Miss Berry Writes

The response of the people in Hedley to the testing of pressure cooker gauges was very gratifying. However, it is possible that there are many other cookers needing testing.

A word of warning regarding the safety valves on your cookers which has developed from my experience working with them the past two weeks. Many of you have cookers used from ten to twenty years and they have never been tested or had the safety valve cleaned. For the safety of the person using the cooker just unscrew the valve and scour thoroughly so that the small steel ball will not stick. This will allow the excess steam to pass off if the pressure goes too high and will protect you, your cooker and food you are cooking.

In testing the cookers 11 lbs. pressure was used instead of 10 lbs. This is because boiling point here is 209 degrees F. instead of 212 degrees F. Therefore in Hedley with an altitude of about 2700 ft., use one pound pressure higher than the recipe calls for.

It has been pleasant working in your community and I wish to express my appreciation to Hedley School, especially Supt. Hill and Miss Loyd Richerson for splendid cooperation and use of the Home-making department. For the publicity given this project goes thanks to Mrs. Cherry and The Hedley Informer.

He acquired his early education in Kentucky, and after coming to Texas was a student in Carlton College at Bonham and Fannin College, where he graduated. He remained in Fannin College as a teacher for 15 years, until poor health forced him to spend two years on a farm. He then moved to Donley county, settling in Windy Valley. In 1909 he entered the hardware business in Hedley.

In 1892 he was married to Miss Hessie Miller at Montague, Texas. To this union seven children were born, five of whom survive. He was president of the Hedley school board for a number of years and was vice-president of the First State Bank.

Donley County's quota in the Fifth War Loan drive that officially begins Monday, June 12th is $330,000.00, which is to be $85,000.00 in Series E bonds and $245,000.00 in all others. Hedley's quota is $49,500.00, being $12,870.00 Series E Bonds and $36,630.00 all others; McKnight's quota is $5775.00, being $1500.00 Series E and $4275.00 all others; Bray's quota is $9075.00, being $2360.00 Series E and $6715.00 all others; Smith's quota is $4950.00, being $1285.00 Series E and $3765.00 all others; Giles' quota is $6600.00, being $1716.00 Series E and $4884.00 all others and Lelia Lake's quota is $24,750.00, being $6435.00 Series E and other bonds $18,315.00.

All the committees of the other drive have been reapointed for this drive. Chairmen of the school districts in this part of the county are Hedley, W. D. Franklin; McKnight, C. D. Walker; Bray, W. H. Clay; Smith, C. A. Crow; Giles, E. H. Watt and Lelia Lake, Quinn Aten.
These quotas in all these cases seem very high and in some school districts completely out of line. However it is our job not to complain of the quota, but to buy as many bonds as we can. Let's all resolve to pitch in and finish the Fifth War Loan in a hurry and show the Nation how Donley County fights.

LEGION-WAR DAD MEETING

There will be a joint meeting of the American Legion Hall Wednesday night June 7th promptly at 9 p. m. Sandwiches and pie will be served and a good program has been arranged. All exservice men of World War I and II and all war dads are urged to be present, and a special invitation is extended to the ladies of both organizations. This service was well attended and was very impressive. It has been suggested that when the invasion starts that we should have a joint session of prayer at one of our churches.

At present they are working on a "service men's pickup stand" which is to be placed on the highway in the next few days.

Mrs. O. L. Allen of Roy, N. Mex., has returned home after a visit here with her sister, Mrs. T. C. Johnson.

Lions Club News

At last weeks Lions Club meeting the Lions received a report from their delegates to the district War Conference at Plainview. They also had a splendid program rendered by the Misses Baker.

This week the Lions Club directors will meet. Some of the things to come up is arrangements for a bond rally for the Fifth War Loan Drive and the Lions family picnic which will be the last Thursday in June.

Next week the nominating committee appointed will turn in their nominations for the club officers and directors for next year. Since the meeting time has been changed to 9 p. m. the attendance has been mighty good and it should be even better next week as it is again going to be a "come as you are" meeting.

Margaret and Kathryn Baker of Giles spent last week end with Peggy Zoe Stotts.

C. E. Johnson at the Hedley Telephone Co. will write you fire and hail insurance.

Junior-Senior Banquet

Two articles were turned in about the Junior-Senior banquet last week, but this one was too late for last week's issue.

As usual the big event of the school spring entertainments remains the Junior-Senior Banquet given May 19 in the English room at the high school building. Under the supervision of their sponsor, Mrs. Mary Sue Longan, the Juniors gave one of the loveliest banquets in the history of the school.

The guests assembled in an improvised reception room where they were greeted by representatives of the Junior class who entertained them until sounds of music called them to the dining room. This had been arranged as Happy Holiday Inn. Streamers in school colors were suspended above the tables with huge musical notes gleaming with colored crystal swinging from these. Messages of musical welcome greeted the guests as they entered to find their places. In fact a complete musical program had been arranged as part of the evening's entertainment.

Special features of the evening were songs by members of the class toasts to various groups including visiting Seniors, faculty members, and others. These were replied to in kind by the guests. High lights of the program were "When the Lights Go On Again" sung by the Juniors, "I Love You" sung by Kathryn Baker, a reading, "Girls in School" by Eva Jean Cherry, and a brief address by Supt. C. O. Hill.

Impromptu singing of popular numbers and school songs led by the Juniors was an entertaining and interesting feature. As a rule this feature proves a most difficult one to present effectually; but this was the exception. At a late hour all stood about the tables with linked hands and sang Auld Lang Syne.

The Seniors, their Sponsor, and faculty members and guests wish to express their sincere appreciation to the Juniors and Mrs. Longan for a happy evening and many pleasant memories.

Zero Hour—Yanks await signal to attack Jap machine gun nest in Burma.

EMPLOYMENT: On Decline

For the first time since the war began, the nation's manpower appeared in balance with needs, with supply of labor in critical areas the only problem.

Earlier the department of agriculture noted a 4 per cent decline in farm labor, with some of the decrease attributed to the inability to get into the fields because of unfavorable weather.

EUROPE: Foe Reels

With soldiers from six nations fighting shoulder to shoulder in Allied ranks, the Germans fell slowly back in Italy, their retreating columns under heavy fire.

The searching eyes of aerial photography have uncovered what lies ahead of Allied troops massed to storm Germany's formidable west wall.

Dotting the scenic French landscape are innocent-looking, little houses, sheltering the muzzles of big German field pieces whose carriages are sunk into the ground.

CRYPTOSTEGIA

The government's experimental rubber project in Haiti has been abandoned as a failure and an investment of $8,000,000 is being written off.

PACIFIC: 1,000-Mile Advance

With his forces taking another long jump of 125 miles to the northwest in Dutch New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur advanced closer to his cherished goal of the Philippines, there to avenge Bataan.

The latest gain drew U. S. forces nearer to the thick cluster of islands lying off Dutch New Guinea which the enemy reportedly has fortified with air bases to counter any Allied thrust against the Indies to the south or the Philippines to the north.

Reflecting the continued drop in manufacturing industries, there were 41,800,000 non-farm workers in March, compared with the peak of 43,000,000 in July, 1943.

TRANSPORTATION: Overhauling Asked

Correction of inequalities and discriminations in present freight rate structures to reflect the cost of service, and creation of three permanent federal agencies to keep abreast of transportation problems, were among the recommendations made by a special board of investigation and research organized by congressional enactment in 1940.

CHINA: Seek Unity

With the Japanese tightening their grip on China through their control of her seaports and productive industrial centers, Chiang Kai-Shek moved to gird the country for a final stand against the enemy by drawing the Communists in the north fully into the battle.

As Chiang met with Communist leader Lin Tso-han, Chinese regulars continued their drive into northern Burma, in an effort to join up with Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's troops moving eastward from India, and thus open a new supply route to China.

BRITISH EMPIRE: Favor League

Having concluded their long conference with Prime Minister Churchill, Britain's dominion premiers packed their bags for the trip homeward, but not before issuing a statement favoring a world peace organization and avowing a fight to the finish against the common enemy.

"We affirm that after the war a world organization... should be set up and endowed with the necessary power and authority to prevent aggression and violence," the premiers said.

"We rejoice in the unquenchable spirit of our comrades in every country still in the grip of the enemy," the premiers declared.

MISCELLANY:

LESS MEAT: There will be about ten pounds less meat per capita available during the latter half of the year, the bureau of agricultural economics estimates.

REHABILITATION: Navy Program

After six months of operation of the rehabilitation program for men and women at the U. S. naval hospital at Great Lakes, exhibits told an interesting story of the success of the project under direction of Lieut. Comdr. R. E. Kinneman.

On display were fancy scarves, purses and belts in yellows, whites and greens. There were such useful articles as ash trays and billfolds, and such chipper bric-a-bracs as clay turtles and yarn dogs.

OIL: New Field

With the discovery of a promising big oil field in Mississippi which already has brought in two large wells, attention was focused on a whole tier of southeastern states.

According to oil authorities, approximately 155,000 miles of territory at the roots of the Appalachian mountains in North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi are underlain by sedimentary rocks, which might bear much petroleum.

Although a 130,000 mile territory in Texas and Louisiana has already given up 14 billion barrels of oil, authorities' enthusiasm for the prospective southeastern field has been tempered by reports that its zones for accumulation of petroleum are fewer in number and the thickness of the sedimentary rocks are less than in the Texas and Louisiana regions.

LABOR: Foremen Back

Three thousand five hundred members of the Independent Foremen's association of America trooped back to their jobs in Detroit, Mich., plants after the chief of the army air forces, Gen. H. H. Arnold, declared their strike had already cost production of 250 long-range P-51 fighter planes and could affect invasion operations.

Following General Arnold's testimony, the association's national president, Robert H. Keyes, issued instructions for ending the strike, charging the government with delaying settlement of the case.

REFRIGERATION: Ease Space

With warehousemen and food handlers cooperating fully with the War Food Administration's information centers, cooler occupancy was at 82 per cent in May, with much space of this type not ordinarily used at this time well filled.

At the same time, WFA announced that freezer occupancy stood at 85 per cent in May, with much room made available by the clearance of fruits, vegetables and poultry.

JOINT COMMAND: Drags Support

The touchy question of combining the different branches of the services into a single command, so strongly favored by the army, drew the support of President Woodrow Wilson's secretary of the navy, Josephus Daniels.

Mincing no words, Daniels declared that the disaster at Pearl Harbor resulted from a divided command, and asserted: "History is replete with the squabbles between the army and navy which prolong wars, showing the necessity of combination."

When he was working for unification of the services during World War I, Daniels said, Secretary of War Lindley Garrison told him: "Joe, I don't care a damn about the navy and you don't care a damn about the army. You run your machine and I will run mine."

DISEASE

The campaign against social diseases scored a victory on one front and lost ground on another last year. In the second half of 1943 there was a decline of 16 per cent in new cases of syphilis among civilians but gonorrhea cases jumped 11 per cent.

Baked Beans with Wiener Crown

Sociable pot-luck meals are the highlight of many neighborhood gatherings these days, and their popularity during wartime is easily understood since the expense and effort is divided among the group. Wieners split lengthwise stand at attention around the casserole. Golden brown baked beans, placed in layers with thin slices of onion between, are topped off with a spicy tomato sauce to complete this satisfying dish that has both taste and eye appeal.

Up-to-date housewives let the oven do the watching while they take care of other things, for modern gas service is available anywhere and everywhere with "bottled" or "tank" gas which gives the controlled and constant flame heat so necessary to good cooking.

Baked Beans with Wiener Crown

- 6 wieners
- 6 cups baked beans
- 2 tblsp. vinegar
- 3 tblsp. brown sugar
- 4 tblsp. chili sauce
- 1 teasp. salt
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced

Mix vinegar, brown sugar, chili sauce and salt with baked beans. Stand split wieners around a 2 quart casserole. Fill casserole with alternate layers of bean mixture and onion slices. Bake in 350 degree oven until wieners are brown and beans and onions are thoroughly cooked. This will serve six and you can double or multiply the recipe for larger gatherings.

KRAFT ADVANCES TWO OFFICIALS

Two executives of the Kraft Cheese Company were elected to new positions at the annual meeting of stockholders and the board of directors, held recently in Chicago.

G. C. Pound, formerly vice-president in charge of sales, was elected executive vice-president, to fill the position left vacant when John H. Kraft became president of the company a year ago. Arthur J. Riddle, manager of national bulk cheese production, was elected a vice-president and member of the board of directors, succeeding F. J. Bridges, who retired recently, on the board.

John H. Kraft was re-elected president and James L. Kraft, who founded the business, chairman of the board of directors. Oliver A. Blackburn was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

One of the best-known figures in the food field, Mr. Pound will continue to direct sales of Kraft products, in addition to handling the duties of executive vice-president. He has always been identified with the sales department, having contributed greatly to the building of Kraft's sales organization and unique system of retail distribution by fleets of trucks.

Mr. Riddle, who was manager of Kraft's Southwestern Division for 13 years before coming to Chicago a year and a half ago as manager of national bulk cheese production, was largely responsible for the rapid development of the cheese industry in the southwest, and has been instrumental in the introduction of many new cheese-making techniques.

During his 24 years with Kraft, Mr. Riddle has been closely identified with both sales and production of cheese. He was successively manager of several sales territories from 1920 to 1929, when he went to Denison, Texas, as manager of the Southwestern Division. The following members of the board of directors were re-elected: J. L. Kraft, John H. Kraft, C. H. Kraft, G. C. Pound, J. R. Moulder, Oliver A. Blackburn, J. I. Christopherson, C. M. Peterson, R. M. Page, John H. Platt, Norman Kraft and Fred Kraft.

...with the help of Providence

From millions of American homes prayers go up for the safety of boys away in the war. From farm homes other prayers, too...

For aid in the production of crops vital to Victory and the establishment of Peace. For rains to keep green the pastures where milking cows graze. For sunshine to ripen the grains and fodders needed in the winter's feeding.

Increased again this year are America's production goals for milk and transportable products of milk! The U.S. Government's own requirement of cheese is estimated at nearly 450 million pounds—for our fighting men and fighting allies. On top of that there should be made over 500 million more pounds of this nutritious food for civilians of our land.

More than twice as much cheese as the nation could produce when the last war ended is needed now!

We of Kraft who work with the dairy farmers of America know how earnestly they strive to meet these goals. Short of hands and equipment, they carry on as best they humanly can. And they'll succeed... with the help of Providence.

Because of the tremendous demand, both military and civilian, you may not be able to get as much Kraft Cheese as you would like, or get your favorite varieties—Kraft American, "Old English," "Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese, Velveeta, and so on. But you may be sure, as always, that any cheese or cheese food which bears the Kraft name represents the very highest standard of quality.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe that it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

This great bronze goddess is a symbol of the shining ideal of Freedom. Much is said about Four Freedoms . . . but they mean nothing without the Fifth—our keystone Freedom of Enterprise—the chance for a man to be really free and to advance as far and as fast as his ability will carry him. It was this kind of freedom which built the electric industry, made it possible for privately owned Electric Companies to be business-managed and business-operated, free to grow, to plan ahead . . . and the workers and management who built the companies had a chance to use foresight in planning a better electrical tomorrow for each new generation. Let this be our guiding light: Keep America the land of freedom—freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom from want and fear. This can only be accomplished by keeping freedom to strive for individual success, instead of just leaf raking.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence at all drug stores.

HERE is a cookie jar that may be made at home from odds and ends of wood stenciled with gay peasant figures and quaint lettering. But that is not all. This jar or box sits on an old fashioned brightly painted corner shelf which may be cut out of thin wood and put together quickly with glue and brads.

Even if you do not have a jig saw or a coping saw to cut out the graceful curves of the shelf pieces, you may mark the design on a piece of plywood or other thin wood and have it cut at your nearest woodworking shop. As for the cookie box, it is all straight cuts.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared an actual size pattern for this corner shelf and cookie box; also a stencil pattern with complete color guide for the lettering and peasant figures; all on one large sheet which will be mailed for 15 cents which includes cost and postage. Here's How It Feels to Ride On a B-26 Bombing Run

Crews Know Their Business; Morale Is Good Among British-Based Fliers

By Ernie Pyle.

A U. S. BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND.—These are some of the boys who have been blasting out our invasion path on the continent of Europe. For nearly a year they have been hammering at the wall of defense the Germans have thrown up. How well they have blasted we will know before the summer is over.

They are a squadron of B-26 Marauder bombers. They are representative of the entire mighty weight of the tactical bombers of the Ninth air force. I have come to spend a few days with them because I wanted to get a taste of the pre-invasion assault from the air standpoint before we get a mouthful of the invasion proper from the ground.

The way I happened to come to this certain squadron is one of those things. One night in London I was sitting at a table with some friends in a public house when two boys in uniform leaned over from the next table and asked if I weren't So-and-so.

I said yes, whereupon we got to talking and then we got to be pals and eventually we adjourned from one place to another, as Damon Runyon would say, and kept on adjourning throughout the evening, and a good time was had by all.

These boys were B-26 bombardiers, and in the course of the evening's events they asked if I wouldn't come and live with their squadron awhile. Being nothing if not accommodating, I said sure, why not. And here we are.

The two boys were Lieuts. Lindsey Green (2360 Chestnut street), San Francisco, and Jack Arnold (603 N. Fourteenth street), East St. Louis, Ill. Being redheaded, Lieutenant Arnold goes by the name of "Red Dog." They are both very nice people indeed.

The boys say this is the best squadron in England. Nine out of ten squadrons, or infantry companies, or quartermaster battalions, will say the same thing about themselves. It is a good omen when they talk like that.

This station seems to me to have about the finest spirit I've run onto in our army. It is due, I think, largely to the fact that the whole organization has been made into a real team.

The commander of this group is Col. Wilson R. Wood, Chico, Texas. Five years ago he was an enlisted man. Today, at 25, he is a full colonel. He is a steady, human person and he has got what it takes to blend thousands of men together into a driving unit.

The job of the B-26s is several-fold. For one thing, they had to rid upper France and the Low countries of German fighters as far as possible, to clear the way for our heavy bombers on their long trips into Germany.

They have done this not so much by bombing airdromes, which can be immediately repaired, as by blasting the enemy's reserve supplies of planes, engines and propellers.

Their second job is to disrupt the enemy's supply system. Much of their work of late has been on railroad marshalling yards, and along with A-20s and fighter-bombers they have succeeded to a point where British papers say Germany cannot maintain a western front by rail.

And third, they constantly work on the enemy's military installations along the Channel coast. They feel that they have done a good job. If they haven't I'm going to be plenty sore at them one of these days, because I might be in the vicinity and if there's anything that makes me sick at the stomach it's a military installation in good working order.

The B-26 is a bomber which is very fast and carries a two-ton bomb load. In its early stages it had a bad name—it was a "hot" plane which took great skill to fly and which killed more people in training than it did in combat.

But the B-26 has lived down the bad name. The boys of this squadron wouldn't fly in anything else. They like it because it can take quick and violent evasive action when the flak is bothersome, and because it can run pretty well from fighters.

Its record over here is excellent. Bombing accuracy has been high and losses have been extremely low. And as for accidents—the thing that cursed the plane in its early days—they have been next to nonexistent here.

The boys so convinced me of the B-26's invulnerability that I took my courage in my hand and went on a trip with them.

They got us up at 2 in the morning. Red Dog gave me an extra pair of long drawers to put on. Chief gave me his combat pants, as I had given mine away in Italy. Also I put on extra sweaters and a mackinaw.

Then we walked through the moonlight under the trees to the mess hall. It was only 2:30 a. m., but we ate breakfast before the take-off. And we had two real fried eggs too. It was almost worth getting up for.

We drove out to the field in a jeep. Some of the boys rode their bicycles. There were a couple of hundred crewman altogether. At the field we went into a big room, brightly lighted, and sat on benches for the briefing.

The briefing lasted almost an hour. Everything was explained in detail—how we would take off, how we would rendezvous in the dark, where we would make the turn toward our target.

Then we went to the locker room and got our gear. Red Dog got me a pair of flying boots, a Mae West life preserver, a parachute and a set of earphones. We got in the jeep again and rode out to the plane.

We stood around talking with the ground crew. Finally, 10 minutes before take-off time, we got into the plane. One of the boys boosted me up through a hatch in the bottom of the plane, for it was high, and with so many clothes I could hardly move.

I sat back in the radio compartment on some parachutes for the take-off. Red Dog was the only one of the crew who put on his chute. He said I didn't need mine.

We were running light, and it didn't take long to get off the ground. I had never been in a B-26 before. The engines seemed to make a terrific clatter. There were runway markers, and I could see them whiz past the window as we roared down the runway. A flame about a foot long shot out of the exhausts and it worried me at first, but finally I decided that was the way it was supposed to be.

At 12,000 feet up it begins to get daylight before it does on the ground, and while we could now see each other plainly in our B-26s, things were still darkly indistinct in England, far down there below us.

Now and then a light would flash on the ground—some kind of marker beacon for us. We passed over some airdromes with their runway lights still on. Far in the distance we could see one lone white light—probably a window some early-rising farmer had forgotten to black out.

"Red Dog" Arnold, the bombardier, was sitting in the copilot's seat, since we weren't carrying a copilot. The boys got me a tin box to sit on right behind Red Dog so I could get a better view.

We climbed higher, and at a certain place the whole group of B-26s made a turn and headed for the target. This wasn't a mission over enemy territory, and there was no danger to it.

As we neared the target Red Dog crawled forward through a little opening into the nose, where the bombardier usually sits. The entire nose is plexiglas, and you can see straight down and all around. He motioned for me to join him.

I squeezed into the tiny compartment. There was barely room for the two of us. The motors made less noise up there. By now daylight had come and everything below was clear and spectacular.

I stayed in the nose until we were well on the way home, and then crawled back and sat in the copilot's seat beside Chief Collins. The sun came out, the air was smooth, and it was wonderful flying along there over England so early in the morning.

The Return Trip—In the Copilot's Seat

We came back over our home airdrome, peeled off one by one, and landed. Red Dog stayed up in the nose during the landing, so I stayed in the copilot's seat. Landing is about the most dangerous part of flying, yet it's the one sensation I love most, especially when riding up front.

Chief put the big plane down so easily we hardly knew when the

Elephants and Some Fish Are Restless Creatures

In the animal world the elephant, by reason of its size and strength, might be expected to enjoy long and profound periods of slumber. Not so, however, for it seldom has more than two or three hours' rest at a time. It very seldom lies down, and spends the greater part of the day and night in restless shufflings and oscillations.

From observations made in captivity on miniature whales, dolphins and porpoises, it would appear as if these animals never slept at all. A porpoise kept in an aquarium continued to swim round and round its tank throughout the 24 hours. The specimen in question never once stopped in the course.

Jack Thought It Best Not to Bring in Shop

It was early evening when and Mary were strolling in arm in the park. Jack noticed that she was looking rather gloomy.

"What's up, Mary?" he first asked. "You seem out of sorts." "I was just thinking you aren't a bit poetic," replied Mary. "You don't call me fancy names like Tom calls Joan. He says she's the apple of his eye and a perfect peach, and other such pretty things."

Jack sniffed contemptuously. "That's all very well," he said, "but you forget that Tom works in a fruit store, while I work in the fish market."
