Security State Bank Is 32 Years Old

The Security State Bank is celebrating its 32nd Anniversary, which fell on August 22nd, by repainting and redecorating their banking home.

In 1913 when this bank was founded there was another bank in Hedley but the people asked for a bank that would take care of the home people first so this bank was organized. The original capital stock was $15,000.00, which has been raised as the community grew and needed more capital. The bank now has capital of $35,000.00, surplus of $23,000.00 and profits and reserves of over $6,000.00 with total resources over $400,000.00. Which is ample to take care of the needs of the town and community.

Since its organization the bank has been steadfast to its policy of taking care of the home people first and of making as few changes in the bank personnel as possible. There has been only two presidents, J. G. McDougal, the first president who remained in his office until his death, and J. W. Noel, the present president. There have been only four cashiers, T. T. Harrison, J. W. Swift, J. W. Noel and C. L. Johnson, the present cashier.

The bank has always tried to take part, if not the lead, in community affairs, and its employees always take time to do their part in helping anything for the good of the town and community.

Mrs. J. B. Parrock

Funeral services for Mrs. J. B. Parrock, who passed away last Wednesday at Lubbock, were held Saturday there. Interment was in the Lubbock cemetery.

Feefee Adamson Parrock was born near Weston, Collin Co. Texas, June 19, 1894 and departed this life August 16, 1944. She came with the family to Donley Co. in the year 1901. She graduated from Hedley School in 1910 and attended college at Sethward College in Plainview in 1911 and 1912. She united with the Methodist Church when she was very young.

She was married to J. B. Parrock Nov. 16, 1916 at Lubbock. To this union was born one daughter, Feefee Fern Prestridge of Beaumont Texas.

She leaves to mourn her passing a devoted husband and daughter, Mrs. Prestridge and two granddaughters, Chloe Joyce, age seven, Verneal, age five, and a grandson, Carlton, age 15 months; also four brothers, S. G. Adamson of Hedley, J. W. and M. L. of Los Angeles, Calif., and T. L. of Fort Worth and three sisters, Mrs. A. H. Gibson and Mrs. Annie Greer of Fort Worth and Mrs. Bruce Stuart of Independence, Mo. and a number of nieces and nephews. She lived a quiet, peaceable and industrious life and was loved by all who knew her.

To The Voters of Precinct 3

For fear that there might be some voters in the precinct whom I have not seen, I take this means of soliciting your support in the second primary Saturday, and assuring you that your vote and influence will be sincerely appreciated.

Hedley School News

School opening Monday was attended by many people of the town and vicinity. There was enthusiasm everywhere. Talks were made by ministers Harris and Cockrell and Supt. Hill.

The Hedley School enrolled 362 pupils in all grades this week. The Commercial teacher for high school has not arrived but the work is being carried on by Mr. Hill. Miss Shaler will arrive next week. Miss Watkins will also be here then.

This year the seventh, eighth and ninth grades constitute the junior high division. Mr. Baker, Mrs. Adamson, Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Gargis teach various subjects in this group. Some of them also teach in the senior high division with Mr. Christian, Mrs. Longan and Mr. Hill.

Mrs. Tinsley leads in the number enrolled in one grade. She has 36 in the second grade. We are hoping that more from Bray and McKnight will be in school with us next week.

We are proud of our beginning. We hope to be prouder of the ending on account of increased enrollments and accomplishments.

Our new school bus is roomy enough to haul 42 pupils and not crowd anybody. Five school buses are now serving the Hedley school.

We believe that a nation is no better than its churches and schools.

FALL IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER --

And you are going to need seasonable merchandise for the coming fall and winter season. We have been taking into stock all fall and winter merchandise that we could buy since early in the year. Our stock isn't complete by any means, but we have many items that you can use and need, and while we do not want to appear as alarmists, the customer who buys the goods they need early this year will be able to get largely what they want, while the late buyer is going to be doomed largely to disappointment. The shortage of merchandise in our line is much more critical than at any time since the war began.

Goofy, am I?

Go ahead—that's your privilege—thinking I'm just plain hipped on everlastingly keeping this engine's insides OIL-PLATED with Conoco Nth oil. Maybe there is and maybe there isn't sixty other ways that would have kept engine acids from raising Ned with this pre-Pearl Harbor limousine. But one thing I know is this: it's still running swell on nothing but Conoco Nth motor oil. You needn't be a scientist to know that acids from every explosion are forever trying to spoil an engine. Looks like the proper idea is to try blockading those acids by getting your engine OIL-PLATED. I learned there's a modern synthetic in Conoco Nth oil that reminds you of magnetism, because it makes inside surfaces attract a shield of OIL-PLATING. Acids can't so easily tear right into this! Then your OIL-PLATED engine has an extra chance to last you. When new cars arrive, hurry! But a real advanced improvement right now is to switch to Conoco Nth motor oil, see.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB
of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

Everyone agrees that the best feed for dairy cows is good pasture land, so if at the end of summer your pasture is beginning to reach a stage where you have to use bloodhounds to find your cows, this is a good time to start work getting it in better shape for the 1945 season.

Strong, healthy growths of thistle, mullen, vervain, ragweed and some of the other pests are not indications of fine soil but are sure proof that your pastures are running out, the extension folks tell us. Start now to build your pasture for next year, by getting rid of these things which take food away from your cows.

Minnesota's Extension Folder 115 discusses pasture renovation and is a good, condensed handbook to keeping pastures in top condition. For this time of year, the folder suggests clipping pastures, testing and fertilizing soil.

Liming and application of superphosphate, if needed, at this time will show solid benefits next season. These pasture foods will help keep weeds down, by giving strength to grass and enable it to crowd out the weeds. I suggest you have your county agent test your soil and determine how much of the chemicals may be needed.

Rye is recommended by the extension services for seeding at this time of year for pasture purposes. It should provide some winter grazing as well as early spring grazing. Alabama points out in Circular 234 and Missouri reports in Circular 193.

You can get these bulletins by writing the extension services at St. Paul, Minnesota, Auburn, Ala. and Columbia, Mo., requesting them by the numbers given above.

Then there was the little calf which walked up to a silo and said "Is my fodder in dere?"

Next year's feed problems can be eased now by ordering fertilizers at this time, the War Food Administration suggests in recent press releases. The WFA points out that feed supplies can be increased considerably by proper use of fertilizers in late summer and early fall.

Prices of fertilizers are reportedly low in relation to prices of most farm products. This is the slack time for fertilizer sales and distribution and you can get supplied more readily if you order now. Also, by ordering now you may be able to get a greater quantity than if you wait until winter or early spring.

The WFA reports that experiments conducted in the west have shown applications of the equivalent of 100 pounds of triple superphosphate to the acre on alfalfa, applied in the fall, brought a net increase of a ton of hay per acre. An average increase of 8.5 bushels of wheat per acre was reported with the use of 200 pounds of medium mixed fertilizer. Such production increases are well worth while.

Farmer Brown saw his neighbor sitting on his front porch playing checkers with a bull. The bull was winning. "Smart bull," said Farmer Brown. "Not so smart," said his neighbor, "I beat him yesterday."

It's a wise child, says the old saw, who knows his father. And the wise dairyman is the one who knows plenty about the sire of the calves in his dairy herd.

Too little attention is paid in many cases to the record of the bull, when the farmer buys a calf, selects a heifer or chooses the sire for his cows. Yet the findings of all the extension services are most emphatic on the importance of the sire in the volume and quality of milk production of the daughter.

Recommended for your serious consideration is Bulletin 179, issued by Purdue which goes to some length in discussing why "better bulls mean better herds and larger profits."

The records of the past are the important things to look into in deciding what sire to use for your herd or which bull to choose, if you are buying a bull for breeding purposes.

If the records show a bull has a long list of daughters producing 400 pounds of butterfat, then this animal is worthy of use in your own herd. Certainly its services are to be preferred to those of a sire whose daughters consistently measure up to only 200 pounds of butterfat.

You can get Purdue Bulletin 179 by writing the Extension Service at Lafayette, Indiana.

Remember how good it felt, after working under a hot sun, to sneak off under that big tree at the side of the field and rest in the shade a while? Your cows feel pretty much the same way about shade, findings of the agricultural colleges show.

If you do not have sufficient shade in your pastures, perhaps your milk production suffered because of that fact this summer. You may have an opportunity now to build a shade shelter for use next summer. It should be at least eight feet high. It will pay a dividend in greater milk volume.

Planting a few trees for future shade would be a good idea in late fall.

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state; but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

GAS tronomy

HERE'S A HANDY BROILING CHART

Busy farm wives find broiling a highly suitable method for cooking meat because it's time-saving. When properly broiled under a gas flame, meats are attractively browned outside, juicy inside, and have a plump, full appearance.

Point-conscious cooks will use a 350° F. oven for broiling, instead of turning the flame high. Not only do high temperatures shrink the meat, but waste points and precious fuel which has gone to war. If you are using "bottled" or "tank" gas, remember it is doing war work in factories and on the battlefronts.

Here is a time-table for broiling. Set gas broiler at 350° F. and maintain constant temperature throughout the broiling period.

Meat	Weight Pounds	Broiling Time	Broiling Temperature
Beef
Chuck Steak—
1 inch	2 1/2	24	30
1 1/2 inches	4	40	45
Rib Steak—
1 inch	1 1/2	15	20
2 inches	2 1/2	35	45
Club Steak—
1 inch	1	15	20
2 inches	1 1/2	35	45
Sirloin Steak—
1 inch	3	20	35
2 inches	5	40	45
Porterhouse—
1 inch	2	20	25
2 inches	5	40	45
Lamb
Shoulder Chops—
1 inch	3 oz.	12
2 inches	10 oz.	22
Rib Chops—
1 inch	3 oz.	12
2 inches	5 oz.	22
Loin Chops—
1 inch	3 oz.	12
1 1/2 inches	5 oz.	18

Lamb chops are not served rare. Ham is always cooked well done; it requires about 25-30 minutes for a slice 1 inch thick. The time for broiling bacon is influenced by personal preference as to crispness.

Let C. E. Johnson, manager of the Hedley Telephone Co., write your fire and hail insurance.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—the risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strains on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body wastes. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him. Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally—whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys simple as A-B-C."

Bombers March Across Sky as Crack Troops 'Breakthrough'

By Ernie Pyle

IN NORMANDY.—The great attack, when we broke out of the Normandy beachhead, began in the bright light of midday, not at the zero hour of a bleak and mysterious dawn as attacks are supposed to start in books.

The attack had been delayed from day to day because of poor flying weather, and on the final day we hadn't known for sure till after breakfast whether it was on or off again.

When the word came that it was on, the various battalion staffs of our regiment were called in from their command posts for a final review of the battle plan.

Each one was given a mimeographed sketch of the frontline area, showing exactly where and when each type bomber was to hammer the German lines ahead of them. Another mimeographed page was filled with specific orders for the grand attack to follow.

Officers stood or squatted in a circle in a little apple orchard behind a ramshackle stone farmhouse of a poor French family who had left before us. The stone wall in the front yard had been knocked down by shelling, and through the orchards there were shell craters and tree limbs knocked off and trunks sliced by bullets. Some enlisted men sleeping the night before in the attic of the house got the shock of their lives when the thin floor collapsed and they fell down into the cowshed below.

Chickens and tame rabbits still scampered around the farmyard. Dead cows lay all around in the fields.

The regimental colonel stood in the center of the officers and went over the orders in detail. Battalion commanders took down notes in little books.

The colonel said, "Ernie Pyle is with the regiment for this attack and will be with one of the battalions, so you'll be seeing him. The officers looked at me and smiled and I felt embarrassed.

Then Maj. Gen. Raymond O. Barton, Fourth division commander, arrived. The colonel called, "Attention!" and everybody stood rigid until the General gave them, "Carry on."

An enlisted man ran to the mess truck and got a folding canvas stool for the General to sit on. He sat listening intently while the colonel wound up his instructions.

Then the General stepped into the center of the circle. He stood at a slouch on one foot with the other leg far out like a brace. He looked all around him as he talked. He didn't talk long. He said something like this—

"This is one of the finest regiments in the American army. It was the last regiment out of France in the last war. It was the first regiment into France in this war. It has spearheaded every one of the division's attacks in Normandy. It will spearhead this one. For many years this was my regiment and I feel very close to you, and very proud."

The General's lined face was a study in emotion. Sincerity and deep sentiment were in every contour and they shone from his eyes. General Barton is a man of deep affections. The tragedy of war, both personal and impersonal, hurts him. At the end his voice almost broke, and I for one had a lump in my throat. He ended:

"That's all. God bless you and good luck."

Then we broke up and I went with one of the battalion commanders. Word was passed down by field phone, radio and liaison men to the very smallest unit of troops that the attack was on.

There was still an hour before the bombers, and three hours before the infantry were to move. There was nothing for the infantry to do but dig a little deeper and wait. A cessation of motion seemed to come over the countryside and all its brown-clad inhabitants—a sense of last minute sitting in silence before the holocaust.

The first planes of the mass onslaught came over a little before 10 a. m. They were the fighters and dive bombers. The main road running crosswise in front of us was their bomb line.

They were to bomb only on the far side of that road.

Our kickoff infantry had been pulled back a few hundred yards this side of the road. Everyone in the area had been given the strictest orders to be in foxholes, for high-level bombers can, and do quite excusably, make mistakes.

We were still in country so level and with hedgerows so tall there simply was no high spot—either hill or building—from where you could get a grandstand view of the bombing as we used to in Sicily and Italy. So one place was as good as another unless you went right up and sat on the bomb line.

Having been caught too close to these things before, I compromised and picked a farmyard about 800 yards back of the kickoff line.

And before the next two hours had passed I would have given every penny, every desire, every hope I've ever had to have been just another 800 yards further back.

Our frontlines were marked by long strips of colored cloth laid on the ground, and with colored smoke to guide our airmen during the mass bombing that preceded our breakthrough from the German ring that held us to the Normandy beachhead.

Dive bombers hit it just right. We stood in the barnyard of a French farm and watched them barrel nearly straight down out of the sky. They were bombing about half a mile ahead of where we stood.

They came in groups, diving from every direction, perfectly timed, one right after another. Everywhere you looked separate groups of planes were on the way down, or on the way back up, or slanting over for a dive, or circling, circling, circling over our heads, waiting for their turn.

The air was full of sharp and distinct sounds of cracking bombs and the heavy rips of the planes' machine guns and the splitting screams of diving wings. It was all fast and furious, but yet distinct, as in a musical show in which you could distinguish throaty tunes and words.

And then a new sound gradually droned into our ears, a sound deep and all encompassing with no notes in it—just a gigantic faraway surge of doom-like sound. It was the heavies. They came from directly behind us. At first they were the merest dots in the sky. You could see clots of them against the far heavens, too tiny to count individually. They came on with a terrible slowness.

They came in flights of 12, three flights to a group and in groups stretched out across the sky. They came in "families" of about 70 planes each.

Maybe these gigantic waves were two miles apart, maybe they were 10 miles, I don't know. But I do know they came in a constant procession and I thought it would never end. What the Germans must have thought is beyond comprehension.

Their march across the sky was slow and studied. I've never known a storm, or a machine, or any resolve of man that had about it the aura of such a ghastly relentlessness. You had the feeling that even had God appeared beseechingly before them in the sky with palms outward to persuade them back they would not have had within them the power to turn from their irresistible course.

I stood with a little group of men, ranging from colonels to privates, back of the stone farmhouse. Slit trenches were all around the edges of the farmyard and a dugout with a tin roof was nearby. But we were so fascinated by the spectacle overhead that it never occurred to us that we might need the foxholes.

The first huge flight passed directly over our farmyard and others followed. We spread our feet and leaned far back trying to look straight up, until our steel helmets fell off. We'd cup our fingers around our eyes like field glasses for a clearer view.

Some of Brave Fliers Crash With Planes

Someone shouted that one of the planes was smoking. Yes, we could all see it. A long faint line of black smoke stretched straight for a mile behind one of them.

And as we watched there was a gigantic sweep of flame over the plane. From nose to tail it disappeared in flame, and it slanted slowly down and banked around the sky in great wide curves, this way and that way, as rhythmically and gracefully as in a slow motion waltz.

Then suddenly it seemed to change its mind and it swept upward, steeper and steeper and ever slower until finally it seemed poised motionless on its own black pillar of smoke. And then just as slowly turned over and dived for the earth. Nothing deviated them by the slightest.

Christmas Mailing To Overseas Forces

This year the Christmas mailing period for both Army and Navy overseas forces is the same—September 15 to October 15. After October 15 no gift parcel may be mailed to a soldier without the presentation of a written request from him. More care must be taken in wrapping and packing parcels securely and addressing them clearly and correctly.

If the gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, so id fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine. If both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper. We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and addressee inside the package as well as outside.

Because strong twine, heavy paper and boxes and fiberboard will prove of real help in making delivery of gifts possible I urge those at home to begin saving these materials now. As time goes on they are going to become even more scarce than they are now.
