Baptist Church Notes

Since the writer of these news notes was absent he supposed the services were carried on according to the arrangements that were made. Mr. John T. Dauson of E-telline was the speaker for the morning hour and Mrs. Joe E. Johnson of Lewis Lake for the evening hour.

The pastor is urging the membership of the church and all the leaders in the different departments to be faithful and loyal during his absence.

Remember to pray for the services for next Sunday. Attend Sunday School, Training Union and both preaching hours. If the pastor can not be present, someone will fill the pulpit at both hours.

Mrs. Teaff is doing as well as can be expected considering everything. Of course there will be long hours and days of suffering yet. Remember to pray for her.
Pastor A. L. Teaff

Glyndon Cherry is now stationed in Norfolk, Va. He says he has seen a lot of pretty country, but nothing to compare with "Beautiful Texas." He would appreciate letters. His address is N. T. S., N. O. B., Platoon No. 41, Norfolk, Va.

A.E.F. Takes Over Northern Ireland Base As U. S. and British Form Supply Pool; Jap Convoy Blasted in Macassar Strait; Hawaii Report Blames U. S. Commanders

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.

OVER THERE: New A.E.F. in Erin
When Uncle Sam landed an infantry force of several thousand men at an undisclosed port in Northern Ireland, it marked the first arrival of American troops in a European port since World War No. 1.

GUILTY: Verdict on Hawaii
The stunning news that an admiral and a lieutenant general, the naval and military commanders responsible for the defense of Hawaii, had showed such a lack of competence that they had failed even to talk over with each other deliberate war warnings handed them by their superior officers on November 24 and 27, in ample time to have circumvented the Japanese surprise attack fell sickeningly on American ears.

SUPPLY COMMAND: U. S.-British Pool
The creation of a supreme allied supply command that will speed and co-ordinate the production and flow of vital munitions and supplies to the fighting fronts was seen in the announcement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill that the United States and Great Britain will pool all munitions, shipping and war materials to "further co-ordination of the United Nation's war effort."

SHIPS: Japan Losing Them
The British, Dutch and American bombers and ships of war were not formally coming to grips with large bodies of Japanese naval ships, but they were whittling away at them, and Japan's losses were assuming important proportions.

LUZON: Critical Stage
That the battle of Luzon had reached critical final stages was apparent. General MacArthur reported that not only were his troops being subjected to an all-out Japanese land attack by forces of at least ten to one superior strength, but that Japanese warships in Subic bay were able to fire their guns into his positions.

ECONOMICS: America's first foodstuff rationing came from the office of Leon Henderson—sugar. After controversial statements about supplies, and after considerable buying up of sugar by panicky housewives, a ration was set at about one pound per person per week, as against a normal consumption of about a pound and a half.

Aid for Aussies

Australian Minister Richard G. Casey, arriving at the White House to confer with President Roosevelt on plans to aid Australia in its battle against Japan.

PAN-AMERICA: Half-Loaf Won?

What had first looked like a half-loaf victory for American diplomacy at the Pan-American conference at Rio de Janeiro, was gradually assuming the proportions of a larger loaf. Most of the South American and Central American countries had gone to Rio intent on a solid-front breach with the Axis.

AUSTRALIA: Readies for Defense
Despite the heroic fight on land before Singapore, and the strenuous efforts being made to gain air supremacy and control of the long Malaysian coasts, most commentators and observers actually believed the "island city of apathy" would eventually be besieged from the mainland, and might well be lost.

SQUADRON: Wiped Out
Despite the attacks by Japanese and Thailanders in the rear of the main Malaya battle for Singapore upon the British-American-Chinese defenders of Burma "the modern roads to Mandalay" had reported a two-day "bag" of 32 Japanese bombers, believed to be an entire squadron.

MISCELLANY: New York: A Berlin worker's slogan, smuggled out of the Reich, was broadcast: "We're winning ourselves to death."

Batavia: The Dutch army airmen, in an attack on a convoy in Macassar strait claimed that they struck a large transport carrying troops, which turned completely over and rolled about, keel upward.

THE HOOT

Assembly

Our program for Jan. 29, 1942 was somewhat different from usual. The first part consisted of a devotional exercise. A group of seniors gave the Scripture reading. Then Rev. LaMond talked on "What is Religion?"

Following the devotional the color ceremony was given. Colleen Baker and Camilla Doherty were the flag bearers with Earl Porter and Billy Bridges as the escorts. Jane Ruth Hall played God Bless America. Chancery Ruth Key gave the pledge. Jane Ruth also led in singing Star Spangled Banner, Texas Our Texas and Hedley School Song. The sophomore class had charge of the main program. It was a patriotic theme commemorating the 60th birthday of President Roosevelt. Gwyneth Davis gave a brief biography of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Then a short play was given entitled "Uncle Sam's Defense Guards" showing how all the people could help win the war. It was presented in two acts. The scene of the first act was laid in the average American home. The second act was of a club meeting. At this club meeting the audience sang God Bless America with the sopranos. The Sopranos sang White Doves of Dover and V for Victory. After concluding the patriotic phase of their program, the sopranos presented a short comedy.

Its moral might be stated thus: If you want to win friends and influence people, don't talk too much.

Hedley versus Lakeview

Lakeview came to Hedley, Wednesday night, Jan. 28. The girls played a real game and defeated the Lakeview girls 22 to 5. The Junior team also played hard but the Lakeview Juniors defeated them 19 to 21. When the Senior boys came on the court, it was evident that there would be a battle. The boys played hard and fast and the score at the half was 14 to 16 in favor of Lakeview. At the third quarter it was still 14 to 16 in favor of Lakeview. The Hedley boys came out at the third quarter with determination showing on their faces, and when the final whistle blew, the Hedley boys had not won but they had played a game to be remembered and the final score was 29 to 30 in favor of Lakeview.

Plunk of Hedley and Scott of Lakeview tied for high point man with 15 points each.

Speed Up of U. S. War Production
And Reports of Russian Victories
Cheer Allied Nations, Although Axis
Gains in Malaya and Philippines

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

JESSE JONES—RFC administrator and secretary of commerce, pictured sitting at desk as he listens to Representative Dingell of Michigan charging that the army was building new production plants while many others were idle.

LEON HENDERSON—Price administrator, as he appeared before the senate committee on small business. He and representatives of the retail automobile trade are in search for means to cushion the economic shock which car dealers face.

THE WAR:
Up and Down

The war had become an up and down affair, with the Russians winning all along their huge front, the British gaining victories in North Africa with the Germans on the run, and the Japanese generally in the ascendancy on the Philippine and Singapore fronts, but taking a continued whipping at the hands of the Chinese.

Such was the situation as there was no longer any question but that the large and well-equipped army of the United States was on the move to join battle actively in the war, though the detailed whereabouts of that participation was still a closely guarded secret.

Estimates of when the tide of the battle of the ABCD forces against the Japanese in the southwest Pacific would change varied considerably.

Some observers felt it would be weeks, others months, some who were more pessimistic felt it would be a year before enough American pressure could be brought to bear to produce a definite change in the battle.

But that victory would be won in the end, nobody seemed to doubt. They watched the United States moving troops and ships, producing faster and faster more powerful armaments, moving to put new soldiers and sailors into uniform, and could see but one result, eventual victory, perhaps in 1943.

RUSSIA:

Brightest Spot

Moscow had begun to report mass surrenders of German troops without fighting. The Reds also reported large masses of Nazi soldiers in rapid retreat to the southwest from the upper central front, abandoning much war material.

The sieges of Sevastopol and Leningrad have definitely been broken, and their garrisons had swept out beyond the city borders to engage retreating Germans and to attempt to form junctions with other Russian troops.

The radio broadcasts picked up from Germany tacitly admitted the situation was serious. One described it as a "crisis, but one with which Adolf Hitler will know how to deal." Hitler was believed to be planning some sort of major coup, but the nature of it could not be guessed at. He also was variously reported as facing tremendous internal pressure as a result of his break with Von Brauchitsch.

There also had been reports that crack German reinforcements were being flown by gliders to the Russian front to attempt to bolster the cracking Nazi defenses.

MAC ARTHUR:

Tough

Only fragmentary reports at wide intervals, testimony to the increasing difficulties of communications, were coming from the Philippines.

Some military commentators saw hope for General MacArthur and his defending forces if they could hold out for three weeks more.

But this was admittedly problematical. How much in the way of supplies and munitions the MacArthur army had was one question. Another was how long these supplies and munitions would continue to get to him.

Admittedly the Filipino-American troops had all the advantage of terrain and superior position. The Marivales mountain range, which they were defending, was lofty, provided much natural fortification, and tactically was the planned line of defense from the outset. This worked out as planned.

MALAYA:

'At All Costs'

While the British were seriously being forced backward and ever backward in Malaya, losing the capital of the Federated Malay States, Kuala Lumpur, Sir Henry Pownall, the commander in the Singapore defense, made the statement that the British plan was divided into two general parts, first the slowing or stopping of the Japanese attack; second, the turning of the British to the offensive and driving the invaders out. He said:

"We are now engaged in the first of these activities."

Returning British wounded, however, paid tribute to the fighting qualities of the Japs, and members of Commando groups said that when confronted with the cold steel the Japs would scramble up into tall trees, from which they would hurl grenades on the British "like monkeys with explosive coconuts."

They were said to be adept at hiding in small places, and that at times furious fire would come from directions in which it did not seem possible that soldiers could find cover.

R.A.F. activity over the peninsula was constantly on the increase, however, and American-made bombers, some of them flown by Eagle fliers with the volunteer Chinese air force, were bombing Japanese bases in Thailand and Indo-China from Burmese flying fields.

The picture was not generally optimistic in Malaya, but it was regarded as far from hopeless, at least at present.

PRODUCTION:

On Home Front

All over the United States groups of workers were getting together and adopting resolutions to speed up their effort, and some factories producing war materials were reporting as much as 70 per cent added output since the declaration of war.

Ships of war were being launched and put into commission as rapidly as possible. The Liberty ships were going into the water at scores of shipyard ways.

Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, received several large new gliders for test, gliders said to have a wingspread of 80 feet, probably capable of transporting soldiers in large numbers.

Swiftly they had been put under test, their pilots from the new schools which are training men to man these motorless ships, which possibly may be towed in "trains" to be released over territory in which it is desired to land troops.

In the invasion of Crete, Germany used hundreds of them, reportedly landing 15,000 troops that way, also large numbers of light field guns and ammunition.

The newest glider training school is at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., turning out classes every four weeks, the students being already graduate pilots.

The gliders were so large that in transporting them from factory to Wright field by trailer truck they had to be broken into two assemblies.

PRICES:

The price control bill finally was passed, but in such a form that it was said to have been a major defeat for the administration.

Although the senate passed it 83 to 1, the farm-relief amendment passed only 55 to 31.

As the bill went into conference it provided, according to opposition senators, such possible farm price raises that the cost of living could reasonably advance 25 per cent before the price control administrator could do anything about it.

'Tin Ear'

TROY, N. Y.—Dr. Donald A. Wilbur of Rensselaer Polytechnic institute is shown testing a sound detector hastily constructed in the institute's physics laboratory to determine how effectively such cheaply built devices might be adopted throughout the country by air raid spotters. A few boards, a phonograph horn, a microphone and a battery-operated amplifier and ear phones are the ingredients of the detector that can pick up the sound of bombers five to ten miles distant.

DEFENSE:

Reorganization

President Roosevelt recognized growing congressional dissatisfaction over the Civilian Defense team, comprised of Mayor LaGuardia and Mrs. Roosevelt, and while he did not take LaGuardia's title of director away from him, he brought Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school down to Washington to take actual charge.

The house had made discreet representations to the President that Mayor LaGuardia, as head of the nation's largest city, had plenty to do to see that New York's defense situation was cared for, and had no time to see to the country as a whole.

They also hinted around that Mrs. Roosevelt could only be considered a part-time executive, and that the OCD needed hard work and full time.

They recommended it be put into the hands of the war department. President Roosevelt's answer was Dean Landis, but in the meantime the house voted an inquiry into the manner in which the problem had been handled.

Mayor LaGuardia, Mrs. Roosevelt and Paul V. McNutt had been summoned to testify.

SHORTAGES:

U. S. Feels Pinch

One after another shortages of various commodities and manufactured products began to be felt, and the average American began to feel the pinch of war as he never had felt it even at the height of the last World war.

Some of these shortages could be traced to lack of raw material from the south Pacific; others to the demands of the war upon industry, still others on both.

First came the rubber shortage, and the consequent rationing of tires, directly due to the Philippine situation; second was the abrupt ending of production of new passenger cars and commercial trucks, and the rationing of them.

In line with this came difficulties in delivering milk and other commodities in larger cities and towns.

The cut-off in sugar caused a price rise, and the government moved to buy in the major portion of the Cuban crop. In many cities this precipitated a panicky purchasing of sugar, with the result that grocers started rationing it themselves.

It also was reported that there soon would be instituted the rationing of spark plugs and batteries, probably of other manufactured goods associated with the auto industry.

MISCELLANY:

Santa Barbara, Calif.: Mickey Rooney, No. 1 film star, married a little-known 19-year-old movie actress, Ava Gardner from North Carolina.

New York: Joe Louis defeated Buddy Baer in a one-round knockout and then had announced he would enlist in the army, not waiting for the draft.

Rangoon, Burma: A Japanese air raid threw three elephants into a panic and they stampeded, causing considerable confusion before they were recaptured.

Rome: Italy had confiscated the entire filling station network of the Texas company within its borders, it had been announced.

London: Britain was still further cutting its food ration as the demands began to flood in from the South Pacific campaign.

Tokyo (by radio): A 30 per cent tax increase has been necessary in Japan to finance the new war expenditures, it was announced.

Berlin: Dispatches from Tokyo told of Seueo Oye, famous Jap pole-vaulter, being killed in action as he led a landing party on Luzon.

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO By VIRGINIA VALE (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CARY GRANT, just finishing "Arsenic and Old Lace" on the Warner lot at Burbank, Calif., is expected to apply for his final American citizenship papers any day now. He was preparing to complete his Americanization when England declared war on Germany, and stopped, figuring it as a slacker act. When he informed the British authorities that he was ready for any task they might assign him to, they told him to remain in Hollywood. So he began dividing his earnings between the needy here and in England; they got the $100,000 which he received for "The Philadelphia Story," and he's donating $100,000 of his "Arsenic" earnings; all the money must be spent here.

Loretta Young finally avenged her screen sisters who have had to take slaps in the face and well-aimed blows in the name of their art. She caught Frederic March bent over with laughter during a scene in Columbia's "Bedtime Story."

LORETTA YOUNG ry" and launched a kick which not only deposited March in the gutter but also left him with his face in a mud puddle. To make matters worse, they had to make four takes before the scene was right—which meant four kicks, four descents into the mud for March.

George Brent had his first kissing scene with Olivia de Havilland in the forthcoming "In This Our Life." While they were making it Ann Sheridan, who works for the same studio, was on the set watching, and Brent seemed a bit bashful. "Go ahead, George, and give her a real kiss," urged Ann. "Just pretend that Annie doesn't live here any more." A week later, Ann and George were married.

For two musical misfits who couldn't get a break in New York a few years ago because they couldn't carry a tune, comedians Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are doing all right. They got their first good break by promising to learn to sing, and succeeded as comedians while they were learning. They've just made their first record, and are preparing for their next picture, "Rio Rita."

Gary Cooper probably wishes with all his heart that Lou Gehrig hadn't been a left-hander. Preparing for "Pride of the Yankees," the story of Gehrig's life, Gary is studying slow-motion pictures of Babe Herman and working like mad with Lefty O'Doul, trying to learn to use that left hand as if it came natural.

We'll be seeing a new patriotic picture before the year is over. It's "American Cavalcade," and will tell the story of Mr. and Mrs. America through dramatic historic incidents and music. It is intended for Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn.

REKO Radio is going to film the story of General Billy Mitchell, the flying general who was court-martialed because he believed so implicitly that planes were important to an army. It should be one of the year's important films.

It looks as if radio has another "God Bless America" in "They Can't Black out the Stars and Stripes," a new song written by Elliott Jacoby, musical director of the air's "Meet Mr. Meek," in collaboration with Private Jacob Goldstein of Mitchell Field.

Jimmy Durante, rated as a star by Warner Bros. since he made "You're in the Army Now" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner," says he will revive the famous comedy team of Clayton, Jackson and Durante to entertain the boys in army camps.

ODDS AND ENDS—Betty Grable and Victor Mature are not so very good in Fox's "I Wake Up Screaming," but they're trying again in "White Collar Girl." The bombing scenes of "Captains of the Clouds" were hard on Brenda Marshall, whose father is manager of a large sugar plantation in the Philippines. Pomp and Ceremony Nearly Floored Schwab

At a meeting of the British Iron and Steel Institute, Charles M. Schwab was presented with the Bessemer medal. It was a solemn affair, marked by much formality. Before producing each speaker, the toastmaster intoned: "Mr. President, your Excellencies, my noble Lords and gentlemen—"

The guest of honor was accustomed to American business methods, but not to such ceremony. When called upon to speak, Mr. Schwab repeated: "Mr. President, your Excellencies, my noble Lords and gentlemen—" Then mopping his brow he exclaimed: "Whew, I'm glad that's over. Back home I would just say, 'Well, boys—'"

John Deaver Announces for Re-election

To: The Citizenship of the 100th Judicial District:

In submitting my candidacy for reelection, I want first to thank each of you for the privilege of having served you as District Attorney. I am grateful for the sincere service you have rendered law enforcement while serving on the bench and grand juries. This service on your part together with the full cooperation of all other officers serving on the side of law enforcement, has materially strengthened any efforts of my own.

It has been my sincere desire, at all times, to discharge your trust fairly and without fear or favor, without friends to serve enemies to punish. You are the sole judges of the success of my efforts.

Should you desire, I would be glad that you inquire as to the record made while serving you the convictions obtained in contested cases and whether my efforts have tended toward an enforcement of the laws with firmness, but where justice has been tempered with fairness, consideration, mercy and understanding.

If the manner in which I have handled your office with your approval, I shall gratefully appreciate your consideration in the next primary election.

Respectfully submitted
John D. Aver
