

Pampa Host Next Week To Top O' Texas Show

Cowboys and Cowgirls from all over the Southwest are already registering for the 7th annual Top o' Texas Rodeo, which is being held August 7 through 11, at Pampa.

This year's Rodeo is expected to be the biggest of all time and the program is spiced with many special attractions.

The Top o' Texas Rodeo is one of the largest amateur Rodeos in the world, and is known throughout the country as one of the fastest moving Shows in the Rodeo world.

Heading the special feature list this year will be Monte Hale, one of Hollywood's most popular western singing stars, who will be here for all four Rodeo performances, which begin at 8:00 P. M. each evening, August 8th through 11th.

Hale was featured in the 1948 Top o' Texas Rodeo, and is returning by popular request. He was especially popular with the young visitors to the Rodeo because of his friendliness and cordial reception of these "future cowboys and cowgirls."

The Show will open as in the past, with the Kid Pony Show August 7. Junior Cowboys and Cowgirls from 5 to 16 will have

(An Editorial)

In colonial days politics was really considered that part of ethic which relates to the regulation of government of a nation or state for the preservation of its safety, peace and prosperity. Prior to the Civil War a statesman was an honorable and honored leader among men.

American school systems were based upon principals that brought out the best in the citizenship of the nation and made a study of the science of government a patriotic duty.

Now carelessness in handling affairs of government has made the term "politician" offensive. The statesman is almost as extinct in modern national affairs as the dodo, and American school systems emphasize almost anything but the knowledge of government and history. Our high schools and colleges concentrate upon playtime activities with consideration of the best age to give instruction with regard to the so called bees and butterflies subject. They do not seem to realize that if children are taught principals of honor, integrity, truthfulness, thrift, principles of good citizenship that everything else will fall into line.

In America every year thousands of dollars are spent upon the exceptional child-meaning the mentally handicapped. But no provision is made for the unusually bright student who might become a great leader. A much needed statesman for a nation impoverished for statesmen.

Our attitude in the immediate past has been that the authors of our constitutional freedoms set in motion a machine that would run itself throughout the ages unattended.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," proclaimed one of the forefathers of our nation. It is up to us to remember that, and to remember also that good statesmanship and clean politics, like charity, begin at home.

Rites Held For Mrs. Roy Jewell Hedley Pioneer

Friday morning, July 27, in the Hospital at Memphis, death claimed Mrs. Roy Jewell, prominent pioneer resident of Donley county after an illness of several months.

She was born Blanche Phelps, August 10, 1892, at Whitesboro, Texas, December 2, 1912 she and Roy Jewell were united in marriage at Gainesville, Texas, moving to Hedley January 1, 1919, where they resided until her death. She joined the Baptist church in 1910 and remained a constant member.

Mrs. Jewell is survived by her husband, Roy Jewell, a sister-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Phelps of Clarendon, a brother-in-law, and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jewell of Winters, Texas, a number of nieces and nephews and many friends who mourn her early passing.

For many years Mrs. Jewell has been active in church and civic work. At various times she had membership in many local organizations.

dedicated to give improvement a community betterment. Her interests broad and varied. She was an artist in many fields, her beautiful country home, long a symbol of old time hospitality, testifying to the fact. Her life was in itself a gospel for all that is beautiful physically and spiritually. The work of her hands and her heart reached out to touch the lives of many, and all that knew that touch were better because she passed by.

Suffering toward her face in her last illness, but when death came he was gentle. A his touch the years rolled back. She seemed young and beautiful again. But here going leaves a silence, an emptiness in the lives of the many who knew and loved her.

Funeral services were at 4:00 P. M. Saturday, July 28. Those officiating were Rev. O. L. Jones, Pastor of the First Baptist Church at Hedley, Rev. L. A. Sartain of the First Baptist Church at Clarendon, Rev. Frank Story, First Methodist Church of Hedley, and Rev. W. E. Bond of the Church of the Nazarine at Hedley.

Pallbearers were: J. B. . . . son, J. W. Noel, L. P. Trimble, Clyde Bridges, Foster Pickett, and Willis Thomas.

FREDRIK B. CORDOVA

Fredrick B. Cordova, Jr., 45 Beatrice Ave., San Antonio, Mrs. F. B. Cordova lives at 2700 14th Street, San Antonio. Fred Cordova is supervising the distribution of 36 billion pounds of U. S. surplus foods among the people of Yugoslavia, to keep them going until their next crop can be harvested.

All six federated republics of Yugoslavia are suffering from near-famine as the result of an unprecedented drought last year which destroyed most of the country's food supplies.

Fred Cordova's job, in which he is assisted by a team of six CARE field observers who are touring the country in jeeps, is to see that these American surplus foods reach the people without any political, religious, or other considerations than that of need.

Special CARE ration cards have been issued, entitling each recipient. These need has been ascertained jointly by Yugoslav welfare authorities and CARE Mission personnel, to two pounds of powdered milk and one pound of egg powder per month, the equivalent of eight dozens of fresh milk and three dozen eggs.

Hospitals, orphanages, children's homes, old-age homes, and expectant mothers, young children, invalids and people in especially hard hit communities are on the preferential list for these U. S. surplus foods. Currently, the recipients number well over two million people. Before this particular CARE operation ends it has been estimated by Cordova, an additional two millions will have benefited from this aid of the American people.

To make the continuation of this aid possible, CARE is appealing to the American public for contributions. A single donation

PLAIN FACTS—John W. Beck, financial editor of the Daily Oklahoman, recently wrote an exceptionally fine editorial called "Controlled Markets Are Not American Markets." He dealt in considerable detail with the meat situation, and in the course of his discussion he said: "The propaganda so widely disseminated by socialist-minded people, both in government and out, is that someone has been making a tremendous profit in the meat industry. That simply is not true. If no profits at all had been made in the meat packing industry last year the saving to the consumer would have been only five cents on each $8 purchase of meat, or 5% of one percent! Meat prices, like all other prices, have been rising with the monetary inflation that has been created by the activities of government per se in the mismanagement of money, fiscal policy, and other things of an economic nature. Prices are a direct result of government interference with the basic law of supply and demand. "For years, packing house profits have been a very dubious thing. At best they have ranged up to about a cent and a half on the sales dollar, and they have depended upon the ingenuity of the Blueberries are in season again! A short season this, so make the most of them by using in a variety of ways. Of course, they're wonderful "as is," dewy fresh and crystal cool. But give your family a variety of blueberry treats; serve these wonderful, fresh "blues" in cobblers, muffins, pies, puddings, shortcakes. And, for something different, how about Blueberry Waffles a la Mode? Top warm, fragrant waffles with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and "sauce" with golden, maple-blended syrup. That's a special combination you can serve for dessert or for afternoon refreshments. The recipe for the waffles is given below. No recipe is needed for the sauce; simply use the maple-blended syrup just as it comes from the bottle or familiar log cabin tin.

BLUEBERRY WAFFLES A LA MODE
2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup melted shortening
1 cup blueberries

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Combine eggs and milk. Add to flour mixture, add shortening, then mix only until smooth. Add blueberries to batter. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with scoop of vanilla ice cream and maple-blended syrup.

Magazine-Size Mailbox

If your mailbox is too small for magazines and small packages, build one the size you need! The one illustrated is large enough for the biggest magazines; it's 12 inches wide and 16 inches high, with a depth of 4 inches.

Both sides and bottom may be cut from a piece of lumber one-half inch thick. Pieces for the slanting top, which has a slight overhang, the front and back may be sawed from a panel of Masonite 3/4" Tempered Preswood. Each of these pieces except the front should be nailed and glued in place so that the box will be waterproof.

The door, pivoted at the bottom, swings out from the top. At the bottom it should be attached to a length of 3/4" half-round. Nails fastened at either end of the half-round through the side pieces will permit the door to pivot. To prevent the door from going too far into the box, attach a small piece of Tempered Preswood near the top of each side to serve as stoppers.

Bore three holes as indicated, each with a diameter of 3/8". The bottom ones will serve as peep-holes for looking into the box, while the top one will be used for pulling out the door.

Obtain two short springs from a hardware store, attaching them to the door with nuts and bolts and to the side framework with screws. Adjust their tension so that the door may be opened all the way and then will spring back into the closed position.

packers to save and use the by-products of the industry—hides, hoofs, etc."

It is a fact that beef carcasses reaches the retail level at a cost of some 3.1 per cent less than was paid for the animal in live weight. The difference, along with the packers' profit is made up through the sale of by-products. The retail markup is about 23 per cent—and that must cover rent, labor and all other costs. There's certainly no room for anything resembling an excessive profit there!

The meat industry has come in for a lot of unformed and downright malicious criticism. It's time the public learned the facts.

The fact is that the FBI has leaned over backward to protect the innocent and to scrupulously avoid anything that might even remotely resemble a witch hunt. In the FBI's report on its activities during the last fiscal year, this paragraph appears: "The FBI is concerned only with acts, not thoughts; with deeds, not beliefs. So far as the FBI is concerned a man may think what he likes so long as his thoughts are not translated into action by engaging in either criminal or subversive activity." That is basic FBI policy, and it is rigidly adhered to.

NO WITCH HUNTS—The American Communists and their fellow travelers have trained their "guns" on the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This is perfectly natural—it was FBI evidence, painstakingly gathered and sifted over the years, that led to the conviction of the eleven top Communist leaders. FBI evidence was also a dominant factor in the Hiss Coplan and other such cases.

The Communist strategy is to try to sell the idea that the FBI is the sworn enemy of civil rights and liberties, and that it is little different from Hitler's dreaded Gestapo. The primary danger in this is that some sincere but un-informed and misguided people

Helping Reduce Farm Accidents

A recent survey of 2,000 farm accidents shows that 248 involve machinery. In other types, more farm people are injured by falls—476—than in any other kind of accident.

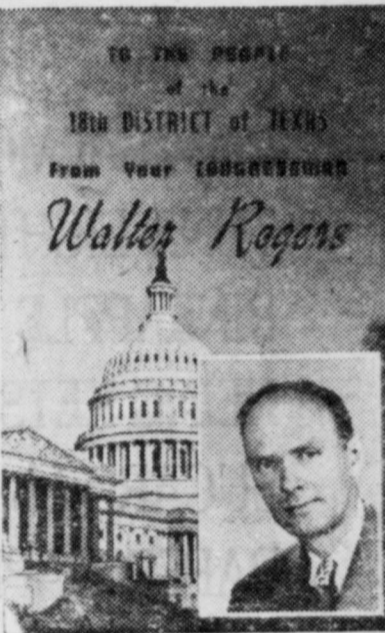

FARM FOLKS, as a general rule, give little thought to safety until a member of their family or a neighbor's is hurt or killed, or fire destroys their home or barn. Then they start doing something about safety.

This year it is particularly important that every farm family should do something about practicing safety, because even though there is a shortage of labor on farms, and new equipment is hard to get, food production must be boosted. That means the present manpower and machinery on farms must be guarded against accidents.

An average of 47 farm people are accidentally killed every day.

Helping to reduce rural casualties are a half million boys and girls taking part in the National 4-H Farm and Home Safety Program. More than $10,000 in awards for the best records of accident prevention and education are being provided by General Motors for the seventh consecutive year.

The program is directed by the Cooperative Extension Service.

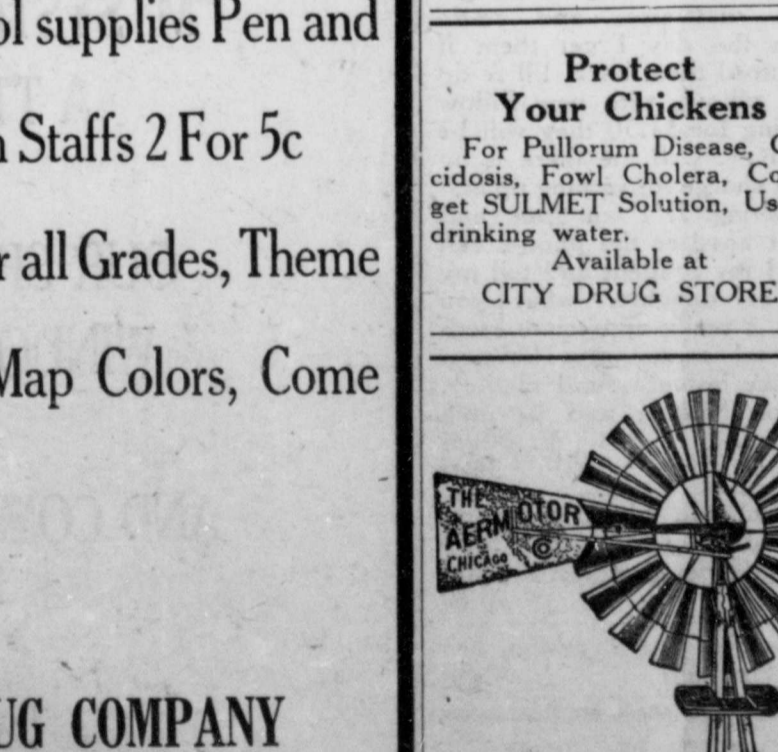

The long hard fight in this Congress to bring the Tidelands Bill to the floor is bearing fruit. The opposition to this measure has been fortified in this section of the country by many misrepresentations and incorrect statements.

Here are my remarks on the case: MR. SPEAKER: The tidelands issue has been treated at great length by almost every conceivable phase of our economy. Not because there was a dispute between the Federal Government on one side and Texas, California and other states on the other side as to the ownership of the natural resources beneath those lands, but because the American people as individuals realize that the questionable reasoning of the Supreme Court could, by ap-of the entrance of Texas. Union as obligations on the In fact, the Federal Govern- felt at the time that the lands were worth more than the amount of... Texas at that Texas acce... ions and entered in the Union good faith. It subsequently pu... its public debt and assumed the owner- ship of its public lands. It sold and traded in these public lands and issued patents as the original source of title to the lands. Since the tidelands was a part of the public domain it fell within the same category as public domain owned by the State in the most extreme sections of the great Pan- handle Plains country of Texas which lies over 700 miles from the sea coast.

The people of Texas who origin- ally purchased public domain from the State met the requirements laid down by the State and accepted as evidence of title patents issued by the State. Much of these lands have subsequently passed into hands of many purchasers who have relied upon the patent from the State of Texas as the original source of title.

In fact, I own a small piece of property that lies approximately 750 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. This land I purchased and relied upon the title above refer- red to. If the decision of the Sup- reme Court in the Texas case is the law of this land and the tidelands are the property of the United States of America regard- less of the terms of the contract between Texas and the United States, then those of us who have dealt in good faith and have pur- chased land in the State of Texas regardless of where it lies are no more secure in the ownership of our homes than is a citizen of the Soviet Union whose property be- longs to the State and in which he has only the right of a permissive user.

The only claim that the land- owner in Texas has to his own home, if the reasoning in the tidelands case is correct, is title de- rived by adverse possession under the statute of limitations or the claim of ownership under the doc- trine of estoppel.

Since the statute of limitations does not run against the sov- ereignty such a plea by a home own- er would be of no effect. This would reduce him to the one claim or defense of estoppel. If his title is to rest on the doctrine of estop- pel then he must say, in order to protect his home, that he admits plication in other fields, create a tremendous impact on the basic principals upon which our govern- ment was founded and could well mean the beginning of the end of the States' rights, freedoms and true representations that we have all so dearly cherished.

The decisions of the Supreme Court in California, the Texas and Louisiana cases have contrib- uted more toward clouding the faith of the American people in the judi- cial system than any other three decisions in the history of this country.

As a lawyer I will perhaps be subjected to criticism for making this statement, but such criticism cannot detract one iota from the truth of the statement made. And if the fundamental principals upon which this government was found- ed and the abiding faith that has always been present in the mind of every American are to be re- stored, we cannot blind ourselves to the true feelings of the people nor undertake to justify such de- cisions by the use of ambiguous terms and unclear thinking.

The Supreme Court has, in an effort to justify the end sought undertaken to employ one prin- cipal law and apply it in each of the cases without regard to the facts present and without so much as doing lip service to agreements that we of Texas have always considered binding on both parties. In fact, our understanding in this respect has caused us to ful- fill all obligations to which we were subjected at the time we entered the Union.

And by the same token we have the right to expect the Union into which we entered to honor and fulfill its obligations and the terms of the agreement in the same manner. There has been much said concerning this particular point both in the courts and out.

The question has been fully briefed by the able layers rep- resenting the various states in- volved and the subject has been treated at length by the attorneys for the United States Govern- ment.

For me to go into those mat- ters and reiterate the decisions, the evidence and the arguments would be mere repetition. There- fore, I will confine my remarks to the one basic point concern- ing the Texas decision with which every landowner will be faced un- less Congress recognizes the fall- acy of the Supreme Court's de- cision and rectifies the wrongs thereby brought about. When Tex- as entered the Union it retained all of its public lands which in- cluded the 10 1/2 mile strip now in dispute and to which the re- ference tidelands has been employ- ed.

In retaining these public lands that the Federal Government owns his land but because the Federal Government has so conducted it- self that it stands in a position of bad faith and therefore should not be permitted to assert its bare legal title.

No man in the United States of America would have ever con- templated or foreseen that this country could have ever reached the point where a plain, honest citizen having as a primary inter- est the raising of a Christian and patriotic family would be driven into a corner where he would be required for self preservation of himself and his family to make such an admission.

The tidelands decisions are a black mark on the pages of American history and can only be erased by an honest and straight forward act on the part of the Congress of the United States.

The Breckenridge, Texas, star, who signed to play with the Philadelphia Eagles, helped pass Warren B. Woodson's Cowboys to the number two position in the na- tion last year in pigskin throw- ing.

The Cowboys were listed se- cond behind another Texas ely Southern Methodist University.

Ford was second in overhead yardage in 1950 with 1,777 yards, which ranks as the third best in- suring figure of all time.

Ford's 111 completions last fall was the sixth best effort in the nation and enabled him fifth nationally in total offense with a mark of 1,320 yards.

The 23-year-old, 160-pound star completed 25 touchdown passes in the 1949 campaign, an achieve- ment that surpasses anything on record. While at the Cowboy school, Ford pitched five touch- downs in three games, against Wichita, Loyola, (Los Angeles), and Trinity.

His best effort in single games was established against Arizona State of Tempe, 1950 top offen- sive team, when he completed 20 of 25 passes, and against Trinity University, 1949, when he passed for a total of 839 yards.

A memo from the U.S.A.

We Americans don't get mad easy. But when we do, look out!

We pitch in and turn out guns, tanks, planes and ships faster than anybody on earth.

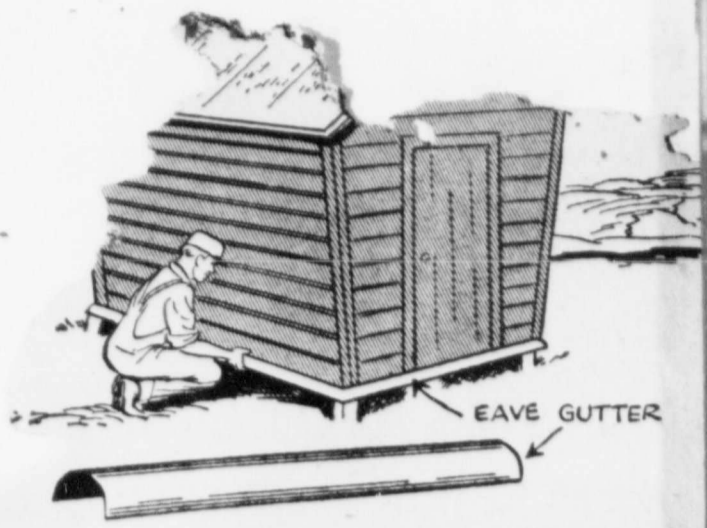

But nobody boots us into line. No commissars. No bayonets. No slave labor. We just get to work—because we've got something to work for... our liberties and our individual freedoms.

And back of our men and machines is electric power—as much as all the rest of the world has.

It's steady, dependable power—the kind produced only by free men—the kind that helped perform production miracles in World War II. Today, the business-managed electric companies have doubled the supply of electric power available before that war—and they're stepping it up all the time.

Yessir, we have power—with more on the way—and we know how to use it. That's a good thing for everybody to remember right now. And it's a good thing for some people here at home to remember that America's tremendous electric power was developed by the free enterprise system which has made America greater than any other nation.

A Novel Wastebasket
DO YOU tire of the same waste-baskets? Here's a design that's different, and you can make this basket, or several baskets. There's very little expense involved, but a lot of enjoyment. This laced-together basket is a foot square at the top, and 15 inches deep. The sides taper slightly toward the base.

It's made of Masonite tempered Presdwood. Around the sides, about an inch from the floor, nail pieces of three-quarter-inch quarter-round. To these may be nailed the bottom piece of Masonite. The handholds may be cut with a coping or jig saw. Use a hand drill to make the evenly spaced holes situated one-half inch from the edges of each side. To hold the basket together, lace the holes with leather thongs or other fasteners of your selection. Wastebaskets made of Presdwood may be left undecorated or they may be painted, enameled, lacquered, varnished or waxed. This material will last indefinitely, and it's splinter-free.

Contest Opened To Name Car For Ted Williams

A $25,000 automobile—richest prize ever awarded a major league baseball player—will be presented Ted Williams, home run slugger of the Boston Red Sox, it was announced today by the makers of Johnson's Wax.

The car, a custom-built, European type sports roadster, was designed by William Flajole & Associates, internationally known automobile designers, and custom built by Flajole-Kehrig. It will be awarded the famous outfielder on the last day of the 1951 American League World Series.

Williams car is powered by a dual Jetfire' Nash Ambassador six-cylinder high-compression engine.

A total of 1,108 prizes will be awarded winners of the name competition. First prize includes reserved seats for a party of six persons at the first two games of the 1951 World Series with traveling and living expenses paid. Second prize winner will receive the same accommodations for a party of four. Similar prizes for a party of three will be awarded to the next four winners.

Twelve cash awards will be distributed to seventh and eighth place winners. Among the one thousand additional prizes will be Ted Williams autographed baseballs, bats, portable radios and sterling silver charm girls.

Contestants are required to close the paper disc on the side of the cap of a Car-Plate liquid wax developed last year that makes it possible to clean a car in 2 minutes without running water.

To be eligible for a $25,000 bonus award awaiting the second and third place contestants are required to enclose a paper disc from a can of Carnu, the Johnson car cleaner.

Entries are to be mailed to Car-Plate World Series Contest, Box 6970 Chicago 77, Illinois. They must be postmarked before midnight September 1 and received by September 8.
