Funeral services for Dennis Dwight Ewing, five month old son of Mrs. Hazel Ruth Ewing, were held at the graveside Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Gray Carter, Church of Christ minister from Memphis. Burial was in Rowe cemetery with Marcum Funeral Home in charge.

The child was born Feb. 12, 1949, and passed away at Clarendon Tuesday morning. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Hazel Ruth Ewing, and his grandmother, Mrs. Sam Younger of Hedley.

Let C. E. Johnson, manager of the Hedley Telephone Co., write your fire and hail insurance.

Baseball News

Hedley will play Claude here next Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. One win will cinch a berth in the playoffs and the local boys will be out to take this one.

Last Sunday Hedley out hit Groom 11 to 10 but 7 errors and at least that many bad calls from the umpires gave Groom the game 10 to 8. Bonnie Mooring hit a home run and Charley Johnson and Babe Everett tripled. Mabry and Everett divided the pitching for Hedley. Bill Hill pitched 6 good innings for Groom but tired and was relieved by Ritter in the 7th. The locals knocked Ritter out of the box and Junior Hill held the Lions after giving up two runs.

This loss does not affect Hedley's third place standing in the league. Goldston aided the cause by defeating second place Panhandle 11 to 5. Washburn beat Claude 13 to 3.

McLean beat St. Francis 20 to 17.

Hudson-Messer

Miss Nelda Mae Messer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Messer of Hedley, became the bride of Jim Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hudson of Amarillo, in a lovely afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Sunday, July 24th.

Minister James Willett read the double ring ceremony in the presence of a few close relatives in the living room which was beautifully decorated with pink roses, pink crepe myrtle, baby's breath and fern placed in urns on white pedestals.

Miss Blonde Payne of Amarillo served as bridesmaid. She wore a two piece dress of brown and beige with yellow carnation corsage. The groom was attended by his brother, Bill Hudson. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of powder blue crepe designed with draped skirt accents by matching lace inserts. Her corsage was white roses. Her "something new and blue" was her dress, and for something borrowed, a necklace and earrings belonging to the groom's mother. She also placed a coin in her shoe for luck. The bride's mother wore aqua crepe with white accessories and rose carnation corsage. Mother of the groom was dressed in aqua printed crepe with black accessories and pink carnation corsage. The dining room of the family home was the scene of the reception immediately following the ceremony.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Atlantic Pact Called War-Breeder; Truman Decries Economic 'Gloom'; Committee Slashes Funds for ERP

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

TOKYO TRIAL FIGURES . . . These figures gave the trial of Tokyo Rose, accused of treason, a new angle when Mark L. Streeter (left) declared that Shigetsugu Tsunishi (shown at right) was guilty of war atrocities. Tsunishi, a prosecution witness, asserted he commanded a prison camp on the outskirts of Tokyo where Streeter was a prisoner.

PEACE PAC Avenue to War?

As he did in the Taft-Hartley repeal fight, Sen. Robert Taft (R., Ohio) would lead the opposition to senate ratification of the Atlantic pact. That is the treaty in which America joins its western allies in an agreement that an attack upon any signatory is an attack upon all—and that a signatory nation may take any reprisal steps it deems fit.

IN HIS SPEECH to the senate, Taft declared the pact was "inextricably linked" to the rearming of Europe, insisted this would lead to an armament race and pointed out that "armament races lead to war."

Thus did a highly effective senator most cogently raise the question of whether the pact really means peace or war. Taft was not without support in his conception of the pact's potentialities. Five senators jumped to their feet to applaud his remarks, and some 12 or 15 senators were applauding at the end.

This was construed by some observers as indicating the extent of the opposition. Taft was not wholly against the pact, despite his ringing denunciation. He asserted that, even now, he would be willing to change his mind if a reservation could be incorporated into ratification making plain that the treaty did not bind America to furnish arms.

Said Taft: "There is no question that the arms program and the treaty were negotiated together. There is no question in my mind that foreign nations which signed the treaty regarded the providing of arms as an essential part of it. . . . If we ratify the pact and fail to furnish the military aid, I believe we will at once be accused of repudiation, and the pact will be completely discarded."

ERP FUNDS Slashed

There appeared to be a change of sentiment regarding aid to Marshall plan countries. The senate appropriations committee had voted to slash 10 per cent from second-year funds asked for the activity.

The committee also tied up 50 million dollars of what was left in order to cut Spain in on the European recovery program should the administration see fit. The program would cost something more than 3.75 billions. President Truman had asked approximately 4.20 billions. A committee member disclosed that one group within the membership had attempted to chop 19 per cent off the requested appropriation.

Chairman McKeeler (D., Tenn.) estimated that the committee cut approximately 40 million dollars from President Truman's budget estimates for fiscal appropriations in foreign spending, which includes other programs besides the Marshall plan.

The sum voted for the Marshall plan would be spread over the 12 months ending June 30, 1950. This was nearly 210 million more than the house had voted—but the house bill would have permitted expenditure of the fund in 10 1/2 months if necessary.

A committee aide explained to Washington newsmen that unless the loan is made to Spain, the withheld 50 million dollars could not be used for any other purpose.

RENT CONTROLS

Average 9,300 Units Being Freed Daily

According to recent dispatches out of Washington, rental dwellings have been coming off the control list at an average rate of 9,300 a day since the new rent law went into operation April first.

Rent officials said, however, that few of the decontrol actions had affected any large metropolitan areas, and that some 14 million units still remained under the con-

Wrong Job?

You may be happy in your work and pleased with your occupational niche, but the fellow at the desk or machine next to you may not be.

It is the opinion of Robert C. Woellner, Chicago university professor, that at least half of all adults definitely are misplaced, or could have been better placed if modern vocational methods had been available during their formative years.

Woellner attributes much of the present social unrest, high divorce rate, and high incidence of mental illness in the United States to the many unfortunate occupational choices of its workers.

U.S. ECONOMY:

Truman Concedes

While there was some measure of contradiction in concept, President Truman, in his message to congress on the economic state of the nation had conceded that recession forces were alive.

However, in a neat bit of linguistic maneuvering, he declared the current situation one in which the national economy was in orderly retreat from a serious inflation. At the same time, however paradoxical the warning might seem, he declared that there could be no "greater economic folly" than an attempt to balance the federal budget in a "declining national economy."

He highlighted the contradiction by adding that such a move would only aggravate the recession forces against which his new policy was directed.

OF CHIEF INTEREST in his report was his abandonment of an earlier plan to demand four billion dollars in additional taxes. He lightly dismissed this former policy with the statement: "No major increase in taxes should be undertaken at this time." Instead, he proposed liberalization of allowances for past losses in computing income taxes and increasing estate and gift taxes.

The President's obvious reversal of policy was held to be little less pronounced than the findings of his council of economic advisors on whose report the President's message was based. They found that since January the forces threatening stability had become predominantly deflationary and that the weakening of markets had become general.

KRUG:

A Denial

Drew Pearson was in hot water again. Generally accused of partial responsibility in the suicidal death of former defense secretary James Forrestal, the newspaper and radio columnist had reported the U. S. interior secretary Krug was very ill with "athlete's heart."

In a letter to Pearson, Krug's physician, Dr. R. Layman Sexton, asserted Krug is completely well and able to do twice the work of the average person.

Wherever one stood on the propriety of Pearson's discussion of the health of top government officials, it would be remembered that several of his reports on the condition of Forrestal's health—originally denied by the navy—were later admitted.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Bad Habit Of Evasion

By Lawrence Gould

Are there people who can't give you a straight answer?"

Answer: Yes. You will meet people who find it almost impossible to make a direct statement, even about the weather. It may be because as children they were criticized or punished so severely when they tried to do things on their own initiative that they dare not take a definite stand on anything whatever. Or they may be temperamentally "ambivalent" (facing both ways emotionally) and so obsessed by their inner contradictions that they cannot see one side of any question without being conscious that perhaps there is another.

Do deaf people feel more "isolated" than blind ones?

Answer: Yes, reports psychologist Helton McAndrew of Duke University in the Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology. Tests showed that whereas blind children are aware of physical isolation, deaf ones feel mentally and socially isolated. In general, deaf children are less adaptable and less responsive, with a tendency to follow rigid patterns of behavior, presumably on the basis of the need a person who is unsure of himself has to "play safe." A comparison of deaf and blind adults might well show similar differences.

Is asthma primarily an "allergy"?

Answer: As a rule, No, write two members of the staff of New York Hospital in the Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases. In but two of 51 cases of bronchial asthma was there any positive connection between the asthmatic symptoms and the patient's response to skin tests for allergic reactions, while in 32 cases the symptoms appeared after some sort of emotional disturbance, and in several others emotional factors were clearly involved. Even "tlen sensitive" patients could safely inhale large quantities of pollen if their minds were at rest.

'Cancer' Causes Mental Agony

By Dr. James W. Barton

A FEW YEARS ago, if a physician told a patient that the symptoms of which he complained were caused by heart disease, the patient believed himself doomed. Today, most of us know that even if we have heart disease, we can live for years if we follow our doctor's advice and "take it easy."

Even in cases of high blood pressure and a vessel carrying blood to the heart muscle being clogged up or broken (coronary thrombosis), it is known that with care and rest, diet and exercise, further attacks may not occur and that if they do occur they may not cause death. While the words "heart disease" and "coronary thrombosis" still may strike fear in our hearts, it is the word "cancer" that causes great fear and continuous worry, which really is chronic fear.

In the "American Journal of Psychiatry," Dr. J. B. Ficarra states that the word "cancer" stirs a tempest of mental agony. Because so many cases of cancer are not discovered until too late to save life, the family and relatives are told of the cancer, but in most cases the patient is not told although he may suspect the cause of his symptoms.

Strange as it seems, it is known that the young patient withstands the knowledge that he has cancer better than his family and relatives; he appears to be able to face his fate better than older patients. In elderly patients the sense of impending death is ever present. Old people fear it and are more nervous about it than young adults.

While some ailments cause nervous symptoms and the patient believes he has heart, kidney or other disease, the majority of patients who really have cancer do not "imagine" they have cancer. It is often the non-cancerous patient who believes he has cancer.

HEALTH NOTES

One of the jobs of the liver is manufacturing bile which breaks up fats for digestion. It is an anti-septic, destroying harmful organisms and a natural purgative preventing constipation.

Physicians believe that lack of rest does more harm to the body than over-exercising.

When a middle-aged man or woman passes blood in the urine, the first thought is that it is cancer. This is as it should be, because early treatment saves lives.

Many ailments such as mucous colitis require that we obtain a calm outlook on life as the most important thing.

Polishing Stove

Before blackening or polishing a stove—especially if rust is present—go over it with sandpaper or emery cloth. If grease is on the stove, rub it first with a raw onion and then with newspaper.

Safety Alarm

Marbles can be used as a safety alarm to keep from burning the bottom out of a double boiler. Keep two or three in the pot all the time; when the water gets dangerously low, the marbles will dance up and down making a fearful racket to warn you that more water is needed.

Onion Odor

To eliminate the odor from a kitchen knife that's been used to cut up onions, hold the blade over the flame of a match. Don't hold it too long, though, and don't hold it over a gas flame because prolonged intense heat will spoil the temper of the blade.

Towel Rack

A handy rack for your litcher towels can be made by tacking a pinch-type clothespin to the wall near the sink. Or use a small spring mousetrap.

REUTHER: Still on Top

With red-thatched, fiery Walter Reuther still at the helm, the United Auto Workers union, numbering some million members, could be expected to hold firm in any demands made for wage increases or social benefits.

BRUSHING aside token opposition from UAW's left wing elements, Reuther was elected to a third term as UAW president by a top-heavy majority.

The voting which reelected Reuther was a new triumph for the right-wing forces in the union which catapulted him into office in 1946 and rewarded him with control of the other international offices and the board at the 1947 convention. His new term will expire in April, 1951.

UAW DELEGATES moved into the election of top officers after hearing Leon Keyserling, of President Truman's council of economic advisers, tell them that "as a general proposition the kind of wage policy which will help maintain full employment in this country, and which will maintain our economy on stable levels is one which adds to consumer purchasing power from year to year—because we have the capacity to produce more goods from year to year.

The auto workers union's big fight was with Ford motor company which, in opposing proposed wage rates, offered to peg wages at present levels for a given period, regardless of what cost-of-living developments brought about.

FORD contended the cost of living has gone down and there was no justification for pay raises, basing the argument on the UAW contract which called for pay hikes as the cost-of-living increased. Reuther opposed that line of reasoning, contending that the union's economists have proved, by a survey, that most industries can afford wage increases now.

MONOPOLY: Clark Agitated

While President Truman was delighting business generally with his abandonment of any tax-increase proposals, U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark was agitated over the growth of "big" business and urging curbs on "concentration of economic power."

CLARK APPEARED very much disturbed by the situation and let go both barrels in his shots at big business as he testified in a congressional investigation into monopolistic practices.

He termed business monopoly an "economic blackjack" and urged that the federal government get busy doing something about it. He told a house judiciary subcommittee that most people were victims of three erroneous assumptions. He listed them as:

1. Assumption that competition continues to thrive as long as there are at least two or three or four in the field.

2. Assumption that the bigger the producer the better the quality of the goods and the cheaper the price to the public.

3. Assumption that companies become big because they deserve to be big—in other words, that they outdistance their competitors because they do a better job, render a greater service, or furnish better goods.

CLARK DECLARED he did not share any of these assumptions. Continuing his testimony before the committee, he said: "The fundamental issue is whether the economy of this country is to remain free and competitive, or whether it is to be subjected to private regimentation through monopoly control."

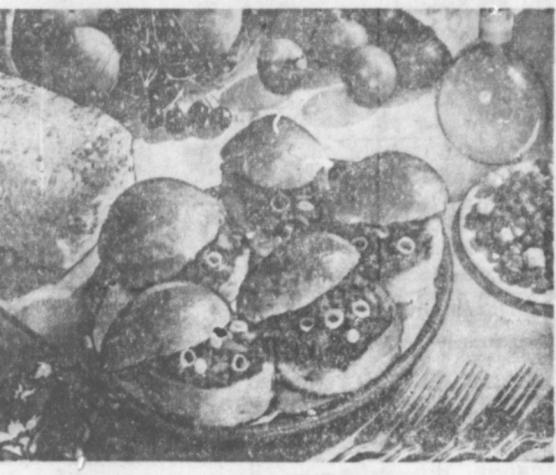

Under Fire
 As an aftermath of the involved legal proceedings in the trial of Alger Hiss on a perjury charge growing out of spy investigations, Presiding Judge Samuel H. Kaufman, shown here, is under congressional fire. The senator was reported considering a probe of the conduct of the trial.

BIG STEEL: Strike Pledged

There was trouble looming in big steel. CIO President Philip Murray had declared after fruitless government-called peace talks that a half-million steelworkers would be called out on strike at an early date.

After conferences with federal conciliation director Cyrus S. Ching, the CIO chieftain reported a "complete deadlock." The situation was critical.

Picnic Plans

WHEN YOU PLAN an outing good food that will please everyone has to be part of the picnic plan. In addition to this, have a "packable" lunch that you can carry in a shopping bag, string sack, bandana or hamper.

The less preparation you have at the picnic grounds where everyone will be famishing, the better will be the lunch. If you want to cook the hamburgers or ribs or frankfurters on an outdoor grill, that's all to the good, since this whets appetite to a tantalizing sharpness. However, if you have to wash fruits and vegetables, and pare or scrape them when you get there, this may seem like something of a chore. These are things that can be done much more easily at home.

A SAVORY, well-seasoned meat should be the main interest of the lunch, however. For some this may be old-fashioned picnic burgers, roasted frankfurters or barbecued ribs. These are easy to serve on buns which can be purchased ready made, and then simply split and buttered and even toasted while the meat cooks.

Picnic Burgers (Makes 12 Burgers)
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 2 tablespoons fat
 1 pound ground beef
 1/2 pound ground veal
 1/2 pound ground pork
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1 dozen hamburger buns

Brown onion in fat in a large skillet. Add meats, salt, pepper, soy sauce and dry mustard. Cook over low heat for 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Split hamburger buns and fill with meat mixture. Top with picnic sauce:

1 cup tomato sauce, catsup or chili sauce
 1/2 cup cider vinegar
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 1/2 cup chopped green olives
 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Mix all ingredients together in a saucepan and cook gently over low heat for one-half hour, stirring occasionally. This makes two cups of sauce.

Is it barbecued ribs that you like on your picnic? Here's a delicious and easy way to prepare them: cook the ribs in a pressure saucepan at home to speed the process and then finish in the oven or at the picnic grounds in a skillet, basting them with the sauce.

Barbecued Spareribs (Serves 5-6)
 3 pounds spareribs, cut in pieces
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 cup water

LYNN SAYS: Fresh Air Chefs Need Tips
 If you are burning charcoal, start the fire an hour ahead of cooking time. For coal, allow one and one-half to two hours. Use enough fuel to build a thick bed of coals.

Getting fancy with the picnic table? Use windproof decorations such as a tray of the fruit for dessert, or low flower arrangements set under a glass or plastic cake cover.

1/2 cup catsup
 1/4 cup light molasses
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 small onion, chopped
 Arrange ribs in pressure saucepan; add salt and water. Cook at 10 pounds pressure for 25 minutes. Remove and place in a shallow roasting pan or skillet. Combine remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Pour over the ribs and baste with sauce. If baking, cook for 30 minutes. If using the skillet, cook for 35-40 minutes.

Hashed Potatoes (Serves 6)
 8 potatoes, cooked in jackets
 4 tablespoons butter
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 cup light cream or top milk
 Peel and dice potatoes and cook in butter until slightly browned. Add seasonings. About five minutes before serving, add the cream and heat thoroughly.

Summer Cabbage Slaw (Serves 6)
 3 ripe tomatoes, diced
 1/2 cups finely shredded cabbage
 1 cup sliced green onions
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 5 tablespoons light cream
 1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
 Lettuce
 Combine all vegetables in salad bowl. Add seasonings. Blend together cream and vinegar and pour over salad. Toss lightly and serve on lettuce.

A THOROUGHLY CHILLED watermelon makes delicious eating at a picnic. However, any of these other fruits, washed and well chilled before being wrapped, are excellent for a dessert choice: peaches, pears, apricots, cherries or other berries, grapes or melons.

One or two kinds of cookies make an appetizing accompaniment for the fruit. You'll like either this:

Butterscotch Bars (Makes 3 dozen)
 1/2 cup butter
 2 cups brown sugar
 2 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1 cup chopped nuts
 Melt butter in a heavy saucepan. Add sugar and bring to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Cool. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly. Stir in vanilla, then flour which has been sifted with baking powder. Fold in nuts. Pour into a greased and floured 7 x 9 inch pan and bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 30-35 minutes. Cool, then cut in bars.

When broiling meat on an outdoor grill, trim off excess fat and snip the edges so the pieces of meat won't curl. Let the fire burn down to red coals, then set a grill three to five inches above the coals and start broiling meat before flames die down.

When using a skillet on an outside grill, set it about 5 inches above the coals.

If you are using sauces for the meat, keep them warm and use the QUESTION: I had my large porch screened in with copper screening by a good carpenter, who did a fine job. But this copper oxidized and turned black, the stains continually running down on the sash and wood porch. Last summer I had my house painted and went down to a well known paint company for advice. I was told to clean the screening with trisodium and then apply varnish. I applied a good varnish. Well, after my paint job of last summer, the varnish is coming off and staining the porch with yellow varnish. Is there any way I can stop this staining from the varnish?

ANSWER: My guess is that when you used the trisodium, you did not wash it off well afterward, so that the chemical continued its action and softened or otherwise caused the varnish to deteriorate. The varnish that you used may have been good, but perhaps it was not spar varnish, which is meant to withstand the weather. I suggest that you clean off the defective varnish using the trisodium again or else varnish remover. After giving time for the varnish to soften, clean it off with stiff brushes. Then, if you use the "triso," wash the screens very thoroughly with water.
