SNAPPY FACTS about RUBBER

A new rubber compound called "Plastilock" for binding metals, woods, plastics...

Latex foam made of synthetic rubber can now be used in the manufacture of mattresses and other cushioning material.

The goal of the rubber industry a few decades ago was a tire that would run 25,000 miles. Now it's not unusual for a passenger tire to run ten times that far.

Some of the first synthetic tires built in early war days lasted only fifty miles. Mileage of present synthetic tires compares favorably with natural rubber tires.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. Code Interceptions Bared Jap War Plans; Attlee Outlines Labor Party Economic Program

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

As joint U. S.-British commission studies Palestine problem, Jewish youth parade in Jerusalem in protest against restriction of immigration into Holy Land.

PEARL HARBOR: Code Secrets

As the Pearl Harbor investigation got underway at Washington, D. C., before a joint 10-man congressional committee, intercepted messages placed in the records disclosed that U. S. intelligence officers had cracked the secret Japanese code a year before the start of the war.

While the early intercepted messages dealt with ship movements, chief interest centered in the diplomatic documents dating from July 2, 1941, when Tokyo told Berlin that Japan would work for its "greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere" regardless of the world situation.

On November 22, Tokyo advised Nomura and Kurusu, Jap envoys negotiating in Washington with Secretary of State Hull, that it had been decided to set November 29 as the final date for effecting an agreement, after which things would "automatically... happen" in case of failure.

On November 30, Tokyo informed Berlin of the imminence of war with the U. S. and later relayed the same message to Rome. Meanwhile, Tokyo warned its consulates on December 3 to be on guard for the "winds" messages in short wave radio broadcasts indicating rupture of relations with the Allies.

Among the last messages decoded were Tokyo's reply to Hull's ultimatum on December 6, with final instructions for presentation to the U. S. at 1 p. m. the following day coming in on the morning of December 7. Dated December 7, a Jap message from Budapest, Hungary, to Tokyo stated that the American minister to that country had presented its government with a communique from the British that a state of war would break out on the seventh.

BIG TALK: Reassures U. S.

In the nation's capital to discuss disposition of the horrific atom bomb and touchy international questions, British Prime Minister Attlee also found time to address congress and outline the democratic objectives of his labor party just as negotiations for a multi-billion dollar loan from the U. S. were materializing.

Aimed at helping Britain get its export-import trade functioning again and lighten the load of six billion dollars of debts to wartime creditors, the projected multi-billion dollar advance was attacked in some circles as an aid to the labor party in socializing the United Kingdom. In addressing congress, Attlee declared that British businesses were only to be nationalized when they had grown into monopolies detrimental to the economy.

No radical in speech or appearance, the short, mild-mannered, mustached British leader described the labor party as a representative cross-section of liberal English society, with professional and business men, and even aristocrats, joining with the working classes in its membership.

In determining to retain the secret of the know-how of harnessing the atom, President Truman and Attlee declared that until effective safeguards were set up against its destructive use, no advantage would come from sharing its use.

To work out such safeguards permitting exchange of vital information on atomic energy for industrial purposes, the Big Two recommended the creation of a United Nations commission.

As revealed by Foreign Minister Bevin in the house of commons recently, Britain has expressed deep concern over Russian demands for trusteeship of Eritrea and Tripoli in the Near East, and establishment of a naval base in the Dodecanese islands, inasmuch as these territories lie athwart the famed "life-line" of the empire through the Mediterranean and Suez canal.

Coincident with Attlee's visit to Washington was the U. S. and British announcement that a joint commission of the two countries would undertake a study of the ticklish Jewish immigration question with a view toward easing the plight of European refugees.

Pressing importance of the issue was emphasized by continued Arab and Jewish riots in the Near East, with scores killed and wounded in widespread demonstrations over the question of making Palestine a national homeland for the Hebrews.

Because they have been banded into a league 33 million strong spread over the entire Near East, with control over rich oil deposits cherished by U. S. and British concerns, the Arabs have greatly complicated settlement of the Palestine issue in view of their stubborn opposition to large-scale Jewish immigration.

Taking the Arab objections into consideration, the joint U. S. and British commission will look into the question of whether heavy immigration would upset the Arabs' political and economic position in Palestine. Consideration also was to be given to providing remedial action in Europe itself and allowing immigration to other countries.

JAPAN: Seek Trade

As the question of reconstituting the Japanese economy arose, Nipponese officials drew a pattern for the nation's future trade relations with the world by recommending a barter system to facilitate immediate imports of needed foodstuffs and raw materials. Under terms of surrender, Japan will not be permitted to produce some of the items formerly exported.

Under the Japanese proposal for the resumption of trade, Nippon would receive substantial amounts of food, salt, cotton, copra, coal, iron ore and non-ferrous metals, in exchange for gold, diamonds, silk, cotton goods, chemical products, medical supplies, machinery, hardware, and tin.

The problem of recreating the Japanese economy was pointed up by revelation that the country had been the sixth biggest prewar exporter, shipping out almost a billion dollars worth of goods each year. Of the total amount, China obtained the largest part, with the U. S. and India following.

Of the total amount, China obtained 27.2 per cent; the U. S., 18.2 per cent; India, 6.2 per cent; Great Britain, 3.7 per cent; Latin America, 3 per cent; Australia, 2 per cent, and Germany 0.7 per cent. Other European and Asiatic countries took 2.1 and 3.1 per cent of the remainder of exports respectively.

Predict Another Full Larder for U. S.

Total food available for civilians in 1946 will be considerably greater than in 1945 with average food consumption per capita expected to be larger than in 1945, the department of agriculture reported. All foods, however, will not be equally plentiful, with pork, the better grades of beef and veal, fats, oils and sugar in shorter supply.

Most of the expected improvement in civilian food supplies next year stems from the sharp cutback in military food requirements, which will drop to one-third or even one-quarter of the 1945 level. Exports and shipments of food in 1946 will continue large, assuming that satisfactory financial arrangements are completed. The greater part of these exports will move in the early months of the year, mainly to the United Kingdom and the liberated areas of Europe.

FOOD:

Europe's Need

As congress wrangled over appropriation of $550,000,000 to complete the original government pledge of $1,350,000,000 to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, and President Truman asked for another $1,350,000,000 for the agency, UNRRA officials abroad estimated that liberated European countries would need 9,000,000 tons of foodstuffs this winter to avoid starvation and serious malnutrition.

Because of interruptions in farming caused by the war and drought, European agriculture will be able to furnish metropolitan districts with food assuring a daily intake of only 1,200 calories, UNRRA said. Though receipt of 9,000,000 tons of food would boost this figure to 2,000 calories, the diet still would fall below standard nutritional requirements.

Investigations in Czechoslovakia, Greece, Italy, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Yugoslavia and Norway revealed that there was a pressing need for food to help rebuild the cattle and dairy industries, seriously depleted by butchering of conquering armies and the diversion of grains to human consumption. Having already shipped 2,400 cows to southern and eastern Europe, UNRRA plans additional substantial monthly deliveries through the winter.

Meanwhile, American grain markets boomed upon the prospect of heavy demand in the coming months, with cash and December rye a sensational leader on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Cash rye held a substantial margin over cash wheat, what with distillers scrambling for the grain in view of a shortage of corn and sorghum, while the December future soared to almost $1.90 a bushel, topping December wheat for the first time since 1921.

Another bullish factor in the market was an estimated drop of 287,000,000 bushels in the 1944 rye crop in Europe where the grain is an important bread staple, and smaller supplies in both the U. S. and Canada.

Because of the slowness in delivery of grain to coastal ports, many experts feared exports in the early half of 1946 might fall below expectations. Railroads clamped on emergency demurrage charges in an effort to speed up unloading of box cars to ease the situation.

'Sonny' Sets Fast Pace

To the question of what makes Ellsworth ('Sonny') Wiscarver, 16, so irresistible to women older than him, Mrs. Eleanor Deveny, 24, who figured in his latest romantic interlude, mused: "Dream man—ideal companion—Perfect lover."

Mother of two children and wife of an army corporal serving in Japan, Mrs. Deveny eloped with 'Sonny' following a meeting at the home of a mutual friend.

Mrs. Deveny and 'Sonny.'

Two years ago, Mrs. Elaine Monfredi, 22, and also the mother of two children, ran off with young Wiscarver in his first amorous episode.

In elaborating on 'Sonny's' attributes, Mrs. Deveny asserted: "I'd like to take care of him the rest of my life... He's good, considerate and older than his years. She would not return to her husband, she said."

CHINA: Friendly Enemies

Once deadly enemies, Chinese nationalists and Japanese troops have become brothers in arms in northern China, where Nipponese forces have been employed by the central government for the protection of vital territory and railroads against communist attack.

While the Japanese actively aided the nationalists in their drive to secure a foothold in the north, U. S. marines kept their distance in the bloody strife between Chiang Kai-shek's troops and the Reds, being ordered only to guard American lives and property in the battle zone. Meanwhile, the nationalists pressed their advantage with lend-lease supplies originally destined for use against the Japanese.

Though fighting raged throughout the whole northern area, attention was riveted on nationalist attempts to smash into the industrial province of Manchuria, which the communists reportedly planned to convert into a military stronghold. Early fighting centered around Shanhai-kwan, gateway city to Manchuria lying at the eastern end of the Great Wall.

G.I. INSURANCE?

Too much high pressure on draftees when they took out government life insurance on entering the service and not enough salesman-ship now to get them to keep it after discharge, are the main reasons why three out of four veterans are lapsing their insurance, according to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

World War II service insurance is less flexible and carries fewer privileges than government insurance for veterans of World War I.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become overtaxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

"Fruit coffee cake waves a magic wand over the party table when friends drop in of an afternoon,
writes the Country Cooking Editor of Capper's Farmer.

"Made of ordinary quick-bread
dough, it's glamorized with raisins, nuts and spices," she writes.
"Serve it at any meal for the family's delight. A thin icing puts it in the dessert class at lunch or dinner."

Fruit Coffee Cake.

1/2 c. raisins	1 tsp. flour
1/2 c. water	1 egg
1 tsp. lemon juice	1/2 c. milk
Ground cloves	1/2 c. flour
Ground cinnamon	1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 c. shortening	1/2 c. sugar

Combine seedless raisins and water. Bring to a boil and cook for two minutes. Gradually add 1 tsp. flour to mixture, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add lemon juice and a dash of cloves and cinnamon. Cool.
Combine raisin mixture, lightly beaten egg and milk. Sift all-purpose flour, baking powder and sugar together. Work in shortening so particles are approximately the size of a small pea. Pour liquid mixture into middle of dry ingredients; stir
two together just enough to mix well. Spoon into greased tube pan.

POST-WAR FLYING IN YOUR HOME TOWN

Eldon's Model Airpark

Now, a good deal of the guess-work is to be removed from decisions upon the relative advantages and costs of local airpark construction.

A model airpark is being built in a typical small community, Eldon, Missouri, population 2,500. The idea was conceived by Eugene V.
Fryhoff, in charge of the aviation section of the Missouri State Department of Resources and Development. Planned as a public improvement, the citizens of Eldon, led by their energetic and progressive mayor, Robert Reed, and his far-seeing associates, expect their air-park to pay dividends in attracting equipment, ground marking aids,

and communication equipment are planned. Future improvements in lighting equipment and surfacing material for runways and taxi strips are also projected and these and other facility improvements will be tried out from time to time.

The model airpark at Eldon has been endorsed by three national aviation organizations: the National Aeronautic Association; the National Aviation Trades Association; and the Personal Aircraft Council of the Aircraft Industries Association of America

"Vote Yes, Scratch No and Watch Eldon Grow" was the slogan that put over $25,000 worth of Model Air-

MODEL AIRPARK being constructed at Eldon, Mo. Two turf flight strips 300'x2,000' and 300'x2,300'. Estimated cost to Eldon citizens, $25,000, including Service Building. This does not include hangar buildings, shown in sketch. The airpark is five blocks from the business district.

new enterprises and aiding in general the substantial growth of their city.

Interest in its development, however, is not confined to the immediate locality or even to the state in which it is to be established. For Eldon Airpark is to be a model from which communities in all parts of the country can obtain basic knowledge of airpark site selection, construction cost and operation.

At Eldon, an ideal airpark site was located only five blocks from the business district. Within a short time after the plans were laid, an educational plan to acquaint residents with all details was conducted. As a result, the civic-minded people of the community voted in a ratio of nine to one in favor of an airpark bond issue of $25,000. Eldon officials have agreed to keep complete, accurate records of all transactions regarding the development.

Airpark equipment research is to continue for at least five years. Permanent exhibits of hangars, fueling park Bonds. Newspaper articles, advertising sponsored by most of the leading citizens and merchants of the town and the Lake of the Ozarks resort owners nearby; letters written home by local men in various branches of the armed services; a personal canvass of taxpayers to whom a full explanation of the project was made, and placards placed in most of the local business establishments were all effective in promoting the bonds.

Election day found a sound truck reminding people to vote for the installation with such slogans as "Vote Yes for Progress"; "Put Eldon on the Air Map"; "A live town grows, a weak town dies"; etc.

Later a news commentator on a New York City radio told listeners:
"Little Eldon, Missouri, population
2,500, shows big New York, population umpteen millions, how to get an airpark."

This is the seventh of a series of articles on post-war flying and its effect on community life. The next article, "National Groups Aid in Airpark Planning," will appear in an early issue.

"Now the Victory's Won"

I Promise...

"... My help in keeping the money end of this peace business sound.

"... That I'll go slow on extra spending until the things I want become more plentiful and prices are right.

"... That I'll work up my bank balance a little each year. Someday this ready cash may come in handy for a first payment on a home, to educate the children, or to help establish my credit if I need to borrow at the bank.

"... That I'll buy more of my country's Bonds and hang on to the Bonds I own. They are a reserve fund for me and my wife.

"... That I'm going to stick to this plan as long as it's humanly possible—for the good of myself, my family, and also for the good of my America."

Makes sense for all of us, doesn't it?
