Baptist Church Notes

The services Sunday were good. The attendance at all services was lower than usual. The pastor preached at the First Baptist Church in Memphis Sunday morning. In his absence, Mrs. Teaff spoke in the local church. She based her message on the scripture, "But first they gave their own selves unto the Lord." II Cor 8:5. The pastor preached at the evening hour. The subject was, "Ready." It was based on some experiences out of Paul's life.

The Women's Missionary Society met with eighteen women present at the home of Mrs. Bill Scates. Mrs. M. L. Sims was co-nestess. The missionary program was given.

Sun Beams, don't forget your meeting each Wednesday at 2:45 p. m. in the church basement

We are looking for an increased attendance at all services Sunday. We will not be disappointed if you come and bring some one.

"Remember, the Sabbath day to keep it holy"

A. L. Teaff, pastor

The Hedley schools closed the 1940-41 term last Friday night with the commencement exercises in the high school auditorium. Rev. Henshaw of Clarendon made the address to the Seniors.

Billy Johnson was valedictorian of the class, and Robert Grimsley was salutatorian.

Diplomas were presented by Rev. I. E. Biggs, president of the school board, to Loeva Adamson, Travis Alexander, Keith Bain, Billy Mae Biffie, La Jeana Davis, Peggy Doherty, Robert Grimsley, V. A. Hansard, Lea Len Johnson, Billy Clifford Johnson, Josie Plank, Grace Randall, Emory Stone, Bruce Stewart and Mattie Irene Strickland and R. E. Alexander.

Red Cross Work

The Red Cross sewing for War Refugees is due Saturday, May 24; and you can further help those in charge by bringing your garments to Clarke's Tailor Shop on that date. If for any reason you cannot finish them, please get in touch with one of the committee, as these must be labeled, packed and shipped soon. The splendid cooperation of Hedley women has helped make it possible for the Donley County Chapter to do an unusually large amount of work; and your help is appreciated.

To Receive Degrees

Among the students to receive degrees from West Texas State College at Canyon this spring are three Hedley girls Misses Carmen Adamsen, Theresa Bain and Inell Biffie. The commencement exercises will be held on Monday June 2.

Also among the graduates are Glenn Milner of Canyon, a former Hedley boy, and Miss Edythe Shearer of Pampa, a teacher in the Hedley schools

New Battery Charger

The Hall Service Station has installed a new Firestone Hi rate battery charger, the first of its kind to be brought here. The portable machine charges a battery without removing it from the car, and does a complete recharging job in only 80 minutes, as compared to 86 hours required by the old type charger.

Mr. Hall invites the motoring public to try his improved battery service

Sharp-Crow

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Battle for Control of Ocean Shipping Overshadows Other Phases of War; Flight of Rudolf Hess to Great Britain Brings Flood of Rumor, Propaganda

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Well named is this Lockheed "Lightning" otherwise and officially known as the P-38 Interceptor-Pursuit, shown here in flight over the mountains near Burbank, California. This sleek, bi-motored craft is said to be the fastest plane in existence. The first batch of P-38s is now rolling off the production lines for the U. S. and British air forces.

FLIGHT: From Germany

Following the dramatic flight from Germany to Scotland by Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi deputy fuhrer of Germany, world capitals buzzed with rumor and gossip regarding the reasons behind his fantastic exit. An official British government announcement did not at first specifically state that Hess had deserted the Nazi regime but the inference was plain that he was believed to be sane when he dropped by parachute near Glasgow, Scotland. The first statement from the home of Winston Churchill at 10 Downing street told that Hess was under treatment in a Glasgow hospital for a broken ankle suffered in floating down from his German Messerschmitt fighter plane.

Before it was reported by England that the high ranking Nazi official had landed by parachute in Scotland, Berlin had announced that Hess was missing and was believed to be lost in an airplane crash following an unscheduled and unauthorized flight. He was said to have left behind a letter which indicated that he was suffering from some traces of mental disorder and was a victim of "hallucinations."

It was also stated that Hess carried with him photographs taken at various stages in his life to aid in establishing identity upon questioning. Pointed out too was the fact that the plane in which he was flying could not hold enough gasoline for a return flight to Germany. Also the guns of the plane were unloaded. Stories of every description were forthcoming in the first hours following the announcement that Hess was in Glasgow. Many persons believed he came bearing a peace message from elements within the Nazi government that disagreed with Hitler on the war policy. Still others held that he brought a message direct from Hitler. Another story was that he disagreed with Hitler over vital policies and feared for his life at the hands of the secret police.

WAR TEMPO: Steps Up

There was a general stepping up of the tempo of the war with arrival in England and in North Africa of considerable and growing amounts of American aid.

Apparently Hitler's Nazi legions, fearing that American entry into the war was imminent, and that this entry might possibly turn the tide against him, was anxious to bring every effort to bear to knock Britain out as swiftly as possible.

Indeed, this seemed the only hope of a German victory, because all other enemies of the Reich had crumbled before the blitz technique, leaving only England, and though the United States was strongly aligned with the British effort, it had not yet reached the point of actual full participation in the war.

There was little doubt but that Germany was well-informed of the setups of American war production, and that the Germans realized just what the sum of American aid would eventually mean.

If it should mean British supremacy in the air, it might be that Germany's hope of victory would be doomed, for Nazi air supremacy was still evident, not only in the Grecian campaign, but in the battle of the British Isles as well.

Thus most observers believed that the world was seeing the maximum effort against the British in England, and that the world would soon see the maximum effort to end the North African campaign, and to push the Asia-Minor campaign so that Suez and Alexandria and Malta might fall.

The facts bore out the premise that the war was highly stepped up, however. British sources claimed dropping as many as 40 planes in a single night, yet still did not claim anywhere near 10 per cent of the planes over Britain.

CONVOYS: Important Phase

While convoys continued to occupy much of the time congress was allotting to debate, President Roosevelt had postponed what was believed to be a forthcoming public statement on the issue. It was announced that he was too ill to make a scheduled radio address and so for the time being his opponents as well as his supporters were forced to speculate as to what his words might be.

It was a blow to Republican opponents of convoying when Wendell L. Willkie said he favored it. Senator Nye and other non-interventionists leaped on the former Republican standard-bearer and belabored him as a "turncoat."

It was evident that Lindbergh, bell-wether of the anti-administration flock, realized that he was treading close to the point where the issue would be so sharply drawn that the "aid-to-Britain" forces would have to take some action that would silence their opponents.

Indeed, Lindbergh said: "As long as free speech is permitted I feel obligated to continue to speak in behalf of a negotiated peace." He said he did not want a German victory, but that he honestly believed a British victory impossible, and that in the interest of peace, the war should be ended on the best terms possible "or our children and our children's children will be obligated to fight Europe's wars."

This was, of course, merely the anti-administration line of attack, but it was backed up by Landon, 1936 G.O.P. nominee, who also showed the peril in which free speech was standing.

The issue was back to World war days, when speech freedom went by the board for the duration of the war—but only after the U. S. was in it. The issue being so sharply defined, many believe that U. S. entry into the war was only a short way off.

DIPLOMATIC: Outlook Dark

Back, around and on top of the actual warfare were waging the diplomatic battles, rightly characterized by Anthony Eden as of equal import and difficulty as the battles on the field, and meeting much the same result.

The loss of the Balkan campaign weakened Britain's diplomatic position, and made it just that much harder to hold Turkey and Syria in line.

Reports from Turkey that she was anxious to mediate in the Iraq war was far from a pleasant outcome for the British, who wanted the Mosul oil and not mediation which might weaken her position.

In fact, Ankara advised the British that the demand on the part of Iraq, before peace would be made, was that Britain withdraw all but 2,000 of her troops, not leaving even enough halfway to police the Kirkuk-Haifa pipeline.

Reports from Iraq were conflicting, the Germans naturally being glad to circulate reports that her troops were on Iraq soil, and reporting British reverses. The British, however, most of whose reports had so far been basically accurate, even though colored somewhat with propaganda, said the Iraq campaign had degenerated into largely a pursuit of the Iraqi troops in the desert north of Habbaniyah airdrome.

But Suez was not free from menace, and Axis raiders were dropping bombs on the canal, and harassing shipping there. Meantime all British was wondering what the Russian situation was, and whether the Russian bear was going to sit idly by and watch Nazi infiltration into Asia Minor.

The general opinion was that Stalin would be guided entirely by expediency, and that even a German-Italian-Russian-Japanese alliance was not impossible if America should openly enter the war.

First Lady's Choice

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is shown with Miss Lee Ya Ching, Chinese debutante and aviatrix as Mrs. Roosevelt selected a Chinese print dress as a present for Mme. Chiang Kai Shek, wife of China's nationalist leader. Miss Ching is wearing the dress chosen for Madame Chiang and Mrs. Roosevelt is wearing one she picked for herself.

STRIKES: Loom Again

Federal anti-strike agencies had to swing into action again with rapidity and considerable power as another strike threatened the West coast shipping industry.

A. F. of L. and C.I.O. mechanics went on strike in 11 shipyards and drydocks, organizations holding half a billion dollars' worth of defense contracts.

On the Atlantic coast, crews of three large cargo carriers held them up demanding bonuses for trips to Australia and the Far East. The National Maritime Union, C.I.O., shortly after the U. S. congress gave approval to ship seizures, voted against convoys.

The N.M.U. action, followed up by stoppage of work on the three cargo carriers, carried with it a threat that the strike might extend to other vessels.

Additional labor troubles included a truck drivers' strike in Detroit, a carpenters' strike at Newport, R. I. and a construction workers' strike in Boston on dockyards and shop buildings.

Also, the most menacing strike of all, the possibility of an automobile workers' walkout in General Motors' far-flung empire, was reported deadlocked in settlement.

Secretary Knox, speaking of the West coast strike, said it was not so much a strike against shipbuilders as it was a strike against the defense program of the nation. The public, he said, has a right to expect these difficulties to be solved without work stoppage.

VICHY: Slipping

On conclusion of the conquest of France, it seemed to most observers that the German terms were more gentle than had been expected.

It was true that there was a huge indemnity, one that was hard for France to pay. A price of $3,000,000 a day for taking care of the German army of occupation was a heavy one indeed, but it could have been worse.

Also, it was harsh the way the Germans handled the money problem, and brought most Frenchmen to penury if not to starvation. But the soldiers were gentlemanly and polite and kindly, and any mailed-fist activities were done well under cover.

However, there were evident signs the Germans were beginning to "crack down" on France.

The obvious point of attack was the French fleet, and by hook or crook it was plain that the Germans meant to have it.

They had had a taste of the value of a fleet in shipping four out of five divisions to North Africa.

In the effort to capture Gibraltar and Suez the Nazi forces could see the evident priceless quality of the French warships.

Reports came in that Petain was ill; that Darlan was the man of the hour; that Darlan was quoted as saying that the British had ruined eight generations of the Darlan family; that the admiral was paying a visit, incognito, to a Nazi "high personality."

The Germans made new and more drastic revised terms for the armistice. Everything pointed for a further defeat for France, and a concomitant addition of difficulties for Britain.

Not only was this so, but there were dispatches tending to show a bitter reaction on the part of the Vichy government to the part America was playing in the war.

The unoccupied French might be secretly anxious for Britain and the U. S. to win the war, but they were not showing it officially. On the contrary, indications were that the French were becoming unduly anxious for a British defeat—anything to the end that the war might come to a speedy close.

This was understandable, but gave rise to strange dispatches, in one of which De Brinon, chairman of the French-Germany committee, said: "If the United States enters the war, Europe will have to organize a defense against her."

Even the laying of a cornerstone has been done over electric wires, says Colliers. STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

MARCH OF TIME camera-men went on a long and perilous voyage to film some of the material used in "Crisis in the Atlantic"—they went from Canada to England aboard a tanker in convoy. The film also includes the first pictures to arrive here from Greenland since that strategic island has become so important.

"Crisis in the Atlantic" vividly portrays the many aspects of the struggle to keep the sea lanes open so that war materials and food can be sent to Britain, and depicts as well the joint U. S.-Canadian defense efforts involving bases from the Arctic to the South Atlantic. It's a film scoop; don't miss it!

Brian Donlevy has been spending a lot of time learning to do something that will be quite useless in private life. In "The Great Man's Lady," a Paramount production, he plays the part of a professional gambler, a master hand at cheating. And what makes it all the more painful is the fact that Donlevy has an abhorrence of all card games, even the game of Authors.

Brian Donlevy

Bette Davis is at it again, playing one of the most unpleasant women ever seen on the screen. It's for "The Little Foxes," RKO's screen version of the tremendously successful play. It was RKO, you may recall, that set Miss Davis squarely on her feet, dramatically, by casting her as the heroine of "Of Human Bondage"—a role few actresses would have had the courage to take. She took it, and made movie history.

Anna Neagle does an entire dance number while submerged in a glass tank filled with water in her new picture, "Sunny." Back in England she won medals for swimming and diving, so she got into a scanty sequin costume and combined her talents as a swimmer and a dancer. The story's laid in New Orleans during the Mardi Gras, and Ray Bolger and John Carroll head the supporting cast. The under-water dance is a stunt new to pictures—new, as well, to Miss Neagle, we might add.

Anna Neagle

At the age of 97 Bob Hope's grandfather is helping to extinguish incendiary fires in the English village where he lives. "My health at present is much better than my disposition," he wrote his grandson. "I don't mind staying up at night to see your pictures, but I hate to have to miss my sleep just to put out some fires."

Meanwhile Bob is slated to do another of those hilarious comedies with Paulette Goddard; it's called "The Murder Farm," and sounds as if it might even top "The Cat and the Canary" and "The Ghost Breakers," their previous collaborations.

Agnes Moorehead, who plays the mother in Orson Welles' remarkable "Citizen Kane," first encountered Welles when he was five and she was not much older. He strolled into a hotel lobby with his father, describing a concert which he had just heard, and doing it so dramatically that she never forgot him. She makes her film debut in "Citizen Kane," and gives a beautiful, sincere performance. In fact, the whole cast does that—you forget that the people on the screen are acting, because they seem so real.

Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor didn't tell even their best friends that they were going off on that West Indies cruise; waited until just before the boat sailed to send telegrams announcing their plans. It's their first vacation together in 18 months, and their second trip together since they were married three years ago. They sailed as Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Brugh, hoping to avoid advance plans for ovations at their various ports of call.

ODDS AND ENDS—Warner Brothers drafted college students to man the guns in "Dive Bomber" and "The Flight Patrol"—the army draft left a shortage in the ranks of extras. "Robin Hood" is going to be a Republic serial, with Roy Rogers in the title role. Robert Cummings will be Deanna Durbin's leading man in "Almost an Angel." Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy are beginning their fifth year with that coffee program—and when they started Bergen wasn't at all sure that he could turn out a script a week. "The Pause That Refreshes on the Air" has been removed for another 26 weeks—one of the few network shows to run all summer.

BREAD TRICKS APLENTY!

(See Recipes Below)

'BREAD 'N' BUTTER'

Those new loaves of white bread featured on grocery store counters and in bakeries everywhere these days look just like the loaves of white bread you have been buying for years. But they're different—they've been "vita-mineralized."

"How?" you ask. Through the use of enriched flour—a wheat flour which contains added vitamins and minerals.

It was the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States department of agriculture which suggested, when flour standards here were under discussion, that fortified flour should contain a specified amount of vitamin B1 and of iron, and that nicotinic acid, riboflavin and calcium should be added.

Because American diets lack chiefly B-vitamins and iron, the accent was placed here. The law is that each pound of Enriched Flour must contain at least 1.66 milligrams of thiamin (B1); 6.15 milligrams of nicotinic acid (pellagra-preventing vitamin); and 6.15 milligrams of iron.

So, now in addition to being the most versatile and economical energy-yielding food, bread also provides, in economical form, additional nutrients essential to health.

And, since bread is the one food that probably appears more often than any other on the family menu, I'm going to give you a variety of new and interesting uses for this "health food."

A good sharp knife, a loaf of good baker's bread and your imagination will do wonders in developing, in your own kitchen, delicious creations that make your menu full of new life and interest.

Bread Buttercrusts.
Remove the crusts from a loaf of uncut bread. Cut lengthwise slices from the loaf. Trim the slices so that they are about 1½ inches wide and the ends pointed. Brush with an egg and milk mixture and arrange in baking cups. It is best to brush the tips with a little melted butter so that they will brown more readily. Bake the bread buttercrusts in a moderate oven until they are delicately browned.

Pinwheel Sandwiches.
Trim the crusts from a whole loaf of uncut bread; cut in lengthwise slices. Spread the slices with any desired spread of a creamy consistency. Roll the bread firmly the narrow way. Small stuffed olives, nut meats or hard cooked eggs make an attractive center for the roll. The rolls should be tightly wrapped in waxed paper and chilled in the refrigerator before slicing.

Croustades.
Trim crusts from two or three slices of bread, making even-sized squares. Remove the centers from all but one slice. Dip in melted

LYNN SAYS:

Do your menus meet nutritive requirements, and appetite appeal, too? Careful, now. Here are 10 points on which to check your meals for appetite appeal:

1. Avoid repeating the same food in one meal.
2. Avoid serving more than one strongly flavored or highly seasoned food in a meal.
3. Avoid using too much of one type of food in a meal—such as spaghetti as a main dish and rice pudding for dessert.
4. Use as much texture contrast as possible—have some soft, some solid, and some crisp food in each meal.
5. Get flavor balance in your menus by serving some sweet, some bland, and some acid foods each meal.
6. Serve some hot and some cold foods each meal.
7. Serve foods whose colors look well together and avoid serving colorless foods in one meal.
8. Try to get contrast in size and shape in the foods served.
9. Serve leftovers in a new form.
10. Avoid serving the same food combinations too often. Serve some other tart fruit with your pork, instead of the stand-by applesauce.

It's Picnic Time

Has winter made you forget the wonderful, carefree afternoons spent along sparkling streams or in sunny meadows, munching hot dogs, dipping into baked beans and ice cream? It's time to plan Sunday excursions and be lazy by eating off paper plates, with paper forks. And next week Lynn Chambers will delve into picnic atmosphere. Watch for her recipes of good things to eat out-of-doors!

butter, and put together to form square cases for creamed food.

Bread Patty Cases.
Cut three rounds of sliced bread. Cut holes in two of them and place on the first slice. Brush with a mixture of egg and milk (1 egg slightly beaten plus ¼ cup of milk) and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Checkerboard Sandwiches.
Remove the crusts and spread the slices with soft butter, and any sandwich spread of paste consistency. Then, alternating the slices, make two stacks of three slices each—one with a whole wheat slice between two white slices and the other with a white slice between two whole wheat slices. Next, cut the two stacks into half-inch slices. Spread with soft butter and another flavor spread, and alternate them again, making stacks of three-layer slices each. Press the stacks together, wrap each in wax paper and place in icebox to harden the butter. When ready to serve, cut crosswise into thin slices to give the checkerboard effect.

Ribbon Sandwiches.
Remove the crusts from four slices of bread, two white and two whole wheat. Put them together with different fillings, wrap in waxed paper and chill. Cut down through the four layers in thin slices to form a ribbon sandwich.

Try these tricks very soon, won't you? You'll receive no end of compliments on your ability to prepare these tasty and attractive "bread delights." They are all pictured at the top of the column.

If you're weary of serving the usual type of sandwiches when you entertain, here are "fillers" that will bring such phrases as "May I have your recipe?" from fascinated guests.

Egg Filling.
4 hard cooked eggs
¼ cup chopped cooked bacon or ¼ cup stuffed olives
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
Cream or salad dressing
Chop eggs, add bacon and Worcestershire sauce. Add enough cream or dressing to give a spreading consistency.

Ripe Olive Filling.
Use one cup ripe olives, minced; one cup finely diced celery; ½ cup minced nut meats, and salad dressing to taste. Combine olives, celery and nutmeats and moisten with dressing, then spread on bread.

Sandwich Loaf.
Trim crusts from a sandwich loaf of bread and cut in four lengthwise slices. Spread each slice with softened butter. For the three different fillings necessary, use any good combinations of flavor and color, such as minced ham and pickle, a yellow cheese mixed with finely-chopped green pepper, chives, parsley or watercress, and chopped tomatoes and cucumbers, or a tuna or salmon mixture. Each of these fillings should be mixed with mayonnaise or softened butter so that it spreads easily. The loaf may be made several hours ahead of time if wrapped in waxed paper and kept in a cool place. Prior to serving, it is iced on top, sides and ends with cream cheese softened to spreading consistency with water, milk or mayonnaise. Garnish with slices of stuffed olive, sprigs of parsley or endive. For serving, cut in thick slices. This loaf will serve 10 to 12 persons.

Even Court Ruling Couldn't Make Absent Plaintiff Walk

"I understand that you called on the complainant. Is that so?" demanded a browbeating bailiff of a man he was cross-examining. "Yes," replied the witness. "What did he say?" "Counsel for the other side objected that evidence as to conversation was not admissible and half an hour's argument ensued. Then the court retired to consider the point, announcing some time later that they deemed the question a proper one. "Well, what did the plaintiff say?" repeated the cross-examining attorney. "He wasn't at home, sir," was the answer.
