PAVING FOR HEDLEY

Latest information on the pavement is that a new project will not be necessary. The project that was OKed last year is still in force and with a change of specifications can be used to pave up to fifteen blocks.

The donations to the project have been coming in good but have lagged a little the last few days. Property owners have been very good in getting their donations in and it is thought that a very few assessments will have to be made. Something like $1500 is already in and the pavement committee hopes to have $2000 by the end of the week so that they can start on the work.

The plan is to draw up the specifications as soon as seen as the $2000 is reached and the work should start about 30 days thereafter and continue until the funds run out. If you want to see Hedley out of the mud or rut now is the time to get behind the pavement, whether you have property or not it will benefit you and your donation whether $1 or $100 will be appreciated.

Men need the work, the merchants need the business and the town needs the pavement. Values will increase, the town will take on new life and it may be the start to some more good times for Hedley. Let's all get behind this movement and do all we can while we can get the government aid and do it with very little money and no increase in taxes.

Also let's not let the pavement be the stopping point. Other towns have been getting government projects for several years and Hedley has been left out. After the pavement there are many other improvements needed so why not get them when we can get government aid.

Rally Day Program

Sunday morning, May 4 the Methodist Church School will have a Rally Day program to which everyone is cordially invited. The theme of the day will be The Church School Builds the Church. Learn to appreciate the work of the Sunday School more. Come and help the pastor, superintendent and teachers make our school a real force for Christ in this community.

Baptist Church Notes

The eight days of special revival services are now history. The pastor did the preaching and Bro. V. M. Lallar, pastor at Kelton and Lela led the singing. Bro. Lallar is really good help in a revival. We are grateful for his coming and we want him to come again.

The crowds were really fine at all the services both morning and evening. It was good to see large crowds coming to the house of the Lord. Even Sunday, in spite of all that rain, 120 arrived, in time to be counted in Sunday School.

A warm welcome is extended to all of those who attended to all of those who attended the revival to worship with us Sunday. It will be good to see you again, and again, and again!

Twenty two adults and seven children were present Monday 8 p. m. for Bible study. Pastor Teaff taught a lesson from Eph. 5:22-33. An urge is given those not present at this woman's meeting to attend the Mission study led by Mrs. H. Moffitt Monday, May 5, at 8 p. m. in the church basement.

Sun Beams, remember your meeting Wednesday at 2:45 p. m. in the basement of the church.

The G. A.'s meet Saturday 8 p. m. at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Teaff Gomel. Parents, please, cooperate in this!

If it is the Lord's will begin a revival Sunday night, May 4, at McKnight. Pray for the meeting! Attend it!

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

British and Greek Retreating Action Inflicts Heavy Loss on Nazi Troops; Convoying of Ships to British Isles Receives Careful Study by Congress

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

GREECE: And Britain

Backs to the wall, with the Swastika flying on historic Mount Olympus, Greeks and British fought side by side a continuing rear-guard action which was costing the Nazi forces dearly for each mile of territory gained, but which even the Greeks and British believed could have only one finish—ultimate defeat.

The Germans were seeking this victory to give it to Der Fueherer as a fifty-second birthday present, but this was denied them. Yet the latter days of the fighting were marked by a curious attitude on the part of the British press—many of the papers calling for a withdrawal of the troops while the daily reports told of marvelous resistance, of heavy toll from the attackers' columns, and long lines of prisoners and wounded in Nazi uniforms pouring into Athens.

Generally speaking, there was little, if any, bombing of the historic Greek capital, cradle of modern civilization, filled with priceless relics of the days of Pericles. The Ger-his natural successor, said to be more pro-Axis, in his place.

But King George II foiled any such plot, if plot there was, by taking the reins of government in his own hands, and forming a military cabinet to take the place of that headed by Korizis.

Kostas Kotzias was named vice premier and charged with the difficult task of forming the new cabinet.

In the midst of this gloomy outlook, President Roosevelt said that one of the dangers of the entire American setup for the national defense and aid to embattled democracies was that the people "are not sufficiently aware of the serious character of the European war situation."

This condition, the President said, it will be his purpose to attempt to rectify, though how he was to do it was not immediately apparent.

CONVOYS:

And Mr. Tobey

Senator Tobey of New Hampshire got onto the front pages with a bang when he, the original foe of convoying, openly declared that he had been informed by certain persons whose anonymity he protected, that the United States already was engaged in convoying aid-to-Britain materials on Atlantic waters.

This was immediately and categorically denied by two authorities. These were Secretary Hull and Admiral Stark. The administration rested on these denials, and administration spokesmen said they certainly believed the public should believe the positive testimony of these two men rather than the unsupported and anonymous evidence presented by Senator Tobey.

However, though this apparently spiked Tobey's verbal guns, Senator Nye stepped into the breach and took up the fight and always in the background were Senator Wheeler and other isolationists to keep kicking the anti-administration ball around.

Wheeler's slogan was that the public wanted to keep the country out of war, but the Gallup poll found that 27 per cent of the people were even willing to send part of the navy and part of the air force overseas right now, though only 17 per cent were interested in sending part of the army.

But there seemed a definite dissatisfaction with the British convoy men claimed they were bombing Athens not at all. There were, in fact, small reports of damage, much smaller than would have been the case if bombing of the capital were a part of the German plan.

The first German success in Thrace and Macedonia was followed by a general and continued advance toward strategic points, and culminated in a break-through, which forced the abandonment of the Mount Olympus line, and the entrance of the attackers into the vast Thessalian plain.

The Nazi tactic seemed to call for picking out one or two vital weak spots in the defenders' positions, and attacking these with furious pincer assaults, exactly similar to the method used in the Battle of France.

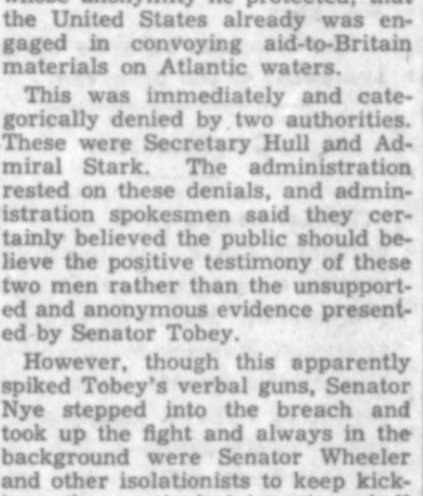

That they were not immediately successful in a larger measure was tribute to two things—the fighting qualities of British and Greeks, and the absence of panic-jammed roadways, interfering with orderly military transport.

Not repeated were the awful scenes of Poland, where the Nazi tanks advanced to their triumph, entry of Warsaw over the terrified and broken bodies of thousands of Polish civilians—men, women and children.

And these also had been the scenes enacted in the Low Countries, where the Nazi Panzer operators themselves were said to have been sickened as the caterpillar tractors ground noncombatants' bodies into the pavements of the roads on which they swarmed in their forward march.

Yet the outcome of the battle was hardly expected to be favorable to the defenders. This was seen in the earliest statements of Churchill himself, in the continued demand that the British defenders take to their ships and escape while they might, in the sudden "suicide" of Alexandros Korizis, premier of Greece, who, it was announced officially from Athens, took his own life in anguish at the failure of his country's defense.

The turbulent character of the news caused this death to be reported as a mystery for nearly 48 hours, with German sources claiming that British had murdered Korizis because he had wanted to surrender the Greek army, and other news claiming that he was murdered by Nazi agents who wanted method, that of sending 30 or 40 ships with a couple of small naval vessels as guard, and no guard at all until the forty-second parallel of latitude was reached.

The American method, of parallel lines of naval vessels guarding the whole route, and each ship moving at its natural speed, gained more favor, yet how Britain could spare the ships without more aid from the U. S. navy appeared the major problem.

And this brought the convoy question popping up again and again.

JUGOSLAVIA:

Gesture

The sudden capitulation of the entire Yugoslavian army after nine days of brave fighting against insuperable odds and under impossible conditions, made of the Serbian and Slovene resistance simply a noble gesture that brought a sympathetic response from watchers on both sides of the Atlantic.

Maj. George Fielding Elliot, one military columnist, said the Yugoslav sacrifice was not in vain, and pointed out the military advantages it gave to Greece.

Yet to the man in the street it had been a vain sacrifice, they were unable to understand its benefits, and all that emerged was the gesture of bravery, of independence, of hoping against hope that their autonomy, their homes, their nation and their freedom might be saved.

Many expressed themselves puzzled that the Yugoslav nation should have resisted at all.

U. S. ARMY: Training

The early contention of many army experts that America could not hope to train men in modern warfare in one calendar year, starting with the raw civilian, brought from many sources the word that it would be more than borne out now that the troops were proceeding into advanced training.

The army had now reached, in numbers, well past 1,200,000 men, and in this group were 27 infantry divisions alone. These men, it was said, already had been given a good course in basic discipline and ordinary infantry training, but even this was entirely preliminary to serious consideration of modern warfare, and was not finished yet.

One American officer, in the Army Journal, criticized the war department for permitting delays in the training of troops. It was said that there was a good deal of irritation expressed in high department quarters over the frank words of this officer.

One of the chief bottlenecks, of course, has been the lack of equipment of the newest types with which to train the men, assuming that their basic course is soon finished.

But the article in the Army Journal and another in the Cavalry Journal commenting on the first, revealed that our army is lagging in instruction on the use of flame-throwers, on defense against chemical warfare and in many other fields, particularly as to modern combat.

A plan to cut the draft age down to 18 met early antagonism in congressional circles, but that the administration had not abandoned the idea was seen in facts and figures later made public.

For instance, the Census Bureau estimated that the lowering of the age limit would place 3,645,267 more men within the range of the selective service law.

But if the maximum age limits were lowered to 30 years, more than 5,000,000 would be taken out of the law's scope, it was said.

LONDON:
Really Blasted

Lest Britain might think that Hitler had moved all his air force into Africa and the Balkans, the German Luftwaffe started a terrific series of raids on London, doing the British capital damage on such a large scale and causing so many casualties that accurate estimates were not obtainable a week later.

Lord and Lady Stamp, the former honored repeatedly in this country, were killed, removing an important figure from the government. City block after city block was demolished. Hundreds and hundreds of persons were wiped out in underground shelters, struck by direct hits.

The first raid lasted 10 hours. The second, Hitler's "birthday blitz," was only slightly less severe.

Britain came out of it with Londoners fighting mad, walking about the streets, looking at the wreckage, demanding "Bomb Berlin, Bomb Berlin!" They scrawled these words with chalk on the sidewalks, on the walls of torn buildings, they chanted it in the canyons of their wrecked city.

The R. A. F. had stormed Berlin a few days before the first big raid, and the raid itself had been a reprisal—but the British forgot this and demanded more reprisals. This the R. A. F. did the following day, the air ministry announcing that bombs of a larger caliber than ever used before had been dropped on the German capital.

German admissions of damage were small. Only 15 had lost their lives in the first raid, Berlip said, and no casualties and minor damage was reported in the second. How true this minimizing of the damage was, no official report revealed, but returning British airmen claimed the result of the reprisal was "extensive."

The slamming attacks of the German air force continued all over the British Isles with one foray over northern Ireland, with Belfast hard hit.

Star Dust
STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

RITA HAYWORTH, whose rise to movie heights makes one of Hollywood's most spectacular success stories, has drawn the co-starring role opposite Fred Astaire in Columbia's "He's My Uncle" because she really deserves it.

Rita Hayworth
Cansino family; has danced all her life.

Did you happen to listen to Bing Crosby's radio program the night J. Carrol Naish appeared on it? If you did, you'll remember that Naish sang an Irish ballad. Until then nobody in Hollywood knew that he had a good baritone voice, and had sung on the stage. William C. Thomas of the Pine-Thomas organization, producing aviation pictures for Paramount, listened, and learned. Naish was already booked for a role in "Forced Landing"—now he's scheduled to sing a song as well as act.

Ella Neal established something of a record recently when she appeared in three pictures in three days. On Wednesday she was Jon Hall's handmaiden in "Alma of the South Seas"; Thursday morning, "Buy Me That Town," she was a mother at her baby's christening; Friday, she played a Mexican bride in "Hold Back the Dawn"—for that one she had to say something in Spanish, which she doesn't understand; she's still wondering what it meant.

If you enjoyed "The Cat and the Canary," made two years ago, you'll look forward with good reason to "Nothing But the Truth," in which the same stars—Bob Hope and Paulette Goddard—appear. It's in the hands of the same director, Elliott Nugent. It's the hilarious story of a stock broker who bets $10,000 that he won't tell a lie for 24 hours, and the cast includes such capable actors as Edward Arnold, Grant Mitchell, Rose Hobart, Helen Vinson, Leon Belasco and Leif Erikson.

Bob Hope

It looks as if Gloria Swanson would really return to the screen in "Father Takes a Wife" with Adolphe Menjou, Desi Arnaz and John Howard. Mr. Menjou, famous for his wardrobe, and Miss Swanson, equally famous for hers, have been having wardrobe tests at RKO; she has a reputation in New York for being able to wear just anything at all and look smart in it.

Joan Crawford's New York fans, who troop around at her heels when ever she's in town, recently presented her with a rather staggering birthday gift—a birthday card more than two feet square, which they'd had autographed by dozens of famous theatrical people.

The public apparently spends a lot of time and thought on trying to beat the quiz shows; the newest wrinkle bobbed up recently in connection with Ben Bernie's program. For two weeks he was besieged with requests for tickets to the repeat show. Here's the reason:

The final contestants vying for the prize of $100 are selected by their ability to guess from a recording how many shots are fired out of a machine gun in so many seconds. One night on the first show, the number of shots fired was 52. On the repeat show, all the contestants promptly guessed 49, 50 and 51. But they were fooled—Bernie had 93 shots fired the second time, by letting the record run longer.

Because a singer on the "Uncle Ezra" program got a chance, to make a movie with Shirley Temple, the announcer on the same program gets a chance to be a network singer. The first singer is Bob Nolan, the announcer is Cy Harrice.

ODDS AND ENDS—Clark Gable's next for Metro, "Honky Tonk," in which Lana Turner will appear opposite him, turns him into a confidence man and scoundrel who becomes a power in a town in the Yukon. RKO will introduce a new romantic team in "Lady Scarface"—they're Frances Neal and Dennis O'Keefe, and the story's a comedy with a gangland background. Wendy Barrie and George Sanders will be teamed in "The Gay Falcon," mystery picture to be made by RKO; Michael Arlen (remember "The Green Hat"?) is the author. George Brent and Basil Rathbone have the leads in "G-Man Versus Scotland Yard."

Commencement

The Senior Class of 1941 is very fortunate in obtaining two very capable speakers for their commencement sermons and commencement addresses.
On Sunday morning May 11, at eleven o'clock in the high school auditorium, Rev. Rex Kendall of Vega, Texas, will deliver the commencement sermon. Rev. Kendall is an ex-senior of Hedley High School and will not be new faces to many of us. We are happy to have him back to Hedley for this occasion, and I am sure that many of his friends will be looking forward to seeing and hearing him.
On Friday evening May 16, at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw, pastor of the Episcopal Church of Olarendon, will deliver the commencement address. Rev. Henshaw is not a stranger to us, having appeared with Mrs. Henshaw this fall in assembly at the high school, at which time they portrayed some of the interesting habits and customs of the Hawaiian Islands.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Cream cheese mixed with a little chili sauce or catsup makes a piquant filling for sandwiches. They are especially appealing with a hot beverage.

Never allow cold water to run into an aluminum pan while it is hot. If done repeatedly, this rapid contraction of metal will cause pan to warp.

A large banana and two ounces of cream cheese mashed and mixed together makes a delicious spread for crackers.

If you do not have a special board for pressing sleeves, here is a convenient substitute: Roll up a large magazine, fasten it with rubber bands and tuck it into the sleeve.

A scrubbing brush with stiff bristles is invaluable when washing badly soiled collar bands, mud-splashed hems or other stains on white clothes. Lay the cloth smoothly on the washboard, wet the brush, rub it across a bar of soap, then scrub the garment with strokes of the brush.

Remove seeds from dates with a sharp-bladed paring knife. Keep your fingers moistened with cold water to prevent dates from sticking. Store dates in covered jar in a cupboard.

To remove dandelion stains from washable materials, rub lard well into the spots, roll the material and let it stand half an hour or so, then wash with mild soap and warm water. Rinse well and repeat if the stains remain.

Household Hints by Lynn Chambers

THRIFT CUTS—MORE MEAT FOR YOUR MONEY

MEATS FOR BUDGET MEALS

If you're meat-wise, then you're budget-wise! For the less expensive cuts of meat have a way of making food dollars really s-t-r-e-t-c-h.

What's more, the thrift cuts of meat are equally as chock full of flavor, health-giving vitamins, body-building proteins and minerals as the more expensive ones. When you buy a chuck roast instead of chops; hamburger instead of steak; or baby beef liver instead of calves liver, your economy isn't depriving your family or guests of even a teeny, weeny bit of food value.

Economy in purchasing meat comes from knowing the wide variety of different meat cuts available, and from purchasing some of the cuts which are not in greatest demand. For example, a pot roast of beef, delicious as it is and as much as it is enjoyed by everyone, sells for considerably less per pound than a rib roast of beef.

You'll surely be pleased, and surprised, too, at the way you can save money on your food budget, at the same time adding variety to both your family and company meals, by following today's penny-pincher recipes.

How to Buy: Good quality lamb is pinkish and well-marbled with fat. Outside fat is smooth, hard, glossy and cream-white. Look for both government inspection stamp and packer's private grade stamp. Find the grade that suits you, then always buy it. Ask your meat man to bone the shoulder, leaving a cavity to fill with stuffing.

Dressing for Lamb. 2 slices bacon 2 cups bread crumbs 1 cup sour apples, chopped 1 cup raisins 1/2 cup celery, chopped Fry bacon until crisp and add to bread crumbs, raisins, diced apples and celery. Season with salt and pepper and pile lightly into cavity in lamb shoulder.

Eye-of-Round Roast. How to Buy: The lean of beef should be well-marbled with fat, firm, smooth, glossy: soon after the meat is cut, the surface should turn bright red. The outer fat should be fairly thick, firm, flaky, cream-white. In lower grades fat is softer, yellower. Though price per pound will perhaps exceed that of rib roast, it is all solid meat—no bones, no fat, no waste of any kind.

LYNN SAYS: Spread apple or crabapple jelly over the top of roasting ham, veal or pork for the last 30 minutes. The jelly gives an appetizing flavor and a glossy brown top. Crumbled bacon adds a wonderful new flavor to cooked green beans, yellow or white squash, browned navy beans or spinach. Add the bacon in the last 5 minutes. Long, slow cooking at a low heat is the general rule for cooking the thrifty cuts of meat. Ranking low on the butcher's price list but high in nutrition are such meats as kidney, brains, heart and liver. They make delicious dishes when properly cooked.

THIS WEEK'S MENU

- Cream of Pea Soup *Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb Parsley Buttered Potatoes Buttered Carrot Strips Sweet Cabbage Relish Peppermint Ice Cream Chocolate Cup Cakes *Recipe Given

It goes a long way. For best results, slice very thin.

How to Cook: Put meat, well covered with fat, on rack in open roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) and allow about 25 minutes per pound for rare beef, 28 to 30 for medium and about 35 for well done. Do not baste. Potatoes may be cooked in same pan with roast.

Swedish Meat Balls. (Serves 6) 2 pounds finely ground beef 1 cup mashed potato 1/2 cup apple sauce 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg Shortening 1 can vegetable soup 1/2 cup milk Combine beef, potato, apple sauce and seasonings. Roll into small balls the size of a walnut. Brown well in hot shortening, in baking dish. Pour on soup and milk and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Thicken gravy; serve.

Cubed Steak With Vegetables. Cube 1 pound of thrifty cut of steak, such as round or chuck. Brown it in hot fat. Add 1 cup boiling water and 1 teaspoon cornstarch, mixed with a little cold water, and salt and pepper to taste. Stir until mixture is boiling. Add 1 large green pepper cut into squares, and 2 large sweet onions cut into eighths. Cover and simmer until steak is tender. Add 2 large tomatoes cut in eighths and cook 2 minutes longer. The gravy may be seasoned with a few drops of seasoning sauce. Serve at once. Boiled rice is an excellent accompaniment.

Stuffed Flank Steak. (Serves 6) 1 flank steak (about 1 1/2 to 2 lbs.) 4 cups dry bread 1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup boiling water 1/2 cup butter 1/2 cup finely chopped onion 1/2 cup finely chopped parsley 1 egg 1 1/2 teaspoons salt Pepper Have your butcher score the steak and cut a pocket in it. Break the bread into small pieces. Mix milk and boiling water. Pour over bread and let soak until soft. Melt the butter, add onion and cook without browning, about 5 minutes. Add to bread-milk mixture the parsley, beaten egg, salt and pepper. Press this stuffing into the pocket of the steak. Bake in a shallow pan, uncovered, in a moderate oven (350 degrees) two hours. Slice it generously and garnish with sprigs of crisp parsley.

There's plenty of good, substantial eating in stuffed flank steak, so the rest of the meal can be simple. A vegetable (stewed tomatoes, beans or cauliflower, perhaps); dessert and beverage would round out a satisfying, appealing menu.

Veal Birds With Mushroom Sauce. 2 pounds veal round bread stuffing 3 tablespoons flour 3 tablespoons lard salt and pepper 1 small can mushroom soup Have veal round cut into one-half inch slices. Cut into pieces for individual servings as nearly 2 by 4 inches in size as possible. Place a spoonful of stuffing on each piece, roll and fasten edge with toothpicks. Dredge with flour and brown on all sides in hot lard. Season. Pour mushroom soup over veal birds, cover and cook very slowly until done, about 45 minutes.

For variety, instead of using a bread stuffing, spread finely chopped onion over the meat, place a partially cooked carrot in the center, roll and fasten.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air corps who has just arrived in England to serve as an official observer Arnold, Pupil of Wrights, Pioneer in Army Aviation

Anyone who can recall the status of flying in 1911 will appreciate "Ray" Arnold's exploits in his first year of training as a young lieutenant, assigned to flight duty from the infantry, with a record of 140 flights, 29 hours in the air. In his second year of training he achieved honor as the first winner of the Mackay trophy awarded for excellence as a military pilot.

Twenty-two years later he again won the trophy as leader of a flight of 10 twin-engined bombers from Washington, D. C., to Alaska and return. As early as 1911 he practiced aerial bombardment and war department records credit him with being the pioneer in the successful use of the radio for military purposes in an airplane.

Quite at variance with the outward semblance of this slightly built, silver-haired soldier with his confident smile, is his forthright utterances and writings concerning the airplane as a war machine.

"The only way to prevent air invasion is to attack the invader with superior numbers and knock him out of the air." He has been preaching this for years, his concern having ever been for the constant procurement of thousands of new, improved combat craft, training of thousands of new pilots, enlistment of tens of thousands of ground crew men, swelling of aircraft plants and acquisition of vital raw material for future aircraft production.

Still an active pilot, mounting administrative duties have cut down his time in the air and restricted his activity in two hobbies—cooking and writing fiction. Boys who remember his "Bill Bruce" books, including "Bill Bruce at West Point," "Bill Bruce at Flying School," and other breath-taking juvenile works, will regret the recent idleness of his pen.

PRONOUNCED feeling of good-will toward a nation where she has been most hospitably received, sentiment born of local pride and a high sense of honor, was the dominant feature in the christening of the new Moore-McCormack passenger liner, Rio de Janeiro, as it slid down the ways in the shipyard at Chester, Pa., the other day. So acting, she represented her husband, Commander Ernani Do Amaral Peixoto, governor of the state of Rio de Janeiro—for which the vessel was named—as well as her father, Getulio Vargas, president of Brazil.

A petite, vivid woman, who has made a delightful impression upon those concerned in making the current visit of the distinguished Brazilian pair an important hands-across-the-sphere event, the senhora holds a degree in law, the result of study at the University of Brazil, a profession, however, in which she has never practiced. Marrying soon after graduation she eventually became secretary to her father, a position she now holds. Her hosts in New York have found her a fluent speaker of English.

This acquirement has made her of value to her husband as an interpreter when her idiom and more involved diction carry him beyond his depth. No one, it seems, has yet found her at a loss on economic, social, or political questions—in fine she is a brilliantly accomplished woman. Practical, too. When it became clear that certain handwork arts in Europe no longer would be available to American buyers she founded the Fundacao Anchieta in Rio de Janeiro which gives free training in fine needlework to Brazilian women.
