Moreman Grocery and Locker To Open July 21

New Plant Incorporates All Modern Features

The people in Hedley can be justly proud of the part they have played in assisting Mr. Moreman in bringing to this community one of the most modern and up to date food handling stores anywhere in the Southwest. The new home of the Moreman Grocery and Frozen Foods incorporates all the modern features. As you walk into this beautiful well lighted air conditioned store, you will see a complete new set of modern fixtures so designed to make it easy for the housewife to shop. The store is completely departmentized, making any item in the store accessible to the purchaser, which will save much time for the patrons. You will also note new refrigerator display case that not only keeps vegetables perfect in their natural state, but it is so designed to make it possible for customers to find the desired item.

Mr. Moreman states that it is his intention to carry a complete line of vegetables and fruits the year around. A brand new stock of staple and fancy groceries are on the shelves for your approval, featuring all the well known brands of vegetables, fruits, etc., as well as a complete line of preserves, spices and sauces. In the rear of the store, Mr. Moreman has arranged a complete department featuring the well known brands of Light Crust, Gladiola, Gold Medal, Amaryllis and Sunny Boy flour that have been the standard of perfection with housewives for many years.

In conjunction with this modern grocery store featuring the latest in lighting, air conditioning, etc., the Moreman Grocery and Frozen Foods modern meat market features the best in beef, pork and sandwich loaves; and the latest in new equipment has been installed to properly preserve these foods.

In the rear of the building one of the outstanding modern frozen food locker plants installed anywhere in the Southwest is awaiting your approval. This frozen food plant will save thousands of dollars for the people in Hedley and surrounding territory since it will afford them the opportunity of preserving food such as beef, vegetables, fruits, chicken, etc. that they may produce in this territory.

The lockers in this plant are gleaming white with black trim and it is easy to see that cleanliness predominates throughout the entire plant.

A special room has been constructed for sharpfreezing foods so that your food may be frozen immediately with a blast of cold air which tends to improve and preserve the quality of all foods. Adequate facilities have been installed for the proper chilling and ageing of meats brought into the plant. Immediately upon the arrival of a carcass of beef or pork, it will be placed on a modern track system and the handling of meat is cut to a minimum as it is moved easily into a modern chill room where all the animal heat is removed. From there it is rolled into the ageing room to remain until it is properly aged ready to be cut, wrapped and placed in lockers.

One of the outstanding features of this plant is the modern equipment installed for the processing of pork. All desired cuts may be cured in a special room where the proper temperature and humidity is maintained. After the meat is properly cured, the hams and bacon will be placed in the smokehouse giving you a finished product that will rival the best commercially cured meat.

Mr. Moreman especially invites every member of your household to visit his store Saturday, July 21. You will be carried through the entire store and every feature explained. Refreshments will be served to all guests.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to everyone concerned for their consideration and cooperation during the 16 months since the locker was first projected.

Your patience has been very much appreciated.

MOREMAN FAMILY HAS BEEN IN BUSINESS IN HEDLEY FOR 34 YEARS

Hedley's newest institution, the Moreman Locker System, is a direct descendant of Hedley's oldest business house, the Moreman Hardware. Founded by J. A. Johnson of Estelline in 1907, the hardware was purchased by T. R. Moreman on January 11, 1911. It was at that time located in a small frame building on the east side of Main Street, and contained $3,500.00 worth of stock.

During the same year C. B. Battle, now deceased, bought a partnership in the business, and in 1912 a larger building was erected on the west side of Main Street. The store was operated as Moreman and Battle until 1921, when Mr. Moreman purchased Mr. Battle's share in the business.

T. R. Moreman continued to operate the hardware until June, 1943, when failing health forced him to turn the management of the business over to his son, Ray, present owner of the Moreman Grocery and Locker and Moreman Hardware. Mr. Moreman passed away May 31, 1944.

In 1943 Ray installed a stock of groceries. The move enjoyed immediate success, and soon afterward Ray began planning a locker system for Hedley. The locker is now completed, some 16 months after plans were begun, and Ray's progressive ideas have resulted in a project of great benefit to the town and surrounding community.

WTU Home Economists To Assist At Locker Opening

Miss Eudora Hawkins and Miss Verna Westbrook, of the Home Service Dept. of the West Texas Utilities Co., will be at the opening of the Moreman Grocery and Locker Saturday to assist in explaining frozen food preservation to homemakers of this area.

A cache of canned goods frozen for 110 years has been found in northern Canada. The foods were reported still edible, according to the Locker Operator.

This company desires to compliment the citizens of Hedley and its surrounding trade territory on the confidence the Moreman Grocery and Locker Storage has shown in its future by installing as modern and efficient grocery and locker storage equipment as can be found in the entire Southwest.

Communities are built by the foresight of their citizens. The Moreman Grocery and Locker Storage Company is taking the lead for you in this vicinity.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. The kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.
Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wise. Do not neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

PSST— THAT'S YOU!

Were you ever startled by a fleeting glimpse of a face in a public mirror?... Then you looked again and sheepishly recognized your own reflection! It was the unfamiliar setting that fooled you.

Same way, you may not recognize yourself at first as having a financial stake in this company. But you probably do—directly or indirectly.

Directly if you hold some of our stock, like many other folks around the state—folks from all walks of life. Sixty per cent of all our stockholders reside in Texas.

Indirectly if you have a savings bank account or life insurance policy as most Americans do. Banks and insurance companies like to reinvest your savings in sound, business-managed electric companies. Some of your money is almost surely working for you here.

You'll be even more pleased with this new view of yourself as a part owner as well as a customer when you remember that your electric company has fought a winning fight throughout the war—to keep the price of your service down and the quality of your service up.

LUXURY FOODS EASILY CANNED AT HOME

As long as there is a war and for some time thereafter, luxury items in the food line will be scarce, costly or nonexistent. Commonplace items become luxuries when a nation suffers shortages of labor, machinery, trucks, and trains for producing and delivering nonessential material for civilian use.

But, we have the word of Gladys Kimbrough, editor of the famous Ball Blue Book of canning recipes, that no home pantry need be shy of a variety of luxury items, many of which are easily canned at home!

We agree with Miss Kimbrough when she says, "It is a shameful and unnecessary disappointment when one cannot find mushrooms for the sauce after saving up enough points for a steak." Of course, there is no point in being caught short on mushrooms, but remember you won't have any use for the steak if you go out and collect any and everything which might be a mushroom. Some of those toadstools are poisonous.

Home canned eggplant is delicious when seasoned with onion, pepper, butter and perhaps a dash of tomato sauce, the mixture blended with egg and bread crumbs and baked. Some of the crumbs should come out on top where they will brown nicely.

Miss Kimbrough does the eggplant dish and a similar one with home canned summer squash by rule of thumb. However, the recipe she gave us to put at the end of this story is very, very exact because home canning is not rule-of-thumb business. Those of you who like them and live near where they grow might as well have all the artichokes you want. Canning them is no trick at all when you have a good recipe and follow it.

Cranberries were reasonably plentiful in the market the week before last Thanksgiving Day—but did you try to find them a month later? Well, maybe this year you will remember that home canned cranberry sauce is just about the easiest of anything to can. What's more, it has a wonderful flavor and goes as well with chicken in May as with turkey in December.

Make Red Pepper Jam

Yes, we know this isn't cranberry season, but you need not wait that long if you have a yen for something tart, sweet and red to add a touch of glamour to an otherwise drab meal. That something is Red Pepper Jam. When you make it, be sure to use meaty red sweet peppers. Those with thin walls and bitter flavor will not serve the purpose.

Whether the item you plan to can is necessity or luxury, please, for your own sake, pay careful attention to the selection and use of jars. It is false economy to use anything but regular home canning jars. Most of those used by commercial packers are very thin and intended to be discarded when emptied. They must be light weight in order to keep down shipping cost. Compare the weight of a salad dressing jar with a milk bottle and you will see what we mean. A regular home canning jar doesn't need to be as heavy as a milk bottle because it does not receive such hard use but it must be heavy enough to stand up under home canning conditions.

It is smart to follow the manufacturer's instructions when using jars and caps. We mean the instructions packed with the jars and printed on the cap cartons—not those you have had five or ten years! Failure to heed this bit of advice explains why the old-time canner may fail and the beginner succeed when using war-time jars, caps and rubbers. But whether you are an old-timer or a newcomer, we believe you will like this recipe for canning eggplant, offered through courtesy of the copyright owner, Ball Brothers Company, Muncie, Indiana.

Use fresh, firm, tender eggplant. Wash eggplant clean, then peel, slice or cube. Soak 45 minutes in brine (1 tablespoon salt to 1 quart water). Drain. Boil 5 minutes in clear water. Pack into hot jars. Cover with boiling water. Process 50 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Baseball

The Hedley Baseball team won second place in the Lubbock American Legion Baseball tournament last week. Thursday they played Morton and defeated them by the score of 10 to 5. Johnny Everett pitched the first 6 innings, Sam Owens pitched the last three. They allowed 6 hits and struck out four batters each.

Friday they played Lubbock in the finals. Pepped up by a telegram from the Hedley Lions Club the boys went the game hitting good ball, but had to quit in the second inning. Everett had to pitch his second game in two days and Lubbock slow but surely forged ahead winning the game by the score of 14 to 5. Gibson did the catching for both games. The boys played exceptionally good ball, the infield and outfield only committing three errors in the two games.

Sunday they defeated the Samnorwood team there by the score of 14 to 7. Messer pitched for the boys.

Next Sunday they will play the strong Amarillo Furniture Company team here. This team is in third place in the Amarillo Junior G.O.D. Sox league. The game is called for 2:30. Come out and give the boys your support.

News From Our Men In Service

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Pfc. Jiggs Land of Hedley is a member of the 3rd Battalion of the 339th "Polar Bear" Regiment, which discovered a vast collection of priceless art treasures that had been taken by the Germans from all over Italy and hidden in a 15th Century castle in Italy.

The 339th, part of the 85th "Custer Division, fought as a unit of the Fifth Army.

Tank-mounted troops of the battalion entered the castle and found a number of large, sealed crates with German lettering on them.

Inspection of the crates revealed that they contained 350 pieces of art, paintings, sculptures, carvings, antiques, all properly tagged and in good condition.

There were works by Rembrandt, Rubens, Raphael, Michaelangelo, Botticelli, Holbein and Velasquez.

Pfc. Clifford S. Taylor is home on furlough visiting friends and relatives in Hedley and Clarendon. A member of the Timberwolf Division, he participated in the German campaigns and was awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Sgt. J. W. Luttrell has been posthumously awarded the Silver Star by direction of the President. The citation is as follows:

"For gallantry in action 22 August 1944 in—

As a member of a dismounted patrol making a reconnaissance of a bridge, Sgt. Luttrell voluntarily assumed the point.

Due to excellent enemy observation the approach to his objective was extremely hazardous, but Sgt. Luttrell accomplished this mission, returned, and directed the patrol to a position of cover within a few yards of the bridge.

To determine if the bridge was mined Sgt. Luttrell again voluntarily left cover and moved to a position for better observation. It was here an enemy sniper, concealed a few feet away, fatally wounded him.

Sgt. Luttrell's fearless disregard for his own safety and continued desire to give more than was asked of him upholds the finest tradition of the military service."

The decoration was presented to his mother, Cora Luttrell, at the Amarillo Army Air Field.

Mrs. Luttrell received the following letter from her son's commanding officer:

Dear Mrs. Luttrell: The news from the radio and press tells us that our fighting is finished in Europe. The Group of which your son was a member has withdrawn from combat and is engaged in taking stock of our accomplishments and our losses.

Your son belonged to a fighting unit, Mrs. Luttrell, with a history of battles all across France, Holland and Germany. His was no easy task. He could not sit back in a desk chair behind the lines. He was a combat soldier and a good one. He died facing the front and for the common cause.

As the Group Commander, I have taken it upon myself to write each next of kin to tell him how much I personally regret the loss of that boy. I knew most of our boys, and rather thought of them as a family. Every one we lost hurt me. I knew John and he was one of our finest. His many friends in the Group join me in

After sixteen months of planning and work, the Moreman Locker System has been completed, and will open for business Saturday, July 21. Everyone in this trade territory is invited to visit the store on that date and view one of the most modern and well equipped lockers in the Southwest.

We have been visiting the scene of operations since work first began, and while much of the time we did not understand the kind of work being done, yet it was evident even to a casual observer that a great deal of careful planning and painstaking work was necessary. We were told by a man who has done a great deal of locker work that the Moreman Locker System follows the correct specifications more closely than any other which he has seen.

And we do know that Ray Moreman has taken great pains to give the people of this community a locker plant of which they may be proud, and one which will be of great benefit to every family in the community.

But the most impressive thing to us is that the locker plant indicates a great deal of faith in the progress and prosperity of Hedley and its trade territory. We sincerely believe that this faith is justified, and that "the best town or its size in the Panhandle" will continue to merit that description.

The postoffice building is undergoing repairs, including a new coat of paint. However, probably the improvement most enjoyed by the people is a new fan.

Roxie's Cafe is looking much better with the new enlarged arrangement.

Smart Cover for an Old Sewing Machine

IF IT is necessary to keep an old-fashioned treadle machine in a bedroom, it may serve as a dressing table if attractively covered. In the dining room it may be double duty as a serving table. Here, it is shown in a living room. The full skirt matches curtains and slip covers, and the scalloped top repeats the covers of the stools that serve as lamp stands and the chair cover.

The difficult problem is to make the top of this type of machine level. This is done here with a removable top of plywood. Cleats are screwed to the under part of this top and the cover is attached to it. The whole thing may be lifted off easily when it is time to use the machine.

NOTE—The sewing machine cover is from BOOK 9 of the series of home-making booklets. This book also contains complete directions for the spool lamp shown here and for more than 30 other money-saving projects that will help you to keep your home attractive. Mouse Deer

Even Noah would be startled by the little mouse deer, also called the chevrotain. Tiny, almost infant-like in appearance, this species looks like mice, but adult specimens resemble goats as well as deer.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Japan Begins to Feel Full Weight Of Allied Air, Sea, Land Blows; Europe Warned of Food Shortage

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Juicy sides of beef, whole hogs, veal and lamb hang in the aging room of a quick freeze and food locker plant in Towson, Md., near Baltimore, while OPA investigators question locker holders about their meat supplies. The OPA reported that it was not satisfied with the explanations of holdings given by half of the group questioned to date.

JAPAN: Target for Onslaught

Japan's dwindling empire was given a thorough going over with bombs, warship strikes and offensives by American and Australian land forces. In an attack that carried American naval power almost within sight of Russian Siberia, a U. S. battle fleet made a surprise bombardment of the Japanese-held southern half of Sakhalin island in the Sea of Okhotsk. The Tokyo radio reported that American surface units had broken through the Kurile barrier and steamed more than 500 miles westward to attack Sakhalin. Tokyo likewise reported an American battle fleet threatening the northern coast of Japan.

Meanwhile the relentless air offensive snuffing out Japanese war production cities continued unabated. Climaxed by an hour-long radio challenge of American fighter planes circling three Tokyo airfields for battle, approximately 800 planes set off the latest fires and explosions in Japan. Fires in four Japanese cities burned so brightly they could be seen simultaneously by returning B-29 pilots. Everything from power houses to light houses was strafed. Six Tokyo air fields were riddled with bombs. Two Japanese destroyers were hit in the Yellow Sea.

Borneo Oil

On Borneo the coveted oil fields held by the Japs since early 1942 came closer into Allied hands. Destruction of well facilities by the Japs had been widespread, but engineers were prepared to work on repairs. Australian and American forces were co-operating in the liberation of this former Dutch holding. With Australian infantrymen battering at the last Jap footholds in Balikpapan, this major oil port was in Allied hands. Across the bay from the city, artillery had shelled strongly placed enemy guns. Meanwhile engineers had rushed reconstruction of the captured Sepingang air strip.

RUSS AID: For China Foreseen

To Japan the dread question of possible Russian participation in the Pacific war was heightened by the cordial reception Chinese Premier T. V. Soong received in Moscow on his official visit to the Soviet Union. Foreign diplomats in the Red capital reported that the Japanese mission there were highly nervous over the friendly relations evident between the Chinese and Russians. The Japs were the only diplomats who did not attend a sumptuous reception that Vacheslav Molotov, soviet foreign commissar, gave for Premier Soong.

Whether the Russ-Chinese meetings presaged future action by the Soviets against Japan continued to be a moot question, but reports were current that Soong might at least negotiate a mutual aid pact whereby Russia would undertake to supply Chinese armies without lending them direct military aid. In return it was assumed that China would make certain concessions to Russia—possibly granting a warm water naval base in the Liaotung peninsula of Manchuria and certain railway transportation rights through Manchuria.

CABINET CHANGES: Morgenthau No. 6

The resignation of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau marked the sixth member of President Truman's official family who has severed his ties with the cabinet. The five who preceded him were Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Postmaster General Frank Walker, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, Attorney-General Francis Biddle and Secretary of State Edward Stettinius. Successors to all five have assumed their offices. Secretary Morgenthau's resignation was accompanied almost simultaneously by the resignation of Associate Justice Owen D. Roberts from the Supreme court. This was the first resignation from the high tribunal in President Truman's term, but unlike those of the cabinet, it was not expected to set a precedent for others.

Justice Roberts, appointed by President Hoover had served 15 years on the Supreme court. One of his most notable public services was performed as head of the committee that investigated the Pearl Harbor disaster.

PHILIPPINES: Springboard for Tokyo

In one of the proudest moments of his thrill-studded career, Gen. Douglas MacArthur proclaimed that the Philippine Islands had been won back "in the greatest disaster ever sustained by Japanese arms." The coughty American commander announced that the islands' 115,600 square miles are being transformed into bases "comparable to the British Islands" to pace the march on Tokyo.

The saga of the Philippines triumph disclosed that in 250 days of campaigning, 17 American divisions defeated 23 Jap divisions in "one of the rare instances when... a ground force superior in numbers was entirely destroyed by a numerically inferior opponent."

It was estimated that 420,000 Japanese were slaughtered, including such hated outfits as the 16th Imperial division which had tortured American and Filipino prisoners in the "Death March" of 1942 following the fall of Bataan.

FOOD: Europe Must Speed Output

A blunt warning to the liberated nations of Western Europe to speed up their own food production because relief shipments from abroad may fall short of expectation has been delivered, according to Dennis A. Fitzgerald, United States deputy on the combined food board.

Officials of the nations involved have been told that "they'd better start pulling themselves up by their own bootstraps and use every conceivable device to increase their production," Fitzgerald disclosed. Liberated countries have been assured that vigorous efforts are being made to give them all assistance possible, he said, but they have also been reminded that the United States "still has a full-sized war in the Pacific" which will get first call on our own food stocks.

By far the largest share of relief shipments to Europe will be composed of wheat and flour, Fitzgerald reported. Approximately 650,000 bushels of wheat are expected to go out from the U. S. and Canada.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING: Governors Hear Plans

Pleas for support of a system of universal military training after the war were made to the 37th annual governors' conference at Mackinac island by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Adm. Ernest King, chief of the U. S. fleet. Meeting with the state executives to report on the progress of the war on Japan, the top leaders of the army and navy pictured universal military training as essential to the future safety of the United States.

The two chieftains warned that if there should be another world war, it would come swiftly, without time or opportunity to train a large army. Maintenance of a strong national guard with a large reserve maintained through universal training would keep the United States prepared, they declared, without the necessity of a large standing army.

ATLANTIC AIR: O. K'd for Three Lines

Certificates authorizing the operation of air transportation routes across the North Atlantic were issued to three United States air carriers by the Civil Aeronautics board. The companies are Pan-American Airways, Inc., Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and the American Air Lines, Inc. Terminal points designated by the board include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and Detroit.

The certificates authorizing the new services were limited to a term of seven years "in order that the operations thereunder, after a reasonable period, may be reviewed." The action of the Civil Aeronautics board was approved by President Truman.

BERLIN: G.I.s Take Over Area

As Maj. Gen. Nikolai N. Barinov, soviet commander in Berlin, formally turned the American occupation zone in the German capital over to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the American flag was raised over the Adolf Hitler barracks. A 4,000 vehicle convoy brought the American forces from Halle to the Zehlendorf area of war battered Berlin which will comprise the U. S. zone of occupation. American veterans of World War II entered the former Nazi stronghold as conquerors, returning the smart salutes of Red army traffic police.

For the duration of the occupation of the Reich by Allied armies, Berlin was to be jointly in the hands of the Russians, the Americans and the British. The British generally will control the northwest area of the city, including the localities of Charlottenburg and Wilmsdorf.

WAR PRODUCTION: 96,359 Planes

A forecast of the enormous American industrial capacity for postwar years was given by J. A. Krug, War Production board chairman, in a review of production results by war plants since the summer of 1943.

The United States produced 45 per cent of the world's munitions in 1944, Mr. Krug's report disclosed. "In 1944 the country produced 96,359 airplanes, including 16,048 heavy bombers, built 30,889 ships, 17,568 tanks, 595,330 army trucks, and produced 3,284 heavy field guns and howitzers and 7,454 light ones, 152,000 army aircraft rocket launchers, 215,177 bazookas and 1,146,774 tons of ground artillery ammunition," the report declared.

STARVATION STATION: Discovered in Bavaria

The grisly discovery of a Nazi "scientific starvation" station which was claiming children and adult victims until recently was reported by two public health officials of the American Military government in Bavaria. The arrest of 4 German doctors and 3 hospital attendants at the station in the Kadzfeuren area, 45 miles southeast of Munich, preceded the announcement. One woman confessed killing 211 children for which she drew extra compensation, the announcement said.

LEGION: Backs U. N. Charter

Full support of the 1,600,000 members of the American Legion, including veterans of both World wars was pledged to the United Nations charter when National Commander Edward Schieberling urged the senate to ratify the pact.

Schieberling set forth his views in a letter to all members of the senate. "The American Legion feels that the San Francisco charter is an honest and able attempt to create a workable association of free and sovereign nations," the letter declared, "implemented with force to maintain peace and prevent recurrence of war. It is obvious that it is the best and only charter that can be produced at this time."

NAVAL LOSSES

The loss of two American destroyers and one submarine was reported by the navy department. The destroyers were the William D. Porter and the Twigg. Jap aerial attacks sank the destroyers off Okinawa six days apart, the navy reported. Casualties totaled 244. Of these, 183 were suffered by the Twigg in a surprise attack that blew off the ship's bow. Sixty-one wounded comprised the entire casualty list of the Porter, hit by an enemy suicide dive bomber.

SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

Although rubber is ordinarily considered non-conductive, B. F. Goodrich has perfected an electrically conductive rubber used in the form of a "shear" for de-icing airplane propellers. Bating suits that won't get wet even when the wearer goes in swimming are a good possibility. The waterproof bathing suits are coated with E. F. Goodrich Koroseal. "Bullet-proof" tires are so designed that a punctured tire can be run for 40 miles before it is ruined. Almost every modern weapon has some rubber in it.

Words Without Music:

The Warner Brothers' film biog of George Gershwin reminds of several musical oddities which should be new to most of us. For example, the origin of "Yankee Doodle"... During the French and Indian War in 1755, a ragged army was camped on the Hudson, a little south of Albany. The militia was so pitiful an Englishman named Shuckberg just for giggles revived a ditty tagged "Yankee Doodle," which was whistled in Cromwell's time... He passed the tune off as a celebrated European martial air, scribbling some double-talk lyrics for it... The gag was on him. Two decades later, a tiny American army won its independence from Britain to the tune of "Yankee Doodle!"

Four hundred thousand juke-boxes will go overseas to keep our men entertained with the latest recordings... C. Porter's "Begin the Beguine" and "Night and Day" are still printed in lots of 100,000. Known as "popular standards" in the music biz... Otto Harbach is doing a musical play named "Meet Miss April"... Four hundred million recordings were sold this year... They say 100 new recording firms have popped up... "Rose of No Man's Land" (which sold 5,000,000 copies) and "Till We Meet Again" (which sold 6,000,000) were the biggest song hits of World War I. All the ditties of this war haven't equalled the sale of any of the above standouts.

Mention of "Yankee Doodle" above recalls that an American gratefully returned the British favor in another war over a century later... Most of us know "Keep the Home Fires Burning" was probably the most popular of English songs during World War I... Ivor Novello, English actor, created its lyrics, of course. But a little known fact is that Lena Guilbert Ford composed its melody, reportedly in 10 minutes after Novello had excitedly read her its words via the phone... Miss Ford was killed in 1918 in a German air raid over London. She was an American, born in Elmira, N. Y.

Speaking of the Gershwin flicker, here is how wrong some critics can be... This is what the concert appraiser of the N. Y. Herald Tribune (Lawrence Gilman) had to say of the now-famed "Rhapsody in Blue" when Paul Whiteman premiered it here: "Most ambitious piece on yesterday's program was the 'Rhapsody in Blue' of Mr. Gershwin. Weep over the complete lifelessness of its melody and harmony—so derivative, so stale, so inexpressive!"

Only one Gershwin tune was ever network-banned. That was the ditty tagged "Nice Work If You Can Get It." The air censors decided its lyrics were a bit too risqué... Cole Porter's "Love for Sale" from the "New Yorkers" had the same trouble... Jimmy Walker did his unsuccessful best to get them radio airings.

The first blues song, according to authority Isaac Goldberg, was performed in New York on May 29, 1769... Then a comic opera tagged "The Paddock" premiered in a theatre in Gotham. It was an adaptation of a diversion written by Charles Dibdin and first performed at the Drury Lane Theatre in London. Lewis Hallam, playing the part of a West Indian slave, had this for the punchline of his big musical number: "Me wish to de Lord me was dead!"

In the Warner film, there is a scene demonstrating how Al Jolson inserts Gershwin's "Swanee" in "Sinbad" at the Winter Garden... Old-timers in show biz will pardon the dramatic liberty. First time "Swanee" was heard on B'way was in the initial show opening the Capitol Theatre on the Stem... Jolson later interpolated it in his show... This is not the first time a hit song was pushed into a Broadway production and made a smash of the opus. Some years ago a show called "The Girl Behind the Counter" was playing to moderate houses at the Herald Square Theatre... One night the management inserted a Paul Lincke tune tagged "Glow Worm." Next day the song and the show were the talk of the town... Another time, a Reginald de Koven opus was playing the Standard Theatre at 34th St. Business was off, so a new song was written into the production. It carried the show successfully through the season—"Oh, Promise Me!"

General Grant and a regiment of his men were marching through a northern town and were greeted by the shouting and cheering of mobs. "Who are those people?" asked a junior officer. "Those are the people who aren't going," answered Grant.

Then there's Stripteaser Betty Rowland of Hollywood, who put so much heart into her work that she bumped one of her swivel-hips against a wall and took off for the hospital, partially paralyzed.

Behind Your Bonds

Lies the Might of America

INDIANA'S MINERALS

Indiana might not be expected to add mineral assets to the Government resources that will stand behind the War Bonds we buy yet that state produces $107,000,000 worth of coal, clay products, lime, peat and petroleum each year. Vast supplies of rock wool to insulate buildings will be made from the marlstone still imbedded under the limestone in Lawrence county. Thousands of employees probably will be added by these industries when the war ends and output will soar to assure income to Indiana and the Nation whose shareholders are the buyers of War Bonds. U.
