McNutt Lashes 'Disciples of Despair,' Calls for All-Out Attack on Tokyo: Pan-American Solidarity Increases; R.A.F. Reverses Tide in Malta Battle

LABOR:

Picture Complicated

The labor situation, in the other big battle which had centered in Washington, the fight over whether the 40-hour week should be retained or not, had complicated the New Deal picture tremendously.

On the one hand Secretary of Labor Perkins and the White House itself had been found apparently unwilling to scrap the 40-hour week, while Thurman Arnold, of the attorney general's staff, had issued the most bitter statement against labor unions as obstructing the war effort that had come out of Washington since the New Deal started. Now, the unions were whole-heartedly against the move to end the 40hour week, claiming that the only benefit their workers had from it was the extra half-time pay for the usual eight hours of overtime weekly, while business already was being accused of getting huge profits for its share of the war-time boom in industrial activity.

Congressional leaders were found urging, against business, that all profits over 6 per cent be recaptured for the government, and at the same time highly divided over the 40-hour week.

Tremendous mail was being received on the subject, convincing many congressmen that a definite nationwide campaign to have the 40hour week thrown out was in prog-

One official high in the War Production board stated that the 40-hour week through overtime payments was adding 8 per cent to the cost of all war contracts.

'ATTACK TOKYO': Pleads McNutt

Lashing out at "disciples of despair," Paul V. McNutt, social security administrator, had urged an "attack on Tokyo" as the "real de-fense of America." He said:

"America's defense does not begin at wading depth on Coney Island, nor on the sundrenched sands of San Diego.

"America's defense begins with the attack on Tokyo. It is when flames roar through Yokohama

PAUL V. MCNUTT

"More Leathernecks, fewer bottlenecks." and the factories of the Ruhr are blasted and broken that Wichita, Kansas City and Omaha will be secure.

"The leathernecks of Wake island taught the Japs what it costs to lick only a few hundred marines. What this nation needs is more leathernecks and fewer bottlenecks."

BRITISH:

Gain Air Strength

The report of a British-German air fight around Malta, where the British had been taking a beating since the war began without giving in, had been a signal for the fact that the British R.A.F. had been steadily gaining strength. In this assault, British Hurricane fighters and anti-aircraft gunnery had brought down 12 bombers and two fighters in a 24-hour assault on the island, the biggest bag in the war so far.

Most significant was the fact that the "ack-ack boys," the gunners on the island, were credited with knocking the two fighters and 8 of the 12 bombers out of the air. The other four planes shot down were fighter-bombers, similar in plan to our "medium attack bombers," and they were all bagged by the R.A.F. fighting squadron.

LATIN-AMERICA: Grows More Solid

Historians, pointing to the fact that 21 Latin-American nations either have declared war or have broken relations with the Axis, as compared with 13 in the last war, had expressed the belief that Chile would be the next one in, and that Pan-American solidarity was on the increase, boding well for hemispheric unity in the post-war period.

However, as President-elect Juan Rios had reached the threshold of his office following the election, Adolf Hitler had cabled him expressing the hope that "German re-lations with Chile might become even closer."

Chile and Argentina, at this point had remained the only two still maintaining relations with the Axis. Hitler was quoted as cabling:

"I take this opportunity to express the desire that the relations of sincere friendship between Germany and the Republic of Chile will be preserved during your term as president, and if possible, become even

Yet, by contrasts, most Latin-American observers took this as a hint that relations were on the point of being broken.

JAPS:

Warn Aussies

The Japanese, apparently trying to undermine Australian confidence and trying to build up a lack of unity within the continent, were putes to Au before they had tried a landing.

The grim determination of the Australians to defend their country, plus the appointment of Gen. Doug-las MacArthur to the supreme command, was ample assurance that Japanese propaganda would fall on barren soil.

As the invaders of New Guinea were moving across the difficult and almost impassable terrain between Salamaua and Lae and Port Moresby on the southern coast, with prospect of a bitter battle at the end, they issued the following warning:

"Australia stands at the crossroads. She must choose between freedom and the fate of the Dutch East Indies.

"Japan has no territorial aspirations, and wants Australia to become a partner in the eastern Asiatic prosperity realm. "Australia, with a population of only 7,000,000 cannot defend her long eastern coastline. "The countries, Japan and Australia, economically supplement each other. One way leads to the end of Australia's existence and the other to wealth and peace," said the Japanese. At the same time the Japs showed evidence of being jittery over possi-ble attacks by American planes from Alaska via the Aleutians, Adm.

Kayozo Nakamura having told the Japanese people in a broadcast: "Fears that the United States in the spring will embark on surprise attacks on Japan by submarines and aircraft are unnecessary. "The Americans have no adequate

European centers had placed little importance on the signing in Moscow of a renewal of the pact between Japan and Russia on the subject of fishing rights off the Siberian coast, Refusal of Russia to have signed would have been viewed as a practical declaration of war. But few European observers took the signing of the pact, in existence for friendliness.

A Week of None

The announcement that there would be a week of no sugar sales decreed by the government for the week of April 27, came when sugar rationing, ban on sales of new automobiles, and demands that auto graveyards give up their dead were holding the economic spotlight.

The East was having gasoline shutdowns, with rationing in prospect throughout this territory, perhaps also in the Pacific Northwest. Washington told the people of 7,900,000 tons of sugar having been withdrawn from the market by hoarders, and told of plans to make sugar hoarders give up their supplies to the retail stores, selling them back at retail prices.

A campaign had been started to force used-car-lot junkmen to "turn over" their cars every 60 days or face the penalty of having the rusty metal requisitioned by the govern-

TRAINING PROGRAMS: For Army Forces

War Secretary Stimson has announced that 100,000 men and women will be trained for civilian jobsincluding overhaul and repair mechanics, production workers, inspectors at government factories, depots and arsenals—in government and state-owned schools and rented facilities of private technical schools. Eligible men must be outside the age and other selective service requirements. Students will be paid $900 to $1,400 a year in training. Courses vary from 15 weeks to four months. Applications may be made to any civil service commission local office. The Army institute has been established at Madison, Wis., to provide for enlisted men with at least four months active service, correspondence study in more than 65 courses in English, social studies, mathematics, science, business and engineering at a cost of two dollars a course. Army Ground Forces Commander McNair announced selection of a site "west of the Colorado river" for large-scale troop training in modern desert warfare, part of a program to develop task forces for mountain, airborne and armored warfare and for joint ground operations. The department said the replacement and school command will open headquarters at Birmingham, Ala., and the anti-aircraft command at Richmond, Va., before April 1 The former will include 14 schools and replacement centers, including officer candidate schools. A military police replacement training center will be established at Fort Riley, Kan., about April 8, to accommo date 1,800 trainees from all sections of the country. Mr. Stimson said the R.O.T.C. program will be maintained in colleges, but the army cannot supply material and personnel many years, as any special sign of to provide pre-induction training at such institutions.

ATLANTIC:

Sinkings continued at a rapid pace along the Atlantic seaboard, though there were not so many on the regular sea-lanes carrying commerce between Britain and the U.S.

Yet there were faverable signs, and measures were being taken to make the lot of the submarine harder, and to cut down sinkings.

One of these was the dim-out or killed and others injured in a riot | black-out of lights of cities and reat the penitentiary. The riot was sorts along the coast, particularly nite that the submarine had been started over a shortened ration of along sea-lanes frequented by coastwise vessels.

To clean enameled woodwork, melt one-half cup shaved soap in two cups of boiling water. Whip to a lather and apply with a sponge to a small space at a time. Wash, then wipe off the suds with a dry cloth and quickly rinse with a clean soft cloth. Proceed until all the woodwork has been cleaned. This method helps prevent streaking.

When you have many children's clothes to make, you can save time and effort if you use a sort of factory method. Cut out three or four dresses at a time (using different materials if you like). You can finish them in a variety of ways.

Scratches on furniture may be concealed by rubbing with good furniture polish, with lemon oil, or with linseed oil. Scratches on mahogany may be retouched with a little stain of the same color.

Disconnect electric iron as soon as you have finished with it, thus preventing fires and the burning out of iron.

If you have trouble with the sugar in fruit or berry pies, try this: Put only half the required quantity of sugar in the pie at first. Mix the rest with half the quantity of water and boil it three minutes. When the pie has baked about 20 minutes, pour the syrup into the pie through a paper funnel stuck through one of the steam

Simon Bolivar, Liberator

Simon Bolivar, the George Washington of South America, set up five independent nations in South America during the early part of the Nineteenth century: Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, and Venezuela. He was born in Caracas, Venezuela, in 1783, of a noble Basque family, and became interested in the cause of freedom as a youth studying in Europe.

In Rome he made a vow to liberate his country from Spain. His country was South America. His ideals were liberty without license and authority without tyranny, and he laid the foundation for those ideals in territory greater than the 13 colonies of 1776 and all the conquered territory of Napoleon.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

13-42

26 hours every day, 7 days every reek, never stopping, the kidneys filter reasts matter from the blood. If more jeople were aware of how the idneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, evers acids and other wasts natter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fall to function properly.

By VIRGINIA VALE

TAXICAB business boomed I recently at one of Hollywood's major studios, unaflected by the rubber shortage. Richard Carlson and Martha O'Driscoll drove off in one to be married, with Cecil Kellaway at the wheel. That was in New York. Then Burgess Meredith and Louise Platt rode to a railway station in Newark, N. J., in the same cab. Finally Allan Ladd and Bonita Granville took the same cab to Brian Donley's home in a Middle Western city Same cab-mounted on a fixed platform, never turning a wheel; it had no wheels!

In case you're interested, the pictures for which that taxi worked so hard and so faithfully are "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," "Street of Chance," that being the new title for "The Black Curtain," and "The Glass Key."

Almost ten years ago Red Skelton played his first vaudeville act in Wooster, Mass. June Earle danced and played "straight man" for him. Tommy Mac was also in the act.

RED SKELTON

Now they're together in the new "Maisie" film, June and Mac doing the same skits they did then, and Red Skelton-or so he insists-telling the same jokes he told then. But he's now earning more than $7 a week for doing it!

Basil Rathbone has a new contract (with Metro, this time) but he'll continue being a villain. In "Crossroads," with William Powell and Hedy Lamarr, he holds the key to Powell's past, Powell being a French diplomat branded as a former underworld character.

Jean Atkinson, stand-in for Madeleine Carroll for the last six years, has been called Hollywood's con posite woman; she's been stand-in for Fay Wray, Vivien Leigh, Frances Farmer, Claire Trevor and many others, "because she looks like many actresses rolled into one." She's been a stand-in for ten years, and says that she has no ambitions to be an actress.

William Powell took time off from his work to give a farewell party for Richard Barthelmess, before the latter left for Norfolk, Va., to serve as a naval lieutenant. Years agolong before they knew their present wives-those two and Ronald Colman were bosom companions.

With practically all of Hollywood doing some kind of war work, (and really doing it, too; no fooling) Hedy Lamarr got busy right on her own home grounds, when she saved her hairdresser, Eadie Hubner, from serious burns from an exploding gas stove.

Bob Hawk's having to do a lot of explaining. He decided to invest in a restaurant. Found one, signed a lease, and the sign painter went to work. The place was to be called "The Griddle"-but the painter made a mistake-and Hawk's explaining to friends that he isn'y really in the girdle business.

Columns could be devoted to Norman Corwin. A newspaper man, five years ago he pursued major radio executives with program ideas to revolutionize the airwaves. Only a small independent station in New York would give him a chance. Today he's engaged by four major networks. He directs the government series, "This Is War," heard every Saturday. Many of his original radio dramas have been broadcast. His recently published broadcast, "We Hold These Truths," celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Bill of Rights, was heard by 60,000,000 people. He directs radio propaganda for the government. His "This Is War" is heard round the world.

ODDS AND ENDS-The U. S. navy likes Metro's two-reeler, "The Battle," so much that the picture will be used for recruiting purposes . . . Director George Cukor's directing "Her Cardboard Lover" for the third time; once with Laurette for the third time; once with Laurette Taylor, once with Jeanne Eagels, now with Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor. . Sidney Chaplin, Charlie's 15-year-old son, when interviewed by Vox Pop at his prep school, said he wants to act and direct, like his father. He weighs 175... RKO suspended Lucille Ball from salary for refusing to play the second Jeminine lead in "Strictly Dynamite," for which they'd lent her to 20th Century-Fox.
