The driver who killed himself and also the driver of another car in this shambles had stubbornly persisted in driving when he was fatigued after too many hours on the road. As his car came over the bridge, his weary brain blanked out for a split second, his hands relaxed on the wheel. His car grazed the bridge abutment, skidding across the road, and crashed into an approaching automobile. Motorists for their own safety, and for the sake of others on the road, have no right to drive when overtired. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists advise: don't wait until you are tired; pull off the road at intervals; drink a cup of coffee, take a few moments' rest.

British Economy Faces Disaster; Russia Vetoes Balkan Proposal; Hughes Investigation Shapes Up

THE KALEIDOSCOPE

Economic Picture Develops

Like a kaleidoscope in which several apparently unrelated chips of glass shift suddenly from a meaningless jumble of color into an understandable pattern, so at least some of the whirling segments of the world's intricate economy have begun dropping into place to form a coherent unit.

For masses of Americans, to whom economics could be boiled down into a matter of "you either have it or don't have it," the international hysteria of monies, credits, loans, spending, inflation at home and crises abroad began to take on some meaning.

Within a matter of hours came a sudden spate of developments, starting in England and ending up on virtually every farm in America. Having no discernible connection on the surface, each fresh turn of events was linked inexorably with preceding occurrences. To philosophers, as well as economists, it was a perfect chain of causes and effects.

This is how it began:

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the British imperial general staff, suddenly was called home from a tour of the Far East.

Montgomery returned to Great Britain to advise the government concerning drastic curtailment of the nation's military establishment, cost of which (3.6 billion dollars a year) could no longer be borne by the threadbare British economy.

In London, Labor government officials, no longer able to stave off a frank admission, told the world that England's plight was desperate, that the tight little island on the sharp brink of ruin, Prime Minister Clement Attlee, assailed with charges of "bungling" and "failure to act," nevertheless was given a vote of confidence when he sketched out a plan which would have British miners work an extra hour each day to increase England's coal production, key pillar in its economic structure.

The British crisis was born out of four factors: Shortage of American dollars (the U. S. loan will have been used up by Christmas); shortage of coal (not enough to permit industries to operate and re-build stockpiles); shortage of manpower, and inflation.

Morally weakened under the threat of domestic political and economic crises, the London stock market broke swiftly, as sharp selling hit all sections.

And, although U. S. state department observers scoffed at the idea that developments in England had produced a reaction over here, it appeared to be something more than coincidence that:

Shortly after London stocks broke, wheat prices on the Chicago board of trade showed losses of nine to nine and one-fourth cents a bushel, while corn and oats dropped off from three to four cents. Industrial stocks also receded somewhat on the New York stock exchange.

At the same time, it became apparent that the U. S. government, faced with high prices of grain and food and continued shortages abroad, would issue a call for another big wheat crop this year instead of reducing wheat production goals as was planned previously.

As the picture began to take shape, the dominating motif appeared to be economic insecurity.

QUICKSAND:

Brewster Stuck

For Sen. Owen Brewster (Rep., Me.) the Howard Hughes war contract investigation was swiftly becoming a dangerous stretch of quicksand in which he was sinking up to his senatorial armpits.

Himself a member of the senate war investigating committee, Brewster was caught squarely in the whirlwind of the investigation when Hughes made public a charge that Brewster had offered to squelch the inquiry last February if Hughes would agree to merge his Trans-World airline with Juan Trippe's Pan American World Airways. Hughes used the term "blackmail."

It was a startling turn of events that raised the 40 million dollar war contract investigation from a comic opera scene to the level of serious drama on a national scale.

Moreover, the development stripped some of the hocus-focus from the proceedings and revealed what probably was the motivating force behind the whole affair: The long-standing, bitter, undercover struggle between American air transport companies as to who should hold the chief monopoly on international air lines.

Heart of the issue is Pan American's stand that, as pioneer of international air routes, it should be granted a monopoly as the single American flagship on present overseas air lines. Washington split into two factions on the question—one side advocating the single air line plan, the other favoring retention of the present system whereby different lines serve different international areas.

Senator Brewster has long been on record as a supporter of the "single flagship" theory; but whether or not he has any material connection with Pan American, no one, for the time being, cared to say.

Eleventh Veto: Eleventh Hour

Russia used her veto for the 11th time in the United Nations security council, giving the back of her hand to an American plan to keep peace in the Balkans, thereby precipitating the council into what the United States termed "a very grave situation."

Branded by U. S. deputy delegate Herschel Johnson as "a simple abuse of power," the veto killed a majority-approved scheme for the re-establishment of amicable relations between Greece and her northern neighbors, Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, with provision for a U. N. commission of all 11 security council members to keep a parental eye on the frontier area.

In the council's final vote on the U. S. proposal, Russia and Poland lined up against the other nine members, producing the immediate effect of leaving U. N. at least temporarily impotent in the matter of settling the current strife between Greece and the Soviet-dominated nations to her north.

Although stunned by the suddenness of the Russian veto, which came as a shock to the entire council, Johnson declared that the United States would not drop the contest "by default," but would return with another attempt to dispose of the problem.

The original U. S. plan presented before the United Nations group grew out of a report on the Balkan situation submitted by security council's Balkan investigating commission.

Charmed, He's Sure

Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, plants a Gallic token of esteem on the hand of Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the Argentine president, after a ceremony during which a new commercial accord between France and Argentina was signed. Looking on in the center is Julio Roca, Argentine ambassador.

More Meat—Maybes

American housewives will find meat cheaper and more plentiful this fall—"unless the policy of shipping large quantities abroad is continued," according to a recent forecast by a house agriculture subcommittee, which currently is investigating food shortages.

The report said meat supplies should increase by 15 per cent in the fall and winter months if the export program does not interfere.

U.N. L...

It was a matter of regret, the Dutch government said, that the matter of the Dutch-Indonesian fracas was being brought before the United Nations security council.

To a few million other observers, it was not so much a matter of regret as it was a surprise. U. N., it seemed, was even then overdue in its action.

Australia and India laid the problem before the council, where it immediately began to vie with the Balkan issue for priority of debate.

Although the Australian and Indian delegations told the council that the strife between Dutch and Indonesian forces threatened world

COMPLICATIONS

Despite formal U. N. action, the United States and Great Britain were expected to seek mediation or negotiation of the Indonesian conflict outside the United Nations, not wishing to embarrass the Dutch, who have been staunch supporters of Anglo-American policy in Europe. On the other hand, the Dutch have stated pointedly that they will not accept mediation from an outside country.

peace, a Dutch spokesman in Washington said U. N. had no jurisdiction.

Netherlands authorities insist on terming the struggle a Dutch "police action," designed to control rebellious Indonesians who hate to wait until 1949 to attain their independence as a sovereign state. The Indonesians, however, say that the Dutch are waging a colonial war and that it looks like imperialism to them.

In the meantime, fighting continued, with Netherlands forces apparently gaining the upper hand in Java and Sumatra.

WISDOM:

No Exchange

Latest development in American-Russian relations sounded like a cloud falling on the coffin of enlightenment.

Most thinking persons agree that one of the vital steps toward peaceful intercourse between nations could be, under the right circumstances, a free interchange of students, scholars, professors and other cultural personnel for the mutual advance of knowledge.

But now the U. S. state department, which has been working quietly for two years on just such a project for Russia and this nation, has abandoned its plans toward that end. Reason: A recent Soviet decree forbidding Russian citizens to give out information under penalty of 20 years imprisonment.

Officials said the provisions of the order are so broad as to indicate unmistakably that the Russian government actually does not want to participate in any reciprocal exchange of scholars.

Score one for the dark ages.

A Lamb of a Duck

Kathy Hillbert of Upper Darby, Pa., received this duck, "Honey," as an Easter gift two years ago. Now it follows her around like Mary's lamb, and even reads comic books with her—showing a decided preference for Donald Duck, naturally.

GIVE AND TAKE:

Politicking

Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who is nothing if not anti-Dewey, launched another barrage at the New York governor with presidential aspirations by declaring that Dewey "has not been meeting the issues thus far."

Stassen said he felt that the Republican party "must take definite positions on the specific important issues confronting the people." A few days previously, the Minnesotan had definitely outlined his own personal stand with the statement that he assuredly would not run as vice-president on a Dewey ticket.

BOX CARS:

Not Enough

More than half of the present box cars plying the country's rail lines have outlived their usefulness, a spokesman for the Railway Car Institute revealed in emphasizing a critical railway box car shortage. Although the industry told a congressional committee last February that 10,000 cars a month could be turned out by July if sufficient steel and other necessary materials were obtainable, actually builders now are producing only 5,000.

Crafty Hornbill Cements in His Mate at Hatching Time

The hornbill of South Africa is a master at dealing with the "deadlier of the species." This crafty bird chooses a hollow tree for his nest; when the female starts to lay her eggs the male quickly seals her in the cavity with mud, leaving an opening only large enough to insert his beak in order to bring food to her.

Thereafter he does not have to worry about the female brooding the eggs, or any philandering on her part, until after the young are old enough to fly. Then he tears away the cement and liberates his captive.

All Ages Thrive on Purees

Home-canned purees are excellent items to have on hand in your pantry. They're nourishing foods for infants and everyone finds them delicious served up in cream soups and souffles. A puree may be made from green peas, asparagus, lima beans, or spinach, etc. Select fresh vegetables and prepare as for cooking. Steam until soft or cook in the smallest possible amount of water.

Press through a fine sieve. Add boiling water, if necessary, to make the puree about the consistency of thick cream. Do not salt purees intended for infant feeding. Use one teaspoon salt to each quart of puree to be used by adults. Reheat to boiling and pour into hot Ball jars. Process quart jars 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure, half-pint jars 50 minutes at the same amount of pressure.

Home Canning Gives You
A Ready-to-Serve Desert

In search of an always ready-to-serve dessert? Then have canned baked apples in your pantry! The Ball Blue Book of home canning contains a recipe for canned baked apples that you're bound to thank your lucky star for following. Wash and core apples. Fill cavities with sugar to which a little cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg or ginger has been added. Eeke in small amount of water, just enough to prevent sticking. When apples are tender, pack them into hot jars. Cover with hot sirup made of equal parts of sugar and water or with water and honey. Process 15 minutes in hot water bath.

And while you're working with apples, don't forget apple jelly. Tart apples, alone or combined with other fruits are old standbys for jelly. If you have a supply of canned, unsweetened apple juice, you are all set to make jelly throughout the winter.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

Have an Eating Treat With a Barbecue!
(See recipe below.)

Barbecue Fun

Before the crisp, cool weather comes, treat yourself to one of those grand outdoor meals—a barbecue! There's no food like that cooked outdoors for real, honest-to-goodness flavor and marvelous eating.

There's nothing so relaxing, either, as eating outdoors, for most of the preparation comes ahead of time. Then, too, though you have to bribe and beg everyone to help in the kitchen, no one wants to be left out of the preparation when it comes to cooking out of doors.

Perhaps you have a barbecue unit to use for cooking; or maybe you just build a fire in the old make-shift brick oven in the back yard. Whatever you have, it will be good if you make the fire well in advance, and then let it burn down to glowing coals before you start cooking. That's the secret.

You have a choice of many kinds of meat—juicy hamburgers, plump weiners, steaks or ribs. But do have a good sauce to go with them. Or, let the folks have kabobs—everyone will enjoy roasting his own.

Barbecued Ribs.
(Serves 6)

- 3 to 4 pound ribs, cut in pieces
- 1 lemon
- 1 large onion
- 1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 to 3 dashes tabasco sauce
- 2 cups water
- 1/4 cup chili sauce

Place a piece of lemon and onion on each rib. Mix remaining ingredients together; heat to boiling and then brush sauce over the ribs. Broil slowly on outdoor grill and brush frequently with sauce. For outdoor broiling, place meaty side of ribs down on the grill. Onion and lemon may be secured with toothpicks.

For steak that is really elegant, use the above sauce for brushing the steaks while broiling. Or, if you prefer, the steaks may be marinated, as follows, for several hours before you start broiling:

- Mix together 1 cup of salad oil, 1/4 cup of vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 1 clove garlic and 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Some people prefer a barbecue sauce for steaks, but even then they like to rub the meat with onion, garlic, herbs and such before basting with the sauce. Use your own taste as a guide. Steaks should be first quality, well aged and well marbled with fat for barbecue.

Outdoor Potatoes.
(Serves 6)

- 4 cups cooked potatoes, diced
- 2 cups sliced onions
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup fat or drippings

Combine all ingredients and place in heavy skillet. Brown until crisp and golden colored. Serve piping hot.

LYNN SAYS:
Use These Neat Tricks
In Your Kitchen

Place slices of bread on the partially opened lid of the kettle in which you cook strong smelling foods like cabbage and broccoli.

Spear tomatoes on a long fork and hold over a flame while turning. They will peel easily after this treatment.

Tea tastes better if it is mixed with a little orange rind, grated. Also, store it near a box of cloves in the pantry to make spicy.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- *Barbecued Ribs
- Buttered Buns
- *Outdoor Potatoes
- *Roasted Corn Ears
- *Cabbage Slaw
- *Deep Dish Blueberry Pie
- Cream Beverage
- *Recipe given.

Roasted Corn Ears.

Remove outer husks from ears of corn. Turn back husk and remove the corn silk. Replace husk; place corn ears on grill. Turn frequently while roasting 8 to 12 minutes. Serve with butter, salt and pepper. The husk-turns brown but the corn itself is excellent. If you prefer the corn more browned, roast longer.

There's nothing quite like crisp, chewy food to set off the barbecued meat, skillet-fried potatoes and roasting ears, as some cabbage served with a creamy dressing and plump red-ripe tomato wedges.

Cabbage Slaw.
(Serves 6)

- 4 cups finely shredded cabbage
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/2 pint sour cream

Beat egg yolk; add dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Add water and vinegar gradually. Cook in top of double boiler until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Add butter. Chill. Fold in sour cream and mix with the shredded cabbage. Garnish with ripe tomato wedges.

Dessert problems are easy to solve.

With fresh fruits and berries plentiful, a platter or basket of well chilled fruit and cookies will satisfy well for dessert. Some like cake for dessert for an iced beverage. Then make a spicy cake with a caramel frosting. It's just the kind to set off the meal properly.

Spice Cake.
(Makes 2 9-inch layers)

- 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup vegetable shortening
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 3 whole eggs

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt, spices and granulated sugar. Add brown sugar, shortening and buttermilk; beat for 2 minutes. Add eggs and beat another 2 minutes. Bake in greased, wax paper lined pans in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 30 to 35 minutes.

Let cool and frost with caramel icing: Mix 1 1/4 cups brown sugar with 1/4 cup cream, 2 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoon vanilla. Bring to a boil and boil 3 minutes while stirring. Remove from heat. Beat until creamy, adding cream if necessary to make spreading easier. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Stale, hardened rolls and muffins can be freshened easily by placing in a paper bag, sprinkling the bag with water, then placing in the oven for a few minutes while they heat through and soften.

Let hamburgers take on glamour by serving them as a mixed grill with broiled tomato halves and pineapple.

Leftover egg whites may be stored for several days in a covered glass jar. Egg yolks may be poached until firm, then chopped and used in salads or sandwich fillings.

Calliope Passes From River Boats to Circus

The calliope, the musical instrument consisting of steam whistles played by means of a keyboard, was developed in Massachusetts in 1855 as an added attraction on river boats, says Collier's.

The popularity of these "floating music boxes" lasted 20 years and then, as the steamboats started to discard them, the calliope passed from the river to the land and has since been associated with the circus, fair and carnival.

Uncle Sam Says

How would you like a fat raise? Dream stuff, you say? It isn't. It's a cold-cash, brass tacks reality—if you want it to be. How do you go about it? Very simple. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. For every $3 you put away now, you get $4 in ten years. Take part of your pay each week in U. S. Savings Bonds. That's all. That's a fat gain in any man's arithmetic. And if ten years seems like a long time to look ahead, just give a thought to the smart Americans who bought bonds ten years ago, and hung on to them. Act now. Ten years will be gone before you know it!
