Red Cross Notes

We still have work to go out. This work does not have to be in until Dec. 20. If you want it come Saturday between 3 and 5 p. m.

We are asking for the following: cutting scraps, worn out wool clothing, such as vests, coats or pants or anything with enough good in it to cut 4 inch squares. If you have worn out clothing please cut or rip it up and bring it to the Red Cross room. It will be cleaned and made into afghans and quilts. We also want good parts of overalls and khaki pants. Please wash them before bringing them in. Help save by sending scrap clothing.

We had the privilege of helping some of our local people who had the misfortune to lose their house held goods with fire. Some of our local quilts came right back to our community.

Parents or relatives of our Hedley boy's in service who would like to have a picture of their boy put in our window, please bring it to us by Dec 1st. We will have an Honor Window in the Red Cross room through December. We would like to have every Hedley boy's picture in it.

Anytime we may be of service in our community, call on us. We have some quilt scraps to cut out. If you will help us, call at the Room Saturday.

Lions Club Meeting

At the first meeting of the local Lions Club this month the local Lions started a bond drive, first among their members. At this meeting the 21 Lions present and their guests pledged to buy $21.55.

At the meeting of the Lions this week further bond pledges among the members will be taken. The Lions then will offer a plan to increase the sale of bonds and stamps. The plan is to give each buyer of a bond during this drive an opportunity to receive an award. At the close of the drive a drawing will be held and many valuable awards will be given the winners.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. French North African Campaign Aimed at Aiding British Egyptian Drive In Annihilating All of Rommel's Army; AEF Operations Proceeding on Schedule

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Arrows near top of map show general locations of American troop landings in opening the long-heralded second front. U. S. troops struck at Algiers and other key cities, carrying out operations at a speed even greater than anticipated.

FIRST BLOWS: Gain Objectives

Even as the city of Algiers fell to attacking United States troops, official communiques from Allied North African headquarters announced new successes in the second front drive to forestall an Axis invasion of French territory.

The Algerian port of Oran was reported in American hands, as was near-by Arzew. The capitulation of Algiers, first announced by Vichy and later confirmed by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in North Africa, provided for American occupation of the city.

Before the city had surrendered, American combat teams and Rangers had captured two air fields in that area and a third near Oran. Possession of the airdromes will enable Allied forces to beat off Axis air attacks from Sicily and Sardinia and give Mediterranean convoys much-needed aerial protection.

VICHY: Breaks Relations

Meanwhile, the government of Marshal Petain, chief of state in Vichy, France, broke relations with the United States. Pierre Laval, as chief of government, summoned S. Pinkney Tuck, U. S. charge d'affaires at Vichy, and informed him that relations between France and the United States were broken off.

Thus was ended a strong bond of friendship which had persevered for many decades and which lasted through almost a year of war. At a Washington press conference Secretary of State Cordell Hull disclosed that the United States' relations with Vichy had served their purpose and that the United States no longer cares what attitude the Vichy government takes. He pointed out that the major reason for maintaining relations was to prepare for the drive into Africa. Past relations with Vichy aided the groundwork for that operation.

Petain took his action after talking to his highest advisers, including Laval and Gen. Maxime Weighand, former pro-consul for French North Africa. Early fragments of information reaching Vichy gave isolated reports of at least 10 American landings, air and sea bombardments and De Gaulle's Fighting French) uprisings. American forces were reported ashore in an area extending over about 650 miles of France's North African coast on the Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

OPERATIONS: 'Proceeding Rapidly'

While Vichy evidenced its reluctance to believe battlefield reports, authoritative dispatches from American correspondents said that everywhere operations were proceeding rapidly.

Americans were quick to seize airfields in the region of Algiers and Oran. Veteran fighter pilots set their planes down on the fields immediately after ground forces overran the airports. The split-second timing was revealed when, in one case, American fighter planes coming in to land aided in the capture of the field at the last minute with a ground strafing attack which removed the last vestige of resistance.

The feat of one eager American combat force was reported in early communications. One of the few submarines which reached the convoy disabled a transport, packed with the combat force. Instead of waiting to be towed back to port by the destroyers, the army commander ordered his men to take to their assault boats, tiny, flat-bottomed craft designed only for short forays to landing beaches. With destroyers as an escort the strange armada sailed 120 miles through rough water to land at one of the many beachheads. The seaskick soldiers stuck to their posts throughout the dangerous journey and achieved what was termed a feat without parallel in such an operation.

ROMMEL: Distance Runner

The battered remnants of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African army had new worries. Pursued relentlessly by the British Eighth army, the arrival of American troops in Algeria launched a powerfully equipped spearhead of power at Rommel's back. The pincers appeared to be closing.

Official British announcements told how the Germans abandoned their Italian allies to capture or annihilation. A Cairo dispatch said that six entire Italian divisions have been captured complete with all their equipment. "It seems clear," said a British war bulletin, "that the Germans withdrew without attempting to extricate any of the Italian infantry formations."

The fleeing Axis armies already had left Mersa Matruh far behind. Halfaya (Hellfire) pass, a narrow defile leading into Libya's arid regions, loomed ahead. Even though the Nazis get through Halfaya pass, they are confronted with new obstacles. They have lost the bulk of their armored forces and most of their long way from home and face the possibility of being cut off. Should the battle be fought out in the Libyan desert, it will be possible for the British to flank the remainder of Rommel's men.

HIGHLIGHTS in the week's news

HOROSHO—That was the word the Russians shouted through the streets of their towns and villages as they greeted the news of the American campaign opening up in Africa. "Horosho" in Russian is the equivalent of "swell."
KILLED—In Egypt, Peter Wood, son of Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the U. S., was killed in action.

REVERSAL—Capt. Fred Eldridge, editor of The Roundup, newspaper for American forces in China, Burma and India, urged sarcastically that "all you guys sweating it out up in Assam and China start writing letters to the States and sending little packages of goodies to buck up home morale." He pointed to the "terrible" hardships of gas rationing and the $25,000 limit on salaries.

INTER-UNION ROW: Affects Detroit Firms

Because of alleged interference with their organizational efforts by members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), 7,000 workers left their jobs in a half dozen Detroit war plants, suspending operations in the production of vital war materials.

The strike was Detroit's largest since Pearl Harbor. It was called off at the end of the first day after War Labor board intervention. In a single day it forced the shutdown of 15 Detroit factories.

The workers involved were members of the Mechanics Educational Society of America (Independent). Matthew Smith, M.E.S.A. president, described the work stoppages as a "labor holiday" designed to "see if there is any law and order in this town—if a man can join a labor union of his own choosing." Smith said the trouble started between his union and the U.A.W. when, several weeks ago, a group of M.E.S.A. officials called at the Briggs Manufacturing Co. to attempt to organize workers there. He said some U.A.W. members threw his men bodily from the plant.

MANPOWER: And Production

There was much discussion throughout government, industry and labor circles regarding the advisability of increasing the number of hours in the standard American work-week.

General opinion seemed to be that to increase the standard number of hours from 40 to 48 was a good step but further than that few wanted to go.

President Roosevelt at his press conference disclosed some interesting data on the subject. He said that intelligence reports show that last spring the German government decided to greatly increase the work-week, especially in certain munitions plants where the number of weekly hours went up from 70 to 80. For about two months, Nazi production greatly increased but then began to slip until the time came when the output of the 70-to-80-hour work-week was actually less than the former 48-hour week.

Latest monthly reports of U. S. war production show that the nation's industrial machine continues to gain speed as it rolls along: munitions production was up 7 per cent over the month before; airplane production up 10 per cent; ordnance 7 per cent; navy and army vessels 22 per cent, merchant ships 10 per cent.

VOICE: From a Beer Cellar

Speaking at the Loewenbrau beer cellar on the anniversary of his 1923 Munich putsch Adolf Hitler spouted loud and long about the latest developments in the U. S. drive into the French North African colonies. He declared that the landings there would "no more win the war than the British landings in France early in the conflict."

But while his words were strong and scornful there was evidence to indicate that the recent events in Africa had given him cause for concern. Said he: "We will prepare all counter blows as thoroughly as always, and they will come in due time."

He spent much of his speech in a review of the war and was careful to stress the fact that there would be no German capitulation as in 1918. He drew a parallel between himself and the kaiser, saying that: "The kaiser was a man who did not have strength to see things through. . . ." But Hitler indicated that he would have more strength in the hour of crisis: "All the time from my boyhood I have kept the bad habit of having the last word."

Observers took the tone of his speech to mean that the trend of worrying noticed lately among German citizens had finally reached the stage where officials were inclined to counter with an answer—at least in words.

Hitler said that so far in this war 350,000 Germans had been killed.

ITALY: Double Trouble

News of the American landing brought further pessimism to an already unhappy Italy. The first official comment came when it was announced over Rome radio that " . . . the Italian people—for this attack is directed against us—is facing a terrible trial. The maximum effort of the adversary has been directed against us, but shall we bow down before the . . . weight of this foe, without a struggle?"

End of the Bowery

The Bowery was one of the gayest streets in New York until about 40 years ago, when it was started on its decline by the publication of the song called "The Bowery." Nearly all America knew, sang and believed its chorus: "The Bowery, the Bowery! They say such things and they do such things, on the Bowery, the Bowery! I'll never go there any more." And most of them never did.

If you have any doubt at all what to give that fellow in the service, send him a carton of Camel cigarettes for Christmas. According to latest surveys, cigarettes top his gift list, with Camel his favorite cigarette, according to actual sales records from Post Exchanges and Canteens. If he smokes a pipe, send him a pound of Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco — the National Joy Smoke. Local dealers are featuring Camels in the Christmas-wrapped carton and also in a holiday box of four "flat fifties" (either way you give 200 Camels). Prince Albert Smoking Tobacco in the pound canister is handsomely gift-wrapped making other gift wrapping unnecessary.—Adv.

Joints on Hinges One of the oddest tattooing jobs known was that done on a London gentleman a few years ago when he had a hinge with screws tattooed on every joint of his body.

Treat Constipation This Gentler Way! Many folks say that almost as bad as constipation are harsh cathartics and purges. That's because many medicinal laxatives work this way: they either prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. Now comes news of a gentler and pleasanter way of treating constipation, for the millions of people with normal intestines whose trouble is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. This way is by eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, and drinking plenty of water. ALL-BRAN, unlike many medicinal laxatives, acts principally on the contents of the colon and helps you to have easy, normal elimination. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, better see your doctor.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

FRED ALLEN and Portland Hoffa aren't going to have to worry about meat rationing if the public does as well by them this year as it did last. The star of the Sunday night oil program received gifts of meat from two governors—a smoked ham from the governor of Tennessee, a turkey from Governor Johnson of Kentucky, another ham from the University of Missouri, a roast pig from Iowa State college, a barrel of oysters from Johns Hopkins, and hundreds of other gifts, ranging from a bucket of West Virginia coal to a bottle of laughing gas!

Joel McCrea's a life member of the Officers' Club of Gardner Field, Calif. Recently, when buying cattle in that vicinity, with the thermometer at 110, he visited the camp and learned that the men were trying to raise money for a swimming pool. A Bing Crosby golf match had raised part of it, a Victory Committee show had helped, but they still lacked $2,000. McCrea said he couldn't sing, dance or play golf to raise money, but he could write a check—and did. You'll be seeing him soon in "Great Without Glory."

Harry Carey's been in dozens of range wars in the movies; now he'd like to take part in one. Cattle thieves have been butchering beef belonging to a neighboring rancher and selling it to the black market; the neighbor, like Carey, raises cattle for the government. So, though Harry is busy in "Air Force" at Warner Bros., he's been organizing a couple of six shooters and planning action.

Fred MacMurray's added himself to the list of Hollywood farmers; he's the owner of 800 acres in northern California, which will be used for farming and cattle raising. He's slated to do "Above Suspicion" with Joan Crawford, for Metro, as the one outside picture Paramount lets him make each year. The story of a professor and his wife who act as British agents on the continent, it had been intended for Powell and Loy.

Director Richard Wallace just doesn't like plane crashes, since he was a near-victim in one in 1935 that cost five lives. So you won't be seeing the crackup scenes in "A Night to Remember," with Brian Aherne and Loretta Young, that the author put in.

One of the best of our radio shows isn't heard in this country except by the studio audience. It's "Mall Call," the war department's service show which is recorded and short-waved from CBS Hollywood studios to service men in all parts of the world. A recent program, staged before an audience of service men, included Amos 'n' Andy, Claudette Colbert, Joel McCrea and Betty Jane Rhodes.

In 1918 Leo McCarey wrote a song entitled "Keep Up Your Chin," but the Armistice was signed the day it was accepted for publication, and war songs were out. Now along comes another war, and the song's part of the musical score of "Once Upon a Honeymoon."

It sounds almost too pat. Dick Davis, playing a Norwegian in Warner's "Edge of Darkness," heaved a Nazi storm trooper over his head, cracked the heads of two others together, fought through a mob of them, raced 50 yards and dove off a pier. When he swam back to the beach, Director Lewis Milestone called to him: "Your wife phoned that your draft board has classified you; you're 4-F—physically unfit!"

ODDS AND ENDS—Donna Durbin will sing "Rockabye Baby" with Chinese lyrics in "Forever Yours." Brenda Marshall and her husband, William Holden, are giving their Rhodesian Lion dog to the government for army service. . . . Jane Wyatt spent two days in a Los Angeles hospital learning nursing technique for her role in RKO's "Army Surgeon." . . . We hear that Melvyn Douglas, turned down twice by the army, will try again when he's finished "Three Hearts for Julia." . . . Gregory Ratoff is bringing Mae Busch back to pictures; she has been cast as Don Ameche's secretary in "Something to Shout About."

Yank Fliers in Australia

By W. B. Courtney

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly)

I am writing this from Port Darwin in the Northern Territory of Australia. The Darwin area is about as far from Sydney and Melbourne as Death Valley is from New York. It is probably wilder in nature and ruder in its white men than any other part of earth under a United Nations flag.

Even the Australians, usually sensitive about references to whatever section of their country, admit it's "bloody Godforsaken." But it's home, for the time being at least, to many Yank bomber and pursuit kids whose advanced flying bases, hacked from the desert scrub and the moribund red earth by their own engineers and labor battalions, white and Negro, dot the "bush" whereabouts.

So very young and lean, habitually wearing only shorts and rubber sneakers, cooked to a partridge brown, raising as much beard as they can, with huge pistols dangling from web belts, these rakish and raffish airmen look, after a couple of weeks, like student pirates.

Life Without Women
They have to be tough and ingenious to survive down here—the flies, the mosquitoes, the snakes, the heat and the eye-splitting glare that makes the inside of your head raw, the unbearable loneliness of life without women.

They eat only Aussie chow—and second best at that. When they get lump sugar, they mark it with ink for use as playing cards or dominoes. The difficulties of transportation have bogged down most of the commissary, recreational and morale services of our own army. Cigarettes and other amenities are likely to be stolen before they can pass the long overland trek from our base ports.

When staff officers fly in for visits, they usually load their planes with comforts for the Yanks here—magazines, candy, playing cards, cigarettes and the like. I saw a whole group jump away from unfinished dinner, with shouts of boyish glee, when Gen. Ralph Royce produced out of his plane a baseball, a bat and some fielders' mitts.

American Ingenuity
Their toughness they take out on the Nips. The only superiority we have in the air of the Southwest Pacific is skill and heart. Their ingenuity is expressed in little ways at once familiar and endearing to an American visitor.

Northern territory is the Land of the White Ant. These various termites build structures, some low mounds, some 20-foot columns, until the plains around Darwin, seen in the moonlight, give you the impression of ruined castles and villages in miniature.

The so-called "magnetic" nests are the most famous—tall, slabwise, sharply tempered pillars, the ends of which always point exactly north and south. Woody substance inside, they are covered with fine clay that hardens into fortresses that repel all the termites' enemies.

The Yanks found a use for these. They ax off the tops, chisel out a hollow in the bases—and have fine barbecue or picnic stoves!

All Kinds of Hunting
The chief unrationed recreation of the Yank airmen here is hunting—Nips in the air, kangaroos, snakes, dingoes or wild dogs, emus, ducks, buffalo, crocodiles on the ground.

The kangaroo remains of greatest interest. The boys catch young ones and try to tame them; each plans to take a 'roo home with him. But they find the 'roos dumb and irresponsible; "just mishapen rabbits."

One squad tent has a mascot—an old 'roo that, on his own, attached himself. He will eat food that's set on the ground. He comes in at night and sleeps under one of the cots. But if you try to pet him he runs out. At reveille he moves out about 30 feet from the tent; sits there all day, watching, sidestepping anyone who goes near him. In four months of this, no one has succeeded in touching him.

The Yanks try to build up auxiliary air-raid warning services with their wild-pet friends. Goannas, a type of monitor lizard, are plentiful in all the camps—roam about all day on their business of catching insects, not allowing the advent of thousands of men to disturb their lives. They are not dangerous—except that if you stand motionless, one may think you are a tree and run up you, with unfortunate results to your clothes and skin from their knife-like claws. The goannas stand on their hind legs and turn their heads when planes go over.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The government's goal is to produce synthetic rubber at a rate of more than 500,000 tons per year by the end of 1943.

Even without a war program requiring tremendous quantities of rubber, the U. S. used 648,000 tons of rubber in 1940.

Any tire made in the last two or three years is good for eight to ten years if not worn out in service.

In 1933, 900 farm tractors were sold with rubber tires and 3,000 steel wheeled tractors were changed over to rubber. Six years later, 161,500 rubber tired tractors were bought by American farmers and in addition, 48,500 were converted to rubber wheels.

Following a steadily advancing position, the life in the U. S. has roughly doubled in each of the past decades.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

MARSHA HUNT has learned how to find a movie actress in a big city. Recently she and Ann Rutherford were both in New York, and both on personal business trips, so they hadn't given the M-G-M office their addresses. So, though they wanted to meet, they couldn't locate each other. The day before returning to Hollywood for "The Human Comedy," Marsha, besieged by fans asking for autographs, asked one if he knew where Ann was staying. "Sure—right on the floor above you!" he replied.

And, speaking of autographs—Virginia Weidler's new picture, "The Youngest Profession," is about them. In it William Powell will appear as himself; he's Virginia's screen idol, and her efforts to get his autograph lead to a series of hilarious situations.

Success Story: In 1940 Margaret Hayes was voted the best artists' model, then the best photographers' model. She's made some pictures—had the feminine lead in "In Old Colorado" and a featured role in

MARGARET HAYES

"New York Town," and Goldwyn picked her for a principal supporting role in "They Got Me Covered." Now she's in New York for three radio shows and a Broadway stage production!

Dick Powell teaches a class in navigation between his scenes in "True to Life" at Paramount. He's an expert yachtsman, and some of the younger members of the company who are preparing themselves for flying and marine service in the war asked him to do it.

Neither Claudette Colbert nor Rudy Vallee cares for eggs in the raw—but for a scene in "The Palm Beach Story" they each were to swallow three "prairie oysters," concoctions of raw eggs, Worcestershire sauce, etc. The property man promised to fix up something that would look like the genuine article but avoid the raw egg difficulty. He did—but the substitute was apricots in root beer!

It looks as if Warner's "Air Force" might turn into one of those star-maker pictures. John Garfield and Harry Carey are the only time-tested stars of the production; the youngsters of whom Director Howard Hawks has hopes are Gig Young, John Ridgely, Arthur Kennedy, Charles Drake, Ray Montgomery, Ward Wood and James Brown. The first two have an edge on the others.

Arch Oboler, writer-producer of the weekly show "Lights Out," has a new book of radio plays, "Plays for Americans." As he's a top-notch writer for radio, aspirants can't do better than get a copy and study it. Sponsored by the Association for Education by Radio, the plays, through agreement with Oboler, are available to any group free of royalties for the duration of the war.

Jack Pearl used to sign his name to letters, and beneath it "World's Greatest Liar." Now it's changed to "World's Second Greatest Liar." In explanation Jack says, "I couldn't be champ with Adolf around." Phil Baker ends notes with "Bye-bye, Buy bonds!"

Brenda Marshall and Osa Massen, of "Background to Danger," each has a parent in a country occupied by the Axis. Miss Massen's mother, sister and brother are in Denmark. Miss Marshall's father was managing a plantation in Negroes when the Japs moved in.

ODDS AND ENDS—Ida Lupino is probably the only stage or screen star who was born during an air raid—it happened in London during a Zeppelin raid, in World War I. . . . George Raft has been dicker for a motorcycle; Warner Bros. isn't keen about his riding one, but he's got to have some way of getting to the studio. . . . He's working in "Background for Danger"; if there's anything in a name the motorcycle ought to help get him in the mood. . . . Judith Anderson has learned that the ambulance she donated to the British army is being used in Bristol; her brother, with the British forces, told her.

Household Hints

Potatoes, Teamed With Eggs, Are a Delicious Meat-Saver

(See Recipes Below.)

Meat Savers

Voluntary meat rationing is already in process. This period before the actual rationing starts—and limits—each person to 2½ pounds of meat a week is the time for every Mrs. America to take stock and plan for the days ahead—days when she neatly tucks her meat ration book beside her sugar ration books and goes to market.

Sugar rationing has been a challenge, but a challenge which homemakers have met. Meat rationing will be even more of a challenge—for many are the homes where meat has been set on the table twice and even three times a day. But this challenge, too, will be met, for there are many ways of tiding over the days when meat supplies will be low.

Let's first look at the situation from the nutritional standpoint, for good health and well-being is a first goal. Meat is primarily preferred because it is what is known as a complete protein—containing all different types of proteins that the body needs for building and repairing down-and-out tissues.

The sources for protein you'll tap first are fish and fowl, cheese and milk. We have excellent supplies of all these so there will be no excuse for missing out on your quota. Meat is excellent for its minerals, but the meat-savers mentioned above are also famous for their minerals—calcium, phosphorus and iron.

Now, let's get down to the business of serving these foods appetizingly and attractively. Fall is the season for many kinds of fish—and your butcher will help you out on what's a real bargain. Canned fish is now somewhat scarce, but fresh-frozen fillets are easy-to-use items, minus the cooking odor which many find objectionable. Try this idea:

Fillets in Tomato Sauce.

(Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 pounds fish fillets (halibut, perch, pike, whitefish, salmon)
- 2 cups tomato pulp
- 1 cup water
- 6 whole cloves
- 2 bay leaves
- 6 peppercorns
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar

Place fish on a greased baking sheet and sprinkle with salt and pep-

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: The question is being asked these days as to how much meat will actually be allowed per person in the civilian Share-the-Meat program. The answer is 2½ pounds, which means meat as it is passed over the counter to you by the butcher—including meat, bone, gristle and fat.

Meats with little waste include the highly nutritious cuts like liver, heart, kidneys, sweetbreads and brains. Canned meat, sausage, scrapple, souse and similar products will not be subject to restrictions.

Fall fruit specials still include apples, grapes, pears, and delightful persimmons—good for canning or for puddings. Cranberries are brightening counters and menus.

Squash, pumpkin and sweet potatoes are holding their own, and here and there peek spinach, broccoli and brussels sprouts.

With less foods to choose, the smart homemaker will season to the best of her ability those she has. There is mustard grown here in our own country, and paprika, too. Cayenne from Louisiana, and chili, American grown, are earning a fine place on the cook's spice shelf.

This Week's Menu.

per. Bake or broil 15 to 20 minutes in a hot (425-degree) oven until fillets are cooked and delicately browned. Make sauce by boiling pulp with spices for 20 minutes or until thickened and well blended. Add salt and sugar. Mix and strain. Pour over fish and let stand in oven 5 to 7 minutes with sauce before serving.

Baked shrimps in a rich dressing are a boon to any menu and pick-up for any appetite:

Baked Shrimp Salad.

(Serves 6)

- 1½ pounds fresh cooked or canned shrimps
- 1 cup finely diced celery
- ¾ cup chopped green pepper
- 1½ tablespoons chopped pimiento
- Salt and pepper
- ¾ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup mayonnaise

Buttered bread crumbs Toss together all ingredients, lightly so as not to break shrimps. Place in buttered shells or individual casserole dishes. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven until the crumbs are browned. Garnish with lemon curls and serve immediately.

Cheese will be a blessing for many of the days on which you find yourself short and slim on meats.

It's easy to cook if you do just two things: cook it slowly and cook it over indirect heat. There are no strings attached to cheese cooked this way:

Cheese-Macaroni Leaf.

(Serves 6)

- 3 egg yolks
- 3 egg whites
- 1 cup grated American cheese
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- ½ cup macaroni, broken
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 teaspoon minced onion
- ½ cup pimiento, minced
- Salt and pepper

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water about 15 minutes or until tender. Rinse in cold water. Cook onion in butter. Beat yolks, fold in all remaining ingredients, and last mix in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Eggs snuggling in the flaky white folds of the baked potato are a smart suppertime item—and an excellent meat stretcher. This is the way to do it:

Idaho Suzettes.

(Serves 6)

- 6 medium-sized Idaho potatoes
- ½ cup hot milk
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 6 tablespoons buttered crumbs
- Salt and pepper
- 1 tablespoon grated cheese
- 6 eggs

Select medium-sized potatoes, scrub and bake at 450 degrees. When done, remove a piece of skin from side of each potato to make it boat-shaped. Scoop out carefully and mash potato thoroughly. Add butter, salt, pepper and hot milk and mix thoroughly. Pile mixture lightly back into shells, refilling almost to top. Break an egg into each nest of potatoes, season, and sprinkle with buttered crumbs mixed with cheese. Bake in a slow (250-300-degree) oven until egg is set and lightly browned. This takes about six minutes.

ON THE HOME FRONT with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HERE is a hooked hearth rug that may some day grow up to room size. So far every female member of the family has hooked at least one square, and the males are all represented by materials from cast-off suits, socks and sweaters. The turquoise flowers and red cherries in the alternate squares are from dyed pieces of the old cream colored wool blankets. When the squares are hemmed and sewn together with strong carpet thread, they form a fascinating pattern of circles, flowers and fruit.

Twelve-inch squares of burlap overcast around the edge made the foundation pieces. Patterns for the repeat design were cut from paper and the burlap was marked by drawing around these with wax crayon. Loops of fabric strips were drawn through with a steel rug hook. Red was used for the curved lines shown at the upper left. Tones of brown for the flower and gray for the cherry background. Mixed colors for the rest of the design.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears has prepared a special pattern for the rug in today's sketch with detailed directions for beginners. So, even if you have never made a hooked rug, you can start now making squares for a rug of any size you wish. Book 7 in the series of homemaking booklets contains 31 of these sketches with instruction text; also descriptions of the series. Send your order to:

W. S. G. S.

The W. S. G. S. met in regular session Monday afternoon. The minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Ruth Kempson and approved by the society. Plans for serving the dinner to Lions club Thursday night were discussed. Mrs. Frank Kendall, Mrs. Pyle and Miss Eula Gurd are to be the committee to take care of this function. The society was reminded of a very important meeting in the near future with selection of another year's officers as one important item.

The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Kendall, the subject studied and discussed being Temperance. A strong point brought out was the erroneous idea that temperance referred always to drink. It was pointed out that those who would destroy our democratic way of life have not hesitated to stoop to infesting our country with varying and harmful drugs, opiates and smokes.

They have set in motion a well planned mode of procedure which necessitates a concerted action by all Christian workers to overcome and defeat their purpose.

The songs were appropriate. Mrs. Chester O. Hill presided at piano and also offered closing prayer. All members are urged to make special effort to attend the meetings.

Notice to Farmers

Farmers throughout the state of Texas might in the near future group themselves in community groups for the hauling of their produce to the markets and other farm products that can be hauled in this manner, according to county agent H. M. Breedlove of the Texas A&M College Extension Service. Farmers throughout the nation are being asked to group themselves with their neighbors according to their own plans and try to make one trip to town serve for several families. This will work in communities very easily if each person will take his turn in making the trips. This will save gasoline, tires and time for the farmers. I have talked to a great number of farmers in this county. Breedlove stated and it seems that most of the farmers are of the opinion that this plan will work in their communities. It might be that in some instances only two or three families might work out a plan among themselves for the taking of produce and other farm products to town but this will save the farmers tires and gasoline and will make his rationing card go farther. Breedlove argues that farmers in Donley county contact their neighbors and see what kind of plan they can work out. This will not work in some instances of hauling cattle, cotton and crops that require the entire trailer or truck but it will work in the hauling of smaller farm products such as vegetables and produce. If it will help the war effort it is well worth trying.

Mrs. M. F. Jones has gone to Ft. Worth for the winter.

Mrs. Rhea Stone of Giles is now the assistant postmaster here.
