Oliver Land and I met him at the Steeles' and he told me about Vinco's and took me there." Even now while she was so happy, there was a little sharp spot when she remembered Oliver, not of regret but of anger.

Curt seemed to find Oliver sufficiently explained. He returned to more important matters. "But when are we going to get married, that's what I want to know? D'you think your mother will object to me?"

"No, I don't believe she will. Darling Anne, she's the most wonderful, the grandest—she didn't want me to marry Bob Eddis, Curt."

"That rates her a million per cent with me. But I haven't got much to offer you, Rachel. I'll never be rich or distinguished or even notorious. How about sending your mother a nice long cable, sort of breaking the subject gently?"

"I might do that. I wonder—what's your mother going to say?"

"That woman's been abusing me something shameful for being so slow. She said that you sounded exactly like the kind of girl she always wanted me to marry and if I didn't propose to you pretty soon she'd come and do it for me. By the way, what kind of an engagement ring would you like best? I can get that on you even if you won't be married for an eon or two. Would you like an emerald, or a sapphire?"

"Anything but a sapphire," said Rachel.

"No, sapphires don't suit you. You ought to have something tawny and brilliant, an orange-colored diamond or a beautiful bronzy pearl. I saw one once."

Unexpected Visitors Must Take a Chance

DEAR Mrs. Post: My husband and I were planning to go with another couple to a big dance in town when the day before out of town relatives just arrived without any notice at all. We tried to persuade them to go to the dance with us but they said they did not care for dancing and also they had not come prepared with evening clothes. We even tried to supply the clothes, but no, they would not go. We felt that we should go since we had promised our friends. We explained the situation and they seemed very sincere in wanting us to go without them. They stayed home with the radio and the dog. Next day they acted hurt and before leaving remarked that they were glad their visit had not interfered with our pleasure. I certainly feel that they have branded me as a discourteous hostess and can't help wondering whether I was wrong.

Answer: A question like this is so hard to answer because if I say you were perfectly right in going out, the chances are that some of my readers would feel about it as your guests apparently did. And yet the real fault was that of your guests who came without asking you if it would be convenient to have them. And this is a thing which in my opinion no one should take for granted—not even a nearest relative, unless she knows there is plenty of room and also that her hostess will feel free to do just as you did.

ABC's in Manners: Invitations and Greetings

IS THE tissue paper left in commencement announcements or invitations when they are mailed? And why our answer?

Answer: It is correct to remove the tissue paper before mailing the announcements or invitations. But if you think the ink has not dried sufficiently to prevent the clean page from getting smudged, then this is a sensible enough reason for leaving it.

Use Double Sheets.

DEAR Mrs. Post: I have always been under the impression that correct writing paper for a man was cut in single sheets, but recently you suggested to a reader that in his particular case the paper should be double. Has the style in men's writing paper changed or is it that I have been under a wrong impression?

Answer: I am sorry but I am afraid you have been under the wrong impression. Social paper, or at least that which can be used for formal occasions such as notes of invitation, answers to invitations, etc., should never be on a single fold paper. Of course when file copies need be made of personal letters then they as well as long business letters are necessarily written on single paper of typewriting size.

Junior Bridesmaid

DEAR Mrs. Post: I have a sister only eleven years old, but big for her age. She is my only sister and at an age that seems to make it impossible to include her in my wedding party either as a flower girl or as a bridesmaid, and yet I know the poor child will be heart-broken if you can't find some place for her.

Answer: Make her a junior bridesmaid. That means that she wears a dress as nearly as possible like those worn by the bridesmaids, but modified to suit her age. If you have a maid of honor, your sister should follow the ushers either walking alone or else walking with another junior bridesmaid. If she walks immediately before you, this would make her your maid of honor, which she can perfectly well be if you have not already invited your best friend.

Deaths in Business

DEAR Mrs. Post: At various times our company receives notices of the death of people who are connected with business firms with which we do business. We don't know whether we should make any acknowledgment of this announcement or not, and if so, what.

Answer: This is probably only intended as a notification so that you will no longer address business letters to this name, and no acknowledgment is necessary. On the other hand, if you happen to know someone in the company whom you feel will be really upset by the loss of this associate, it would be kind to write to him.

Drinking Your Bouillon

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is it proper to pick up the wide bouillon cups and drink from them? They seem almost too large, but my husband insists that their handles are not only intended for ornamentation.

Answer: Your husband is quite right. Moreover, you use both handles, one held in each hand.

Uncle Phil Says:

A Crying Need

So much pains are taken to amplify sound and not a thing provided to put in your ears to keep it out.

To keep a secret, forget about it yourself most of the time.

A MISTAKE TO WAIT

WHEN "ACID INDIGESTION" STARTS

CARRY YOUR ALKALIZER WITH YOU ALWAYS

The fastest way to "alkalize" is to carry your alkalizer with you. That's what thousands do now that genuine Phillips' comes in tiny, peppermint flavored tablets—in a flat tin for pocket or purse. Then you are always ready.

Use it this way: Take 2 Phillips' tablets—equal in "alkalizing" effect to 2 teaspoonsful of liquid Phillips' from the bottle. At once you feel "gas," nausea, "over-crowding" from hyper-acidity begin to ease. "Acid headaches," "acid breath," over-acid stomach are corrected at the source. This is the quick way to ease your own distress—avoid offense to others.

Without Substitute

There are three things for which no substitute can be found: love, work and character.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Cromulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Cromulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Cromulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Cromulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Cromulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Guard the Laugh

One can make a bitterer enemy with a laugh than with a curse.

A Good Laxative

The bad feelings and dullness often attending constipation take the joy out of life. Try a dose of Black-Draught at the first sign of constipation and see how much better it is to check the trouble before it gets a hold on you. Black-Draught is purely vegetable and is so prompt and reliable. Get refreshing relief from constipation by taking purely vegetable

BLACK-DRAUGHT

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

No matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month.

Too often the honeymoon ecstasy is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward signs that she is a victim of periodic pain.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife; take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Warning

I am asking all citizens of the county to cooperate with me in keeping down petty theft during the cotton season, when the county is filled with transients.
Most of these are honest but some are not, and everyone is urged to keep all money and valuables locked up and leave some one at home when you come to town. Do not leave your car parked in front of your house at night, or leave tools and other articles out where they can be easily stolen. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Guy Pierce, Sheriff

NOTICE

There is a city ordinance pre-bidding chickens running at large. There have been several complaints made that the neighbor's chickens are destroying flower beds and gardens. Those who have chickens will please keep them on their own premises.

A Telephone

Is no longer a luxury - - - it is a necessity. For calling your grocer, butcher or doctor it is indispensable. And remember, one minute's emergency might pay a year's telephone bill.

Light Heart, Light Home to See Best in Life

Life is fleeting, says the poet. Hence, we say
"Why not get the utmost out of life 'ere it fleets?" To lighten the heart, light the home.
For two reasons: conserve eyesight... brighten the domestic scene. Doctors can tell you of proper light's value; our lighting advisor can show you how good light will beautify living room, dining room, bedroom, kitchen or basement. Glare and sudden contrasts are eyesight's worst enemies. Ask our lighting advisor to show you how they can be eliminated at little or no additional expense. There is no charge for a lighting demonstration.
